"I am carrying with me three sacks of mail for Habana, the first mail ever carried in the 'Spirit of St. Louis.' One of these came from Santo Domingo, and although it remained in the plane for two days while I was in Port au Prince, it will still arrive in Habana days ahead of time. This is an indication of the possibility for air lines south of the United States."

When it was known that Col. Lindbergh would visit Habana before returning to the United States, the suggestion was made to the Cuban postal authorities that a special stamp be issued (on the day of his arrival), adapting some present design by means of an overprint, inasmuch as time would not permit of a special design being worked up and the necessary printing plates manufactured. On January 12th, El Comercio announced that such a special issue would be made by printing the stamps in red from the 5c air mail stamp plates (S 374 and S 375), and overprinting in black "LINDBERGH—Enero 1928." When Col. Lindbergh's schedule beyond Panama was definitely announced on January 23rd, and Wednesday, February 8th, set for his arrival in Habana, the month in the overprint was necessarily changed to "Febrero."

The die for the 5c air mail stamp was cut and the printing plates manufactured by the Security Bank Note Company of Philadelphia, Pa., after a design furnished by Senor Oscar Fonts y Acosta. The actual printing, however, by the recess process was done at Habana, by the Cia Nacional de Artes Graficas y Libreria, on star (five pointed) watermarked paper.

The sheets are of 200 subjects (10 x 20), with a margin on all four sides, in which the plate number (S 374 or S 375) appears twice in the left (opposite the 10th and 20th rows), and right margins (opposite the 1st and 11th rows), reading up at the left, and down at the right. In the left margin (opposite the 15th and 16th rows), and in the right (opposite the 5th and 6th rows) is "Hoja No." (i.e., sheet number). Between the 5th and 6th vertical rows, and the 10th and 11th horizontal rows, guide lines (terminating in so-called arrows in the four margins), in color, divide the 200 subject sheets into four panes of 50 stamps each, and a knife passing along the horizontal guide line (only) as the sheet is being perforated (single line 12) cuts the sheets (of 200) into two Post Office sheets of 100 each (10 x 10), which have margins on only three sides. The lower edge of the upper half sheet, and the upper edge of the lower half sheet is imperforate, and ten stamps in each Post Office sheet of 100 are "straight edged."

The sheet number itself is impressed with a numbering machine in the left margin opposite the 5th row on the upper half sheet, and in the right margin, opposite the 5th row, on the lower half.

The design, in a horizontal rectangle, 36 x 21mm, displays a seaplane in flight over the Gulf of Mexico off Habana. A portion of the Malecon (seawall and drive) is shown, and on the distant promontory, El Morro, with the O'Donnell lighthouse, guarding the entrance to the harbor. Across the top of the stamp in two lines is "Republica de Cuba—Servicio Aereo"; vertical panels at the sides contain fronded palms, and at the bottom, between large denominational numerals (5) in the corners, is "Correos—Cinco Centavos" in two lines. The lettering and numerals are colorless.

Incidentally, a photograph, not quite up to date, was used in designing this stamp, inasmuch as the Glorieta (the little Greek music temple) at the junction of the Prado and the Malecon, is shown with the top which was removed in the spring of 1927. Bandmasters had complained that the top was unstable and they were afraid it would fall while the band was playing, and the Director of Public Works was of the opinion that with the roof, the Glorieta did not quite harmonise with the beautification scheme planned for the Malecon. It is here that the concerts broadcast by station PWX are played.

A special printing (500,000) was made in carmine from these plates (as used for the blue air mail stamp, issued Nov. 1, 1927), and overprinted in black, in two lines, "LINDBERGH — FEBRERO 1928" (all caps, but those in the first line are larger, 2½mm high as opposed to 1½mm). The first line measures 23½mm, the second 21½mm, and the overall vertical dimension is 7½mm. These stamps were issued at Habana on Wednesday morning, February 8th, the day of Col. Lindbergh's arrival from Port au Prince, and letters dispatched by air to Key West that afternoon were received in Pittsburgh on Saturday morning, the 11th.

One of the letters I received was in a specially prepared envelope, and has impressed, at the left, in blue, "El dia de—cut of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh—with his facsimile signature below—en Habana—Febrero 8—1928." Between blue and red horizontal lines across the face of the envelope is "HABANA—KEY WEST," and above "VIA CORREO AEREO." The 5c carmine "Lindbergh—Febrero 1928" air stamp is electric machine cancelled "Habana, Cuba, 1928" within a single lined circle, 21mm, with date in the center in two lines, "FEB 8—3—PM (or 4—PM)," and at the right a new flag slogan (58 x 18mm), with the representation of a biplane in the left portion, and in the right, in three lines, "Utilizando el—Servicio Aereo—Economiza Tiempo" (i.e., Use the air service; it saves time). This replaces the "Servicio Postal Aereo" slogan die brought into use subsequent to the inauguration of the air service between Habana and Key West on October 28, 1927.

Feb. 8, 1928. Air mail stamp, seaplane over Gulf of Mexico off Habana. Line engraved by Security Bank Note Co. of Philadelphia; recess printed by Cia. Nacional de Artes Graficas y Libreria, Habana, and overprinted in black, in two lines, "LINDBERGH—FEBRERO 1928." Watermarked star (five pointed), Perforated 12 single lines.

5 centavos carmine (plates S 374 and S 375).

Dominica

The inevitable has happened, of course. The 2½d orange and black (73) has been reissued in blue and the 3d blue and black (74) will undoubtedly be on yellow paper unless the Colonial Printers make another miscue. I offer these two stamps unused —Nos. 73 and 74, for the huge sum of 25 cents

Pan American Good Will Flight

A Historical Souvenir Cover of the first flight in History that completely encircled Latin America, covering Mexico and every country of Central and South America, returning via the West Indies, covering 22,065 miles on the round trip from San Antonio, Texas, to Washington, D. C.

Every cover bears from 30 to 37 different stamps, every country and colony visited being represented. Air mail stamps from Costa Rica, Ecuador, Bolivia and Uruguay.

Special Air Mail cancellations from Brazil, Guatemala and Cuba.

EVERY COVER bears the written certificate, signed by Major Dargue, Flight Leader; Capts. Eaker and McDaniel, and Lieuts. Whitehead, Fairchild, Robinson, Weddington and Thompson that the cover was actually flown the entire distance of 22,065 miles.

EVERY COVER bears the purple Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., cachet as well as the special green cachet applied on completion of the flight.

LESS THAN 400 COVERS WERE CARRIED THE ENTIRE DISTANCE AND BEAR ALL THE STAMPS AND CANCELLATIONS.

The price is reasonable—the first 100 covers will be sold at $75.00 each.
Special price to recognized Air Mail cover dealers.

I also offer the 88 covers carried by Lieuts. Benton and Woolsey, killed at Buenos Aires, for the benefit of the widows.

These covers were carried as far as Buenos Aires by the fliers who lost their lives and brought back by the flight. They bear stamps only as used as far as Buenos Aires. Every Cover bears the certificate signed by Major Dargue and the other 7 aviators that these covers were carried by Lieuts. Benton and Woolsey, and brought back by the flight. Also the green and purple cachets. These covers were actually flown the entire distance of 22,065 miles. Price $75.00 Each.

Every cover sold on a "Money back if not entirely satisfactory" guarantee.

Major Dargue is writing a series of articles dealing with the philatelic side of the flight exclusively for THE STAMP COLLECTOR'S MAGAZINE. These articles are of great interest to collectors, and are only a part of the excellent philatelic contents of THE STAMP COLLECTOR'S MAGAZINE. Subscription $1.00 per annum. A genuine flown Colombian Republic Air Mail cover FREE to every new subscriber. SAMPLE COPY FREE. [40

HERE AND THERE IN NEW ISSUES

By HERMANN FOCKE.

Honduras favors us with another value of the new set of postage stamps heralded some time ago, a black atrocity of the 6 centavos value, 25 x 27½mm with the facade of the Presidential Palace in a double circle, with inscription "Correos de Honduras C.A." and Casa Presidencial; in upper two corners diagonally U.P.U. and 1927; value 6 CENTAVOS 6 with the numerals in oval at bottom. Issued about February 1st.

Haiti. — To commemorate "Lindy's" visit to the Republic, a special cancellation was applied to the regular mail on the days from February 4th to 6th, consisting of an aeroplane with the word LINDBERGH printed across the entire width of the wings. I have seen this cancellation in red on all letters from Jeremie, in addition to the regular town postmark, dated, in black.

Colombia.—In the Department of El Valle in the southwestern part of this country where traffic is carried on by mule and an occasional river-craft, an enterprising Gentleman by the name of Pablo E. Tobon has established what he calls an "Express," presumably by means of a flivver, to despatch the daily mails from the interior towns of Manizales, Armenia, Cali, etc., to the port of Buenaventura on the Pacific Coast, and to make matters look more important, he created a large label in vermilion color, having in the centre an approaching train (not his own, I am sure), at top the words "El Expreso Tobon," at bottom Valor $0.06 with numeral 6 in a circle in the lower two corners and at the sides, at left "Correo" and at right "Diario" (daily mail).

A letter received from Cali recently with the above label attached fooled a faithful servant of Uncle Sam's P. O., as the missive was considered a special delivery letter, and thus handled, and even cancelled with the date of arrival in New York, and the usual mark: Fee claimed by office of first address. Considering that there exists no international special delivery service, this was rather an unusual, if not unique, procedure; still I hold the cover to prove it.

To show what the airship has done to accelerate travel and mail, I would cite the fact that mail despatched from the City of Bucaramanga in the Department of Santander on January 23d, was delivered in New York on January 31st, 8 days later, whereas by regular mail it would have arrived at best in three weeks.

It is rather strange that up to this day the stamps of the Colombian airmail service are not recognized by the American cataloguers, although by many collectors, and European catalogues; there is no other service in the world of equal importance, it works like a clock, and has been in existence for about 15 years, without one single accident save two which occurred while the plane was on a special, semi-pleasure trip.

Dominican Republic.—Also for this country the airplane has reduced the time considerably to bring mail to the outside world, a letter mailed at Santo Domingo on Thursday having been received in New York on the following Monday, or in 4 days as against 10 by the regular mail boat.

Leeward Islands. — It may interest collectors that a few days ago I received from one of the Leeward Islands a small consignment of "current" postage stamps, amongst which were L. I. Scott's Nos. 51 to 55 and 60, i.e.: the 3d, 6d, 1/-, 2/-, 2/6 and 5/-, all on paper with the old block type multiple Crown C A wmk., and also 3 copies of the 5d multiple script (No. 68) all supposed to be obsolete.

Regarding this last mentioned stamp I may state that it is sold in England for 3/-, and it actually appears to be obsolete, because the usual letter of remittance did no longer have this value mentioned in the list of current L. I. stamps.

I better not mention the name of the Island, as the P. M. might be swamped with orders, and too much work is not to the liking of the people in those quiet and warm places in the Caribbean. At the same time collectors might take notice and not pay "any old price" for the above stamps, my small investment of £1 (roughly $5) having brought stamps to the aggregate catalogue value of nearly $20.00.

Cuba. — The time for the mail to reach the U. S. from this Republic has also been reduced by the service between Habana and Key West, a letter bringing me the Lindbergh Special air-mail stamp, which left Habana on February 8th at 4 p. m., having been delivered to me in New York on the 10th at 2 p. m., or within 46 hours, as against the usual four days.

"QUANTITY" NOT "QUALITY"

A rather ridiculous, yet obvious, error got by our printers' proof-readers in the ad of the Cortlandt Stamp Co., on page 127 of the Feb. 20 issue. The word "quality" was used when the copy was "quantity," in the remarks re the obsolete 2sh Script (No. 59) Turks & Caicos stamp.

EDITORIAL

The Lindbergh covers, St. Louis to Chicago, and Chicago to St. Louis were used in huge numbers, and "Lindbergh Again Flies The Mail" will be the passport on many an envelope that will be retained in non-philatelic hands, judging from the public interest manifested in these souvenirs. The following statistics show how well patronized the flight was, according to an informant in the service. There were practically 100,000 pieces of mail originating in St. Louis, and with the contributions of Springfield and Peoria the number was swollen to about 175,000 units. Postmaster Lueder, Colonel Paul Henderson and others welcomed Lindbergh on his arrival at the Chicago field at 7.46 on Feb. 20, 1928; and in the group was a number of collectors.

Our philatelic champion in congress, Representative Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey has grasped a big moment to introduce a bill providing for a set of stamps in honor of Lindbergh; and he has gained a world of publicity for his project. In sending a clipping from the Wisconsin News on the subject, our Milwaukee correspondent, Mr. D. G. Bigelow wrote: "Why not mention this to allow collectors to express their opinions to their congressmen."

The advocates of a Valley Forge special stamp have been pressing their arguments and their campaign has gained a momentum that makes its influence felt. However, various statements have been heard to the effect that some of the lawmakers are opposed to general issues, and while not centering their objections on any specific case, they maintain that it is inadvisable to issue commemoratives, in view of the many requests for them. If these demands were acceded to, it is pointed out that the presses would have to work overtime, and that it would not be politic to accept any of them. No doubt these findings are subject to qualification; and it is doubted that they will prevail in each and every case.

Speaking of congressmen, it is known that many of them are well aware of the existence of philatelists in number sufficiently large to command attention. Too, they have reason to know that collectors by no means are inarticulate and can speak for themselves. It is known that some of the senators and representatives have informed themselves of prevailing philatelic sentiment inasmuch as a few of them have taken occasion to solicit the opinion of experienced collectors on proposed legislation that may be said to affect philatelists.

Corporal G. A. Conklin, New Jersey State Police, Trenton, writes: "It may interest you to know that the Hon. Harold G. Hoffman, congressman from the 4th New Jersey District has introduced, or is planning to do so, a bill calling for the issue of a stamp in commemoration of the Battle of Monmouth. I do not know the sentiment, as far as the passage of the bill is concerned, but should it pass, it will undoubtedly be a limited issue and therefore of interest." This battle was fought on the 28th of June, 1778, and afforded a field for the display of Washington's military genius; and General Wayne made a famous charge during the conflict. In an old history, we read that "overcome by the excessive heat, 59 British soldiers died without a wound and several of the Americans died from the same cause." Too, it must not be forgotten that the movement to commemorate the valor of Mollie Pitcher has not slackened, and that there is a possibility of celebrating this heroine by a stamp issue.

A letter has come from Mr. Stacy G. Albright, who "as a former resident of Philadelphia" is much interested in Revolutionary lore, telling of his pleasure in reading the last editorial notice in the issue of Feb. 20th. He says: "Just at the time of Washington's birthday, the account was very appropriate, and I had more thrill in reading the description of Washington, as he opened the first congress in New York, than from anything else in a long time. You showed good editorship and I think that you are to be congratulated on the intelligence and industry of your correspondents, and that you should heartily thank the particular contributor." We are and we did.

In translating a letter from a reader in Cuba, we find that it says that counterfeits in the form of inverted and other varieties of overprint on the Lindbergh special air mail stamp of Cuba have made their appearance, almost simultaneously with the issue of the stamp. It is probable that a clean-up on the forgeries was attempted without delay by the sharpers in Havana, who instituted their campaign for the purpose. The collector who would play safe should buy stamps in a hurry only from reputable dealers.

The day of philatelic miracles has not passed and here is an illustration that is authentic. Mr. Orville Davis Jones, Wilmette, Illinois, has just shown us five unused copies of the 15c of 1869, unused and unhinged, that he bought for 75c, much to his satisfaction and that of the seller. While in the office of a large corporation with whom he has dealt for many years, he had occasion to ask for a 10c postage stamp for immediate use. The office girl opened the stamp box and Mr. Jones saw among the stamps in it, the five stamps of 1869, fifteen cent. The girl said that they had "always been in the box" and that they were not used because of the uncertainty that they were good for postage. Certainly, she said, she would be glad to get rid of them for face; and so, everybody was satisfied.

It was about time for an appearance of a rousing stamp article in one of the big publications of the country; and Collier's for February 25, 1928, toes the scratch with an illustrated story, "Stamp Followers" by Hugh Leamy. Several pages are required for elbow room by the writer. The picture of King George is shown and also that of Arthur Hind; and the first is called a "big collector, but only of British issues," while "Arthur Hind already owns millions of dollars' worth of stamps." That really unique rarity, the property of Mr. Hind is pictured is shown; the stamp is the one penny British Guiana that was found in 1872, and in due course was bought by Ferrary for about $600. Mr. Hind obtained the stamp at the Ferrary sale for something like $40,000. The article is crisply written and it has a popular appeal, although the writer does not profess to follow the psychology of the philatelist. Incidentally, it may be said that our attention to this feature article was called by a dozen correspondents.

Mr. S. Tanner Green of Quebec City, Canada, writes: "I enclose you a cover which is somewhat unusual, inasmuch as it started from Quebec on 17th December last, left Murray Bay by airplane on Christmas day (the mail was put on board the previous night). It arrived at Seven Islands, Christmas Day, was postmarked there the next morning, that of December 26th. From Seven Islands it proceeded to Thunder River by dog-team, reaching there January 8th. Returning, it left Thunder River, January 10th and came along by dog-team to Betsiamites, arriving there February 7th, and in this city, February 16th." Needless to say, the postmarks on this 2c stamped envelope of Canada, and "Air-Mail" LaMalbaie-Seven Islands tell the story of this remarkable trip, that required so many different forms of transportation.

ALL HAIL, MAJ. G. W. A. CA

J. Cadek is the first to send us a c of the article "Stamp Followers," w appeared in Collier's Weekly for 25. It was written by Hugh Leamy, is a gem of a production. It shows work of a master mind, not only in text of the article, but also in the ill trations accompanying the same. tures of King George and Arthur H are used to illustrate the article, their names figure quite prominently

A philatelist evidently had someth to do with the preparation of this ture, and it was no doubt Major G. A. Camp, president of the Society Philatelic Americans, who is quote length in the article. This is probl the biggest philatelic publicity stunt has ever been put across, taking into sideration that Collier's has a circula of over 1,600,000.

If, as we surmise, Major Camp is moving spirit in this enterprise, we s give him and the Society of which h president, great credit for producin piece of publicity such as philately never before known.

ODDS AND ENDS:—

IN the New York Daily News of Feb. 18, appeared a very fine Lindbergh feature. Nice illustrations of the Panama stamps were shown, and a picture of Lindbergh, also the special Panama postmark, featured the article.—Clipping from C. R. GOETZ.

THE Elk Stamp Co. has taken out a contract for regular space in the WEEKLY. This firm is an oldtime advertiser in our publication, and we are very glad to have it return to our columns.

WE are indebted to Morris E. Angle for the clipping, used elsewhere in this issue, giving the particulars of the Ackerman resolution to honor Lindbergh with a special set of postage stamps.

THE annual meeting of the Association for Stamp Exhibitions is slated for March 5, at the Collectors Club, N. Y. City. The principle item of business is the election of Directors to serve for the next three years, and the following list has been made up by the nominating committee:—J. P. Benkard, J. B. Chittenden, A. W. Claflin, H. M. Clark, H. A. Diamant, J. H. Hall, Jr., J. A. Klemann, A. Krassa, H. L. Lindquist, G. M. Mosler, C. K. B. Nevin, W. S. Scott, T. E. Steinway, H. Toaspern and P. H. Ward, Jr.

WE have received from John A. Jungkind a clipping from the Arkansas Gazette giving some interesting data about W. E. Woodruff, recently mentioned in the WEEKLY.

E. J. MEEHAN favors us with two of the new Cuban Lindbergh stamps on fancy envelopes, and adds "for worthy shut-ins." Hearty thanks.

NO doubt several of our subscribers will send us the fine article in Colliers Weekly for Feb. 25, after we have gone to press with this issue. E. H. Sprangers sends in the clipping.

BRIDGER & KAY, 170 Strand, London, W.C. 2, England, are sending out their annual price-list of British Colonial postage stamps. The book is priced at a shilling, but it is well worth the amount. The price-list is a substantial book of one hundred pages, and we can recommend it to our readers.

C. S. LEINBACH sends us a clipping from a Milwaukee paper, which tells a weird story of the clearing of the reputation of one Richard Canning by the finding of two envelopes by a London stamp collector. We do not have the space to print the clipping in its entirety, but the main fact in the case is that Canning was sentenced to life imprisonment for a crime that he did not commit. The crime occurred in 1847, and a sad miscarriage of justice resulted when Canning was convicted instead of one John Ellington.

FROM Grand Rapids comes a bulletin published by the Furniture City Stamp Club. It is edited by Roland Goodman, and makes a very creditable publication. It comes in mimeograph form, but has its editorial matter, new issue notes, etc., just the same as its more pretentious brother publications.

THE Seattle Star of Jan. 24, contained the following news item regarding our regular advertiser W. Schwede of that city:—

"The cubby-hole and one-door-wide shop of W. Schwede, at 107 Columbia Street, dealing exclusively in postage stamp collections . . . think of all the thousands and thousands of people all over the world who with fear, hope, love, anguish, hatred or despair, have licked the thousands of stamps now in Stamp Collector Schwede's shop on Columbia!"

HENRY A. MEYER, Evansville, Ind., gave an illustrated lecture at the Bosse High School Stamp Club a few weeks ago, and recently gave substantially the same lecture before a club composed of the men teachers of all the city schools. His subject was "Postage Stamps and History," and the lectures were greatly appreciated.

THE Second Annual Bourse, banquet, and auction of the Flint, Mich., Collectors' Club will be held Saturday, March 24, at the Elks' Temple. The stamp bourse will be held in the afternoon, and the banquet at 6.30, after which the auction sale will be held. A fine assortment of lots has been entered. For auction catalogs and other information, address Glen R. McGuire, Sec., 1st National Bank, Flint, Mich.

Definitions

Kralyevina Srbija.—These words in Slavonic characters are shown on the 1904 stamps of Servia and mean "Kingdom of Serbia."

Kran.—The value in which many of the stamps of Persia are expressed. A kran consists of 20 shahi and is equal to about 8c in our money.

Kreuzer.—The value in which many of the stamps of Bavaria, Wurtemberg, and other German states until 1875, those of Austria until 1899, and of Hungary until 1900, were expressed. In the German states the kreuzer was worth about ½c, in Austria until 1858, it was worth nearly 1c, and after 1858 in that country, and also in Hungary, it was equal to only about two-fifths of a cent.

Kriegs-Beschaedigte. — This inscription is found on certain stamps of Bavaria and means "War Damaged." The stamps thus overprinted were sold at an increased price over the nominal face value, the extra amount being used for those who sustained not only physical but pecuniary loss from the world war.

Krolestwo Polskie — (Kingdom of Poland).—Stamps bearing this inscription were prepared in 1918, but never regularly issued, though on the stamp market they have no postal standing.

JUNIOR STAMP STUDIES

MERCURY
Greece A12
5 lepta, green

The set of Greek stamps, issued in 1901, is a most attractive addition to our albums. The stamps are all alike as far as the main feature of the design goes—a figure of Mercury, the messenger of the gods whom Greece has immortalized in her literature. In fact Mercury has always been the "motive" in the designing of the Greek stamps, with the exception of the Olympian games issue, of course, which was devoted to a particular subject. All of the other stamps of earlier issues have borne the head of Hermes, as the Greeks called him, wearing his petasus or winged cap. But this design is a representation of the particularly graceful statue of the god of Giovanni da Bologna. Here we behold him in full exercise of his commissions, not only wearing his petasus, but also the wings attached to his ankles, and bearing the caduceus, or serpent entwined and winged wand, which denotes his office of herald.

The frame of the picture varies through three different designs, each being labelled HELLAS in Greek letters and bearing figures with values in lepta or drachmai. The prettiest design is the one illustrated. The high values are all in the long narrow type which shows off well in the black of the 1 drachma, but does not appear to advantage in the metallic inks used for the other three values.

Saar

A territory famous for its coal mines, ceded to France by Germany, and governed by a commission appointed by the League of Nations. In 1934 a plebiscite will be held to ascertain whether a continuance of administration under the League of Nations is desired in preference to union with France or union with Germany. Stamps were issued consisting of the overprint "Sarre" on Bavarian and German stamps, also Saargebiet, which see.

Dr. K. & Co. Stamps

These are the 1c, 2c, and 3c postage stamps of the United States, current in 1898, overprinted "Dr. K. & Co.—I.R." and date in three lines. They were used provisionally by the firm of Kilmer and Company, of Binghampton, N. Y., manufacturers of patent medicines, in lieu of the regular ⅝c, 1¼c, and 2½c proprietary stamps owing to the fact that the proper stamps were not procurable at the time. The stamps were only used between the 6th and 13th of July, 1898, and they form an interesting side-line to a collection of regular revenue stamps.

Dominican Republic

Santo Domingo, now more generally known as the Dominican Republic, was formerly the Spanish portion of the island of Hayti. It is the oldest settlement of European origin in the American continent, having been founded in 1494. Postage stamps for the use of this republic were first issued in 1865.

Lindbergh Stamps Suggested

(Clip. by Dr. G. M. Guido (Eliz. "Journal.")

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—A series of postage stamps to commemorate the good-will flights of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to thirteen republics of Central and South America was proposed to-day by Representative Ernest Ackerman, of Plainfield.

Representative Ackerman, one of the most ardent philatelists in the country, introduced a resolution authorizing the Postmaster General to issue the set of Lindbergh stamps in denominations ranging from one-half cent to $1, made from appropriate designs "suitable for perpetuating the benefits and recording in a permanent way this epochal flight and series of good-will visits."

"A stamp caused the World War; a stamp may bring about world peace." Representative Ackerman said, in telling how a Servian stamp portraying the death mask of the murdered king cleverly represented upside down in the profiles of King Peter and Kara Beorge stirred up feeling in Servia.

Aitutaki

The northernmost island in the Hervey or Cook Archipelago. It is of volcanic formation, is surrounded by dangerous reefs, and has no harbor of any importance. The island was annexed to the British Empire in October, 1900, and in the following June it was included in the boundaries of the Dominion of New Zealand. Its government is administered locally, under the direction of New Zealand, by the Federal Council of the Cook Islands. In 1903 postage stamps were first issued, these being formed by overprinting the then current stamps of New Zealand with "Aitutaki" and values in the local equivalents.

Hindenburg Aids A Junior

(Clipping from Robt. E. Dunlop.)

BERLIN, GERMANY, Feb. 18.—President Von Hindenburg, who is a friend of children and always ready to consider their wants, sent a new year's greeting to a small boy of eight in Loebau, Saxony, with a fine assortment of foreign postage stamps.

He thereby reciprocated for the congratulation he had received on his eightieth birthday from the youngster who, with an eye to his stamp collection, had asked the venerable president kindly to let him have any foreign stamps he might receive with his birthday letters from abroad.

"Country" Etymology

Victoria.—After the Queen of Great Britain.

Costa Rica.—"Rich coast."

Dominica.—Is the Spanish for "Sunday Island," so named by Columbus, because he landed here on Sunday, November 3, 1493.

Equador. — Is the Spanish for Equador.

Falklands Islands.—Were taken possession by the British in 1765 and named after Lord Falkland.

Guatemala.—Shortened by the Spanish, from the Indian name Quauhtemallaux which signifies "rotton tree."

Hayti. — Indian name for "rough land."

Honduras.—From the Spanish hondo, i.e. "deep."

Junior Items

Paz Y Justicia. — The Spanish r dering of the same motto on the st of Paraguay.

P. D. — I. A postmark applie many old letters on the address both before and after the introdu of postage stamps. It means "Pa Destination," i.e., paid to destination, was, of course, only affixed to fully paid letters.

II. These letters and the numa "5," "10" or "15" struck on plain are listed as an issue for the Fr colony of St. Pierre and Miquelon seems more than probable, however, these are merely marks applied to le that were fully prepaid during a te rary shortage of ordinary postage st They are, therefore, best describe "paid postmarks."

PE. — A contraction for "Pia egiziane" or "Egyptian piastre" s upon some of the early stamps of E

Peace and Commerce Type. — name by which the design of the Fr stamps used from 1876 to 1900 is kn It was drawn by M. J. A. Sage.

Postmark Advertising

(Clipping from M. R. Lampson.)

The British Government Economy passed by Parliament enables B commercial firms to advertise their g by means of post-office cancell stamps. Heretofore these stamps been used exclusively for official slo such as "Visit Wembley" or "B Goods are Best." Now the post-department has given a contract to a of London advertising contractors the letting of this privilege. The a tisements may appear for any perio time that the advertiser desires, and may be postmarked on letters origin in a particular district or throughou United Kingdom.—N. Y. Coml. and World.

Finland Independence Issue

With reference to the new Indepen stamps, we are now able to state tha nine roses round the lion represen nine provinces of which Finland formerly composed, these province now styled "counties," but the n have been somewhat altered. The cu weapon at the foot of the lion repre the Scimitar of the East, which trampling down; in the right fore p the Western Sword, and it faces we the Land of Culture.—Whitfield K Bulletin.

Grill

A pattern of small, square, emb dots, usually arranged in the form small square or rectangle and occa ally covering the whole of the stam is found upon some of the stamps o United States and Peru. The obje this grill (or "grid" as it is some called) was to act as a discourage to the stamp cleaner. The embo had the effect of weakening the stance of the paper and thus maki absorb a more or less uncertain qua of the cancelling ink. In theory it w excellent idea, but in practice it found somewhat cumbersome and a comparatively short trial by the U States Government it was abandone his stamp is one that has been sought diligently and fruitlessly by many n collectors and students of this, in- sting Colony and until recently I had unable to see an unused pair, and I only been able to get the sight of one pair which had been divided.

was previously, therefore, rather btful of its existence in the true e of the word, thinking that the pair d seen might have been a spacing va- on the sheet of D6, Scott 306/6, as ad previously discovered a similar rrence on the 6d slate, S.G. No. D5, which the spacing between South st and Africa in the 3rd line was m, whereas the spacing was 14mm ll the rest of the sheet.

ut I have now seen, had and broken nto pairs and sold a mint block of t of this very rare item. This formed of a somewhat larger block which a it in the East was kind enough to me, he having kept the other part his collection, and this is the only ed block I have seen or heard of.

y nice genuine cover. There are tests that you may apply yourself ne half a stamp in question.

.) As paper gets older it loses its nal snappy texture and this permits o percolate readily enough. So that applied later than the original ink sometimes penetrate the paper of h the envelope is made. It will do to many stamps. You know how a page will tear in a real old album! , try to write in ink on one of those s and see what happens. That is No. 1.

.) Does the cancel "tie the stamp e cut, to the cover?" In the faked s this is a positive "Yes." I have many beautiful pen cancelled "splits" were not "tied on" and which were lutely authentic. So a split has as right not to be tied on, as a single p. For example, the Chicopee stars usually hit smack in the center of 3c 1851 stamp on covers from that . The town pmk. is about as scarce d as the neat little double triangled If you find one yourself in a h of old correspondence, you feel in that it positively is as mailed, gh some of your friend collectors say that it is not very much used, as not "tied on." This gives the lis- the idea that the speaker sure does his onions—but there are many ns, too.

.) Is the cut edge of the split stamp and fresh appearing? It should be t the same age in appearance as the of the edges with the perfs on them. ne perfed edges are dull looking, the edge should be. If the newness of ssors cut has been smudged down to off the "newness," you can easily it with a glass if you have a high ered glass.

.) Is the depth, if ink, same on the erator as on the postmark? Of se the pmk. generally appears of er ink than the obliterator, as the aces inked are bigger as a rule on killer and carry more ink than the l lettering and numbers in the pmk., you make a little allowance for this.

.) Does the cancel that covers the edge snuggle right up close to the edge, or is there a tiny white open e where the cancel jumped off the p onto the cover. Look at any p that is imperforate to get this idea in your mind.

I once saw a very pretty split on cover that had been "touched up" in ink where the canceler had jumped off the stamp onto the cover, and it must have left a small line of white between the cut edge and the cover. This had been filled in with ink, more to prove by the owner that it was OK than with any thought of harming the cover I suppose, yet everyone saw this little glossy filling of ink, and no one wanted such a cover. It was absolutely genuine; yet the little shiny line of added ink looked like open water in a frozen river. Dangerous. Keep away, and they all did.

If the sender of a letter in the sixties had a pair of BJs and no 3c stamp handy, he slapped the pair of 2s on, instead of hiking off to the P. O. for a 3c stamp. This pair stuff is the fakir's meat. He selects a nice looking pair on cover, raises up the side, if it is to become a bisected vertically, or the corner, if to be cut diagonally, and then the stamp is cut away so that the better half stays on the cover, generally in pair with the other stamp. The gum is carefully blotted off the cover, and then the cancel is extended onto the cover as it should appear if it were so struck originally.

This sounds easy. It is not an easy thing to do. It often passes a beginner; but nowadays there are no beginners, they all either know a lot, or they take nothing for granted. All the talk about faking of antiques, and glass, is eagerly read by the philatelist, and he stores away many points in his own brain for reference. The lifting of a cancel mechanically, and transferring it to some other stamp of cover would cause plenty of confusion if it could actually be done in a perfect manner. Think of what would happen to all these unused patriotic covers: they sell for ten cents "mint," and as many $ used. I suppose many a patriotic cover is sitting pretty right now with a natty stamp on it, where its original stamp was a poor old scarred battered up thing that was rather unsightly.

The telling of faked splits is merely the putting together of all you know about covers, added to all you know about cancellations, and their application to the stamp. Do not leap at one small detail that looks bad; but start at the time the cover left the sending P. O., then follow it in detail through its trip. There should be a full stop at that receiving end, and if you can visualize all of these points correctly, you will be well able to draw your own conclusions as to the genuineness of the document in hand, be it a split stamp, or an unusual cover of any sort.

Knowledge Is Power

Knowledge about stamps means power to enjoy your hobby to the full,—power, if you wish, to make it a profitable investment.

Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal, the most interesting stamp magazine in the English language, gives you knowledge, — knowledge of what other collectors are discovering, knowledge of what is happening and going to happen in the world of stamps, knowledge of market prices and future prospects.

AN INTERESTING COVER

By F. S. Adams, Pittsburg, Pa.

(It is possible that this cover has been noted in a former number of the WEEKLY. However, we deem it wise to print this information for the benefit of our newer readers.—W. O. W.)

The writer has an envelope with a 1¾" x2¾" sticker pasted on upper left hand part of envelope, bearing following printed matter:—

Post Office, New York, N. Y.

The enclosure was damaged in the wreck of the 20th Century Limited train on Lake Shore and Michigan Southern R. R. that occurred at Mentor, Ohio, Wednesday, June 21, 1905.

William R. Willcox, Postmaster.

The above envelope bears P. O. stamp cancellation marked "Chi. and Went Ave June 21 1905 R.O.P."

Also postmarked New York, June 23, 1905. Envelope is slightly burned around edges.

GOOD STAMPS AT LESS THAN AUCTION PRICES

Every once in a while we become overstocked with certain stamps, due to the acquisition of various large and small collections, and it is our custom to offer such stam collectors at big discounts from catalogue quotations. The stamps offered are in perfect condition—undamaged in any way (except where mentioned) and the used not ha cancelled. Besides, buyers run no chances, as anything is returnable within 2 weeks against refund of the purchase price.

19th Century Stamps

On unused 19th Cent. gum should not be expected unless mentioned.

ECONOMIST STAMP COMPANY

Nassau Street New York City, N. Y.

R. CHASE'S U. S. 3c 1851-57

bscriptions for a new edition of Dr. ll Chase's great work on the United s 3c stamps of the issues of 1851- are being solicited by Lyman J. , treasurer and principal owner of . Moore, Inc., of Hammondsport, more than two years Dr. Chase's of these interesting stamps ap- d in serial form in the American telist. It occupied some 400 pages, was illustrated by hundreds of en- l half-tone illustrations of all the nding varieties. All varieties of ing were minutely described, all cracks, flaws, scratches, important , imprints, etc., were described and rated. Each individual plate was ibed in sufficient detail to make pos- the identification of the various ngs. Varieties of paper, of shade, k, were dealt with, and supplemen- chapters gave a world of informa- n the study of cancellations, com- on rates, splits, and other side lines erest to the specialist. It is said to e most exhaustive and comprehen- tudy of any single stamp ever un- en. Since its first appearance Dr. has made numerous discoveries of to unlisted varieties. Some of these on the comparatively common Type mps of the perforated issue of 1857, ill remain among the great rarities nor varieties, being practically un- n to more than a handful of ad- d specialists.

ens of the leading collectors and s of the country have been ap- hed on the subject of the proposed ation and have given it their en- stic endorsement. A subscription f 500 is needed to insure publication.

An edition of 500 copies bound in buckram, at $5.00, with 50 copies on Japanese Vellum at $25 each is proposed. The support of this publication is solicited. Your subscription money will not be called for until enough subscriptions have been secured to guarantee the first cost of the work. Send your subscription to L. J. Seely, % J. O. COUNTERFEITER ARRESTED

"Detroit Free Press" (by H. W. Boers).

One of the queerest cases of counterfeiting with which the Detroit bureau of the United States secret service has had to cope was brought to light yesterday with the arrest of Louis B. Wood, a Lansing, Mich., radio store owner, charged with making spurious albino stamps.

Albino stamps are considered of value by philatelists. They are freaks in stamp printing caused by the failure of the ink to make the impression, leaving merely the outline of the engraving on the paper. Such stamps occur seldom and are usually destroyed by government inspectors before they reach the public. Hence their value and rarity, according to Bert C. Brown, chief of the secret service office.

Wood, by making a wax mold of a two-cent postage stamp and then casting a replica of the original government engraving, intended to manufacture albino stamps in wholesale quantities and sell them to well known stamp collectors throughout the country.

His novel plan came to light recently when Lansing police, seeking Wood on another charge, discovered the mold in his store. Wood was traced to Toledo and arrested.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

DR. CHASE'S 1851, 3c PLATES

Dr. Carroll Chase is today the foremost student of the 3c of 1851, and through his efforts the ten plates of two hundred subjects used for printing this variety have been completely reconstructed. In order to do this, Dr. Chase has examined thousands and thousands of copies, and has spent upward of twenty years in getting them together. He has reconstructed each and every plate, in its several states, and in the case of plates which were used over several years, he has gotten them together in the individual shade of the separate years. The lot further includes what he designates as his proof plates, which consist of pairs, strips, and blocks over-lapping, and conclusively proving the position of each variety.

In getting these together, Dr. Chase replaced each stamp as he found a better copy, and he states that he doubts whether material exists to duplicate such a lot at any price.

In all there are twenty-two complete reconstructed sheets of two hundred stamps each, making forty-four panes in all. Among this lot there are ten panes of the rare orange-brown shade. Such a collection contains every plate variety listed in the specialized catalogue, and many minor recuts and oddities which are not listed.

To itemize the lot, there is present the following:—Plate 0—which carries no plate number but has imprint only, and is in orange-brown. There is an early reconstruction, as well as an intermediate reconstruction of Plate 1, both in orange-brown. Plate 1 in the late state is present in a proof plate, also in the 1852 shade, as well as the 1853 shade. Plate 2 early is in the orange-brown shade. Plate 2 late is present in the proof condition, as well as in the 1852, 1853 and 1857 shades. Plate 3 is present in four similar reconstructions. Plate 4 is present in both normal and proof condition. Plate 5 early comes in the orange-brown shade, and Plate 5 late in the regular shade. Plates 6-7-8, which are the scarcest of the commoner shades, are reconstructed in their entirety.

This wonderful lot is offered at an exceedingly reasonable price — one which is slightly larger than the normal stamps would cost, when you consider the numerous orange-browns, recuts, broken plates, double transfers, plate and imprint copies, margin and corner copies, pairs, strips, blocks, and the like.

If the purchaser desires, he may have with these plates, the earliest used copy on cover from each of the above plates with two exceptions, and in the case of these two exceptions, Dr. Chase has the second earliest known cover.

Correspondence is solicited with those interested, at which time further details will be given. In fact, the collection will be shown to a likely purchaser.

May I call the attention of my clients to the fact that the finest collections of United States stamps now coming upon the market are passing through my hands. If you have important properties that you desire to sell, either outright or on a commission basis, or if you are in the market for fine United States varieties, I would be glad to hear from you.

United States

Washington Notes

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey, kindly sends me a copy of House Resolution, No. 205, which he introduced February 16th, and which has been referred to the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads. The joint resolution reads as follows:—

"Authorizing the Postmaster General to issue a set of stamps relative to the good-will flight of Colonel Lindbergh.

Whereas the Nation and the world have followed with close interest and admiration the good-will flight of Colonel Lindbergh to our South American and Central American sister Republics; and

Whereas the national understanding thus produced between the Government of the United States, and the Government of the countries visited, may be extended and made more complete and enduring: Therefore be it—

1 Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of
2 the United States of America in Congress assembled, 3 That the Postmaster General be, and he is hereby, author-
4 ized to issue a set of thirteen stamps, being the number
1 of countries Colonel Lindbergh visited, as well as the num-
2 ber of the original States in the United States, the stamps
3 to be issued in denominations from one-half cent to $1 from 4 dies to be specially made in appropriate designs suitable for 5 perpetuating the benefits and recording in a permanent
6 way this epochal flight and series of good-will visits."

The Committee has before it at the present time, at least three other bills authorizing special issues, but as yet none of them have been favorably reported. It is to be hoped that if this bill will meet with the approval of the Committee, that it will carry an appropriation with it, for otherwise, I believe it is optional with the Postmaster General.

As to the Valley Forge issue, I now learn that Senator Reed of Pennsylvania will accompany Congressman Watson of the Valley Forge District to see the Postmaster General on his return from Florida. Letters are continually arriving at Washington, and if the good work is only kept up, no doubt this variety will appear.

It is doubtful whether any other of the suggested stamps will receive favorable consideration at this time, unless they are especially authorized by Congress, and money is appropriated to cover the expenditure in connection with the issue.

Air Mail Notes

"LINDBERGH AGAIN FLIES THE AIR MAIL" is found on a new postmark, horseshoe in shape, which was applied in the case of upward of 225,000 letters, which were carried by Lindbergh and other air mail pilots on his trip, February 20th, from St. Louis to Chicago, and return on the following day from Chicago to St. Louis. In addition, this postmark in the upper part of the horseshoe reads, "Chicago-St. Louis C.A.M. 2." Below, we find the name of the town and date in figures. Chicago and St. Louis both applied the postmark in black, Peoria in green, and Springfield used two colors on each postmark, the upper portion being in red and the lower in blue. Dr. H. P. Macnamara kindly sends a cover from Springfield.

Mr. Albert W. Draves favors me with a cover from Milwaukee, which in addition to receiving the special Chicago postmark, had a three-line postmark applied in magenta at the Milwaukee office reading, "Via Air Mail Lindbergh Flight—land early in the morning, the air mail carried thereon could be dispatched via train to all Willamette valley cities and towns, as well as those in the Umpqua and Rogue River Valley.

The Postmaster of San Francisco is using a special printed notice, of which two thousand were printed, stating that—

"This office has received information from the Second Assistant Postmaster General to the effect that it is understood the special airplane flight from San Francisco to Australia has been abandoned, and instructing that mail being held for it should be returned.

Pursuant to this instruction the attached mail is returned to you."

It will be recalled that some months back, announcement was made that there would be an air mail flight from San Francisco to Australia, at which time letters would be carried for the public.

Mr. M. D. Olmstead has kindly submitted for inspection covers carried during the New England Flood, from Concord and Montpelier, bearing a circular postmark in violet reading, "First Flight Emergency Contract Air Mail Route, Concord, Montpelier, Burlington, Nov. 10, 1927." A further cover showing a diamond shape postmark in green reads, "First Flight Emergency Contract Air Mail Route Concord-Barre, Nov. 16, 1927." These covers show in addition the regular postmark of the post office using them, and are back-stamped by the receiving office.

Cuba

Mr. Eugene Klein informs me that he has had submitted a block of four of the recent issued Cuban Lindbergh stamp, with double overprint. The same party has also sent similar blocks to several other dealers. On close inspection, Mr. Klein finds that the second overprint differs from the first, hence, is not a genuine double variety. It is to be regretted that these fakes have been produced, but it is hoped that they will not reach any unsuspecting collector or dealer.

Afghanistan.—It is expected that the new Afghan stamps will be issued perforated before long. The 60 poul stamp comes in sheets of eight, consisting of two blocks of four, tête-bêche in relation to each other.

The use of Official stamps has now been discontinued. Official letters now come through unstamped. Mr. Faqir Hussain Zaid is our informant.—Gibbons Stamp Monthly.

British Solomon Islands.—Whitfield King & Co. have received the 5p, 6p, 1sh, 2sh6p and 5sh, current stamps on script watermarked paper.

Bulgaria.—The 50st in the type of 1881 issue has been placed on sale in brick red and black. Copies are to hand from the Economist Stamp Co.

China.—This unhappy country is about to issue a commemorative set with the portrait of Marshal Tchang So Lin, comprising four values, 1c, 4c, 10c and $1, which will be sold at Chinese post offices and also, with a distinctive overprint, in the provinces of Turkestan and Manchuria. According to a correspondent of M. Th. Champion, there will be 4,600,000 dollars' worth for China, 370,000 dollars' worth for Turkestan, and 1,500,000 dollars' worth for Manchuria.—Stamp Collecting.

Cuba.—We are indebted to Mr. John G. Kunz for copies of the current 5c aereoplane stamp with the two-line surcharge "LINDBERGH FEBRERO 1928" in two lines in black. Mr. Kunz advises that 500,000 were issued.

Czechoslovakia.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the 40h brown, design as Scott's A14, on unwatermarked paper. Also the following values of a new type postage due stamp: 10h, 40h, 50h, 60h, all scarlet in color and 1kr and 2kr, in blue. These stamps are oblong format with the country's name at the top, figures of value in the centre and "Doplatne" at the bottom.

Greece.—A few thousand of the 1½ and 5dr of the new Navarino issue were put on sale at Pylos on October 20th, and then hurriedly withdrawn, as it was discovered that the higher value, with portrait of Admiral Codrington, was inscribed simply "Sir Codrington." The full set should be issued shortly, and collectors who hold specimens of the first 5dr are eager to know whether the inscription has been corrected, in which case their specimens should be valuable. —Gibbons Stamp Monthly.

Guatemala.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us a 1c de quetzal, olive-green stamp with a view of a large building as the central design. It has beneath this inscription "Edificio de Correos y Telegrafos Nacionales."

Haiti.—Mr. E. A. Colson sends for chronicle a new 35c, stamp in green with two sprigs of coffee in original form for a central design. The stamp is long oblong format with the name of the country and "Postes" at the top, figures of value at each side about half distance from top and bottom. Beneath the central figure in small type is the word "Cafe" with "Centimes de Gourde" beneath. The stamp is the work of the American Bank Note Co. Mr. Colson also calls our attention to a special cancellation that the letter bears. It is in the shape of an airplane and in red, and is in honor of Col. Lindbergh who was expected on Feb. 6th.

Netherlands.—The Economist Stamp Co. advise that they have received the ½c grey and 1½c magenta, design of A24, watermarked circles.

Palestine.—We are informed by Whitfield King & Co. that the new postage dues were expected to be issued about the first week in February. The following values will make up the set: 1, 2, 4, 8, 10, 13, 20 and 50 mils.

San Marino.—The Economist Stamp Co. report the appearance of the 60c violet surcharged "Expresso" with the further overprint "Lire 1,25" in black at the base of the stamp.

Siam.—Two provisionals are foreshadowed by M. Champion, viz.:—5 sat. on 15 sat. carmine, and 10 sat. on 28 sat. purple-brown.—Stamp Collecting.

Sudan.—Whitfield King & Co. report the 2 pias, on "S.G." watermarked paper.

Tunis.—The Economist Stamp Co. send copies of the 25c, type A11, in red-violet, and 75c, design as A12, in a shade of dull red-violet.

Uruguay.—The Economist Stamp Co. send for chronicle copies of the 12c blue, type of A100, with the surcharge "Inauguricion Ferrarril SAN CARLO a ROCHA 14/1/1928" with new values overprinted over the former one. Those submitted are the 2c, 5c, 10c and 12c, and appear with the new figures over the original ones with "Cts" between. The surcharges are in red, in six lines.

CYPRUS JUBILEE ISSUE

On February 1st the Government of Cyprus issued a set of postage stamps in commemoration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the British Occupation of the Island by virtue of the Convention with Turkey of 1878. These stamps have already been chronicled in detail in our New Issue columns, but the following descriptive notes, kindly supplied by the Trade Commissioner for the Colony, will interest all our readers.

As already explained, the ten denominations represent persons, objects, and incidents of interest in a history proverbially rich in traditional associations. For the ¾ piastre design an archaic Cyprus coin has been chosen, presented in high relief. The 1 piastre gives a late contemporary marble portrait of the philosopher Zeno, founder of the Stoic philosophy, who was born in Kitium (the modern Larnaca) towards the close of the fourth century B.C. The design of the 1½ piastre stamp is based on a map of Cyprus in the medieval style drawn for Mr. H. C. Luke's "Anatolica," showing the six principal cities and Mount Olympus (6,400 ft. high): in the south-western corner will be observed a miniature presentment of Aphrodite rising from the sea before Paphos. The 2½ piastre is a reduction of the early eighteenth century fresco in the Orthodox Cathedral of Nicosia, showing the finding at Salamis in the fifth century of the body of St. Barnabas, the Patron Saint of the Island. In this connexion it will be remembered that Cyprus was the first country in the world to be ruled by a Christian Governor, the Roman Sergius Paulus, who was converted by Paul and Barnabas. The 4 piastre stamp gives a view of the thirteenth century Cloister of the Premonstratensian Abbey of Bellapaise, close to Kyrenia on the northern coast of the Island. The 6 piastre shows the Badge of the Colony, as approved by His late Majesty King Edward VII, borne on the Governor's flag: the two lions which Richard Cœur de Lion displayed on his banners at the taking of Cyprus. The 9 piastre stamp is taken from a pen and ink drawing of the Tekke (Hospice) of Umm Haram, nurse of the Prophet Mohammed, who died in Cyprus. The subject of the 18 piastre will be familiar to Londoners, as Sir H. Thorneycroft's bronze equestrian statue of Richard Cœur de Lion, the first English King of Cyprus, outside the House of Lords. The 45 piastre or 5s stamp gives the facade of the thirteenth century French Gothic Cathedral of St. Nicholas in Famagusta, now a Turkish Mosque, and the £1 a portrait of King George V.

This special issue is for twelve months only, after which any stocks will be destroyed and the present series resumed.

The currency of the Island consists of a pound sterling divided into 180 copper piastres, so that 90 piastres are the equivalent of half-a-sovereign, forty-five of a crown, and so on.—Stamp Collecting.

U. S. CIVIL WAR REVENUES

Some Notes Concerning New And Unusual Items And Random Comments Upon The Specialized Prices

BY HENRY L. DEAN, 239 Windsor Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Since publication of my price résumé, in the November 28 and December 5th issues of MEKEEL'S, I have received communications from revenue enthusiasts upon many divergent phases of the subject, but while each of these has been interesting in itself many are so disassociated, one from another, as to make it impracticable to endeavor to link them for general reading.

The current notes therefore will cover such worth while items as have been brought to my attention in the past few months, and in thus departing from the policy of secrecy, so pronounced during earlier periods, it is hoped that others who can contribute their chapter will do so. Failing in this, at least have the goodness to communicate with the writer and don't be a shrinking violet through a feeling that your presentation is probably unimportant. It may be, but again it may be real meat, so kindly let me be a self appointed judge.

1c Express
Part Perf.

Although strips of this stamp, imperforate horizontally, are of little moment and there are vertical and horizontal blocks of sixteen each, and another block of twenty-four, I am pleased to record a piece of seventy-nine subjects on a document recently sent to me from Idaho, where it was used in a small mining camp in September, 1863. The usage of real large blocks of any of the low values may seem surprising, but it appears clear that such stamps were the only ones available in many of the smaller centers, and conversely such points are not the places to look for an original find of the $500 second issue. As a matter of interest it may be noted that only nine concerns handled the 204 issued copies of this latter stamp, and that but two specimens were used west of the Mississippi. Regarding the present block of 1c, I would classify it as interesting, but unimportant since almost half of the stamps are damaged, and the largest perfect block that can be salvaged is one of twelve stamps. Others would be of four, six, and eight subjects, respectively. Imperforate vertically the stamp is much scarcer than horizontally, and as the admittedly tentative specialized catalog is expanded and revised, cognizance presumably will be taken of this established fact.

2c Bank Check
Imperforate

An interested and helpful reader of earlier articles directs my attention to his vertical block of eight of this stamp, which reminds me to ask any holder of a piece larger than twelve to proudly proclaim the news to your correspondent. There are several blocks of four, six and eight, and one each of nine and ten, but although more than ten years have passed since Mr. Elliott Perry publicly mentioned the four by three block as the largest known, no one has arisen to question the statement and produce supporting evidence. Who can do so?

3c Foreign Exchange
Part Perf.

Always considered a real rarity in the form of a pair, two more pieces developed locally in 1925, since which time a dealer has had five pairs submitted, accompanied by the advices that more are available. Consequently, until such time as the situation is clarified, book quotations of value may be misleading. To date all pieces are imperforate vertically.

3c Playing Cards
Perforated

The quite recent discovery of another block of four prompts expression of the opinion that $90.00 net is about the right level for a fine block, and confirmation is offered by the transfer within four years at a well known and very spirited and highly competitive auction sale of a fine block of ten, a strip of four and a pair on document at a price of $205.00. The catalog lists a block at $150, and an Imperforate block of the $1.00 Passage Ticket at the same figure. Obviously there is only one answer. The P. C. is too high and the P. T. too low for a list that carries 20% discount.

3c Proprietary
Part Perf.

The only piece of this value and title in the Eagle collection was a vertical reconstructed strip of three, but the Stromberg property contained an unused pair which subsequently came to the writer, who has since secured a strip of three used together with a single, on a note originating in Ohio. The beauty of these pieces, as well as the Foreign Exchange just discussed, is that they cannot be manufactured, and this obviously is true of the 2c P. C. and 2c Proprietary, and the 70c, other high priced items in the Part Perforate group. Pairs, however, such as 25c L. I.—25c W. R. and $1.00 Conveyance must be carefully studied, particularly the latter. I am rather beginning to doubt that a legitimate pair exists, so am earnestly hoping for proof.

10c Certificate

Imperforate

In the December 5th issue mention was made that a block was generally unknown, but likely to occur, and strange to say the edition was on the press when a beautiful block of four, found in Bath, Maine, was submitted to me and purchased at my published appraisal of $150. Possession of the piece has not altered my ideas of worth, but does, I believe, justify expression of the opinion that the specialized catalog quotation for the block of 10c Inland Exchange is too high, and to rate it on an equality with the 10c Power of Attorney block is ridiculous. Corrective measures will no doubt be evidenced in later editions. Of one thing I feel reasonably confident, i.e., further blocks will eventually appear of both Certificate and Inland, and probably if some complacent reader of these notes would only take his pen in hand, as I have frequently requested, some real light could be shed on the subject right now.

It is true I have received complimentary, encouraging and truly helpful communications from many sources, but not enough to justify further burning of the midnight oil, and like the race that has "won every nations battles but their own," I want some arguments, or at least to draw from his tent any who can correct any of my published assertions. Otherwise, the revenue notes are likely to die of dry rot.

Part Perf.

Again soliciting co-operation to further general knowledge, will any reader informed of a strip of five of this stamp kindly come to the front, or if facts concerning a block larger than four are available they will be doubly welcome. It is reasonable to believe there must be several strips of five, for this seemed to be the form in which many of the 10c Part Perfs were employed, and even the great rarity, i.e., the 10c Bill of Lading was found in this shape in Illinois, by Mr. Stromberg. Certificate also is moderately scarce in multiple (P. P.), but offhand I can account for four strips of five.

CHIPS:—

NINETY per cent of our members subscribe to MEKEEL'S, and we always urge our new members to take out a subscription as we feel that the serious collector needs "MEKEEL'S" just as much as he needs a catalogue. FRED J. WIELER, Pres. Bridgeport (Ct.) Philatelic Club.

WE are indebted to Thomas Henning for two clippings. One has already been printed in the WEEKLY, and the other describes the famous collection of King George. Thanks for the courtesy.

Sevard's Twinkles

From Mr. T. J. Gridley, Springfield, Mass., comes an odd one on the 1909 TWO CENTS. It is a magenta oval cancel 37mm on the major axis with upper legend C. H. GOODNOUGH and curving with it So. LONDONDERRY, VT. The lower legend is So. LOND. & BRATT. R.P.O., a center legend JUN 19 Tr. 53. As for the postmaster, good enough. But for the rest of it, we're at a loss, and Mr. Gridley is at a gain. Fire when you're ready, Gridley.

And the "waffle iron" cancel on registered mail from the New York West 43rd Street Station, which Mr. Gridley submits, is one of those cancels referred to previously as one of the beautiful current cancels which are appearing on registered letters. The ellipse is 27mm by 20mm with four evenly spaced lines thru the cancel. No legends or datings appear, which is intricate. Oddly the Springfield, Mass., postmaster is counting on the future as he cancels SEP 1, 1928 on the reverse of the envelope. We wonder what he was thinking of, counting nine months ahead?

THE A.P.S. STREET CAR IS LOSING MANY OF ITS PASSENGERS AT THE PAY STATION AHEAD, AND ALL THOSE WHO WANT A COMMUTATION RIDE, BETTER GET THEIR 1928 TICKETS PUNCHED. FOUR OUT OF EVERY FIVE HAVE IT, AND EVEN YOUR BEST FRIENDS WON'T TELL YOU.

If you are interested in the romance of the beautiful and charming, petulant and insouciant 3c 51, whose hero gets a gash on shoulder and his lines recut after some button slashes, which make him see double rosettes, then you will be interested and know your need for the splendid book of Dr. Chase. Not only is this work de luxe a message of import and calculation, but it is the dernier cri of the proposals to glorify philately.

The gaff of publishing in America isn't in the best sellers, but in printing duds which even the blurbs can't sell. But Mr. Lyman Seely who ventures to give us a book which is wanted and needed, Dr. Chase's article on the 3c 1851, has a proposition to juggle. To give you this book requires five bucks, merely to see Mr. Seely two jumps ahead of the sheriff. But if everyone jumps with Mr. Seely, the book will be on the press and everybody will eat their cake and still have it.

To this book, even our own George Washington,

THE PRECANCEL REVIEW

By FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 405 Oak St. S. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

VALLEY CITY N. DAK. | NEWARK, N. Y. | GLENS FALLS NEW YORK

Part I. The Illustrations

Valley City, N. Dak.—So seldom does a new North Dakota electroplate appear that it is with distinct pleasure we illustrate this month the overprint produced from the new plate received at Valley City. Mr. Vernon Gale informs me that the following stamps were printed in December: ½, 1, 1½, 3 ,4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 15, 20. As only two sheets of the ½c were printed, this will be the best of the series. The 5c and 20c exist with double overprint, and the 4c and 7c with the overprint inverted.

Newark, N. Y., is using the popular U-12 style in contrast to the thick, heavy U-2. It will not surprise me to see Newark, N. J., follow with a similar change.

Glens Falls, N. Y., appears with the same style as Valley City. Mr. H. A. Nordquist has shown it to me on several values. Glens Falls has had several handstamps, which produced inferior looking precancels, so the new plate is truly to be appreciated.

Part II. Miscellaneous

Our opinion of commemorative precancels as a whole has not abated in severity one whit, but once in a while some come along that we know were not issued primarily for collectors, and we feel these deserve recognition. Birmingham, Ala., reading up on the 5c Ericsson, and Philadelphia, current electro, reading down on the 2c White Plains, are two worthwhile items. Seattle mail order handstamp on the 5c Ericsson has also been noticed.

Jackson, Tenn., are always desirable because of their rarity. It was my fortune to pick up a superb 11c and 13c in the electro.

Grand Forks, N. D., added the 13c and 14c to the set, for use during the holiday rush.

Rochester, Minn., is out with the U-12 type. Prof. Gamber recently showed me a 11c perf. 10, from this city in an unchronicled handstamped style—the U-81. The overprint reads down.

Danbury, Conn., has a new handstamp similar to U-54. I have it on the 5-cent, current.

Alhambra, Calif.—Since chronicling the 1½c last month, I have seen the 3 and 13c.

Sawtelle, Calif., is using precancels for the first time. The style is similar to Fresno, being all caps, with serifs and handstamped.

Camden, N. J.—Bureau precancellation on the 2c coil has just come to hand. The style is in line with the standardization recently agreed upon at the Bureau. This style was illustrated for Dallas in my last article.

Ocean City, N. J., is a newcomer to the precancel fan. The current 2c before me bears a handstamped overprint of large plain caps between lines. Jackson, Miss., is also using this style at present.

Fairmont, W. Va.—In two lines of heavy caps between bars, reaches me on the 10c. The handstamping is done with jet black ink, which probably led the cataloguers to believe this type a printed one. Such is not the case.

Venice, Calif., has another handstamp in a surprisingly short time. Type II is the U-75, and identical with Bell, Calif. I have the new Venice overprint on the current 30c reading up.

Janesville, Wis., has used up its stock of commemoratives by precancelling them. The White Plains was handstamped, while the Lexington-Concord set, and 5c Ericsson was printed in the U-1 style.

Augusta, Maine.—Type V is very clearly U-54. Two worthwhile items in my possession are the 13c apple-green, normal, and double normal, in this style. Speaking of 13c apple-greens, I happen to have a fine block of Canton, S. D., that came through the mails in the regular course of business.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Two new types from here. A current 9c exhibits the U-55. Several other values show the new electro, similar to U-12. This will be illustrated in my next article.

U. S. 24c CONTINENTAL 1873

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

If mention is made of the 24c with Continental grill, which is listed and priced in the Standard catalog, I suggest this has nothing to do with the case. One copy of this stamp in which the Scott Co. has confidence, but which I believe they do not own, is in existence. I examined it when it was in the Worthington collection, and again when the Worthington collection was broken up, and with all due respect to good friends and recognized authorities, I do not think this copy is of value in determining the shade used to print the 24c Continentals delivered in 1875.

In this connection reference may be made to the addenda in Mr. Luff's book where the following will be found:—

"In June, 1876, a stamp cleaning case was tried in the courts. The Continental Bank Note Co. . . . suggested putting the grill into use once more. They were ordered to prepare 1,000 copies of each value then current. . . . The order was duly executed and perhaps slightly exceeded, since it included the 2, 7, 12 and 24 cents of the 1873 series, which had ceased to be issued to the public. The grilled stamps were forwarded to Washington and put into circulation; . . ."

Taking this statement at its face value I find myself quite unable to decide whether any 24c stamp of the lot of 1,000 referred to was specially printed for the purpose some time after June, 1876, or was made by grilling a stamp printed in 1875. Certainly if these one thousand 24c stamps with Continental grill were printed after June, 1876, none of them are of the slightest use in determining the shade of stamps printed more than a year earlier. If the Worthington copy, or the other 999, were in the exact shade of a 3c Justice on soft, hard, medium, thin, thick, porous, pelure, onion skin, parchment, bank-note, or any other kind of paper, neither it nor they would prove anything whatever in regard to the shade of the 24c stamps "printed and delivered" in 1875.

But if these one thousand 24c stamps were not specially printed they must have been made by grilling remainders. If so, what remainders? Who will readily believe that after unloading 365,000 of the 24c on the stamp agent only a short time before that value went out of use—a quantity just 364,950 more than apparently were needed—the Continental Company still had more 24c stamps "up their sleeve," so to speak, more than a year later.

Did the Continental Company obtain 1,000 remainder 24c from the stamp agent on which to try their grill? If so, how do we know he did not give them some of the old National stamps? Unless the lot of 364,950 remainders were all Continental 24c, some of them must have been National prints and the instant we realize that fact we are confronted with a most interesting supposition; i.e., the Worthington specimen may be a perfectly genuine 24c National bearing a perfectly genuine Continental grill. Worse than that; the stamp agent might have mixed the prints in the 1,000 copies, and both National and Continental 24c bearing genuine Continental grills may still be in existence! This is why I think the best way to handle the 24c with Continental grill is to ignore it.

The strongest point advanced by Mr. Behr refers to a special paper, very white in tone and bearing silk fibres, which he recognizes as characteristic of the Continental 24c stamps. In my opinion the most valuable and perhaps the only original idea advanced in the last twenty years, which might solve the problem of what happened to the 24c Continental prints should be credited to Mr. John J. Klemann of the Nassau Stamp Company. Several years ago in working with the periodical stamps he that some of the Continental printi those stamps had silk fibres in the and remembering that none of thos ticular periodical stamps had ever printed by the National Bank Company, it occurred to him that could find 24c purples on similar with silk fibres they would probab certainly be the product of the Con tal Bank Note Company. His notes published, but at this writing I c state just when or where.

Mr. Klemann's conclusions hov only partly agree with those of Behr. Instead of finding only a percentage of 24c stamps with silk Mr. Klemann found them to be nea plentiful as those without the fibr if the presence or absence of these indicates the difference between Na and Continental prints, instead of a rare stamp, the Continental 24c is plentiful.

In this connection it might be w turn to page 299 of Mr. Luff's There we find listed the quantiti periodical stamps of the issue of received by the stamp agent fron Continental Company in the years 1875 and 1876. During the year 1 supply of all denominations from $60 was received, the quantities va from 5,000 each of the high value st to nearly a million each of the 2c a stamps. In the year 1875 only thre nominations were received by the s agent. These were 90,000 of the 19,500 of the $1.92, and 5,000 of the The 24c general issue postage st printed by the Continental Co. wer delivered in this same year, 1875 1876 further large quantities of the odical stamps were delivered, and denominations included all except t 4c and 6c stamps.

ithout any desire to belittle the value Ir. Klemann's research, or to carp at Behr's conclusions, I think it will pparent to anyone who gives the sub- much thought that failure to find fibres or other characteristics in the ional prints is not absolutely conclu- evidence that such peculiarities are e found exclusively in the products he Continental Bank Note Company. copy of any National stamp printed uch paper will upset the entire theory. derstand Mr. Fred R. Schmalzriedt Detroit discovered a National stamp ?) bearing silk fibres some time ago. he foregoing part of this article was ated and typewritten "in the rough" een December 26, 1927, and January 928. Since then it has been partly rranged and re-written. The conclu- s arrived at are not affected, in my ion, by statements contained in the le entitled "How Can We Prove Up 24c Continental?" written by War- Bates. The first installment of this le appeared in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY January 23, 1928, but Mr. Bates lly sent me a copy of entire article re it was published. Mr. Bates' con- ions are not based upon a succession improbable coincidences fifty odd s ago, but are based upon observa- of material in existence today, and efore can readily be checked. He us what kind of silk fibre paper is mon to both National and Continen- prints and hence is worthless in dis- uishing 24c Continentals, and also t kind of silk fibre paper is appar- y confined only to Continental prints, hence can be used to determine if of the 365,000 twenty-four cent pur- stamps printed and delivered by the tinental Bank Note Company were r sold at post offices and used.

MIDWESTERN PHILATELIC EXHIBITION

It is human nature to dodge heavy tasks, but Otto is not human.

To prove it, we need only mention that he actually asked for this arduous appointment. Hard work, however, either in business, philatelic affairs or research, is meat on which he thrives. At our weekly Director's Meetings, we expect to find him swamped with mail and business, but he always is ready with a clean slate and a plea for more work.

A member of Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, also the A.P.S. for many years, he has held office in both, and always one with plenty to do. He is also a member of The Collectors' Club.

As Recorder for the Board of Vice-Presidents of the A.P.S. he worked out a system of indexing and filing that if adhered to since must have greatly lessened the labors of this office.

In his philatelic research he brings to his aid his knowledge of foreign languages, and thru following up the work of our European experts has acquired a wide knowledge of the early stamps of many countries, his favorites being first issues of Netherlands and Denmark, of which he has an extensive collection.

He is assisted in his labors by his good wife, and fortunately for our Directors, we have her services as bookkeeper and stenographer. Expert in this work, her knowledge of philately is a great aid, and to the great joy and delight of all our Board, she not only can bake marvelous lemon and pineapple pies, but she does it—yes, we usually have a full attendance at all Directors' Meetings.

Otto is engaged in the Insurance business, being Division Manager of the Federal Insurance Co.

COLLECTORS CLUB, NEW YORK

By CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

On several occasions, I have heard of "Out-of-Town" Collectors who were in New York on one of our meeting nights, but who did not know that a meeting was being held.

For the benefit of such of my readers who may contemplate a visit to New York I would like to say a few words about our 1928 Program.

This season it was part of my work as Chairman of the Entertainment Committee to plan our program. The chief innovation, this year, has been visits by the members of the Collectors Club to other Clubs in the vicinity and their return visits to us.

On October 28th, eight members of the Collectors Club went to Springfield, Mass., and had a wonderful reception. Each member gave a short display and talk. On January 3rd, in like manner, nine members of the Club went to Philadelphia. On January 18th, nine members of the Springfield Club came to New York and gave us one of the very best shows we have ever had.

On March 20th we are due to visit the Boston Club. On April 4th we have a return visit here by Boston members, and on April 18th the Philadelphia Club will visit us and give a display.

These Inter-Club visits have already been voted a success, and they certainly do a great deal to establish friendship and good feeling between the different groups of collectors.

Among our other arrangements for this session are the following events:—

March 7th—Rear Admiral F. R. Harris to show his specialized Ceylons.

March 21st—Arthur Hind to show the six classes of Rare Stamps of the World, which he exhibited in Monte Carlo. This is to be followed by Five Minute Papers, with discussions by Members.

April 4th—Is the Boston Night.

April 18th—Is the Philadelphia Night.

May 2nd—Mr. O. A. Schenck will exhibit Mexico, Eagle Issues.

May 16th—Mr. W. E. Hawkins will exhibit his superb collection of United States, Postal Issues.

June 6th—Competition night, 20 pages from any one country.

The Collectors Club now has a membership of about 650, consisting of the most prominent Philatelists of the World. The subscription for out-of-town members (those residing over 30 miles from New York) is only $5.00 per annum. For this small amount members receive the Collectors Club Philatelist, and a further great treat is in store for them, as the Club secured the sole right to the translation into English of the Munk Handbook, and a big section of this will be given with each number of the magazine.—Philatelic Classics.

SAINT HELENA

The 7/6 orange and black, around which speculation rages like a furnace. It may be current and it may not. Try any dealer for it and if you can't get it and I have any left you can have one for Five Dollars. Its number is 87 in the catalogue and Scott has struck out the price altogether.

THE STAMPS OF CANADA

By CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

'he purchase of the "Telfer" collec- of early Canadian stamps makes the :h big collection of the stamps of that ntry that I have bought since I left gland and settled in the United States. am often asked why I have put so :h money in Canadians, and I can y answer that after some forty years mate knowledge of the stamp business do not know of any other country ose stamps are such a "good buy" at sent prices as those of Canada. I am asked for some of my reasons for optimism. I will try and give some them.

Ve must bear in mind that the early ada stamps were not issued for col- ors, but for the population of the ntry. Let us form some idea of the tive number of the populations of ada and the United States in the y days of postage stamps.

n 1881 the population of Canada was 4,000, in 1880 the population of the ted States was over 50,000,000. In 1 when Canada stamps first were is- d the population of the whole of Can- was probably less than 3,000,000, t of the United States in 1851 was r 23,000,000. On the basis of popula- Canada called for only one-eighth many stamps as were required by the ulation of this country.

Ve can go further than this and com- e the actual number of stamps printed he two countries for any period from 1 to 1880, and the difference is still re marked.

Now let us look at the matter from ther angle. What supplies of issues m 1851 to 1880 are in the hands of trade of either country. In New rk, Philadelphia, Boston, etc., etc., we visit many dealers and find that most them have large stocks and often fine lections of United States stamps on d, in quite a few cases running up to ny thousands of dollars in one stock. w ask all these dealers what stock of Canadians he has. The answer is almost always practically none. A noted Canadian collector was down here last month, he told me he spent a couple of days hunting the trade for Canada stamps. Result, only a few dollars and he gave it up in disgust.

Now let us take another angle. The question of demand. The demand for United States is, and will always be, enormous, when we look to the United States only. As far as my experience goes United States stamps are not generally collected outside the United States; true it is there are a few big buyers in England, and one or two others here and there, but as I have said they are not generally bought except here in the country of origin.

It is quite different with the stamps of Canada. First we have the great Canadian demand, which as Canada is growing richer is increasing by leaps and bounds. Next we have a really great demand for Canadians here in America. Here we have the largest and most valuable Canadian collection of the whole world, also many large collections, and hundreds of smaller ones. Then we have a great bulk of keen Canadian collectors in Great Britain, and whereas a few years ago the British dealers used to send large stocks abroad, now they have very little on hand and I am continually asked for supplies. Strange to say I am also finding a good demand for early Canadians in Brazil, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, and even from Japan.

Another fact is worthy of consideration. The Collectors Club of New York is working on a new Handbook of Canada stamps. The first volume is well advanced. It will probably contain the issues prior to Federation. That is those from 1851 to 1864.

I am not going to give away my secrets, but I do say that this will be a very valuable work, full of new information, and when it appears towards the end of this year we shall see and learn a whole lot about Canadian stamp varieties and relative rarity.—Philatelic Classics.

LINDBERGH-STO. DOMINGO AIR MAIL

By HARRY E. HUBER.

In his flight from Santo Domingo City, Dominican Republic, to Port au Prince, Haiti, on Monday, February 6, 1928, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh carried the regular weekly air mail (weighing 9 kilos 500gr) of the West Indian Aerial Express. This Company operates from Santo Domingo City to Port au Prince every Monday, returning on Tuesday, and resuming the flight to San Juan on Thursday.

The regular 12c air letter rate was charged, the stamps used being the 2c red Arms type (flat topped shield) of 1924, and the 10c blue, Entrega Especial, of 1920 (plane in flight), both lithographed locally and perforated 11½. These were postmarked in blue-green with a single lined circle, 23mm, lettered "Correo Aereo, Sto. Domingo," with date in the center in three lines, "FEB—6—1928," and at the right five horizontal lines, 45mm long, and spaced 4mm vertically. As Col. Lindbergh was carrying the mail, the Santo Domingo City Post Office prepared and applied in blue-green, a special cancellation in the form of a horizontal rectangle, 55x26mm, with four lines of lettering "Correo Aereo Especial —por—LINDBERGH—Espiritu de San Luis."

This mail was backstamped on receipt at Port au Prince with the ordinary "Port au Prince, Haiti" single lined circular marking, 27mm, with date in the center in three lines "6—FEV—28." To the face were applied in red the AVION marking of two concentric circles (enclosing an outline plane and "AVION") introduced on Sept. 13, 1927, and the special "Lindbergh" plane marking prepared for his visit.

THE FLOOD CANCELLATION

I have noticed two references during the past couple of months in your interesting magazine concerning the cancellation stamp used by the postmaster of Becket, Mass., after that memorable flood on November 4, 1927, and as I live about 12 miles from that town, I decided I would investigate the story for my own benefit.

For the benefit of those who do not know the tale of that morning's disaster, let me briefly summarize. After two days of extremely heavy rainfall, a dam about three miles above the town broke, and the resulting flood of water tore a huge gulley through the very center of the town, carrying away eight dwellings, together with 20 barns, garages and business houses. There were also 21 partly destroyed homes and four partly destroyed business places.

The Post Office was one of the buildings to suffer. Now let me quote the postmaster, Mr. Tower, of Becket: "Business was established during the day on the second floor of the fire station. On that dark Friday night, I went to Pittsfield for stamps, and the next two days my daughter and I carried the mail to Pittsfield. On Monday, the 7th, we had bus service going to Pittsfield, with two mails a day. This continued until the 15th, when the railroad service was established."

All mail the 4th, 5th and 6th was taken to Pittsfield, and the cancellation of the stamps took place there. On Monday, the 7th, Mr. Tower received the rubber cancelling stamp he had ordered in Pittsfield, and used that until a regular Government rubber stamp was received. This was the so-called "Flood Cancellation" stamp.

I was able to get track of some of those November 7th cancelled envelopes through my acquaintance in that town, and consider these to be very unique. I am enclosing herewith one of these "first day flood covers," and would be glad to hear from any interested in these covers.

EDITORIAL

The authorities of the Treasuary Department, Narcotic Division, have directed that dealers offering unused narcotic stamps be called to account. Not only are the unused stamps the subject of inquiry, but also the status of used narcotics as a dealing commodity is brought into consideration by the operatives of the department. It is learned that the unused stamps are being confiscated, but evidently there is some uncertainty as to the procedure in the case of the used stamps that are found in the possession of dealers. The understanding has been that the used narcotics are exempt from the prohibition, and it has been said that they were not banned as objects of collection, and consequently as proper stock for the dealer. However, a different view has been taken, it becomes evident, and the question is now in abeyance. A reading of the narcotic laws indicates that only the unused stamps may not be held by authorized persons, and it will occasion surprise if the department decides that the used stamps are contraband as specimens for the collectors' albums. For apparent reasons, the unused stamps should not circulate generally, but used stamps should not be denied the collecting right of way. They would seem to fall under the class of tax paids, which when used for collecting purposes only, do not fall under confiscatory measures by the authorities, according to an opinion once given by an officer.

We learn from President A. H. Wilhelm, president of the American Philatelic Society, that the date for the Toronto convention is set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 23-24-25, of this year. Incidentally, the opening date of the Canadian National Exhibition is August 25th. The King Edward Hotel has been selected as the headquarters of the convention.

Mr. Alvin Good, Cleveland, informs us that the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition Company has found it necessary to lease the 26th and 27th floors in their entirety from the Terminal Tower Building, Cleveland's new depot, and adjoining the Hotel Cleveland. It has become evident that the original space in the Hotel Cleveland, as planned for occupancy, has been outgrown, and under the new arrangement, adequate room is at the disposal of the managers of the Exhibition.

SCOTT STAMP AND COIN CO.
1 West 47th Street, NEW YORK, N. Y.

Under date of February 11th, Mr. R. Forbes-Bentley, Birchircara, Malta, writes: "I have just received the new set of Cyprus commemorative issue, which was issued February 1st, for one year only. The stamps are printed by Bradbury, Wilkinson of New Malden, England, and are in sheets of 60 stamps (5 rows of 12), and are on the ordinary colonial watermark multiple script paper." The set of nine stamps is of most imposing appearance and represents pictorial stamp art in its highest development. The designs are of historical and antiquarian interest, the 18 piastre showing the statue of Richard Coeur-de-lion in black and brown; the 45 piastre, the façade of the Cathedral of St. Nicholas at Famagusta, in blue and purple, while the one pound depicts the head of King George in brown and blue.

Mr. J. Lynn Avery, Long Beach, California, whose discovery of the Hawaiian Missionary stamps was duly chronicled in the WEEKLY, has shown us examples of co-operation on the part of the local newspapers with the collectors there in advancing philately. For instance, in the Press-Telegram, we find the head-lines: "Philatelist Plays in Luck. Plane Stamps Come From Canada," followed by a story telling of two envelopes that have been acquired by Mr. Frederick T. Norris, Bay City, Michigan, who is spending the winter at Long Beach. One of the envelopes made the flight from White Horse to Dawson City, and the other was mailed at Mutton Bay, Labrador, December 2, 1927, and arrived twenty-four days later at Natashquan, Labrador, having been carried by dog team, ice-breaker and rail. Mr. Norris who formerly was vice-president of the Detroit Philatelic Society well says: "Collectors gather stamps from the countries that appeal to them most. The field is so broad that hardly anyone can collect stamps of the world and make a good showing. Some collectors want stamps unused, some used, and still others, envelopes."

From Mr. E. M. Ash, Cuba, to whom we have been indebted for many favors, we have had word that he is contemplating starting "a miniature weekly, but it is to be in Spanish, and edited and printed in Cuba. It will appear every two months." Mr. Ash submits an interesting commentary on philatelic conditions in Spanish-speaking countries. He says that there are many collectors in them, but few publications that may be regarded as permanent. While almost each of these countries has some sort of review, it is insufficiently supported, and certainly the "Pan-American" paper has not yet emerged. Mr. Ash has lived long in Latin American countries, and is familiar with conditions from the Magellan to Mexico. We feel that he will provide a publication that will fit admirably in the philatelic journalistic pattern, and much success will attend his venture, if editorial ability reaps its reward.

Under date of February 25, 1928, Mr. B. F. Myers, Traffic Agent, Chicago, sends the announcement that Waco, Texas, will be included in the Chicago-Dallas Route, C. A. M. 21, beginning March 5th. We quote: "A special first flight cancellation stamp will be furnished Waco for March 5, to be placed on Air Mail, forwared via the north and south bound planes. The size of the cancellation is approximately two by three inches, and it is suggested that you leave sufficient space on your envelopes to insure clear imprints. As the time is short, it is advised that you forward your covers to the Postmaster at Waco, as soon as possible, with an explanation as to the routing desired." This information was received too late to be of service to our readers.

That energetic exponent of air mail, Wm. H. Conkling, postmaster, Springfield, Illinois, has mailed a circular dated February 25th, in which he cites that this year, "will be first time in history of the Air Mail that mail will be flown on February 29th," and that it will not be carried again on that date for four years. He has prepared a special envelope with "a printed cachet, 'From the Home of Lincoln, Springfield, Illinois,' encircling a small print of Lincoln's Home and the American Flag placed on the envelope." Mr. Conkling says that he merely makes the suggestion that a leap-year cancellation of the kind may be an addition to a stamp collection. Again, this news comes almost after the fact and cannot be taken advantage of by those who did not receive it direct. Our supposition is that Wm. H. Conkling, postmaster, Springfield, Illinois, and B. F. Myers, Traffic Agent, Air Mail Service, Chicago, Illinois, will place the names of collectors on their mailing lists, upon request.

Several covers carried by Lindbergh on his St. Louis-Chicago flight are known to have been signed by Lindbergh; and one of them signed by him as pilot, and Mr. Conkling as postmaster, has been shown us by Mr. J. Max Golding of Chicago.

PANAMA, LINDBERGH, 1928

By HARRY E. HUBER.

On December 13-14, 1927, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made a successful non-stop flight of 2,031 miles in 27 hours and 10 minutes, from Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., to Mexico City, in the Ryan monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," in which he flew from New York to Paris on May 20-21, 1927. Leaving Mexico City on December 28th, he visited in turn, Guatemala, British Honduras, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. On Monday afternoon, January 9, 1928, he landed at Campo Lindbergh air field, newly named in his honor, some few miles east of Panama City. Two days of festivities were held in Panama City (January 9th and 10th), one in Balboa, Canal Zone (11th), and one in Colon, on the Atlantic side (12th). On Thursday, January 26th, he resumed his tour, by flying to Cartagena, Colombia.

At a meeting of the Panama National Cabinet on Friday, December 23, 1927, approval was given to a proposal originating with a group of officials of the Post Office Departments of Panama and the Canal Zone, to issue special postage stamps in commemoration of Col. Lindbergh's visit. An issue of 500,000 2c and 250,000 5c stamps was contemplated, but on recommendation of the Post Office Department, the quantities were reduced to 300,000 and 150,000, respectively. The 2c was for use on letters within the Republic and to countries of the Pan-American Postal Union, and the 5c, for Universal Postal Union service.

The cost of the stamps, estimated at $1,000, was borne by the Panama Post Office Department.

The stamps were placed on sale Monday, January 9, 1928, the day of Col. Lindbergh's arrival at Panama City, and any remaining unsold at the end of three months will be recalled and destroyed.

Designs for the two denominations were prepared by Pallete Varas, and the printing plates were zinc etched in the plant of the Star & Herald, Panama City. The actual printing took place at the Panama Canal Press, Mount Hope, Canal Zone, on colored safety papers (such as used for bank checks and other negotiable papers), ungummed, and rouletted, in sheets of 100 (10x10), with margins on all four sides—the sheets measure 12″ x 17¼″. The safety paper is horizontally lined, and bears the maker's imprint—on the 2c "Exchange—SAFETY—Paper," in three lines, and on the 5c "Cashier—SAFETY—Paper." In the upper left corner of each sheet of the 2c appears the imprint "MR 8484—PANAMA CANAL PRESS—1-6-28.—300,000." A similar imprint appears in the upper right corner of the 5c, "MR 8485—PANAMA CANAL PRESS—1-6-28.—150,000." The significance of "MR" is "Manufacturing Request."

The design of the 2c (printed in red on salmon) is treated in a vertical rectangle 23x36mm, and consists of a circular medallion showing indistinctly a plane (intended for "The Spirit of St. Louis") descending at the Matias Hernandez flying field, with the Cathedral at Antigua Panama in the background. Curved at the top is "Correos," and at the bottom in colored letters "Homenaje a Lindbergh." At the top of the stamp design in three lines is "Republica—de—Panama," while shields in the lower corners bear the numeral "2," with "centesimos—de balboa" in two lines between. Just below the central circular medallion is another larger numeral of value "2." This stamp was overprinted in black "Homenaje a—Lindbergh," in small caps, in two lines, as this inscription in the stamp design is very indistinct.

The 5c printed in dark blue on green, has its design treated horizontally, 36x23mm, and being less complicated is in much better appearance than the 2c. It shows a map of the Republic (Inscribed "PANAMA") with "The Spirit of St. Louis," superimposed upon it. Just under the vignette is "Homenaje a Lindbergh" in colored letters. "Republica de—Panama—Correos" appears in three lines at the top, and at the bottom, in the corners, are large numerals of value "5," with "centesimos—de balboa" in two lines between.

On the day of Col. Lindbergh's arrival, a special cancellation, applied in red, was used by the Panama City Post Office, consisting of the usual single lined circle, lettered "Agencia Postal, Panama," around the inside, with date in four lines in the center "ENE—9—PM—1928" ("28" does not always print clearly), and at the right between two horizontal bars, "Llegada de—Lindbergh a—Panama" in three lines. Subsequently at Panama, and the other Post Offices in the Republic, another special marking in purple was brought into use, lettered "Los Correos—Nacionales en—Honor a—Lindbergh," in four lines.

The sale of these stamps was permitted by the Canal Zone Post Office Department, at Balboa Heights and Cristobal, but as they were not valid for postage use in the Zone, letters mailed at these two offices were forwarded to Panama City or Colon, respectively, for cancellation, and dispatch.

It was at first reported that the remainder stock of a 10c stamp, "3 de Noviembre de 1903" Map of the Republic type of 1905, would be overprinted. The 10c gray Map stamp, overprinted for use in the Canal Zone in 1913, was never brought into use in the Republic of Panama.

January 9, 1928. Commemorating the visit of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, in "The Spirit of St. Louis." Printed from zinc etched plates by The Panama Canal Press, Mt. Hope, Canal Zone, on safety paper, ungummed, and rouletted.

Some "K.U.K.'s"

K.U.K. Feldpost.—(1) The surcharge applied to the stamps of Bosnia in 1915, and (2) the inscription subsequently borne, by later issues of stamps provided for the same purpose, the army field posts of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy. The letters are the initials of Kaiserliche und Königliche, and the whole inscription means "Imperial and Royal Fieldpost," the ruler of the two nations being Emperor of Austria, and King of Hungary.

K. u. K. Militar Post.—The inscription carried by the stamps of Bosnia since 1912. It signifies "Kaiserliche und Koenigliche," etc., which means "Imperial and Royal Military Post." The mails in Bosnia and Herzegovina were handled by the army (ostensibly) as the two provinces were subject to a military occupation by Austria after the treaty of Berlin, 1878.

K. u. K. Milit. Verwaltung.—A surcharge applied to the 10 & 15h Austrian Fieldpost stamps used in Montenegro. It signifies "Kaiserliche und Königliche Militär Verwaltung," which means "Imperial and Royal Military Administration."

JUNIOR STAMP STUDIES

QUETZAL
1882, 1c blk. and gr.

The 15th of September, 1821, so prominent on Guatemalan stamps, is that country's July 4, 1776. The quetzal or long tailed trogon, equally prominent, is the national emblem of the Republic. The selection is a happy one, as the bird is peculiar to Guatemala, so that the country has been called the land of the quetzal. It is well qualified, too, to be called the bird of liberty, as it is difficult to catch, and so the story goes, will destroy its own life rather than live in captivity. The Guatemalans say it is typical of their country and people. It is a gorgeous bird and must appeal to a people so fond of show. It is described as having "an emerald-green silky plumage, dashed with a golden lustre above, with a lovely purple hue beneath, and a tail three feet long."

Hungary Triangle Perfs.

Shortly after the war, when the depreciation of Hungarian currency was at its height, the post office officials discovered that many people were sinking their funds into postage stamps. They were laboring under a delusion that they couldn't lose their money by depreciation, if they bought stamps. The purchasing of stamps for this purpose got to be such a nuisance that post office clerks could not keep any stamps on hand for sale for legitimate uses. Accordingly the post office department issued an order that no stamps would be sold from the post office windows for philatelic purposes. Philatelists would have to buy their stamps from a special post office set aside for them. (Incidentally paying an extra tax for this service). All sheets of stamps on sale at the regular post offices were punched through the center with a row of holes. Each stamp receiving three holes arranged as the points of a triangle.

But "the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft aglee," as Robert Burns has said, and woe to the post office! Philatelists began to collect sheets of stamps with the punched holes and became more of a nuisance than ever.—Scott's Monthly Journal.

Duttia

A State in Bundelkund, Central India, having a population of about 190,000 and an area of 820 square miles. It is now more usually known under its modern spelling, Datia. Postage stamps for use in this State were first issued in 1893.

"Country" Etymology

Jamaica.—From the Indian Krainca, meaning "the island of springs."

Martinique.—Was named after the Indian word Mautinino or Mantiquo.

Mexico.—Was named after the temple of Mexitli, the mass of the Mexicans.

Monserrat.—From the Spanish Mont Serrato, i.e., "Carved Mountains."

—Ill. Briefmarken Jour.—Am. Jour. Phil.

Stamp Accessories

La Ley.—These two words are shown upon the book which forms the chief part of the design of the 1878 stamps of Bolivia. Their meaning is "The law."

Land-Post, Porto-Marke.—The only inscription shown upon the rural post stamps of Baden. It means "Rural Post—Postage Due Stamp." The rural post was established in 1859 for the purpose of connecting villages which had no post office with the nearest state post office. In 1862, the organization of this post was much improved and these stamps, inscribed as above, were issued for collecting postage due upon unpaid or short paid matter delivered by it and also to denote the commission on collecting money on its routes.

Landstormen.—The Landstorm (plural Landstormen) is the general levy for military purposes among the male population of a country—in other words, the "Reserves." In 1916 the Swedish stamps were surcharged with an additional value over the postal value to collect a general fund for equipping this body of men for possible military duty.

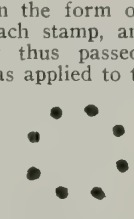
Langemarck.—Found on one of the values of "Trail of the Caribou" set, and has reference to the World War engagement in which Newfoundland forces took part.

Duty-Plate

The plate used in the production of bicolored stamps upon which the particulars of denomination are engraved. Thus in the case of the current Nyasaland stamps the frame portion is printed from the "duty-plate," while in the case of the stamps of the Cayman Islands the details shown in the name and value tablets are printed from the "duty-plate."

Douglas Patent Paper

This was a double paper consisting of a thin surface paper adhering to a thicker and harder paper. The surface paper was punctured by small holes so arranged that eight, in the form of a circle, appeared on each stamp, and part of the printing ink thus passed through the holes and was applied to the backing paper. Any attempt at cleaning was, therefore, certain to result in the tearing and removal of the thin surface paper. Some of the 2c and 3c United States stamps were experimentally printed on this paper in 1882 or 1883, and these were placed on sale at the city post office at Washington. It was ultimately decided not to permanently adopt this paper.



Albania

The western division of European Turkey, bounded by the Adriatic on the west, and extending from Montenegro on the north to the boundaries of Greece on the south. It is an ethnological rather than a geographical division; its inhabitants being given to intertribal wars and brigandage. The Italian Government maintains consular post offices at some of the more important towns and in 1902 ordinary Italian stamps overprinted "Albania" and values in paras have been used in these offices. In 1909 the towns of Durazzo, Janina, Scutari and Valona were all supplied with separate sets surcharged with their own names and values in Turkish currency.

Since the last Balkan war Albania has been made a separate territory by agreement of various governments and since 1913 it has issued its own distinctive stamps.

NATURAL HISTORY AND STA

By Louis W. P. Renouf, B.A

As is well known to the majori readers, Ruminants, or animals "chew the cud," are usually charact by the following among other fea they have horns of some kind or their "stomachs" are four-cham and their upper jaws are devoid cisor or cutting teeth.

While the stamps of many cou show us ruminants of the more or kinds, those of some African state of one South American country duce us to one family of this great of animals—the Camelidæ—the me of which are completely hornless, their "stomachs" are only three- bered and their upper jaws carry in —three pairs in the young, one pai in the adult.

This family includes not only the known Camels of Asia and No Africa, but also the so-called Llan Peru and Bolivia, the latter being cally humpless camels.

Of the two species of Camel—the bian and the Bactrian—only the has as yet been portrayed on s but the two have so many pri features in common that no ac however cursory, can justly exclu latter. Any of the issues of after the first in 1897, give a very idea of the one-humped Arabian in action, while the high values o assa, 1901, show it in its very cha istic position of rest with its lon tucked under it.

Camels and "Llamas" agree as r not only the three main cha already mentioned, but also in poss a long neck, relatively long legs, bi toed feet, and a very useful cover hair; while the rumen of their achs" is lined by the unique ce chambers in which the animals ar to store up upwards of a gallon half of water, and from which the ation of sphincter or ring-like m allows it to pass into the stomach as required.

Camels possess other "devices" enable them to survive in desert tions, which would be fatal to an nary ruminant.

The well-known hump of the A and double hump of the Bactrian consist of a mass of store-fat which the animal derives its heatir driving power in the absence of its toes are partly joined together large cushion-like pad which sprea when pressed upon by the weight animal and prevents it from sinkin loose sand, its eyes and ears ar tected from blown sand by long and its nasal openings by freely valves.

The Bactrian camel has longer, gier hair, as well as a double hum is used as a beast of burden fro Crimea right through Asia to Peki is found in a feral condition in so the desert districts of Asia; the A camel is used for the same purp India, Arabia and Northern Afri well as parts of Australia, while is one feral herd in Spain.

The "sweetness" of disposition average camel is well shown by t pression of the animal portrayed 1901 and 1915-18 issues of Fren mali, whilst other representations s there is a general misunderstand- as to what exactly a Dromedary is, ay be useful to finish this brief h by explaining that the name refers special race of fast riding as op- d to the ordinary slower pack camels e Bactrian species.

e American representatives of the el tribe are seen on most of the ps of Peru, including all those on h the arms of the country figure, he so-called "Llama" occupies one- er of the shield of Peru.

the word "Llama" is used popu- it embraces four different kinds nimals; two of them, the Llama the Alpaca, being the domesticated s of the wild species, the Vicuña he Guanaco.

these the Vicuña is a little the er and stouter in build, and lives rds in the mountain ranges of Peru, up amongst rocks and precipices g the wet season, a little lower in the high valleys during the dry n. This apparently is the animal ed on the arms and many of the s of Peru, the 10 and 20 centavos 66 showing it in its haunts; but the ossed" stamps of 1873 and some s appear to portray the somewhat and leggier Guanaco, which ranges the highlands of the Andes to the of Patagonia, and even to the of Tierra del Fuego, swimming be- ne of its accomplishments.

e domestic forms are used for much ame purposes as the camels, the a being bred for its "wool," while ull Llama is used as a beast of n, and his mate yields milk and er's meat.

animals defend themselves by ing" with their "knees" and by g, and a further point of interest the fact that they are the only e" American domesticated mam-er stamps introduce us to members very different group of even-toed ants—the Pig Group. For phila- purposes this includes the Wild and the Hippopotamuses, the latter te of their name—River Horses— related to the pigs and not to the tributed over Europe, Asia and ern Africa wild boars of many s occur, differing from each other nor details. The ancestors of the is races of domesticated pigs, boars o well known to need any descrip- eyond a very general one. The long snout, large tusks—especially in nales—with their upward curve, ng teeth with "knobbly" crowns, ach with four toes, of which only vo middle ones reach the ground, nong the characteristic features of animals. A large boar may stand feet at the shoulders, weigh three ed pounds, and have tusks eleven half inches over the curve, and makes a very formidable foe, the so that he is possessed of very pluck.

turnal in habit, boars frequent and marshy country, making their in tall grass, reeds and the like, the young, which are usually l, are well concealed.

European wild boar is distin- d from his Indian cousin by the e of the crest of long bristles adorns the nape of the neck of tter. Of the many Asiatic species figured on the 10 cents, 1909-22, orth Borneo, probably the long- d wild boar of Borneo.

omparison of this animal with the presented by Liberia, 1892, $1; 2 cents; 1900-5, 2 cents; 1906, 75 and 1923, 15 cents, enables us to see at a glance some of the main differences between the boars and the hippopotamuses, most conspicuous of which are the clumsy bulk and the very large muzzle of the latter, and its dentition. The latter is quite unique, comprising in each jaw a pair of huge continuously growing canines which meet slantingly so that their tips become bevelled, two pairs of incisors, the upper of which curve outwards while the lower project straight forward—these also growing continuously—and huge tuberculated molars.

With small eyes and ears, nostrils opening on the upper surface of the tip of the muzzle so that the animal can breathe while practically the whole of its head and body are submerged, hairs reduced to a few bristles on the muzzle and in the short tail, these animals are further characterized by their toes being sub-equal and all touching the ground, and by the fact that their perspiration is red in colour.

Frequenting rivers in herds and nocturnal in habit these huge creatures—up to five feet high and twelve feet long—though perfectly at home in water, are able to gallop as fast as a man runs.

The flesh provides good provender; the hide, which may be up to two inches in thickness, is used for making sjamboks and walking-sticks, and the tusks provide a good class of ivory.

The animal figured on the 75 cents, 1906, is the pigmy or Liberian Hippopotamus, which is smaller and more pig-like in habits, and in some ways like the young of the commoner larger species, and has, as a rule, only one pair of incisors in the lower jaw. The other issues bear what appears to be the larger species—Gibbons Stamp Monthly.

LOOKING ROUND

By "Marquette".

Irish have again been attracting attention, and the item which is in keenest demand at the moment is the 2d Thom, blue-black overprint, Die I. Other good Thoms are the 2½d, 3d and 10d, while the high values are, of course, fetching high prices. Dollard high values seem fairly plentiful.

Care should be exercised in purchasing Thom high-value "Saorstats" as a new setting of the Government overprint shows the wide date, and is so similar to the Thom overprint that it is almost indistinguishable. If no test for separating them is found, we may have to treat them as one item for catalogue purposes, when the Thom printing will fall to "current rates." The new Government setting will supersede the "composite" setting (wide and narrow date se tenant), and I think pairs from the latter will eventually be good.

I have had several queries regarding Canada part perfs., S.G. Nos. 257a, 258a, and 259, and particularly the latter. As a matter of fact there are really three different 1c and 2c imperf. x perf. 8, and two different 3c. The regular coil stamps, which come sideways, can only be had in horizontal pairs and strips, while stamps from the sheets (the rare items) can be had in vertical pairs. The 3c has been seen in sheets faked by part perforating the imperf. sheets, but these fakes can be told by the gum, and (in sheets) by the fact that they bear a plate number.

The 3c in horizontal pairs, which is frequently met with, is common, and should not be confused with No. 259.

The Montserrat 5d looks like being as good or better than the same value in the Virgin Islands set. The 4d St. Helena, old watermark, is now fetching 2s6d or more, so that readers who took advantage of our publishers' Christmas offer of this stamp at a shilling secured a real bargain.

As only 300,000 of the new 5frs Charity stamp of Belgium have been printed, this stamp should be secured at once. The highest value of last year's Charity issue (double-portrait type) is also worth securing.—Gibbon's Stamp Monthly.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

DR. CHASE'S 1851, 3c PLATES

Dr. Carroll Chase is today the foremost student of the 3c of 1851, and through his efforts the ten plates of two hundred subjects used for printing this variety have been completely reconstructed. In order to do this, Dr. Chase has examined thousands and thousands of copies, and has spent upward of twenty years in getting them together. He has reconstructed each and every plate, in its several states, and in the case of plates which were used over several years, he has gotten them together in the individual shade of the separate years. The lot further includes what he designates as his proof plates, which consist of pairs, strips, and blocks over-lapping, and conclusively proving the position of each variety.

In getting these together, Dr. Chase replaced each stamp as he found a better copy, and he states that he doubts whether material exists to duplicate such a lot at any price.

In all there are twenty-two complete reconstructed sheets of two hundred stamps each, making forty-four panes in all. Among this lot there are ten panes of the rare orange-brown shade. Such a collection contains every plate variety listed in the specialized catalogue, and many minor recuts and oddities which are not listed.

To itemize the lot, there is present the following:—Plate 0—which carries no plate number but has imprint only, and is in orange-brown. There is an early reconstruction, as well as an intermediate reconstruction of Plate 1, both in orange-brown. Plate 1 in the late state is present in a proof plate, also in the 1852 shade, as well as the 1853 shade. Plate 2 early is in the orange-brown shade. Plate 2 late is present in the proof condition, as well as in the 1852, 1853 and 1857 shades. Plate 3 is present in four similar reconstructions. Plate 4 is present in both normal and proof condition. Plate 5 early comes in the orange-brown shade, and Plate 5 late in the regular shade. Plates 6-7-8, which are the scarcest of the commoner shades, are reconstructed in their entirety.

This wonderful lot is offered at an exceedingly reasonable price — one which is slightly larger than the normal stamps would cost, when you consider the numerous orange-browns, recuts, broken plates, double transfers, plate and imprint copies, margin and corner copies, pairs, strips, blocks, and the like.

If the purchaser desires, he may have with these plates, the earliest used copy on cover from each of the above plates with two exceptions, and in the case of these two exceptions, Dr. Chase has the second earliest known cover.

Correspondence is solicited with those interested, at which time further details will be given. In fact, the collection will be shown to a likely purchaser.

May I call the attention of my clients to the fact that the finest collections of United States stamps now coming upon the market are passing through my hands. If you have important properties that you desire to sell, either outright or on a commission basis, or if you are in the market for fine United States varieties, I would be glad to hear from you.

San Jose

—Re-organized and distinctly on the job

The San Jose Philatelic Club was recently reorganized, the adults forming one division, and the juniors another. The former meet on the 1st and 3rd Thursdays of the month, and the latter every Friday evening.

The officers of the Junior Club are: President, Jack Plummer; Vice-President and Treasurer, James Dennis, and Secretary, James Boyce.

The officers of the adult club are: President, Ralph Martin (A.P.S.); Vice-President, Everett Erle (A.P.S.); Treasurer, W. E. Norris (A.P.S.); Secretary, Dr. C. F. Barnes; Trustees, J. Harold Babb, H. Booksin, and A. B. De Lisle (I.P.A.).

About April 14th the adult club is going to hold "open house" for the collectors of the Santa Clara Valley and the San Francisco Bay Region. The date has not been definitely decided, but when it is I'll let you know so that you may publish it in your paper.—EVERETT ERLE.

United States

New Lindbergh Stamps

In this column for last week, mention was made that Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman had introduced a bill in Congress authorizing the Postmaster General to issue a special series of Lindbergh Good-Will stamps. Mr. Ackerman writes under date of February 27th, that the Resolution is still in the Committee, but that he expects to have more definite information very shortly. Our readers, through the courtesy of Mr. Ackerman, will be kept fully informed as to the proposed issue.

Air Mail Notes

Under date of February 24th the Information Service of the Post Office Department, announced that Mr. Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, is giving consideration to the advisability of advertising for bids on a proposed air mail route between St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo. Requests have come to Mr. Glover from business men and organizations in the two cities, asking that favorable consideration be given by the Post Office Department looking to the establishment of such a route. If established, this would provide an all night service between St. Louis and points in Texas and the Southwest. A plane could leave St. Louis about 11 p. m., reaching Kansas City at 1.55 a. m., and all points on the National Air Transport and Texas Air Transport air mail routes in Oklahoma and Texas the same morning. On the northbound trip, planes would leave the Southwest in the late afternoon, and arrive in St. Louis the next morning.

One city which surely seems to be asleep, in so far as air mail routes are concerned, is Philadelphia, the third largest city of the country. It shows that our Chamber of Commerce, as well as others, must be asleep to permit a city of this size to be practically ignored. In other words—we are treated as a small village, and are simply a feeder to the larger and more important cities.

The enthusiastic and energetic airmail-est postmaster of Springfield, Ill., sends out a communication under date of February 25th, calling the attention of collectors to the fact that for the first time in the history of the air mail that it will be possible to get a cover dated—February 29th. Evidently Mr. Conkling has overlooked the fact that the air mail was established on May 15, 1918, and that since then we have had a previous February 29th.

However, on February 29, 1928, a special envelope will be prepared by the Postmaster at Springfield, Illinois, on which we will find an illustration of Lincoln's Home, together with the American Flag, and reading—"From the Home of Lincoln, Springfield, Ill." These envelopes are sold at 1c each, and the postmaster obligingly agrees to place air mail stamps upon them and address them in accordance with instructions. If we had more postmasters of the type of Mr. Conkling the air mail service would be used more extensively by the general public, for he never misses an opportunity of bringing it to the attention of everyone who can possibly use it.

3c Post Office Double Transfer

Mr. Malcolm H. Ganser has submitted a horizontal block of ten of the 3c Post Office from the northwest corner of the sheet in which two distinct double transfers are noted. In both cases the entire bottom frame line is doubled. The Departments still offer one of the finest opportunities for study of any of our issues, for we have as yet to find a student who has taken these issues up seriously and studied them in the way in which most of our early postage stamps have been studied.

Philippine Islands

The Bureau of Insular Affairs at Washington informs me that due to the delay in engraving plates that it will possibly June 1st next before the Postage Due stamps for the Philippine Islands are available. The series will consist of seven denominations, 4, 10, 12, 16, and 20 centavos, with a value of 38c in American money.

MAURITIUS 12c

The 12c K.G. red script (S.G.217) is also another little stamp which has a very short existence. It followed four months after the 12c grey K.G., being superseded two months afterwards by the 12c red Arms type, script wmk. This, in turn, was superseded by the 12c grey Arms type which had quite a long life of three years; the remainder of the 12c red Arms type were surcharged "10 cents." The following is a table of their respective reigns, the dates being those on which the stamps first reached London.

12c grey K. G. Die II, August, 1922-December, 1922—four months.

12c red K.G. Die II, December, 1922-February, 1923—two months.

12c red Arms type, February, 1923-February, 1926—three years.

12c grey Arms type, February, 1926-viva.—Roberts Price List.

SELLING BY AUCTION SALE

The Most Money In The Quickest Time

You may have surmised that the number of successful auctions in the United States is for a reason. That reason is that the selling of stamps at auction has proven to be the method which yields the greatest net cash return, gives you the advantage of the active market and gives you a cash return quickly.

Services Which Make Our Sales Popular With Sellers

MONTHLY SALES.—The first week of every month we hold an auction. This enables us to handle all material promptly. You are not told that it is necessary to wait six months to list your material. No matter what material is on hand, 600 lots or 3,000 lots, we sell it once a month. The market will easily absorb this material. In fact, the best sale is the large sale with a strong offering under every country.

1. MAIL BIDDERS. Our sales reached quick success by circulation of catalogs in 4,000 quantities every month. There are very few auction houses with such circulation. We believe it essential for best prices. Mail bidders are very important factors in a successful sale. We have a pleased, active list of buyers.

2. THIRTY DAY PAYMENTS. You receive your settlement in cash thirty days after each sale. We assume any outstanding accounts and remit in full less commissions.

3. CASH ADVANCES. We arrange for cash advances where they are essential to the seller on extra fine, large consignments.

4. COURTESIES TO SELLERS. Anyone who has sold material at auction appreciates these services.
   a. The prompt acknowledgment of lots sent for sale.
   b. The prompt receipt of the printed catalog, with your properties clearly marked for you.
   c. The prompt receipt of the lot numbers and gross sales price of your lots within one week after every sale.

5. CLASSIFIED BIDDERS. We study the wants of our bidders. After each sale, we carefully tabulate the specialties of serious bidders. If a sale is strong in certain groups or countries, we call attention to these items to bidders who in the past have shown interest in these items by personal communications. This is an unusual service, appreciated by bidders, and equally appreciated by sellers.

6. DISPLAY OF LOTS. Our auctions are shown in down-town Minneapolis, St. Paul and often in Chicago. Seventy-five to one hundred collectors visit our street store in Minneapolis every week.

7. EXPERT LOTTING. You leave your goods in the hands of experts who know the psychology of auction lotting, a rare gift.

8. EVENING SALES. Our sales are held in the Evenings, thereby attracting types of bidders who do not attend the afternoon sales in the Eastern cities. Twin City collectors are serious buyers of good stamp merchandise.

9. TWO CITIES. We alternate our sales between the cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, the Twin Cities, with a population of nearly 1,000,000. We are the only auction house in this territory.

10. TERMS. 20% is our usual commission, although large collections with many stamps of value and where the sum total will amount in the thousands of dollars are invariably quoted a lower rate.

SALES THRUOUT THE YEAR. Every month, summer and winter, we have an auction. The summer slump is a myth. What there is to it we overcome by heavier circulation of catalogs in June, July and August.

Our next auction sale for April 7th, 1500 fine lots, is in the mails, but we solicit material for our May 5th auction which may be sent to us to reach us by March 24th. Our June 2d auction will close its forms on April 23d. Jot these dates down and send your material to us as soon as possible.

AIRPOST CHRONICLE

Australia.—The following data have been furnished by a correspondent.

2nd June, 1924: First Adelaide-Sydney air mail. Five sacks (about 1,400 pieces) were carried.

7th June, 1924: First Sydney-Adelaide air mail. This service was discontinued on July 19th of the same year.

1925: The first official red air label is believed to have been brought into use at Roebourne, Western Australia, at the end of this year.

Austria.—We are indebted to Mr. G. Sobetzky for the European statistics which are included in the present series of Standard Values.

Bulgaria.—The method of issue, distribution and pricing of the two air stamps, which were issued on November 11th last, have given rise to considerable discussion and, from the philatelist's point of view, much doubt as to their status. Through the courtesy of several dealers, correspondents and Bulgarian aero authorities, we believe we have collected all the essential facts that will be of interest to Aero Field readers.

The "Bunavad" Aviation Company of Sofia arranged to open a regular service between Sofia, Rouschouk, and Varna twice weekly in each direction. Passengers, goods, and mails were to be carried, the fares for the former ranging from 1,000 to 2,600 leva, and the tariff for mail an additional fee of 2 leva for postcards and 4 leva for each 20 grammes of letter mail.

The special stamps were placed on sale at the three cities concerned on November 11th, the day of the first flight. The support accorded as regards freight and passengers did not come up to expectations, and the route was eventually closed on about the 28th of the same month. 100,000 each of the two air stamps were prepared, 20,000 of which were handed to the postal authorities, and the balance of 80,000 to the operating concern, the proceeds to be, we suppose, as much a subsidy as payment for transport of the mail.

Canada.—The first Canadian air-mail contract has been awarded to Canadian Transcontinental Airways, Ltd., of Quebec for an all-the-year-round carriage of mails to and from Atlantic liners as they arrive in the mouth of the St. Lawrence river. The latest semi-official stamp to appear, at the face value of 25c, is that of the Yukon Airways and Exploration Co. It measures two inches by one, and is printed in blue. Winter services are being proposed for the benefit of residents of the Pelee Islands in Lake Erie, and in the more remote parts on the north shore of the St. Lawrence.

Canal Zone.—A weekly service which will expedite the delivery of American mails in Colombia, is the new S.C.A.D.T.A. operation between Cristobal and Barranquilla. The air-mail fee is 30c per 20 grammes weight of mail for the interior of Colombia and 20c for the Atlantic coastal towns.

Cuba.—In addition to the cachet illustrated in the last Aero Field, a special first-flight postmark was used at Havana. The first mail flight, though arranged to be made on the date given, did not actually take place until October 28th Cuba, though the first from Key was made on the 19th of that mon

Colombia.—A new service ha opened from Barranquilla along th of Uraba to Buenaventura.

Dutch East Indies.—Mr. B kindly informs us that in addition 4,342 letters and cards carried Batavia, Lieut. Koppen on his flight picked up a mail of 194 pi Palembang and 106 pieces at M At both the latter places the name town was substituted for "Batav the special postmark. There ar three varieties of this cachet.

Dutch West Indies.—The fi mail was flown from Curacao on 17, 1927, when 50 letters were car the experimental S.C.A.D.T.A. fl Colombia. Letters bore the 15c of Curacao and the 30c stamps company, both of which received dinary postmark. The backstamp Barranquilla was done on April 2

France.—In view of the enc amount of mail (527,000 bags last carried on the American service, t tal buildings at Cherbourg are to larged, and an air mail between bourg and Bordeaux is under con tion.

India.—All mail bags for the Cairo service, we are informed S. H. Smith, receive a small r label inscribed "AIR MAIL" in on a blue background. From "Monthly Bulletin" we learn tha Challe, in the course of his fligh Paris to Indo-China and back, about four letters from Allaha Calcutta, 48 from Calcutta to R 26 from Calcutta for France, an mails from Allahabad and Kara the return trip. Mr. Cossar has us the new official metal cachet applied to air mail at the Karac office, and that will shortly be illu in this journal. Mail was car Akyab, Rangoon and Singapore "Red Rose" light plane, particu which will be given in our next while the postal authorities also tioned the carriage of mail on th mania" while in India.

Ireland.—It is being suggeste the proposed Department of Civi tion (Irish Free State) shall co with Imperial Airways in the openi service between that country and E

Italy.—From April 15th next and goods will be flown by a dir vice from Milan to Munich.

Japan.—The Imperial Aviati proposes to establish a trans-Paci vice to America, for which two m are in readiness, during the Spring. It appears that mails ha flown from Corea to Mukden (M ria). A cover in our possessio the special violet airplane oblit dated "26.9.2." on the tail of wh different descriptive character fr of the Dairen service.

Kenya and Uganda.—A cove on October 17, 1927, bearing the aero cachet with the date invert been shewn us by Mr. F. Alan This is the only specimen that h brought to our attention.

Mexico.—The Tuxpan and T areas are already connected w capital by air services, and "Fligh reports that extensions are to be Matamoros, Nuevo Laredo, an Luis Potosi.

Paraguay.—An air post servic Asuncion to Buenos Aires, to with the trans-Atlantic route, is opened by the Latecoere Co., w authority of the government of Pa

Spain.—The direct service b Barcelona and Berlin opened on J 5th, thus creating yet another link growing chain of services centr the South Atlantic air line.

Turkey.—A considerable exp of operations is due to commence long, including aerial lines from to Constantinople, Erzerum, Sivas and Ceseara.—Aero Field.

SOME REMINISCENCES

By Geo. Staplin, Jr., Mannsville, N. Y.

In the issue of Mekeel's Weekly of Feb. 14th, I saw a reference to Mr. James M. Chute. In 1877, about a year after I started my stamp collection, I obtained by purchase or trading match stamps with him many foreign stamps, but after a short time I discontinued collecting foreign stamps and confined my efforts to collecting United States stamps only.

In March, 1879, I bought the 1857-60 set of Mr. F. Trifet, also of Boston, Mass., all unused and evenly perforated except the 12-cent, which was imperforate and later catalogued as 1851.

His price was $1.00 for the set of eight, four sets for $3.50, twelve sets for $9.00, one hundred sets for $70.00. These prices were from his 1877 catalogue now at hand.

The set of ten varieties used of the 1861 issue was 40 cents. The five-cent brown had extra wide side margins, and I always thought it a part perforated variety, but I soon trimmed it to even margins as it looked much better to me with even margins. This same set unused and "marked specimen" he priced at $1.00. The 1869 set of ten unused was priced at $4.00; the 1870 set of thirteen varieties unused at $2.50; the set of fifteen State department unused at $35.00; Post Office set of ten at $2.25; the Navy set of eleven at $2.75; the Justice set of ten at $3.00, and the complete set of official stamps, including the dollar values State for $50.00, all unused. Only five of the official stamps, excluding the dollar State department, were priced as high as 50 cents. These were the 12c and 15-cent Agricultural; 90 cents Justice, State and War departments; eight others were priced at 25 cents, eleven at 10 cents, seven at 15 cents, and the rest at 8 cents down to 2 cents, with two at one-cent each. In his 1879 catalogue none, excepting the dollar State departments, were priced above 40 cents each.

The re-issues of 1875, which were catalogued as "reprinted stamps," were priced as follows:—

1847 set of two at 25 cents.
1851-60 set of eight at $2.50.
1861-6 set of ten at $2.75.
1869 set of ten at $2.75.
1875 set of fifteen, low value newspaper stamps, at $5.00.

Now the above re-issues are priced:—

1847 set of two at $15.00.
1851-60 set of eight at $170.00.
1861-6 set of ten at $394.50.
1869 set of ten at $157.50.

The fifteen, low value newspaper stamps, are now priced at $224.00.

Among the first foreign stamps were five varieties for a 3-cent stamp bought of Mr. Joseph Beifeld, at that time I think located in Buffalo, N. Y. They were German Empire 1gr, Austria 5kr, France 25-cent, Italy 25-cent, and Netherlands 5-cent.

Mr. John A. Pierce, who is mentioned in Mekeel's Weekly of March 9, 1925, and later in May 18, 1925, was one of the early Chicago dealers. He was a cousin of my wife, and visited at my place about 1905. I showed him a quarter-page advertisement that he had in one of the Stamp Journals of the time when he was a dealer several years before. I am not sure, but think it was published by Charles Haviland Mekeel in St. Louis, Mo.

In the Weekly, a year or two ago, among earliest known cancellation dates of the 1857-60 issue the 5-cent brown is listed as August 20, 1859. I have one, which I submitted to Mr. Ward several months ago, cancelled plainly in blue, October 14, 1857, and probably Louisville, Ky., as the last syllable is very plain as also the state and date.

I have a 24c 1870, or later, bought of Mr. Trifet in March, 1879, which is a very different shade from others in my collection or any I saw at the Philatelic Exhibition in New York in 1913 and 1926, both of which I attended.

Mr. Joseph Beifeld, above referred to, was later proprietor of the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, Ill.

JOHANN HEINRICH PESTALOZZI

By R. C. M. Hartmann.

The portrait of this educator, whose influence has become world-wide, appears on the 20 and 30 centime stamps of the Swiss Pro Juventute Issue of 1927. This is especially fitting since the year 1927 is the 100th anniversary of his death. The added factor that he strove unceasingly to help the youth of Switzerland makes him a national hero whose memory will always be revered.

The New Century Book of Facts by Wright says of Pestalozzi (1746-1827): "A Swiss educational reformer, and the chief founder of modern pedagogy. He was, with the exception of Froebel, the greatest educational reformer since the time of the Revival of Learning. Realizing that social reform must come through education. he early allied himself with the reformers of the day. His principles were elaborated and carried out, and formed the basis of the educational movement of the nineteenth century. The modern enthusiasm for technical education is, for example, largely due to his teachings.

In 1801 he gave a summary of his ideas on education in the book 'Wie Gertrud Ihre Kinder Lehrt' ('How Gertrude Teaches Her Children'). His great idea was to 'psychologize education' (his own expression). Pestalozzi's method is to proceed from the easy to the more difficult; to begin with observation and then pass to consciousness, and from consciousness to speech.

Instead of the three R's he would substitute language, number, and form, as the elements of education. In his masterpiece, 'Leonard and Gertrude,' he centers the education in the home itself, and seeks to reform the child's first teacher—the mother. What he strove for was not the mere enlightenment of the mind, but the regeneration of the race through sounder methods of education."—By Wright.

AIR STAMPS OF TODAY

Albania.—Champion's Bulletin announces the discovery of two sheets of the 10q carmine stamp of 1927 with the overprint inverted. Two values in this series therefore exist in this state, the foregoing, of which 100 specimens are known; and the 1fr, of which 50 have been found.

Argentina.—A comprehensive series, to cover the rates between various cities, of air stamps, is expected from this country in connection with the opening of air mail services to connect with the Late-coere route across the South Atlantic.

Bulgaria.—The status of the two recently issued adhesives is discussed in the Airpost Collectors' Chronicle.

Colombia.—Since the end of last year the 2 pesos stamp of the S.C.A.D.T.A. services has appeared in scarlet-vermilion instead of orange-red.

Egypt.—New stamps are promised for use on the proposed service between Cairo and Alexandria.

Esthonia.—In January, a new currency in crowns and cents was officially introduced for all commercial and financial transactions. This change has long been anticipated, and it is possible that it will result in the issue of new air stamps when the Spring services are re-opened.

Iraq.—It has been announced that official air stamps are under the consideration of the postal authorities for use on the Cairo-Basra mail route.

Morocco.—At the end of 1927 the colour of the current 20c air stamps was announced to be changed from lilac to violet; and that of the 80c from lilac-brown to red-brown.

Newfoundland.—Of considerable interest to aero-philatelists is the 15c blue denomination in the new series of stamps which appeared in the dominion early in January. Although not an air stamp, it depicts the famous machine in which Alcock and Whitten-Brown accomplished the first aeroplane flight across the North Atlantic.

Peru.—The 50c (lilac) value of the 1925 postal series has been issued with the overprint, in two lines, in red, "Servicio Aereo."

Russia.—A variety of the recently issued 10k value has, according to Stamp Collecting, been found on slightly thicker paper, imperforated, and without watermark.

Saar.—A special air adhesive for this district has been foretold repeatedly in the press, but we have not yet received any official confirmation.

Tunis.—We learn that the 1927 set of four values has been sold out, and that a new series may be anticipated at an early date.—Aero Field.

STAMP NOTES AND NEWS

Bolivia.—In the October number of our Bulletin we gave a list of the forthcoming new set of stamps, and we have just received the following additional information. These new stamps have been printed by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, of London, and on their arrival at La Paz it was found that some of the boxes containing the stamps had been skilfully rifled and 60,000 each of 5, 10 and 15 centavos stolen. In view of this theft the Bolivian Government decided to overprint the remaining quantity of these three denominations with the words "Octubre 1927" and a small star in the centre of each stamp, thus rendering the stolen stamps without overprint invalid for postal purposes. These new stamps which are being distributed this month are the same as type 8 in our Catalogue, but lithographed instead of engraved, the colours have also been altered. We are also informed that the Bolivian Government in ordering the 5, 10 and 15 centavos stamps under-estimated their requirements in these three denominations and that a further order is being considered; no doubt if a further supply is requisitioned the stamps will be of a different design or colour without safety overprint. In consequence of the delay in issuing these new stamps two provisionals were recently made, 5c on 1c and 10c on 24c, but as the number issued was small in both cases they were all utilised for postal purposes.

EUGEN SEKULA, "Villa Heimeli", Lucerne 22, Switzer

Brazil.—We have received a set of Air Mail stamps which has just been issued, and for the purpose Official stamps, type 02 in our Catalogue, have been utilised and overprinted "Servico Aereo" and new value, the denominations being as follows:—50 reis on 10 reis, 200 reis on 2,000 reis, 200 reis on 5,000 reis, 300 reis on 500 reis, 500 reis on 50 reis, 1,000 reis on 20 reis and 2,000 reis on 100 reis, the colours are the same as noted in our Catalogue under Nos. 514 to 524. The issue of these stamps is a temporary one, as the new Air Mail stamps in a definite design have already been issued and are on sale in the state of Rio Grande do Sul, one terminus of the new aerial route. This new design shows what appears to be a globe within a square, which is surrounded by a band inscribed "Ordem e Progresso." On the globe are twenty-one stars and at the top shows a pair of outstretched wings with a further inscription, "Syndicato Condor"; at the base of the stamp is inscribed "Servico Postal Aereo do Brasil," and in the left lower corner the value. Up to the present we have seen only two denominations of the new design, 2,000 reis blue and 3,000 reis purple.

Cyprus.—A letter we have just received from the Postmaster-General states that during the period the commemorative stamps are on sale the same denominations of the current King's head type will be temporarily withdrawn from use, but will not become obsolete, as they will be re-introduced at the expiry of the period of currency of the ne The denominations of the new i as follows:—¾, 1, 1½, 2½, 4, 6, piastres and £1, so that the follo nominations of the King's head still be on sale:—¼, ½, 2, 4½, 1 piastres. The new stamps are d pear on February 1st.

Estonia.—The 45 marks A stamp, No. 95 in our Catalogue, obsolete for some time, but this nation has now been re-issued in the same colour and design, pr paper which is very much thin the first issue, this being the onl ence we shall not distribute th through our New Issue Service, supply copies at 1/- each.—King's Bulletin.

"ALL FOR LINDY"

A Wonderful Work Accomplished By The Air Mail Service

THE FASCINATING STORY AS TOLD TO US BY THE HON. W. IRVING GLOVER, SECOND ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT
SECOND ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL

WASHINGTON, February 28, 1928.

My dear Mr. Severn:

The tremendous success, on February 20th and 21st, when Colonel Lindbergh flew his old mail route carrying 225,000 letters for both days, has caused me to just write you regarding my observations in the Saint Louis post offce, and what the post office does to assist (and get through just as they would have it) the Philatelic mail, or first-day cover letters.

Arrived in St. Louis from Washington on Sunday afternoon, the 19th, and on Monday, the 20th, went over to the St. Louis office and talked with Postmaster A. J. Michener (who, by the way, is a real friend of the Philatelists) and, after a short while, we went out on the floor, and at 10.00 a. m., there were just mountains of mail, which had already been rated, stated and pouched, 16 of them which had been coming in for days before the date of the flight.

Engaged in the task of working this "special mail" were 15 clerks and three supervisors. One great section of the city distributing cases had been cleaned out, and the boys were working this souvenir mail up to the very finest point.

At the last moment, as usual, there was just a deluge of "Lindy Mail," and when the collectors came in, who had made their collections from the city boxes, again there were mountains of mail. The truck, to take the mail to the Air Mail Field at Anglum (14 miles from the post office), is scheduled to leave at 3.00 p. m., and to get this mail faced, specially "cacheted," cancelled, and distributed, was a real job. The Assistant Postmaster, Mr. Frank Pranger, arose to the occasion, as usual, and, knowing what it all meant to the collectors and souvenir bugs, he called upon forty more clerks for the task, and every letter, which could be dispatched, was prepared, and, by the way, some got through that should not have been dispatched, but it was "all for Lindy," and out to the field, where Slim in his new Travelair awaited, went the mail, 100,000 letters weighing about 2,000 pounds. Colonel Lindbergh, not to be involved in any false statement, flew the two Douglas ships with some of the load before he first took off for Springfield, so that each and every letter was carried by the "Lone Eagle" some part of the route.

Now, if the readers of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY believe that this was an easy job, wish they could have been with me on Monday, the day of the first flight. If there was any known request for a special cancellation, marking, routing, or something else dear to the heart of the collector, that was not given attention, I would like to know what it was. Some letters had three slips of paper with instructions thereon, for the special postmarking, either pinned on or glued, and others contained fasteners. There was the small bundle with an elastic band thereon, and a slip underneath, and naturally, some letters had slipped out (and they looked for those), and there were letters with instructions about how they wanted the special cachet put on, and a thousand and one requests for the Postmaster to see that the personal signature of Colonel Lindbergh was obtained, which, of course, could not be obtained. There was the letter that wanted a different colored ink used in the cancellation, and there was nothing imaginable forgotten by the collector in the way of a request, and the Post Office Force entered into the spirit of it all and tried to give whatever service anyone wanted. Of course, we failed in some instances, but very few, I hope. And this was not only true of St. Louis, but in Springfield, Peoria and Chicago, as well. Each office had its requests to follow out, and they did their best to give the service that the collectors desired. As late as 11.00 a. m., the day of the flight, the Second Assistant Postmaster General telegraphed from St. Louis to the other Postmasters along the route to be sure about the backstamping, so, in other words, we, in the Post Office Department, tried to do the best job possible.

And I am writing you this letter, not in a spirit of criticism, but just to let your readers know that we do take some pains to "deliver the goods"; we are interested in the work, many of us, and I do resent the articles I read in

TRANS-MISSISSIPPI ISSUE

These two United States commemoratives issued in 1898 are lacking in many collections. My experience dates back prior to the issue of these stamps and I can truthfully say that they have always been scarce. The actual need of these values was little back in 1898 and their use was very limited. They will never be cheaper than they are today.

some Philatelic magazines about all post office employees being "goats, blockheads, and spiteful creatures," with an idea to do everything wrong to the philatelic mail that is possible, and it just gets me a little bit hot under the collar. You know how one feels when you try to do the best you can, and the other fellow kicks you while you are doing it. None of us are perfect, of course, but there are 351,000 of us in the Post Office Department, and some of us are bound to make mistakes at times. To err is human, but to forgive is divine. Please pardon our errors and omissions. Don't shoot the organist, he is doing the best he can. Thanks.

COLLECTING AIR MAIL COVERS

By FREDERICK D. MARKEE, 24 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

Stamp collecting today is no longer a child's pastime. All ages, both sexes, and all nationalities indulge in this King of Hobbies, and Hobby of Kings. Known as "Philately," with the followers scattered all over the globe, the number runs into the hundreds of thousands. Societies and clubs, some with only a few members, and others with memberships running into the thousands, bring together these philatelists in a common bond. Lawyers, doctors, bankers, business men, heads of colleges, clerks, salesmen, laborers, housewives, movie stars, none are exempt. They all follow where philately leads. King George of England owns one of the finest collections of stamps in the world. A Chinese merchant in Singapore collects the stamps of British Colonies, and has accumulated some of the rarest. A headwaiter at a hotel in Switzerland owns a magnificent collection of Air Mail stamps. It is said that Miss Clara Bow owns a splendid collection of Air Mail covers. Even Lindbergh is reported to be interested in Air Mail covers.

In the past few years there has grown up a branch of Philately that offers more thrills to the square inch than any other form of collecting. From a few followers, the number has increased until thousands are collecting the letters that have been carried by Air Mail.

And this branch of Philately is known as Air Mail Cover Collecting. A "cover" is an envelope that has seen postal service.

In collecting Air Mail covers, those carried on the First Flight are the ones most sought after. As far back as 1910, special cancellations were used on flights carrying mail, some of these earlier covers being among the rarest. In recent years, the Post Office Department has recognized the necessity of catering to this group of collectors, and has provided a special cancellation to be applied to all mail carried on the First Flight over any route. In the past two years, 23 Air Mail routes have been put into operation, and every cover carried on the First Trips had these special cancellations applied to them in such a manner that they were readily distinguished from covers carried on subsequent flights.

That the Government has been wise in giving recognition to Air Mail cover collectors, is amply demonstrated in the flights made by Col Lindbergh on Feb. 20th and 21st. Figures given out by the Post Office Department, state that over 250,000 covers were carried, weighing 4,275 lbs., the amount of postage being about $26,000!

Covers from this flight will be scattered to the four corners of the world, for each one bears the Lucky Lindy horseshoe cancellation applied by the post offices at Chicago, Peoria, Springfield and St. Louis.

It is estimated that 75% of the mail carried on this flight belonged to Air Mail cover collectors. No wonder Uncle Sam caters to these thousands, when such a showing is forthcoming.

Col. Lindbergh's Central American tour resulted in Air Mail cover collecting receiving another big boost. Three countries honored him by putting on sale special Lindbergh air mail stamps, Costa Rica, Panama and Cuba. Other countries to the number of six, provided a special Lindbergh Day cancellation to all mail posted on the day of the Colonel's arrival. When Lindy made his U. S. tour, about twelve cities provided an unofficial Lindbergh Day cancellation for letters that went through the mail on that day, and these covers are in constant demand.

Within the next few years a large number of new Air Mail routes will be placed in operation throughout this country, as well as abroad, and the collecting of the First Flight Air Mail covers from these new lines will go on with increasing interest. Foreign postal departments provide special first flight cancellations, and some of their "cachets" (cancellations) are equally well thought out, and desirable from a collecting viewpoint.

Air Mail cover collecting can be as inexpensive as 10c per cover, the bare cost of postage, or if one wishes to go into it more extensively, a small fortune can be spent on acquiring some of the choice specimens that are offered from time to time. However, there is just as much of a thrill in securing covers from the new routes to be opened as there is in a Byrd or Chamberlin cover. Getting started is the main thing, and the following suggestions will assist you in breaking into the game.

First—Join the American Air Mail Society. All of the representative Air Mail Collectors of this country and abroad are members, as well as post office officials, Senators, air mail pilots, and operating officials. The cost is low, $1.50 per year. Included in the membership dues is a subscription to a well known philatelic publication, that will run co-incident with your membership. The magazine is published weekly, and all the Society notes, news and "dope" appear in a well edited column. Advance information covering flights to be made, reports on those recently completed, and general items of interest are among some of the recently issued numbers.

Second—Air Mail cover collectors are fortunate in having a catalogue of their own, devoted to nothing but Air Mail flights. This catalogue is published annually, the 1928 edition having just made its appearance. Every flight made in this country since 1910 is described in detail-dates, particulars of the flights, amount of mail carried, cancellations used, and the market value of each cover. The 1928 edition ers 66 pages. Prominent colle have joined hands to make this logue the standard work of its and they have certainly done a job. Canada, Haiti, Newfound and the Philippines, each have a tion devoted to the flights occu in their countries. The catalog cloth bound, and the front cover ries a splendid photograph of mander R. E. Byrd, to whom the ume is dedicated. The price is $1.50 per copy.

Third—Get in touch with some ber of the Society. He, or she indeed. Many women are takin collecting.), will be only too gla give you all the help possible. I mation as to how to prepare your

$1.00 Life Insurance
Imperforate

Following my price resume in the December 5th issue, a genial collector in the far West advises of his vertical block of eight of the $1.00 "Life," at the same time expressing regrets that due to heavy creases the piece had been cut down from a block of twelve. Personally, however, I approve of the action taken and commend the owner for his initiative, since a pleasing and perfect piece always ranks higher with me than an inferior one of unusual dimensions. For my part I have never hesitated to prune the unsightly, and at random can recall cutting an imperforate block of forty-two of the $1.00 Conveyance to twenty-four, a block of thirty of the 50c Mortgage to ten, a block of fifteen of the 3c Telegraph to twelve, a block of ten of the 25c Warehouse Receipt to four, and have lopped defective stamps from important strips of the 60c I. E. and $5.00 Charter Party, etc. A collection formed along such lines cannot fail to be gratifying to its possessor and can always be offered for exhibition or sale without apologies. To revert to the $1.00 Life block, whose owner incidentally inquired concerning its value, the specialized listing is, in my opinion, too low, and although I have the fine Lapham block I will back this belief with cash if anyone has sound pieces to offer.

$2.00 Conveyance
Imperforate

A revenue collector friend upon receiving his copy of the "Specialized," directs attention to the inaccuracy of rating the $2.00 Mortgage multiples as better than Conveyance, and I must agree decidedly with this view. Blocks of either one are not sufficiently numerous to justify much of a price differential, but Conveyance always has been, and is today, somewhat the better piece. When considering pairs and strips the spread is further increased, according to my data, to about the ratio of twenty to fifteen, so transposing the catalog figures for the two titles would about clear up the situation.

$50.00 U. S. I. R.
Imperforate

I have recently been informed of a block of fourteen of this stamp (6 x 2 plus two extra stamps) together with a block of six used on one document, but am only presenting the matter more as an item of information than importance. I can account for fifty per cent more blocks of the $50.00 stamp than of the $2.00 Conveyance just discussed, and in addition there is the block of twelve from the Bister collection. As I have written in an earlier article, perforated blocks of the $50.00 are much rarer than Imperforate, but the materially lower listing of them presumably is based on the lesser desirability of perforated multiples and decidedly smaller demand.

$25.00 Mortgage
Imperforate

Quite recently I received from Massachusetts a horizontal strip of four of this stamp, this constituting a new find, i.e., to the extent that although known for many years, its original possessor has just relinquished it. I have already recorded the two similar strips from the Eagle collection, but nevertheless its rarity and desirability must be apparent to all.

$200.00 U. S. I. R.
Perforated

Within the year an unusual railroad document developed in Philadelphia bearing no less than one hundred copies of this stamp, including two full sheets of eight each, a block of four, several strips, and the balance in singles. Startling as this may seem to the layman, it is on such mortgages or conveyances of magnitude that the real high value revenues were largely used, and more of them can confidently be expected as the papers

LIEUT. HEGENBERGER --- MRS. LINDBERGH FLIGHT

March 3, 1928, was a gala day in Boston. Lieuts. Hegenberger and Johnson hopped off in the Ford-Stout all metal plane for Detroit, with MRS. EVANGELINE L. LINDBERGH, mother of the famous "Good Will Ambassador", Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, as a passenger.

100 letters were carried on this flight from the Boston Airport to Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, Michigan. Each cover bears, on the reverse, the Boston postmark of March 3, 1928, 7 A. M., one hour before the take-off. On the obverse is the Mount Clemens, Michigan, postmark, 4.30 P. M., March 5, 1928. The plane stopped over in Buffalo on March 4th.

A historical souvenir cover of an intensely interesting flight. Every collector of LINDBERGH data should have one.

EACH COVER IS SIGNED BY LIEUTENANT HEGENBERGER, THE FAMOUS TRANS-PACIFIC FLIER AND GUARANTEED FLOWN.

An opportunity seldom presented and one that you should take advantage of at our low price of only bearing them cease to be of value. Concerning the $200.00 I have always questioned rating a scarce stamp like the $20.00 Probate of Will on the same price level, but am told that the Probate looks just like the Conveyance, while the $200.00 looks like —— itself.

$2.50 Second Issue
Inverted Head

From a hitherto unsuspected source I have had submitted for purchase a well centered copy of this rarity, although somewhat heavily cancelled. It is of good color, but has a pronounced horizontal crease still apparent after soaking and pressing, and was appraised by a qualified local dealer at $600. This makes the eighth copy which I can now personally account for, and additional ones are pretty sure to exist. It is a strange coincidence that I have been offered one yearly for the past four years, so following precedence, another should be at hand before next January. Still I would rather pay full catalog for a fine $1.00 green and black invert or the 2c Proprietary.

In closing these notes for the moment, the writer will venture no approximation as to time of resumption, since he desires to learn whether or not this and preceding articles have been of sufficiently general interest to the readers of MEKEEL'S, and if so, whether or not they have been interestingly informative, or too cold and technical recitals. Briefly, therefore, I would appreciate expressions from all who are really interested, so that if the patient is alive the true state of his pulse can be ascertained, and I certainly have no thought of imposing "Revenues" on readers if the reaction is the winks, smiles and yawns that have been produced by recent presentations of ribbed paper Continentals.

Now most collectors today can truthfully sing the song "I love the whole United States, etc.," and considering the numberless U. S. collections between the two oceans, a good share of which contains Revenues, there must be enough items of interest to provide worth while copy for years to come. Consequently, if any reader has something which is of decided interest to him by all means spend two cents and say what it is, and don't feel injured, ashamed, or resentful if it develops to be commonplace. Likewise don't withhold information on a rare item for fear someone will get it from you. They cannot do so unless you yield to the power of gold, and while "yielding is sin," gold can be made to draw interest. During the past two or three years I have published more data concerning the rare revenues than had appeared in the previous quarter of a century, and now that the "cat is out of the bag" and pretty well defined values are known for all items, a seller need not be obsessed with the old fear of receiving five or ten per cent of the worth of a piece.

Please communicate with me on any phase of the subject, but I will not deal publicly with overinked, underinked or poorly wiped plates, ribbed, laid or creased papers, color changelings, proofs, minor plate varieties, or any of the surcharges of the past ten years. For some time I have had material in preparation dealing with the Part Perforates, but have v held it as likely to arouse the same thusiasm as a dissertation on Stellal so like the temperamental star of stage, I await the demands of my pu

ISSUES 1856-1877 ONLY

I have to announce that I have just purchased a well known collection formed in Montevideo, Uruguay, and comprising the classic issues of 1856 to 1877 only. The famous "Diligencia" issue of 1856 is represented by 17 fine copies.

The large "double figures" issue of March, 1858, by the following:—

120c blue	3.00
180c green	8.00
240c vermillion	32.00

Included in this issue are many rare shades, stamps on thick paper and interesting varieties.

1859. Thin figures. A fine lot of all values and some fine unused blocks.

1860-62. Thick figures. Also a fine lot an unusual item being a cover franked with the rare 180c green and a 60c, making the 240c rate to Buenos Aires.

1864. All shades, an outstanding item being a mint block of 4 of the 8c salmon-red on very thick paper.

1866. The surcharged issue is a good lot, including the tete-beche 10c and some rare errors. Also a number of fine used, which are much rarer than catalogued and which sell in Montevideo up to double catalogue prices.

Jan., 1866. Imperf. A grand lot of these interesting stamps, including wonderful mint blocks, such as 5c blue, blocks of the 60, 8 and 4. 10c green, block of 12. Also many of the errors.

In the later issues I draw especial attention to one of the rarest items in Uruguay stamps. The American Bank Note Co. engraved the issue of 1877-79 and made an error in the first printing of the 1 peso blue. The arms in the oval are too small and the quarterings are reversed. This was found out and not issued and most of the stock was destroyed. A few copies are known in great collections, but is one of the great desiderata of advanced collectors.

Approval books of any issue can be sent on demand.

Revolutionary Stamps of Russia, 1920-1922

Taken from the "LISSIUK" collection awarded the Silver medal, Class 20th Century, Section 19, at the International Philatelic Exhibition held in New York City from October 16th to 23rd, 1926, at Grand Central Palace.

Written by K. Lissiuk of the Lissiuk Philately Co., 1476 Broadway (42nd St.), New York City.

(Compiled and arranged by John L. Stroub, President of the New York Philatelic Society, Inc., and International Expert on the Stamps of Nicaragua.)

How many of us, interested in Philately, are thoroughly familiar with the stamps of Russia used during the Revolution which followed within the period of the World War and then continued after the signing of the Treaty of Versailles? Those collectors who applied the words "Bolsheviki" and "Soviet" to their Russian stamps believed these terms meant nothing when the major varieties in the catalogues had been placed in their collections.

Let us refresh our memory by a brief outline of Russian history from 1914 to 1922. Russia entered the World War, July 14, 1914, aligning herself on the side of the Allied Powers. As early as August, 1915, Kerensky sowed the first seeds of Revolution by attacking the Royalist war policies in the Duma. Later, the Royalist majority became a minority. Changes in the Ministry occurred frequently, when under the premiership of Sturmer, an early and separate peace with the Central Powers was advocated. In January, 1917, the murder of Rasputin lighted the spark of the Revolution followed by the abdication of Czar Nicholas II. A provisional government was formed with Kerensky at its head and Trotsky as Foreign Minister. The Bolshevist uprising started and in a short time the separate peace of Brest Litovsk was signed with the Central Powers. The Kerensky regime, known as the First Republic, became unpopular and the Central Soviet Assembly (Bolsheviki) gained control with Lenine, Prime Minister and Trotsky, War Minister. Offensives started in many parts of the country against this new government. The Russian army and navy had revolted, prisoners of war liberated, different races and creeds fought amongst themselves and militarist leaders led several so called "White" armies. Many independent governments, or states, sprang up lasting for short periods only. The Lenine or Soviet Government gained the greater power and eventually restored order from chaos. In 1921-22 all the independent states and sections had been reunited into the Soviet Republic of Russia.

The postal history of this time is told very clearly by the stamps themselves. The last issue of the old Empire was undisputably the Commemorative stamps of 1913. They commemorated the 300th anniversary of the Romanoff dynasty. Money and stamp shortages in 1915 caused the reprinting of the 10, 15 and 20 kopeck Commemorative values on cardboard, thus allowing for a double purpose. The depreciation of the ruble in 1916-17 combined with the exhaustion of the 10 and 20 kopeck stamps produced two sets of the 7 and 14 kopeck provisionals, respectively, from the large remaining stocks of the old regular and Commemorative issues. These four provisionals ended the Royalist issues—when the Kerensky provisional government, or First Republic, came into power. Later in the year 1917, the complete set of the regular (Empire) stamps from the 1 kopeck to 10 rubles, omitting the 7 and 14 kopecks (now provisionals), had been reprinted from the old original plates. No introduction is needed on this issue. An acute money or small change shortage required the printing of the 1, 2 and 3 kopeck Commemorative stamps again on cardboard. The larger and more appropriate design of these stamps suited the purpose better than the regular issue. These cardboard stamps served for postal duty and when so used are quite scarce. In 1918, the provisional government issued two stamps, 35 and 70 kopecks, from an original design symbolic of the breaking of the chains of slavery. Large numbers were printed and used when the Bolshevist issues superseded them.

On page No. 1253, of our own Scott's catalogue, 1927 edition, is to be found this 70 kopeck slavery design stamp, listed as No. 150, it being the last of the First Republic issue of 1918-19; again, on page No. 1254, stamp No. 177 starts the Soviet Republic issue of 1921. Between these numbers are shown occupation stamps of the Northwest Russian armies of General Judenitch and Miller. Such stamps covered a special military privilege and usage in the particular regions within the range of their operations, and had postal value for a few months only. Obviously a gap of about two years, 1919 to 1921 or the Revolutionary period, appears, which on the face would tend to show that nothing has issued a new set of stamps of pleasing design but printed on a villainous crackly paper and none too carefully perforated. If that Colony had the usual beautifully produced stamps of the American Bank Note Co. we would be happier. However, they're here. The face value is $1.25, and I have distributed them to my new issue boxholders @ $1.60, usual rate.

I have now 100 sets to sell at $1.60 to collectors desiring this set.

MIDWESTERN PHILATELIC EXHIBITION

seems almost superfluous to introAlvin Good to collectors anyre. Few collectors are better vn, by big men and little fellows ur hobby, thruout America, and for matter, the world.

ost of his life has been spent as etary to the late George H. Worthon, who was credited with possessone of the three or four best colons in the whole world.

lvin's daily work in connection Mr. Worthington's collection him an extensive knowledge of classics of all nations, as well as a acquaintance with prominent colrs and dealers of all lands.

is own collecting has always been ined to the stamps of the United es, of which he has a magnificent ction. In research work, he is best vn for his completion of the plates c 1851, and his chart of same, h has been of great assistance to r platers.

e has always been active in organphilately, being Life Member No. f the A.P.S. of which Society he ed a number of terms as Director arge.

ined the Garfield-Perry Stamp in his teens, and has filled pracly every office, some for several s.

ter the death of Mr. Worthington, ried several lines of business, but tually settled down to stamps, the g he knows best.

pening an office in the Hippodrome ex Building, and confining his ngs to U. S. and 19th Century gn, he has built up a substantial ever growing business.

ALVIN GOOD, Vice President

As Chairman of the Exhibits Committee for the Exhibition, he has his hands full. We doubt if anyone could have been found for this position who is better qualified, or who has the confidence of America's collectors in a greater degree.

GMENTS—

E National Air Transport, Inc., carried over eleven million letters 27, "during day and night, in sun- and storm, without loss or damto a single letter," and we agree this record demonstrates the y and safety of the air mail service.

E 38th Anniversary Banquet of he Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, eland, was held at the Hotel Cleveon March 17th, at 6.30 P. M., and he afternoon a really creditable p exhibition was held in the hotel. es were invited, and souvenirs distributed.

VER the Rockies with the Air Mail," one of the Ted Scott g Stories, by Franklin W. Dixon, ins the following reference to the g impulse of the mail flyer when ccident takes place: "He must the mail bags! That was the re- of his class. At all costs the must be saved. If life were lost g it, that was hard luck for the or."

is announced that the ten-day lane and cutter mail service be- Paris and Buenos Aires is now ccessful operation, with the result the mail time is cut in half. We that the "new service, which is ily subsidized by the French gov- ent, employs hydro-airplanes between Paris, Toulouse, Alicante, Casablanca, Dakar and the Cape Verde islands. From the islands speedy cutters operated by the French navy will rush the sacks across the narrowest part of the south Atlantic to Fernando Noronha, at which point the planes again will pick up the mail and fly south to Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires."

FROM Mr. Shirley E. Moisant, Kankakee, Ill., an old philatelic publisher, who once made the astounding offer of a year's subscription of his monthly for either one cent or five cents a year, many moons ago, we have received the first number of Association News, edited and published by him in the interests of the Illinois Association of Insurance Agents. Mr. Moisant is secretary of this association.

JUST to keep the records clear, it is mentioned that an article in the issue of June 6, 1927, attributed to Frank L. "Fascl" should have been credited to Frank L. Fasel of Milano. Texas.

EDITORIAL

The following cablegram has been received in this country from Arthur Hind, dated Monte Carlo to the effect that his exhibit at Monaco was awarded the grand trophy, and that he will show the entire display at the Collectors' Club, New York, on March 21, 1928. It may be added that this exceptional aggregation was the most valuable volume, since it was transported in one book, ever assembled, as may be realized when it is said that its value was almost a million dollars.

Mr. C. Bangs, Atlanta, Georgia, writes: "I note that in the issue of February 20th, you ask to be informed of the various philatelic agencies. While in Algiers, Africa, March 16th or 17th, 1926, I made the first purchase of stamps from the Agency that opened at 1.00 P. M. I bought blocks of four of all the stamps on sale. It was quite interesting, for when the clerk in charge opened his cases, several other clerks from about the office came to his desk to see the first sale made. I had not completed my purchase before people of Algiers came in for theirs, also."

The following particulars of the Favier set of Greece have come from Mr. P. J. Drossos, of Athens: "The set was put out of use on February 1st. The 1dr had been exhausted long ago. However, the 6dr is a value that has been used scarcely at all, and the greatest part of the quantity issued is still in stock at the post office. It is said that the 3 and 6dr in stock are to be surcharged and used for air mail postage."

Mr. Adolph Sonntag, Chicago, says: "On page 140 of the WEEKLY, dated Feb. 20, 1928, the information is quoted on the authority of the Post Office Department, Washington, that the Republic of Mexico is not prepared as yet to establish any air mail routes to the southern boundary of the United States from Mexico City. The information is evidently incorrect. My son-in-law is the advertising manager of the Gerrard Company, Chicago; and he handed me the enclosed cover recently. As you see, it bears a 50 centavos, and is postmarked, Mexico, D.F., Feb. 15, 1928, 1 P. M., and reached Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, Feb. 17 at 6.30 P. M., and arrived at Chicago, Feb. 18 at 10 P. M. The impression showing the aerial handling reads: 'Servicio Postal Aereo.' Evidently, this is one of the earliest air mail covers ever flown from Mexico City to Chicago."

An Associated Press despatch dated March 6th, announces that the bill for a special Valley Forge commemorative was in the form of a resolution introduced in the senate by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania. A correspondent in Washington in telling of the prospects for the special stamp says that they are "good" nothwithstanding some opposition that seems to have developed in a legislative way to commemorate issues generally, as has already been spoken of in this column.

Our Cuban correspondent, Mr. E. M. Ash writes: "I have an envelope franked with the 5c air mail stamp, surcharged 'Lindbergh Febrero—1928' with slogan cancellation, and also rubber stamp cancellation in magenta. The slogan cancellation is enclosed in a box with horizontal lines, waved, divided into two sections. One of these shows an aeroplane, and the other says, in Spanish, 'Use Aerial Service and Economize Time.' The date enclosed in the circle is Feb. 13th, 6 A. M., 1928. The words Habana, Cuba, 1928, are around the circular frame on the inside. The rubber stamp cancellation is a double line circle. Between the outside and the inside circles are the words, Habana, Cuba, Servicio Aereo, separated by two stars. Inside the inner circle is the date. On the right hand side, two horizontal lines extend, and between them, two lines, the upper of which says, Lindbergh, in large letters! and the lower, Habana—St. Louis, Mo. I am informed that this last special cancellation was prepared with a view to Lindbergh carrying mail in his direct Habana-St. Louis flight, but it was finally decided against, as apparently, the full capacity was desired for fuel. This information will doubtless be of interest to airmail students and historians as showing that preparations were made in Havana for the carrying of mail on the flight."

Mr. Vernon Smith of Indianapolis, Indiana, has addressed us on the subject of "circumnavigators" as cards or letters that make the trip around the world are called. Older readers will recall that periodically in the past, there have been flares of interest in these around-the-world missives, and recently a paragraph in our paper told of a round trip example. Mr. Smith sends a clipping from the Indianapolis Times picturing "Postmaster Bryson holding two letters started around the world today by the Times," and with the text telling of the letters that have been started on their long trip, franked with $1.75 postage, each, covering a weight of three ounces. The itinerary, as given in the newspaper, is interesting, including, as it does, several air flights. It seems that Mr. Smith, our correspondent, planned to send a letter by ordinary mail around the world, and the letter was mailed to the postmaster at New York for the start; and back came the letter with stamps uncancelled, with the following explanation: "With reference to your communication of the 28th ultimo, you are informed that the Postal Regulations stipulate that postal cards and letters addressed to go around the world are unmailable, and accordingly, the accompanying around the world letter is returned as unmailable." The letters sent by the Times were carried in both directions from Indianapolis, with instructions to utilize "such air mail routes as are available." Now, Mr. Smith asks why an air mail can go around the globe, while an ordinary letter cannot.

To continue on the subject of circumnavigators, it is to be said that we knew that the authorities discouraged the souvenir seekers who wanted to have their long distance pieces, although we were not aware that the postal regulations decreed against them. A good many years ago, when around-the-world letters were the rage, they became a thorn in the flesh of postal departments generally, and on one occasion, if we remember correctly, the post office department indicated to the WEEKLY that it would look upon a friendly gesture in the paper to the effect that the traffic be frowned upon, with approval. Hence, our disposition was to tread lightly on the subject in the subsequent years. Reverting to Mr. Smith's question, why air mail circumnavigators are accepted and ordinary letters not, deponent sayeth not, meaning that not knowing, we cannot say.

The following inquiry has come from Mr. G. P. Bainbridge, Vancouver, B. C.: "On page 116 you have reference to an inquiry from a correspondent anent a Ballou & Co.'s Caribou Express envelope. As I am n an extensive study of these inter British Columbia Express env and markings, I shall greatly ap ate being put in touch with the concerned." Will the inquirer first addressed us send his na Mr. Bainbridge at 4545 Sixth A W., if this notice meets his eye, letter was not preserved after answered. Speaking of addres the correspondent who, when the postal history was described, ask the owner's, Mr. McBean's addre questing that it be sent him, will the editor, the information may n had. The history in question is a published by the Siam gover illustrated by copies of the stamp had been issued up to the time production of the book.

It is somewhat interesting to the comments of the Utica newsp on the publicity achieved by A Hind, philately's shining light. notices show that while somewh certain of the solidity of Mr. H fame as a result of the recent article in Collier's, the newsp readily grasp the interest carri wide publicity, concentrated o one man. The Utica Call en story with: "Stamps may com stamps may go—but collectors forever."

EXHIBITION EXPANSION

Midwest has Outgrown the Original Plans of its Promoters.

By W. W. MACLAREN.

his enterprise has grown by leaps bounds, and it became apparent he Directors of the Exhibition Co. t it was too big a proposition for tel Cleveland, where by crowding igs, there could be but twenty lers' booths and about two hun-d frames of exhibits.

hey have been exceedingly fortu-e in being able to lease two whole rs in the Terminal Depot Tower, ining the Hotel Cleveland.

he management of the Hotel very rteously released us from our con-t with them, and we now have a tion just as central, and ideal in ry respect.

With 14,000 square feet of space, lusive of lobbys, stairs, and eleva-s, there will now be abundant room approximately 30 dealers' booths, ger and finer than originally planned, for about 400 frames of exhibits.

s nearly all the 20 dealers' booths already been reserved, and de-its made on the rent, the additional will no doubt be taken at an early e, so that any dealer desiring one uld speak quickly—the price is .00 for the week.

Reservations for exhibit space con-ue to pour in from all parts of the ntry and we again urge all those o contemplate exhibiting to act hout delay. Exhibits from mem-s of the Associated Clubs are es-ially desired, and as the bulk of our ndance from outside the city will from Ohio and neighboring states, hope to see all the fine collections this part of the country represented the exhibit.

THE MONACO EXHIBITION

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

MONTE CARLO, Feb. 20th. — Leaving London just after the great storm, and after a long and inclement winter, it was an agreeable transformation to wake up in the morning in the Riviera rapide to the blue skies and the sun—yes, the sun, the real article. It has blazed upon us daily ever since. On Saturday morning when the pretty Princess of Monaco came in state to open the International Philatelic Exhibition, it was like a glorious summer day, and the bright uniforms of the Monegasque army made most of us think and some of us talk of Ruritania and Anthony Hope.

I have seen a good many stamp exhibitions opened, some of them by royalty, but never before has there been so imposing an affair. A military guard of honour added colour to the beauty of the gardens in front of the Palais des Beaux Arts, and the trumpeters proclaimed the arrival of her Serene Highness in goodly style. As she entered, the orchestra struck up the Monegasque hymn, which has the cheerful strain of a fox trot, and the petite lady who advanced with M. Champion as her guide, looked as though she would have made the most delightful of partners in the dance.

The official opening was in the morning, and was attended by the committees, jury, commissaires and exhibitors, and the press. In the afternoon the place was thrown open to the public, and they came in large numbers, mostly via the long queue which had formed hours before. The now familiar attraction of the special exhibition stamp had weaned the gambling ladies from the Casino, and the gouty gentry from the Therapeuthingummy institutions. At one time I noticed a small group of picturesque Tziganes, temporarily released from a restaurant orchestra, patiently waiting their turn to pass the guichet and claim their set of stamps. It was a very orderly queue, policed and arranged admirably, and at no time was it allowed to interfere with the passing in and out of the more serious philatelic visitors.

The exhibition has been extremely well planned and organised, and the fullest credit is due to M. Theodore Champion, as the general organiser, and to Madame Louise Bouzonnet, who has proved herself a magnificent general secretary. The construction of the frames leaves nothing to be desired. All daylight ,was shut out, for this Riviera sun, which is burning my hand as I write, would otherwise be doing terrible damage to stamps, of which the total value is somewhere in the neighbourhood of 40 millions of francs. When I arrived, the Palais de Beaux Arts was being used for the movies, and from cinema darkness it was transformed into a blaze of light, 50,000 candle power being added to the internal lighting arrangements for the occasion. The extra lights were bracketed directly over the stamp frames, and every exhibit was equally well lighted. All the corridors and gangways were patrolled by the picturesque gendarmerie and by glittering helmeted firemen. Although not especially noticeable, there were men about who gradually became familiar, seeing them daily, but being in plain clothes, these officers of the sureté added no colour to the scene.

It has been a cinematographic week for Philately. The arrival of the Princess, her progress through the exhibition, her meeting the judges, and the other interesting events, such as the international congress of the philatelic press, have all been recorded for the cinema, and to-night, in the music room of the Palais de Beaux Arts, we are to go and see ourselves reproduced upon the screen. That may or may not prove amusing, but an additional item on the programme is the presentation of what is claimed to be the first really philatelic film drama, with French cinema stars in the cast. It is to be a dramatic comedy entitled "Sa Petite," by E. Routier-Fabre, with Maurice de Féraudy of the Comédie Francaise, Harriet Fowler, Joë Hamman, and Francette in the chief parts.

Of the exhibition proper, I hope to give a full account in due course. It is wonderfully rich in rarities, for philatelic giants like Arthur Hind, Theodore Champion, A. F. Lichtenstein, Maurice Burrus, R. F. A. Riesco, M. van Gelder, have all brought or sent of their best. The rarities class is particularly strong. There are more "Post Office" Mauritius than have ever been seen together, but more impressive still is the number of Hawaiian Missionaries, British Guiana circulars (with some glorious cut-square copies), and the first Réunions, which are to France what the first Mauritius are to us.

There are some 340 entries in the competitive classes, 280 of them in the stamp division, and the balance in the literature class.—Stamp Collectors Fortnightly.

Fletcher Cog-Wheel Punch

A patent paper upon which about 10,000 United States 1c and 3c stamps of the re-engraved issue of 1882 were printed for experimental purposes. This paper consisted of two layers. The upper (and thinner) layer upon which the stamps were printed, was punched with eight U-shaped cuts, the ends of the "U" facing towards the centre. The idea was that when the stamps were obliterated part of the cancellation ink would penetrate through the cuts onto the backing of thicker paper, and that any attempt at cleaning would simply result in the mutilation of the specimens.

MANAGING EDITOR.

A Junior Item

Benj. Lyons sends us a clipping that we cannot use, but we appreciate his favor. Master Lyons is a junior of thirteen years and resides at 208 Westcourt Ave., Norwalk, Conn. He would like to correspond and trade stamps with someone about his age. He contributed to our last Brain Teasers Contest and wants to know when the next will be conducted. Our reply is, "Right away."

From Father to Son

Something like twenty years ago the Editor learned that Anthony Fiala, on an expeditionary force to the North Pole used a postage stamp between two of the camps he had established in the Arctic region. We wrote Mr. Fiala, and he was kind enough to send a specimen of the stamp, which we picture below. The "F. J." is for Franz Josef Land, a group of islands north of Russia.

The reason we print the above is because we have just been favored by Charles Curie of New York City, with a five-year subscription to the WEEKLY for Anthony Fiala, Jr., who resides in Brooklyn, N. Y. This is an interesting coincidence in connection with our work on the WEEKLY.

Values Explained

Groschen.—A coin in general use in Brunswick, Hanover, Oldenburg, the North German Confederation, and Germany until 1874. A groschen was the thirtieth part of a thaler, and was equal to about 2½c in American money.

Grosh.—The unit of value in the newly constituted territory of Albania. The grosh is divided into 40 paras and is equivalent to about 5c in United States currency. It is the same as the Turkish piastre which is known in Turkish as "grush."

Grosion.—The value in which several of the stamps issued in Crete in 1899 by the Russians in their "sphere of administration" were expressed. The grosion was composed of 4 metallik, and it had a value of about 18c in American money.

Grote.—The value in which some of the stamps of the German state of Bremen were expressed. A grote was equal to about 1c in United States currency.

Some Explanations

Peni.—The Tongan equivalent of "penny" as shown upon many of the stamps of that British Protectorate.

Peni-e-taha, Etc.—The value in Tongan expressed on the stamps of Tonga. The word "PENI" is of course the same as the English word "penny." The last words express the numerals, as follows:—1, taha; 2, ua; 2½, ua mo koga; 3, tolu; 4 fa; 5, nima; 6, ono; 7½, fitu mo koga; 8, valu; 10, hogofulu.

Penmarked.—Stamps that have been fiscally used and cancelled with pen and ink are usually known as penmarked in contradistinction to stamps that have been used in payment of postage and obliterated by the same means. (See also "pen cancellation.")

Penni.—(plural "pennia")—The value in which most of the stamps of Finland are expressed. A hundred pennia are equal to a mark, and five of them are the equivalent of an American cent.

JUNIOR STAMP STUDIES

MISSIONARIES
1851, 2, 5 and 13c

The first American missionaries arrived in Hawaii in 1820, and were the pioneers of a class which has done a wonderful work in Christianizing and civilizing the native population. To them is due the introduction of the printing press in 1822, the publication of native newspapers in 1834, the establishment of the first newspaper in English in 1836, and the introduction of postage stamps in 1851. It is thus that the first Hawaiian stamps have come to be known as "Missionaries," because not only was their inception due to this community, but they were local productions, made in Honolulu probably at the office of one of the two papers which were then published there, the Sandwich Island Gazette and the Polynesian.

These first stamps were of three values, 2c for newspapers, 5c for letters per half ounce, and 13c for letters to the U. S. This latter value was made up of 5c, the local rate, plus 2c, the ship rate or charge for conveyance to San Francisco, plus 6c, the U. S. postage.

These stamps were issued on October 1, 1851. They are type set and printed in pale blue upon a very thin and slightly bluish wove paper. The manner of printing was in pairs upon horizontal strips of paper.

About November, 1852, the 13 cent stamp was modified to read "H. I. & U. S." at the top instead of "Hawaiian," and the "dice" ornament was substituted for two loops after the numerals.

Aguinaldo Stamps

A series of labels issued by the Revolutionary Government in the Philippines under the leadership of Aguinaldo in 1898. They are, of course, locals, and though it has been asserted that they were of an entirely speculative character it seems more probable that they were issued for legitimate postal purposes and were undoubtedly used in the territory occupied by the revolutionaries until the Aguinaldo government was finally suppressed by the Americans.

Samoa

The Samoa or Navigator's Islands are a group in the western Pacific, comprising nine islands and numerous rocks and islets. In 1899 Upolu and Savaii were taken by Germany and the rest of the group by the United States. Postage stamps were first issued by the Samoan government in 1877, but since the partition of 1899, ordinary United States stamps have been used in those islands belonging to Uncle Sam. In the two other islands the usual stamps of the German colonial type were issued until they surrendered to the New Zealand Expeditionary force on August 29, 1914. The captured German stamps were suitably overprinted with "G. R. I." and values in English currency and the permanent issue now in use consists of the contemporary stamps of New Zealand overprinted "SAMOA."

Bits of News

Pelure Paper.—A very thin tr parent paper on which stamps have casionally been printed. It is as th ordinary tissue paper, but much ha and tougher.

Pen.—A contraction for "penni "pennia" shown upon many of the st of Finland.

Penalty Envelopes.—Envelopes for carrying departmental mail in United States since special adh stamps were abolished. They are called from the fact that on the fa each is printed a warning against use for private mail with a stateme the penalty to be enforced in cas such illegal use.

Pen Cancellation.—The early st of some countries were usually canc either by writing the name of the of posting across them or merely n ing them with a few pen strokes. was the usual method of cancellati the Colombian republic until about These are, of course, proper postal cellations and stamps so obliterated not be confused with those used for enue purposes.

St. Anthony Issue

A set of pictorial stamps issue Portugal in 1895 to commemorat 700th anniversary of the birth o Anthony of Padua.

Double Paper

A patent paper invented by Mr. C F. Steel, who is better known as t ventor of the "grille" embossing a to certain United States stamps be 1867 and 1873. This paper consist two layers, a thin surface paper a thick backing paper. This paper was posed to be an absolute safeguard a cleaning, for any attempt to remov cancellation would, it was averred, in the removal of the top layer of on which the design was printe number of the stamps of the U States printed by the Continental Note Co., were printed on this pape perimentally, but the plan met with favor and was abandoned.

For the Junior

Salonicco.—The Italian renderi Salonica as shown overprinted upo stamps issued for use at the con post office there.

Salonique.—The French form Salonica as overprinted on the R stamps issued at the Russian office tained in that city.

Salung.—The value in which o the stamps of the 1883 issue of Si expressed. A salung was the quart a tical and had a value of about American money.

Salus Populi Suprema Lex Es The Latin motto shown upon the masters' stamps of St. Louis. It motto of the State of Missouri means "Let the people's safety be supreme law."

ual had happened in the way of new ips. Collectors could and did assume the First Republic stamps remained nuously in use. Other catalogues wed the same procedure, making the osition apparently correct. It will be that such was not the case, with ble exceptions of the Districts of cow (now the Capitol). Leningrad Odessa.

hich stamps then carried the Russian s during this period of internal ?

er since the entrance of Russia into World War and helped by Revolu- ry conditions, the financial structure ie nation had been toppling. In 1919, opeck proved worthless and the ru- rumbling at top speed. Nor did any stamp issues or general provisionals ar which would reflect the rapid de- ation of the national currency.

ie combatant countries of the World such as Germany, Austria and 's during their financial difficulties stood bravely behind their postage ps, either by the issuance of in- ed permanent values or by making al surcharged provisionals or by The depths to which their money descended were less of importance the impairment of their mail ces.

ssia faced entirely different condi- no organized or powerful govern- existed, the various states, districts cities had been cut off from com- cations and supplies—truly Revolu- ry characteristics. The matter of ge stamps and their currency ad- ents became a local rather than a nal question. The First Republic ps remained in the postal stocks of nany post offices throughout the en- country. They were in their original based upon the pre-War value of uble. The problems confronting the us postmasters without the time and s to print new stamps, involved aintenance of the domestic and for- mail services and to have suitable ps to conform with an ever fluctu- money exchange. It also became a to conserve their old postal stocks in certain localities where the quantities and values were limited. But one solution presented itself under these circumstances that was to alter or change the original face values into current values of the Bolshevist money and so run the mails the best way possible. Any other method would have resulted in a complete exhaustion of all stamps within a short time.

The chance of letters, commercial correspondence and other classes of mail being delivered to their destinations became doubtful and remote. The interceptance of mail can be considered as an early military duty. Censorship allowed a small percentage to carry. A noticeable reduction of all correspondence did not lessen the grave postal situation when no possibility of getting additional postal supplies presented itself. At different times and localities, the postmasters surcharged their old stamps into current provisionals, rightly named Revolutionary surcharges—either by the means of rubber handstamps, metallic type or handwritten. The latter class, pen marked provisionals, were as legitimate as the other two in their existence and usage. However, philately does not take kindly to these personal surcharges owing to the art of forgery being perfected to a high degree. The greatest number of handwritten surcharges have been banned as a result, and in this article no consideration will be given to them whatsoever.

The practice of affixing the proper amount of postage only on letters presented at the post office conserved the stamps in certain localities and also guarded against postage discrepancies. An abundant number of postal money orders issued within the Revolutionary era showed a great effort must have been made by those who tried to divert at least some portion of their dwindling fortunes. It is due to them that much official and philatelic data has been saved thereby substantiating the existence of legitimate provisionals. Philately became badly neglected in such turbulent times of financial straits and civil warfare. The world at large hardly knew what was going on in Russia, and philately practically ceased. No new issues, revolutionary surcharges, had been chronicled at the time. The largest number of these Bolshevist provisionals had either been destroyed or lost. If no state of war existed a certain percentage of mail, and incidentally stamps, would have passed out of the philatelic field anyway. The actual percentage of these Revolutionary provisionals, or in fact any other stamps, saved to philately is beyond human ability to learn. The most reliable sources as to relative scarcities of the individual provisionals either in unused or used state must come from those persons who know the postal and economic conditions of the particular country, or those who have handled and saved the stamps.

UNITED STATES ISSUES
Postage and Revenues

When you are in the market for United States stamps, or as a matter of fact, the stamps of any other country, it is to your advantage to purchase from one who makes a specialty of that country, or group of countries. We are now reaching a point where the number of stamps issued are so numerous that no one, no matter how studious, can be posted on the stamps of every country. The professional who specializes in his dealings is able to present to his client a guarantee that means something. Then, too, when you are looking for the numerous dies and types, it is advisable to purchase from one who has made a detailed study of the subject, so that when you place such a stamp in your collection, you can be assured of having the exact variety that you think you are buying. It is also to your advantage to purchase rare stamps from a responsible dealer, one who has the financial responsibility to stand back of everything that he sells.

It has been my great pleasure to aid in building the foremost collections of United States stamps now in existence, and it is always a pleasure to hear from new clients, who are looking for the odd or unusual. My stock of United States issues is among the finest in existence, and detailed want lists calling for either the rarer or moderate priced stamps will be given my personal attention.

During the last several weeks, it has been my good fortune to acquire quite a few unusual pieces. Do items of this type interest you?

Iceland

—The Country With the Uninviting Name

By T. E. JONSSON.

There is hardly a country saddled with a more uninviting name than Iceland. It is a name suggestive of a perpetual arctic winter, and an unending expanse of ice. How little this accords with the facts, will become clear to those who read the history of Iceland, if they are not already aware of it. Many readers will doubtless find themselves asking the question: "How was it that the country came to be called by this Chilly name?" An insignificant accident, will be the reply. When the Norwegian viking Floki Vilgardarson, after having spent the winter 865-66 on the northern shore of Breidafjördur, in the early spring climbed the nearest mountain and spied northward, he looked down into a fjord "full of polar ice." For this reason he called the land Iceland (Island). No doubt Floki found a grim satisfaction in giving the country an ill-sounding name, for he was in a sour mood after having, through his own negligence, lost all his cattle during the winter, and after his return to Norway he did his best to defame the newly discovered island, which, however, was destined to become his future home in spite of his defamations.

United States

Washington Notes

The Postmaster General has just returned from his trip South, but until he gets around to attending to routine matters, the Valley Forge proposition will not be given serious consideration. It is to be hoped, however, that it will receive his favorable approval before the end of March, so that the stamp will be available around the middle of May.

I have been informed that the Department has communicated with the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, and has advised that they are not in favor of the series of the Lindbergh stamps in view of the fact that they have already honored Lindbergh with a special variety, and that at the present time they have no funds available for the purpose. It will be recalled that the House Bill carried no appropriation. It is to be regretted that they are taking this attitude, for such a series would be well received by the general public.

I am further informed that on the special flight, which Colonel Lindbergh made between St. Louis and Chicago, that he carried some few letters, which were not only autographed by himself, but by the Postmaster General as well.

Air Mail Notes

Mr. Charles E. Jandrue, Jr., kindly sends an air mail cover from Boston, bearing the normal Boston air mail postmark dated March 1, 1928, in addition to a special rectangular shaped marking applied in dark blue-black reading—"Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Honorary Guests of the National Education Ass'n, Boston, Mass., March 1, 1928. Air Mail CAM No. 1."

Mr. Jandrue also sends an air mail cover from Ashland, Ky., carried on February 29th. A similar Detroit cover comes from Mr. Herman W. Boers, who also encloses an envelope bearing postmark of the previous leap-year day of February 29th.

Mr. E. P. Gibson kindly favors me with a cover from Grand Rapids on this special day.

Postmaster General New announced on February 29th, that "He will immediately call for bids for three additional air mail routes returnable within sixty days of the date of issuance of invitations.

The first of these will run from Chicago to Atlanta, via Terre Haute and Evansville, Indiana, Nashville and Chattanooga, Tennessee, with a spur from Evansville to St. Louis, giving the latter city a connection with Atlanta, and later with Florida and Cuba. This route will run on night schedule with planes leaving Chicago, southbound, and Atlanta, northbound, at 8.30 p. m., with a view to arriving at the terminus early the following morning. It will give to Chicago a connection with the southeast and also with New Orleans by way of Atlanta and vice versa.

The second route for which bids are to be asked will extend from St. Louis to Kansas City, Missouri, with Texas to southwestern points and later with the projected line to Mexico City. The schedule, however, will not synchronize with the Evansville route.

The third proposed route will cover the state of Michigan like a blanket, running from Chicago to Kalamazoo, Michigan, via South Bend, Indiana; to Bay City, via Lansing, Flint, and Saginaw, with spurs branching out from Kalamazoo to Pontiac, via Battle Creek, Jackson, Ann Harbor, and Detroit, and to Muskegon, via Grand Rapids."

Canal Zone

Mr. Harry E. Huber advises that the 2c perforated 11x10½ Rotary, overprinted—"Canal Zone," was issued on June 28, 1927. In my recent Chronicle, statement was made that I was under the impression that it had been issued towards the end of the year, which I now learn is an error.

Philippines

Mr. Walter Bruggmann, as well as Mr. Eugene Klein, have shown me pairs of the current 2c Philippine, taken from a side-wise coil. These are perforated 11 vertically, and imperforated horizo and are printed from the flat bed in a light green. Mr. Bruggmann that they are sold in pairs a centavos per pair, by automatic ma located at the Plaza Lunch in M Mr. Bruggmann's letter is dated J ary first, and as he always pr advises of any new issues, I am un impression that the stamp was pla sale around that time. If these coiled at Washington, it neces their going back to the old meth coiling flat plate stamps. The marg the top and bottom are too large t been privately cut apart fro perforated sheet.

Forthcoming Issues.—The lat sue of the Crown Agent's Bulleti not offer us many novelties, though of the items listed last time as "(der" have now been despatched Colonies concerned, and may be ex to be issued shortly.

Malta.—The colour of the curr is to be changed to light brown, an of the 1½d to red.

DINNER TO GEORGE B. GRAHAM

By R. C. FISHER, M.D.

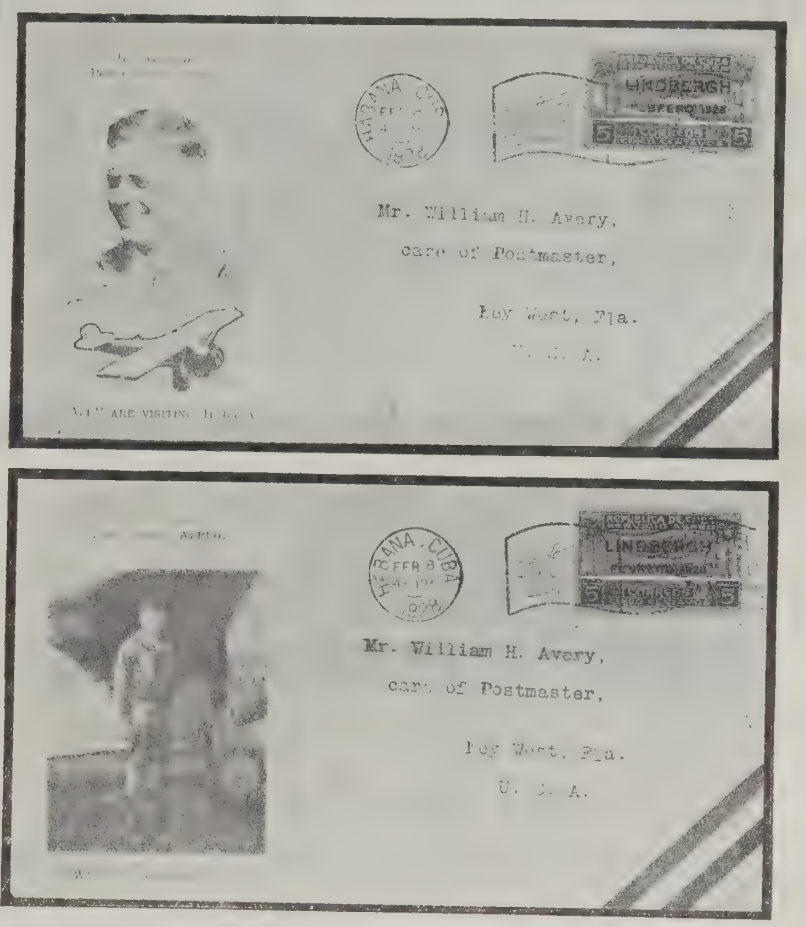
On February 24, the Buffalo (N. Y.) Stamp Club gave a testimonial dinner to George B. Graham, one of the oldest members of the Buffalo Club, and during all his life a general collector.

The dinner was served at the Elks' Club, and Mr. Graham was presented with a beautiful book in which each member had written words of friendship. Mr. Graham was very much surprised and almost speechless, but did say that it was one of the happiest moments of his life.

Frank Sleght acted as toastmaster, and short talks were made by Pres. Storer, Adolph Steeg, Harry Flierl, Ted Gundlach, John Schaeffer, and John Hall. Letters and telegrams of greeting were received from various persons.

Following the dinner an auction sale was held, and also a stamp bourse. Altogether an enjoyable evening was added to Buffalo's long list of successful stamp affairs. At the top of the menu card was a picture of the new Buffalo Club emblem, designed by Mrs. Sleght.

LINDBERGH SPECIAL



First Flight covers, same as above illustrations, either type, each $1.00
(Please state style of cover desired, bust or full body.)

If both covers are ordered at the same time, your letter will be franked with a block of four of the current Airmail stamps, or will be sent registered, franked with Pan American Commemoratives. (Please state preference.)

Covers were cancelled on the exact hour of the landing of Colonel Lindbergh in Habana (4 p. m. Feb. 8th), were carried within the hour by plane to Key West, and are backstamped at 6.30 P. M., same day, at the Aviation Field P. O., Key West, Fla. These covers are most unusual documents of the great flight our national hero just completed; without any doubt they are so full of interesting features as to be above all competition.

I can supply these covers autographed by Mr. Masvidal, Administrator of Posts at Habana, Cuba, without extra charge, if desired. (Please state.)

TIDBITS:—

WE have already advised our readers that the 5c Cuba Lindbergh has appeared in a double overprint which has been faked. We are now informed that the Costa Rica overprint is being forged. If any reader can give us detailed information that will be of help to our readers in detecting these forgeries we shall be glad to print the same.

THE Philatelic Club of Los Angeles has issued a very nice booklet giving the particulars of organization and membership list. It is an indication of the marked prosperity that this club is achieving.

H. A. REUTER, A. P. S. 7441, of Fullerton, Cal., has taken a block of fifty lines of adlet space, and will be heard from regularly hereafter. We call attention to his special line of approvals advertised in this issue.

WE have received a clipping from the Panama Star and Herald sent by Emil J. Rall. It gives the particulars of the destruction of the dies used in making the Lindbergh stamps. The clipping states that the demand for these stamps is so great that in less than two months after issue they were re-sold at three times their face value.

BELA SEKULA, Lucerne, Switzerland, has a number of copies of the book entitled "Short Description of the Collection of Essays of Mr. Shroeder." The book is cloth-bound and has seventy-two pages of artistic photographs. Anyone interested in this collection of Martin Schroder should write Mr. Sekula.

THE firm of Arthur Barger and Co. offer this week a very interesting historical souvenir cover. Look up the advertisement.

WE have received from Arnold J. Bauer, Wabasso, Minn., a clipping from the Minneapolis Journal of March 4. It deals with German stamps, and especially the varieties issued under the new Republic.

AIRMAIL Route No. 21, Waco, Texas, went into commission March 5, 1928, and a cover showing the inauguration of this airmail service has been received from A. E. Gorham. The cancellation is in purple on a design oblong octagonal in shape, and in the center is a winged circle.

WE have received greetings from the Monaco Philatelic Exhibition under date of February 24. We are indebted to Frank E. Wilson of the W. T. Wilson firm, Birmingham, England, for this courtesy. The postmark is a special cancellation appropriate to the Exhibition. On the reverse side is a handsome view of Monte Carlo and Monaco.

GREETINGS are at hand from Otto Weismann who is at Menton, on the shores of the Mediterranean. Mr. Weismann writes:—"Fine weather over here. In Holland terrible storms."

R. C. HACKETT sends us some clippings from local papers dealing with the very successful stamp exhibit recently held by the Bosse High School of Evansville, Ind. Mr. Hackett sends us a complete list of the prize winners, and it is a very extensive one. Henry A. Meyer was judge of the exhibit.

OUR friend Herman W. Boers is remembering his friends with covers bearing the leap year date of Feb. 29. Acting upon his suggestion, Postmaster Conklin of Springfield, Ill., got out a special letter calling the attention of stamp collectors to the philatelic interest attached to covers bearing this date.

HERBERT G. AHREND sends us a couple of clippings from New York papers that we acknowledge with thanks. Mr. Ahrend urges the publication of advance notices of first airmail flights. The reason why we have been unable to do that in the past has been because the flights take place so soon after announcement has been made to the public. We shall always publish news of this kind when possible, and Mr. Ward's department can be counted upon to give desired information.

WE are indebted to C. E. Jandel for a cover that is of more ordinary interest. It is postmarked land, Ky., Feb. 29, 1928, and was patched by airmail from Cleveland to New York.

AIR MAIL NOTES

By C. A. CARROLL.

Your readers will probably b ested in the following extract of just received from the U. S. C charge at Mexico City:

"The plans for the establishme Mexican Air Mail are still rath lous, although the Postmaster has announced that he hopes to rate the service about May 5. N are yet available for this service, it is reported that certain Brist due shortly to arrive from Engl be utilized. It is further repor the air mail surcharge will be (approximately 50 cents Ameri rency), this to be paid in additi first class mail postal charge of vos for each 20 grams or fracti mail stamps are said now to be ration, but none of them have, s this office is able to ascertain, bee on sale."

According to a Washington to the Atlanta Constitution, dat ruary 28, the New York-Atlanta will begin in six weeks or two This is a further postponement route, which originally was ar to begin in October, and which delayed from month to mon latest information, prior to the r the above news, was to the eff the Pitcairn fliers would start te on March 1.

The Atlanta-Miami route opera been definitely postponed until The Atlanta-New Orleans route delayed for some months, probab government surveyors only beg during the latter part of towards locating emergency fields. It is probable that th route will be rushed to completi ever, in view of the announced ment intention to route the Mex mail service via Atlanta an Orleans.

Your catalogue will give you the approximate price, although no printed volume can be strictly up-to-the-minute in this particular.

Fourth—and most important—Get Started Now! Build up an Air Mail cover collection and enjoy all the thrills. This spring, about April 1st, the New York to Atlantic flights will take place, followed by the Atlanta-Key West and Atlanta-New Orleans routes. Several more new ones are scheduled to open during the coming summer and fall. Possibly the New York to Mexico City route will be opend. Get in on these flights. Have a Hobby that is a Hobby!

In the foregoing no mention has been made of the possibilities of Air Mail cover collecting from a financial standpoint. No hobby should have its foundation laid on a monetary basis. To do so, takes off the keen edge of the enjoyment of collecting. However, it sometimes becomes necessary to sell or buy covers to complete a set, or flight. It is then that the price question arises. As previously stated, you can make your Air Mail collection one of intense interest at a very small cost. The Common covers of today will become the sought after ones of tomorrow. As an example of how prices are increasing, I will give you one or two instances of how a small expenditure on postage has grown to an investment of considerable size.

On April 15, 1926, Contract Air Mail Route No. 2,—Chicago to St. Louis and return, stopping at Peoria and Springfield—went into operation. Postage on these covers cost 12c. Today they sell for from $1.00 to $5.00 per cover! The fact that Col. Lindbergh carried the first load of mail out of Chicago has considerable bearing on these prices.

On Feb. 1, 1927, the rate of Air Mail postage was reduced to 10c per half ounce, irrespective of destination in this country. Covers carried on this date, bearing unofficial cancellations of various cities on the older Air Mail routes, are selling for from 70c to $2.00.

Among the higher priced items, a cover—in this instance a card—carried by Miss Ruth Law on April 4, 1919—nine years ago—at Manila, and bearing special cancellations is quoted at $150.00!

The covers carried by Com. R. E. Byrd, 100 in number, when he made his flight to the North Pole in 1926—and autographed by the Commander, are bringing $75.00. Bet you never knew he even carried letters!

R. I. PHILATELISTS MEET

By C. G. BARTLETT, JR.

The 43rd annual meeting and banquet of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society was held February 21, at the Westminster Tea Room, Providence.

Thirty-eight members were present, among them being Messrs. C. A. Howes and B. L. Drew of Boston, and A. B. Slater of Bridgeport, Conn. Charles J. Phillips, of New York City, was the speaker of the evening, his subject being "Recent Studies in United States Department Stamps. A Selection of New Discoveries, Unchronicled Varieties, and Interesting Cancellations."

Mr. Phillips gave a fine talk and illustrated the same by several volumes of his Department stamps. The sheets were removed from the covers and passed around the tables in rotation, which gave everyone a fine chance to examine the various items closely while the speaker was talking about them.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Albert W. Claflin; Vice-President, A. L. Potter, M.D.; Sec'y-Treas., C. G. Bartlett, Jr.; Librarian, Henry R. Chace, and Exchange Manager, Carl A. Sylvander.

The following committees were appointed by President Claflin: Appraisal, Judge Robert S. Emerson, chairman, E. Tudor Gross, Frank M. Mason. Auction, L. E. Richardson, chairman, W. H. Colwell, W. C. Winsor. Entertainment, Edgar McCrillis, chairman, L. E. Richardson, W. H. Butterfield. Executive, Stephen A. Welch, M.D., chairman, Wm. F. Goerner, W. H. Congdon. Membership, A. R. Perry, chairman, Horace M. Grant, Joseph W. Lewis. Publicity, Wilmarth Holt Colwell, chairman, B. C. Bussey, A. R. Perry. Official Auctioneers, Dr. Robert F. Chambers, E. Tudor Gross, Joseph W. Lewis, L. E. Richardson.

The Society meets twice monthly, on the first and third Tuesdays, at 110 South Main Street, Providence, R. I. The "regular" meetings are held on the third Tuesdays.

MICHIGAN STAMP CLUB

By HERMAN W. BOERS.

Harry Carter has been elected president of the Michigan Stamp Club. The meeting was held March 3, and the following were chosen officers for 1928:—President, Harry Carter; Vice President, Charles C. Keller; Secretary, Alex. Livingtone; Treasurer, H. H. Hartwell; Trustees, Dr. H. Preston Hoskins, L. A. White, Lester Lodge; and Publicity Director, Herman W. Boers.

This club now has over one hundred and fifty active members, and meets the first and third Saturdays of the month, in G. A. R. Building, Cass & Grand River, Detroit, Mich. Collectors wherever they may reside, who are visiting Detroit, are urged to attend the meetings of the club.

PLUMRIDGE SALE

Special attention is called to the Plumridge auction sale of April 11, 12 and 13. It occupies such a prominent place that we do not deem it necessary to go into details. Mail your order for a catalog today, as time is short.

EDWARD LOCHER

TEGNA near LOCARNO, Switzerland

BR. COLUMBIA AND VANCOUVER IDS.

By CHARLES J. PHILLIPS.

Through the researches of Henry C. Hitt we now have available the number of stamps printed and very much new data on these interesting issues.

Mr. Hitt will shortly issue his work in a fine monograph which will be published by the Collectors Club, New York.

	Printed.	Cheapest Cat. Price
VANCOUVER ISLAND
5c Imperf. and Perf.,	114,000	$15.00
10c Imperf. and Perf.,	111,360	12.50
BRITISH COLUMBIA
2½d Imperf. and Perf.,	235,440	12.50
3d deep blue,	111,360	——
3d light blue,	1,063,440	2.00
2c on 3d brown,	2,115,600	2.50
Perf. 12½, 5c on 3d bright red,	4,800	20.00
" 10c on 3d red lilac,	4,800	25.00
" 25c on 3d orange,	4,800	15.00
" 50c on 3d violet,	4,800	20.00
" $1 on 3d green,	4,800	30.00
Perf. 14, 5c on 3d red,	244,320	7.50
" 10c on 3d red-lilac,	241,920	30.00
" 25c on 3d orange,	475,280	5.00
" 50c on 3d violet,	571,760	15.00
" $1 on 3d green,	117,600	40.00

The perf. 12½ were all issued and there are no unused remainders. Of the perf. 14, the 10c, and $1 are not found used and it is almost certain that they were not issued. A certain number of 5c and 25c were issued and used, but the great bulk of all these values were destroyed as remainders in 1871. Only a few copies of the 50c are known used.

Although all the "remainders" in the Colony were destroyed over fifty years ago, yet there were some small lots of stamps kept as samples by the Crown Agents for the Colonies in London, and it is believed that there was a leakage from this source between 1897 and 1900. (See article in the Monthly Journal, Jan. 31, 1900, by C. J. Phillips.)

The stamps that then appeared were:—

2½d imperf., under 50 copies.
Perf. 14, 10c red lilac, " $1 green, } I believe between 50
Perf. 12½, $1 green, } and 75 of each.

A few years later on most other values perf. 14 turned up in small blocks, I think from the "Haslett" stock secured by Mr. H. Griebert.

The above numbers offer no clue to the relative rarity of the Imperf. stamps as there are no records published of the numbers issued or used.

The 5c Imperf. is really rare, as rare as many stamps quoted much higher, and both unused and used prices should advance considerably.

The 10c Imperf. is, I think, priced about right.

The 2½d perf. I find rather plentiful, more so than the printed numbers indicate. I think unused are not worth over $10.00, but used, owing to the demand for the many different cancellations sell well at full catalogue and over.

The 3d and the 2c on 3d are priced quite high enough, in fact the 2c might be reduced.

Now we come to the set Perf. 12½. For some years I have known how rare these are and I have been trying to get a stock together, but with very poor results. All catalogues vary the prices of the different values, but I am almost sure I have seen nearly as many 10c and $1 as I have of the 5c, 25c and 50c in the past four years. Every value of this set can well go to $50.00 and will not then be priced at their real relative value.

As regards the set perf. 14, it is difficult to say anything until we have Mr. Hitt's work and learn what numbers were used and destroyed. Judging by the numbers I have seen of recent years, the 5c, 25c and 50c seem priced about right unused, but the 50c used, should not be priced as only 3 or 4 copies have been found.

The 10c and the $1 are both really rare and I think are worth $40.00 and $50.00 respectively.

The huge number of precancelled stamps of the United States has led collectors seeking a less bulky field of precancel-collecting to work on other countries. Belgium, whose precancellations were obviously imitated in the early types of U. S., offers to the collector a field for interesting study without the difficulties inherent in handling an immense bulk of material. This article is in no sense intended as either a survey of Belgian precancels or an authoritative study, but purely as a preliminary record of the general outlines of the situation. Doubtless errors of fact and of interpretation will be found in it.

The ground must first be cleared of one misapprehension. From the 2 centimes of 1869-70, Scott No. 29, onwards and including the 3 centimes, No. 147, now current, Belgian stamps of the lower values are found with a cancellation consisting of two parallel bars connected by diamonds, with dots in the middle of diamonds and half-diamonds. Mr. Charles Metz, in his list of Belgian precancel types published in The Stampet last year, calls this the "General Bar Type" of precancel. Mr. J. M. Bartels has been quoted to me as authority for this not being a precancel at all, but a railway cancellation. This type, shown in my Fig. 1, must therefore be excluded from Belgian precancels until we have evidence that it should be included.

The definitely recognizable precancels begin with the year 1894. The style of cancellation then begun has been substantially adhered to ever since, but with much variation. Each variation is, of course, to be considered a type; and we therefore can list an array of types exactly as has been done for U. S. precancels. All Belgian precancels that I have seen bear both the place, name and the year: it will be obvious that this dating was imitated in the earlier U. S. precancels. All Belgian precancellations are enclosed in a rectangular frame: this also was imitated in the U. S. sporadically.

At the start, and for some years thereafter, all precancellation appears to have been done by some sort of hand-printing: somewhere it has recently been recorded that this was done with a roller.

In the first years of precancels, 1894, two types appear, much alike, but differing in size and style of the figures of date. Otherwise, the two types are identical. The rectangle enclosing the cancellation is 19 by 14mm, and has been kept this size through all the succeeding years and types of cancellation. The date is given in full, and the place-name in French only.

The first two types may thus be described:

Type 1: Place-name 2.9mm high: in French only: in one line.

Date 2.9mm high: full date: 4 closed at top; 5 wide spaced below top bar; 9 narrow.

Type 2: Place-name 2.9mm high: in French only: in one line.

Date 2.2mm high: full date; 4 open at top; 5 narrow spaced below top bar; 9 wide.

The dimensions are only approximate, and vary up to 2/10mm above and below the measurements given.

The earlier precancels come upon the 1c gray, No. 60, and the 2c red-brown, No. 77. I have not yet seen any on 62, 2c violet-brown, though Mr. Metz lists it on this stamp. 1899 is the earliest year from which I have as yet seen any except the 1c, No. 60, precancelled.

WANTED

To keep up our stock of Twentieth Century U. S., we must be continually buying these stamps. We solicit offers of anything in wholesale lots or collections, sheets, complete coils, commemorative issues used and unused, and in fact anything except the very cheap used stamps. We cannot use damaged stamps or mixed lots of very cheap stamps except by the pound.

Our latest U. S. list (III Edition 1928) now ready. We believe this to be the best U. S. list available. Prices are based on actual stock.

We have a few complete coils of the 5c perf. 8½, #396, which we can offer to dealers or speculators at a reasonable figure—price per coil or per 100 on application.

25th Anniversary Announcement

BOSTON

This fine old city is noted philatelically for the unusual variety of interesting postmarks and cancellations used in its Post Office during the first half century of the stamp era.

A collection of stamps and covers showing these Post Office markings in the sequence of their use forms an historical exhibit of great philatelic interest.

The postal history of many other of the larger cities can be shown by such collections of stamps and covers but until recent years this most fascinating and important work has been largely neglected and the field is still open to all.

I can supply suitable material used in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, New Orleans, San Francisco, and other cities, both in domestic use and on covers showing "British Packet" and other ship and transit postmarks to many foreign countries. Correspondence invited. [H

509 7th St., N. W., H. A. ROBINETTE (Successor) WASHINGTON, D. C.

In Figs. 2 and 3 I illustrate these two types.

At this point the matter of position of the precancellation on the stamp may conveniently be dealt with. All Belgian precancellations are designed to run lengthwise of the stamp. There is therefore no one "normal" position, but both "up" and "down" are normal. Occasionally the roller is applied along the sheet instead of across it, so that the cancellation is erect on the stamp or inverted. Accordingly, in this article, the term "normal" will be avoided, and "erect" used. This suggestion is passed on to any persons who may be listing Belgian precancels. In the earlier precancels, the more usual position appears to be "down" or reading downwards on the stamp; more recently the proportion of "up" cancellations becomes larger. In any particular year of any type at any one town, there usually is a usual or common position; but it varies from year to year, and sometimes is not the same for different stamps in the same year at any one town.

With 1896—possibly earlier, but not yet known to me—a third type appears. This is the type for branch offices or stations. This, type 3, illustrated in Fig. 4, has the place-name in two lines: the two lines are in different sizes of type; the date is always small as in type 2. As a rule the second line or name of the branch is in brackets. I note that the branch office is most commonly one end of a town, called "Nord," "Sud," etc.; and that occasionally the branch is simply called "Station." There is a chance for some student to discover just what "Station" signifies: I suspect that it means a railway-mail distributing office similar to the Erie Terminal station of Jersey City, N. J. Type 3 precancels offer nothing peculiar and do not appear to me to be scarce. I have seen this type only on the 1c, No. 60.

Description of the type:

Type 3: Place-name in 2 lines, top line 2.2mm high, lower line 1.7mm high: in French only.

Date 2.2mm high: full date, as in type 2.

Even thus early, double precancellings are found. Louvain, 1897, type 1, is the first that I have seen. Nearly all these early precancels are rather scarce on the whole stamp—that is, on the stamp with Sunday tag attached. The precancelling appears to have been done sufficiently carefully so that it is rare to find it overlapping onto the Sunday tag.

In 1900 three new types appear. These are the three hitherto used, but with the date shortened. 1900 becomes 00, 1901 becomes 01, and so forth. Apparently all that has been done is to set a short date, of the same type and style as the full date previously used, into the date-space on the rollers. Fig. 5 shows type 4, which is Type 1 with short date; it is not necessary to illustrate the others. As far as the material I have seen indicates, the short-date types completely superseded the original ones from 1900 onwards, until entirely new types were put in use in 1911.

Descriptions of the types:

Type 4: Short date: otherwise identical with type 1.

Type 5: Short date: otherwise identical with type 2.

Type 6: Short date: otherwise identical with type 3.

1900 is the date of the earliest inverted position precancel that I have seen.

With 1901 a new type appears, much like those in use, but with somewhat taller lettering. It need not be illustrated, as the description will amply identify it.

Type 7: Place-name 3.1 to 3.3mm high; in French only; in one line.

Date 3.3mm high: short date.

The earliest specimen I have seen of a type that probably comes earlier is from Sichem-lez-Diest, 02. This differs from types 3 and 6 in that the place-name, which is always a long one, is divided into two lines, of the same size type. This difference is sometimes obscured by the fact that a more extended or wider type is used on the top line than on the lower one. Otherwise it is strictly usual. Description:

Type 8: Place-name. two lines, 2.1 to 2.2mm high; in French only.

Date 2.2mm high; short date.

Beginning in 1905, a new series of stamps was issued. Nevertheless, the old issue, in the case of the 1c, No. 60, continues to be found precancelled through 1907. The earliest precancel of the new issue that I have seen is the 1c, No. 82, from Ostende (Station), 05, type 6. I have not seen it from 1906. Mr. Metz mentions it as scarce from 1907; but I do not find it so. He further mentions the 2c, No. 62, precancelled 1908, as scarce: of course it is No. 77 that he means, as No. 62 was then long obsolete. I have not yet seen No. 77 later than 1905. No. 83, 2c of the new series, I have not seen earlier than 1909.

With 1906 an innovation appears in the form of precancelling done with a plate in a printing-press instead of by roller. The sharp impression, as well as the shiny black color of the ink, makes it easy to distinguish these new precancels. From 1907 on, the border is usually about as thick as in the bars of U. S. precancels on these plate-cancelled specimens. In the first plate-type introduced, the lettering is not only heavier than in any preceding type, but is also somewhat taller. For convenience, I number the plate types from 21 upwards. In Fig. 6 I illustrate this type, using a 1907 example. Mr. H. S. Ackerman informs me that in Brussels during 1907 there are two forms of figure 7 used in the date: one somewhat straighter in the limb of the 7, and with a less nearly horizontal lower end to that limb than is found in the other. I have not yet seen the two varieties.

Description:

Type 21: Printed.

Heavy type: usually heavy border.

Place-name 3.1 to 3.3mm high; in French only; in one line.

Date 3.2mm high; short date.

With 1911 the largest change in the whole history of Belgian precanc curs. In this year the Flemish lan already found on the stamps alon French, is introduced into the celling. All bilingual precancel right up to the present, have the name in one language above a other below the date. Sometim French and sometimes the Flemish is at the top; there are never two names, but the name of the pl given in both languages. Sometim appears as if there are two places for the French Mons and the F Bergen do not appear to be id Waremme (French) and Bor (Flemish) do not appear to be si yet in this case the pronunciation gives away the similarity. Revert the case of Mons, the French n colloquial form of the French nts," is a literal equivalent of the ning of the Flemish word "bergen" ls)—the name given by the Walloons came thence three hundred years to a village up above the west shore he Hudson River and since extended whole country in New Jersey.

With 1911 we therefore must chronicle roller-types that are bilingual. In e, it will be noted, the full date is re- d. Fig. 7 shows one of them, type escription:

ype 9: Bilingual: place-names 2.2 high, Flemish place-name above ate 2.2mm high: full date.

ype 10: Bilingual: exactly like type ut French place-name above date.

1911 the full date is applied to the le-language roller type; and thence- h we find both the full and the short s in places in which the single-lan- ge precancellation is retained. This efore would give rise to a revival of s 1, 2 and 3—but does not. For are replaced by type 7, with larger ring, and we have a new type:

ype 11: Identical with Type 7, but full date.

Postage Stamps And Their Use As Illustrative Material

The following countries and colonies have issued map stamps: Australia, Canada, Castellorizo, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Mexico, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Paraguay, Reunion, Salvador, Samos, Turkey, United States, Upper Jubaland, and Venezuela. Argentina, Brazil, and Liberia have also issued stamps picturing a globe. The Canadian map stamp is the most ambitious of them all. It was issued in 1898 to commemorate the establishment of Imperial Penny Postage, and contains a map of the whole world, with the British possessions in red, and with the bombastic inscription (from Lewis Morris' patriotic poem) "We Hold a Vaster Empire Than Has Been"—rather reminiscent of the Teutonic superlative, "So Big as Never Was!"

The first United States map stamp was issued in 1904, and shows the Louisiana Purchase shaded on the map of the whole country. A current aeroplane stamp also shows a map of the whole country. Venezuela issued a map series of five values in 1896 to help uphold her contention in the British Guiana boundary dispute.

"Flag stamps" have been issued by the following countries: Castellorizo, Epirus, Liberia, Japan, Panama, Samoa, and the United States.

Many famous buildings and monuments have been pictured on stamps. On the stamps of the United States the following are found: Huguenot Monument, Cape May, Florida; Minute Man Monument at Concord; Statue of Liberty; Capitol, Lincoln Memorial, and the Ericsson Memorial in Washington, and the Arlington Amphitheater.

Among the other famous public buildings and monuments shown on stamps are the following:

Churches and Temples:—Temple of Heaven (China), Temple of Karnak (Egypt), Cathedrals of Cologne and Speyer (Germany), Bucharest (Rumania), Mexico City (Mexico), Guatemala City (Guatemala), St. Peters and St. John Lateran, Rome (Italy), Temple of Light (Siam), Mosque of Kairouan (Tunis), and Mosques of Sultans Achmed and Sulieman (Turkey).

Royal Palaces:—Schoenbrunn and the Hofburg, Vienna (Austria), the Hradschin, Prague (Czechoslovakia), the Kremlin, Moscow (Russia), and the Winter Palace, Leningrad (Russia).

Parliament Buildings:—Buenos Aires (Argentina), Massaouah (Eritrea), Budapest (Hungary), Asuncion (Paraguay), Madrid (Spain), San Salvador (Salvador), and Montevideo (Uruguay).

Castles:—Morro Castle, Havana (Cuba), Rheinstein Castle and the Wartburg (Germany), the Fortress of Sans Souci (Haiti), the Castle of Vianden (Luxemburg), and the "Castle of Europe" on the Bosporus (Turkey).

Monuments and Memorials:—Prehistoric Inca Monument (Bolivia), Statue of Columbus (Cuba), Sphinx and Pyramids (Egypt), Kaiser Wilhelm I Memorial, Berlin (Germany), Prehistoric leaning Maya Monolith (Guatemala), Pyramid of Teotihuacan (Mexico), Tomb of Lenin (Russia), Prehistoric Trilith (Tonga), Obelisk of the Hippodrome (Turkey), and Column of Constantine (Turkey).

Miscellaneous buildings and monuments pictured on postage stamps include:—Cloth Hall of Ypres, Library of Louvain, and the ruins of Termonde (Belgium), Citadel of Cairo (Egypt), Columbus Theater and Wireless Towers (Guatemala), Lighthouse of Vera Cruz (Mexico), Oceanographic Museum (Monaco), City Hall of Saarbruecken (Saar), Ruins of Hadrian's Aqueduct (Tunis), Leander's Tower on the Bosporus (Turkey), The Lions of Tuscany in Florence (Tuscany), and the National Theater of Kiev (Ukraine).

Panoramic views of the following cities are found on stamps:—Danzig (Danzig), Cologne (Germany), Djibouti (Somali Coast), Stockholm (Sweden), Stuttgart, Ulm, Ellwangen, and Tübingen (Wurtemberg).

DEALERS TAKE NOTE
The 1928 season is going to be a great stamp year and, if you are well stocked, you will make good sales.
If you already carry the stamps for the German Empire and Republic, you will undoubtedly want to fill in at this time those items on which you are getting low. If you do not carry them at present, now is the time to put in a stock of them and cash in as the calls come. This country is very popular among collectors at this time.
Our new list, based on Scott's 1928 figures, is now ready for the trade. Prices on a number of items, as you will find, are even below the wholesale price abroad, due to earlier purchases.
No obligation to buy when requesting our lists, but you will want to after you see it. There is a copy awaiting you. Get it today.

age stamps. Among them may be mentioned:

Mountains:—Ararat (Armenia), El Potosi (Bolivia), Roraima (British Guiana), Ida (Crete), Chimborazo (Ecuador), Fujiyama (Japan), Popocatepetl (Mexico), Cook, Pembroke and Ruapehu (New Zealand), The Pitons (St. Lucia), The Mythen and the Jungfrau (Switzerland), and Wellington and Gould (Tasmania). In addition, general views of Alpine and Rocky Mountain scenery are shown on certain Liechtenstein and United States stamps, San Marino shows her famous three peaks on many of her stamps, and some Salvadorean stamps show a volcano in eruption.

Lakes:—Titicaca (Bolivia), Como (Italy), Lucerne (Switzerland), Wakatipu (New Zealand), and Marion and St. Clair (Tasmania).

Harbors:—Antwerp (Belgium), Honolulu (Hawaii), Port Royal (Jamaica), Calicut, India (Portugal), Jamestown (St. Helena), Montevideo (Uruguay), and the Golden Gate of San Francisco (United States).

Waterfalls:—Kaieteur (British Guiana), Llandovery, Wales (Jamaica), Juanacatlan (Mexico), Topsail (Newfoundland), Pink and White Terraces (New Zealand), Russell and Dilston (Tasmania), Niagara (United States), and Victoria (Rhodesia).

Other natural features shown on postage stamps include views of the Hudson and Mississippi rivers (United States), Cape Bonavista (Newfoundland), the island of Momotombo (Nicaragua), a part of the Sahara desert (Anglo-Egyptian Sudan), Milford Sound (New Zealand), the Bosporus (Turkey), the Tasman Arch, a natural bridge (Tasmania), and the Iron Gate of the Danube (Bulgaria). A Newfoundland stamp shows an iceberg. Also a number of views of the Panama Canal, hardly a natural feature, are found on the stamps of Panama. The Sault Ste. Marie is the only other Canal to be seen on stamps, it appearing on the United States Pan-American Commemorative issue of 1901.

In the realm of industry, agriculture, and the extractive industries, the following may be seen on stamps: a steel mill in South Chicago (United States parcel post stamps, 1912); harvesting wheat in the Dakotas and Hungary; lumbering, mining and fishing (Newfoundland); mining and steel manufacturing (Saar); sowing wheat (Russia); plowing (Eritrea); an oil well spouting (Azerbaijan); and gathering salt (Turks and Caicos Islands).

In the fields of communication and transportation the bicycle, motorcycle, automobile, express train, and aeroplane are all found on various stamps of the United States, as well as on those of some other countries. The United States issue of 1869 pictures one of the famous Pony Express Riders. A Mexican special delivery stamp shows a motorcycle with a side car. Ships of all kinds—sailing ships (Portugal, United States, British Guiana, and many others), felucca boats and ancient galleys (Malta), native East Indian and South Pacific boats (Borneo, Fiji Islands, New Zealand, British New Guinea), a yacht (Newfoundland), a steamboat (Congo Free State), Fulton's Clermont, Hudson's Half Moon, and the battleship Maine (United States, the last named on the revenue stamps of 1898), and the German imperial yacht Hohenzollern (stamps of all German colonies) — are featured on postage stamps.

The subjects of animals, birds, fishes, plants, flowers, and fruits as shown on postage stamps are hardly of enough direct historical interest and importance to warrant a discussion of them here.

URUGUAY
ISSUES 1856-1877 ONLY

I have to announce that I have just purchased a well known collection formed in Montevideo, Uruguay, and comprising the classic issues of 1856 to 1877 only. The famous "Diligencia" issue of 1856 is represented by 17 fine copies.

The large "double figures" issue of March, 1858, by the following:—

120c blue	3.00
180c green	8.00
240c vermilion	32.00

Included in this issue are many rare shades, stamps on thick paper and interesting varieties.

1859. Thin figures. A fine lot of all values and some fine unused blocks.

1860-62. Thick figures. Also a fine lot an unusual item being a cover franked with the rare 180c green and a 60c, making the 240c rate to Buenos Aires.

1864. All shades, an outstanding item being a mint block of 4 of the 8c salmon-red on very thick paper.

1866. The surcharged issue is a good lot, including the tete-beche 10c and some rare errors. Also a number of fine used, which are much rarer than catalogued and which sell in Montevideo up to double catalogue prices.

Jan., 1866. Imperf. A grand lot of these interesting stamps, including wonderful mint blocks, such as 5c blue, blocks of the 60, 8 and 4. 10c green, block of 12. Also many of the errors.

In the later issues I draw especial attention to one of the rarest items in Uruguay stamps. The American Bank Note Co. engraved the issue of 1877-79 and made an error in the first printing of the 1 peso blue. The arms in the oval are too small and the quarterings are reversed. This was found out and not issued and most of the stock was destroyed. A few copies are known in great collections, but is one of the great desiderata of advanced collectors.

Approval books of any issue can be sent on demand.

Suffice it to say that many queer exotic animals and plants are fou the stamps of the world. James H ons in his "Natural History as S on Postage Stamps" (Boston, 1916) cusses sixty-six stamps bearing pic of animals, birds, fishes, etc.

Stamps containing an allegorical, bolical, or mythological figure or of arms, are legion, but they too ar usually of direct interest to history.

CEYLON AT THE COLLECTORS CLUB

Reported by Charles J. Phillips.

On March 7, Rear Admiral F. R. Harris displayed his marvellous collection of Ceylon, certainly the finest collection in America, and in my opinion, with the exception of the noted old collection of Mr. Anthony de Worms, the finest that I know. A special attempt has been made to collect all stamps in unused and used, singles, pairs and blocks, and in particular I would draw attention to the marvellous lot of stamps of the "pence issues" on covers.

No collection of purely unused stamps can possibly have the philatelic interest that one gets when a collection is built up of used and unused, including stamps on cover, which are so important for establishing postal rates to various parts of the world in the early days, and many interesting details showing how, why and where particular values were used.

I would like to draw special attention to the marvellous condition these stamps are in. Admiral Harris has weeded out time after time the poorer copies, retaining only those as near perfection as they can be obtained.

The collection starts with a page of proofs in black, followed by a very rare page of eight die proofs of the original design in colors, but without any value in the lower tablets, this being filled up with scroll work. In such a large collection it is only possible to draw attention to a few outstanding items, such as :—

6d on blue paper unused. 3 pairs of this stamp used and a number used on covers.

½d lilac on blue, unused with gum. A rather unusual item is two single copies used on a local cover.

The imperf. stamps are arranged in the order of printing generally established by dated copies on the covers. Many of the re-entries in the 1d are here, and the only known one in the 2d, these, of course, continuing through the perforated stamps in the different watermarks as the same plates were used.

The 4d dull rose is represented by a matchless copy, with full gum, from the famous Duveen collection. In the used stamps there are two fine singles and a horizontal pair. As far as I know there is only one other pair which is in the de Worms collection.

The 8d imperf. A superb copy with part gum also from the Duveen collection, and four beautiful singles.

The 9d imperf. Four singles with exceptional margins and a fine copy used on a cover to England.

In the 1/- I particularly note the extraordinary and almost unknown ultramarine color. Here there are three copies used on cover. Two on one cover dated Sept. 15, 1860, and one on another cover dated July 13, 1860, both covers being used to London.

In the 1/9 there is a superb copy of the real yellow-green, and in the deep green a fine pair and a number of singles.

The 2/- imperf., includes a matchless single copy from the Duveen collection with the left side margin of the sheet, also a mint pair and six singles, all exceptional copies.

Wmkd. "Large Star"

In the stamps watermarked "Large Star" with the different perforations, the following are outstanding pieces :—

In the rare 4d dull rose, the exact shade of the imperf. stamp, there is a fine unused with full gum and several used. A very rare item is a 4d in this color, but absolutely clean cut perforation all round, used on a cover with a 1d blue imperf. to Calcutta, dated Feb. 1, 1862. This 4d has hitherto only been catalogued in the intermediate perforation.

In the 5d chestnut there is a fine used copy of the very rare intermediate perforation of which, I believe, only one or two other copies are known, nearly all the stamps coming in the clean cut perforation.

The 8d in both colors are a good lot both used and unused with some very scarce shades.

In the 1/- there is one copy in the intermediate perforation of the rare ultramarine exactly the same color as the imperf. I noted before.

In the 1/9 green, prepared for use and not issued, Admiral Harris divides these into two sets. He believes that the blurred prints in the darker green shade were very early sheets, possibly found by Perkins Bacon & Co., and perforated by De La Rue. The later and very clear prints with all the lines of the background sharp and distinct, and coming in the paler yellow-green, he believes were printed and perforated by De La Rue.

The 2/- blue contains a fine unused, real clean cut perforation, in a beautiful deep shade with full gum. In the rough perforation there is an exceptionally fine horizontal strip of four, used.

The no watermark stamps of 1862 include two pairs of the 5d, one being on cover, and fine unused specimens of the 9d and 1/-.

The no watermark perf. 11½, both unused and used, are very much undercatalogued according to Admiral Harris's experience. Here is a new variety to add to the catalogue. A horizontal pair perforated all round and imperf. between, believed to be unique.

Crown C. C. Wmks.

In the Crown & C. C. watermarks, all the values have been divided into the two different types of watermark. Many of these can be separated by the color. Here there are a number of values imperf., probably not issued in this form, but undoubtedly scarce. These include the 1d Prussian blue, two pairs.

2d Maize, a fine single.
5d Deep sage green, a fine single.
5d Pale sage green, a fine single.
9d Deep brown, superb single.

In the perforated stamps almost everything is here in all shades, and in many varieties, the only prominent stamp that is missing being the first watermark 2d yellow-green. Many fine blocks are included in this series.

"Cents Issues"

In the "cents issues" of 1872 to 1880, nearly all the rare varieties are included, unused, especially the 64 cents perforated 14 x 12½, and the 2r 50c perforated 12½.

In the Provisionals of 1885 rare items are :

5c on 24c green, two copies unused, absolutely passed as authentic.

10c on 16c watermarked Crown & C. C., three copies, of which one is passed as absolutely correct, and the other two being doubtful, not passing all the tests.

In regard to the 5c on the 4c rosy mauve, these are all now condemned,

My New Issue Service

continues to grow. Starting only a few weeks ago, I have just opened the 25th box. I charge 32 cents per shilling, and the service is for those who shop in first class stores.

I shall be only too pleased to send the Prospectus of this New Issue Service to any collector who wishes to look it over.

both the normal and the inverted surcharge. Gibbons have removed the inverted surcharge from the catalogue, but the normal apparently should also come out as bad, as owing to the recent researches of that fine Philatelist, Mr. Percy de Worms, the type used on these rosy mauve stamps does not fit in with any known setting, and can only be considered to be bogus.

A new variety to be added to the catalogue is the 5c on 8c orange-yellow, with a clear double surcharge passed as authentic.

Another rare variety is the 10c on 16c pale violet, watermarked Crown & C. A., one of the few genuine copies known on this watermark.

The Provisionals of 1888-1890 have been closely studied in London, and after an examination of the settings, I believe it will be necessary to remove a number of varieties from the catalogue that have hitherto been included. Where the fakers have been at work is generally as follows.

They have taken a genuine 2c on 4c worth only a few pence in its normal condition, and they have then added a forged surcharge, either normal or inverted, making a new variety, many of which have slipped into the trade and been accepted. Admiral Harris has had all his very carefully checked over and examined, and the forgeries are all marked, but are left in the collection for comparison.

Postal Rates

I think that Admiral Harris has the finest lot of "Pence Issues" on cover existing in any collection with which I am acquainted. I have made a careful list of these, and we can learn something from them as to the rates that were in use in the early days.

First we will take the stamps to Great Britain, which were naturally by far the larger proportion of those that were used. Letters came by two routes, one via Marseilles and the other via Southampton.

The covers in the collection marked via Southampton between March, 1857, and March, 1859, are all franked with 6d. Many of these are marked "Ship Letters." In March and in May, 1869, the rates via Southampton appear to have been 9d.

The first letters in the collection marked via Marseilles extend from April 5, 1858, to November, 1860. These are generally franked with 9d, but here we get some extraordinary rates, which I have heard was due to some extra charge being made for bringing letters overland while the Suez Canal was in course of construction. I record the following rates from covers in the collection:—

July, 1860, 1/-.
July, 1860, 1/9.
September, 1860, 2/0.
July, 1861, 1/9.

In 1862 the rate appears to have dropped to 10d as there is a cover in February of that year with that rate on it and other covers.

October, 1864, and May, 1865, also 10d, this rate continuing up to March, 1867, which is the latest cover in the collection marked via Marseilles.

Covers to India

There are a number of covers used to India between October, 1857, and August, 1871. The rates are somewhat curious.

A single letter October 3, 1857, is 5d.

A letter to Madras, March, 1860, is 10d.

In October, 1863, another letter to Madras is 9d.

In 1862 and 1863, several letters to Calcutta, all franked with 5d.

The last cover to India is one to Jahore, August 30, 1871, franked with 6d.

There are four covers to Shanghai in 1859 and 1860, each is franked with 5d, and in May, 1861, there is one cover franked with 4d.

There is only one cover to France. That is December, 1866, via Suez, franked with 1/4.

There are two covers to Germany, one to Prussia, November, 1857, 1/1, and one via Trieste to Hamburg, October, 1857, 2/2. This was probably a double letter.

AMP EXHIBITS v. THE COUNTY FAIR

By Rev. Treverton Warren.

hen in 1926 the Lee County, Iowa, atelic Society, with headquarters at nellson, Ia., was organized, it was the understanding that once a year Society should hold an exhibit. This for a threefold purpose: (1) to in- the members by having something ork for; (2) to educate the public rally in philately, and (3) to gain members. With this end in view, a mittee was appointed to have the er in hand, and to make all necessary ngements. As the committee were perienced, and not by any means ad- ed collectors, it seemed to them that ask was well nigh impossible. Such ng had never been attempted in that of Iowa, and according to some wise people, never could be done. ever, the writer of this article, and President of the Society (R. S. e) took courage and approached the d of the Lee County Fair Associa- and asked for their help and co- ation. They were enthusiastic, and ted space in the Art Hall, and also a t in the Annual Fair Book. Having this start, the next question was how nance the thing, and give attractive s. The financial condition of the ety was not such as to undertake the of awarding prizes, so an appeal was e to several leading firms in the ty, and thru their generosity, enough were received to make the thing at- ive to the members. Certain rules and lations were drawn up, and submitted he Fair Board, and being endorsed hem were printed in their book. The etary, Rev. T. Warren, was put in ge, and things began to assume shape. members became interested, and all n working hard to get their exhibits hape. Each member's collection was led, and the exhibit so arranged that member must compete within his grade. The grades were:—Begin- Junior, Senior, and Veteran, and the les were determined by the number stamps in each individual collection. exhibits were made under the entry s of the Fair Association. Cards were ted large enough to hold about 50-70 ps, and printed with "Entry numbers," ade," "Class" and "Subject," as for mple: Entry number would be 126, uch number as was on the exhibition y card; Grade, Junior; Class, United es; Subject, Commemoratives. This le the work of the Judges so much er. These cards were handed to each nber, who was limited to eight, and d not enter in more than three ses in his particular grade. The ls when arranged were placed in a d position in the Art Hall, and was a popular exhibit during the Fair. ne member of the Society was in ge, and explained the exhibit to those were interested, and it certainly did that official busy. The exhibit was ainly a decided success, and many tors from other Fair Associations ed they had a similar exhibit. The ity of holding the exhibit was that crowd was there, good and ample e was provided, and the stamps were protected, a guard being in the ding at night. From this initial ex- ence, the committee emerged much er, and as a result of their experience, rge and better exhibit is being ar- ged for 1928. This humble effort ld be duplicated in many a County r, and only needs a little bit of acity, grit and determination to make it a success. The Secretary will be glad to answer any inquiries, providing a stamped or self-addressed envelope is sent. That the venture was a success was indicated by the request by the Fair Board for another exhibit this year; the amount of people who were always seen around the booths, and the number of new members gained.

CORRECTION

By Charles Blum, Manila, P. I.

I have read the 2nd part of "The Precancels of the U. S. Island Dependencies and Shanghai" in No. 1918 of your paper, and as a subscriber I am prompted to make the following statement:

The writer of that article, as far as the Philippine Islands are concerned, must have been utterly devoid of even the slightest grain of correct information.

The very fact that the illustration under "Philippine Islands" is claimed to be a precancellation is utterly wrong. The true fact is that this surcharge was made by the government printing office upon request of a certain commercial house, which uses large quantities of postage stamps, as a means of protection in case of theft or in order to avoid that the stamps be used by employees in an unofficial way. This surcharge, therefore, is equal to the punched stamps frequently used by large concerns in the United States, and even more in vogue in Europe for the same reasons, i.e., as a means of protection. It is evident, therefore, that these stamps have to be cancelled before leaving the Post Office affixed to mail matter.

It is furthermore evident that nobody would ever attempt to forge this surcharge, because there would be no benefit in any such forgery unless the stamp market were willing to pay a certain premium above face value, which would be utterly foolish, since the surcharge, far from increasing the value of the stamp, does actually reduce it to the same fraction of value as a punched specimen would be worth, although a certain preference over punched specimens cannot be denied on account of the neatness of the surcharge, which does not spoil the stamp as holes do. However, this is merely a matter of individual taste, which does not enter here at all.

To state that these stamps appeared for the first time in November, 1926, is a shot far away from the mark of correctness. I have not attempted to find out the exact date when they came into use, but for the benefit of the readers I might safely state that I had them in my collection fully 12 months earlier than that date.

It not being my intention to criticise where there is no room for it, I wish to add that the values so far surcharged are correct as stated, namely the 2, 4, 6, 12, 20 and 30 centavos and the 1 peso.

And in order to complete the records, I would add that other firms have followed suit, but as a means of distinguishing their stamps from the ones already in use, they have their initials added between the top line and the word Manila. I have so far the following specimens: "C S" standing for Camera Supply Co., and "H" for H. E. Heacock Co.

The sole fact that now private initials are added to this so-called "precancellation" proves better than anything else that this surcharge cannot possibly be a Government postal precancellation, and has nothing at all in common with the U. S. precancellations, except the appearance.

BRITISH EMPIRE
New Issue Service

I take pleasure in announcing the inauguration of a NEW ISSUE SERVICE—comprising the entire British Empire. It is my aim to have this service rank among the best in existence. Holding what I firmly believe to be the world's most valuable stock of modern British Colonials, nothing less will satisfy me.

The following are the conditions upon which collectors and dealers may join as subscribers:—

1. A premium of 12½% is charged over and above the face value. All computations will be made on basis of the rates of exchange which I have to pay—and any fractional amounts will be increased to full figures in my favor. For instance, 80c face value will cost 90c—but 81c face will cost 92c, the ⅛th cent being figured as a full cent.
2. Subscriptions will be accepted for the entire BRITISH EMPIRE or for any Dominion, Crown Colony, Protectorate or Territory.
3. Only unused stamps are dealt in.
4. All new issues as received by my New Issue Service Dept., will be distributed—provided I receive a sufficient quantity to take care of a full distribution.
5. The minimum subscription accepted is for one stamp of each denomination up to and including the 2/6 value of one Postal Administration.
6. A deposit is required from all subscribers, and stamps will be distributed until the deposit becomes nearly exhausted, when a further deposit must be made. Any subscriber who permits his deposit to become exhausted will be charged with a fine amounting to an additional 1% per month on the face value of the stamps uncovered by deposit. If such reserved stamps are not taken up within three months, I will have the right to dispose of the stamps, the subscriber to remain liable for the amount of fine.
7. These subscription deposits must be maintained—in the manner above set forth —according to the following schedules:—

ONE COPY OF EACH DENOMINATION

	A. Subscription covering one to five Colonies.	B. Subscription covering six or more Colonies.
Up to 2/6 face	$ 2.00	$ 8.00
" " 5/- "	3.50	10.00
" " 10/- "	6.50	15.00
" " 20/- "	10.00	20.00
" " £5 "	25.00	50.00

Terms for higher limits on application.
(Pairs, blocks, etc., pro rata.)

8. All distributions are mailed at subscriber's risk, and an additional charge is made for postage and registration (if desired).
9. The service is not retroactive, and only quantities subscribed for will ordinarily be supplied at the 12½% rate.

EDITORIAL

The story of the part of the post office in contributing to the success of the Lindbergh flight from St. Louis to Chicago as submitted by the Hon. W. Irving Glover is an example of the co-operation of the department in developing the philatelic possibilities of first trips of the air mail. While this Lindbergh flight was a special trip, yet it came in the category of events that collectors wished to celebrate by covers illustrative of the flight; and consequently, the mail destined for collectors was a large percentage of the total volume carried by Lindy. We have heard of huge numbers of envelopes that were sent by individuals on this trip, but it must not be forgotten that the public, as well, was alert to take advantage of the opportunity to obtain souvenirs. It is something to know that the department is ready to afford all reasonable assistance to the collector who wishes to send covers on first or special trips.

In the issue of March 12th, "Some Reminiscences" from the pen of George Staplin, Jr., appeared that have prompted several of the older collectors to recall their stamp experiences of a half-century or so ago. Mr. John L. Moore, Chicago, writes: "I notice that Mr. Staplin says that he thinks that he bought stamps from Joseph Beifeld, then of Buffalo. I wonder if he is not mistaken as although I knew Mr. Beifeld well, when he was alive, I am sure that he was never in Buffalo. Mr. Beifeld was issuing pricelists and his 'Centennial' stamp album in the '70's, and he had a good trade among the boys at his place on West Madison Street, as I remember it." Another reader tells us that John A. Pierce was really the first dealer in Chicago, and that he knows that his novelty store in the down-town district was burned in the Chicago fire of 1871. While he does not say that Mr. Pierce carried any considerable stock of stamps at the time, he thinks it likely that Mr. Pierce did handle them then. At any rate, "when he established himself in new quarters soon after the fire, he made a specialty of stamps for collectors." This correspondent adds that he knew something of the famous lot of Executive Department stamps that Mr. Pierce bought from Jesse Grant, the son of President Grant, after Jesse had returned to Illinois. Here, we must say that it was not said that Mr. Pierce got the stamps directly from Jesse Grant. As we remember Mr. Pierce's story, the lot came from someone who was close to Jesse. Another correspondent speaks highly of James M. Chute, the philatelic writer.

There are so many suggestions being offered by our readers just now for the treatment of speculative issues that we are compelled to speak of the opinions of those to whom the subject by no means is threadbare. Mr. Carlos A. Vincent says that the commemoratives are propaganda for stamp collecting that proceeds independently of any philatelic motive, and that in consequence stamps of the kind must be accepted on the score of public policy. By the same token, Mr. Vincent says that the commemoratives should be received with a sense of gratitude. Mr. L. A. Murphy thinks that so long as the number of stamps already issued is such that they cannot be "kept within the bounds of a collection," the special stamps do no harm in enlarging the range of specimens that come under the eye of "the semi-specialist" as he says that almost every adult collector of to-day is to be catalogued. Mr. Burt Andrus contributes the thought that if medals are used to signalize events and anniversaries, why should not stamps be employed for the same purpose. While Mr. Andrus' question is not a new one, since it has been presented before in arguments revolving around the special stamps, it has its force.

Some time ago, mention was made of the presentation by Mr. William J. Uihlein, Milwaukee, of his entire collection of stamps to the public museum of his city. Mr. Uihlein has been a collector of stamps all his life, as once was said, and it follows that the collection is an extensive and valuable one. He has long been identified with the philatelic life of Milwaukee, and his friends there know that any appraisal of the value of the collection would total a large sum. The newspapers, several months ago, recognized the importance of Mr. Uihlein's donation and they carried stories of the generosity of their public-spirited citizen in disposing of his stamps in a way that will make them a cynosure of the public eye. A correspondent says that this collection is one that will impress the onlooker, since it contains many of the early rarities. Preparations are under way for the adequate display of the stamps, and it is learned that a case forty-eight feet long will be devoted to the reception of the stamps.

"Life" contains a skit in which the stamp theme crops out mildly. A friend appeared at the studio of a designer of national reputation and found the artist laboring over "an infinitesimal speck"; and the caller came to the conclusion that his friend had received a commission from the government to prepare a new postage stamp. However, it happened that the designer of parts was platting the dance floor for a new night club.

A writer says that he does not understand why so much back-slapping is indulged in when the outside press gives space to philatelic topics. He makes the point, and not unfairly, that such material, as a rule, does not possess the element of freshness and even accuracy, and that it is not inspiring reading to philatelists, by any means. While the criticism stands that philatelic publicity in the newspaper and periodical press is not refreshing to collectors, as a rule, yet there have been carefully written stamp stories that were a satisfaction to read; they were a credit to the publications of high class in which they were printed. However, aside from this consideration, it is recognized by many who have given attention to ways and means for furthering philately that almost the only direct and practical way by which a contact with stamps may be established with the outsider is through articles in the public prints. The element of interest in such matter lies not in the appeal to philatelists, but to those who are not collectors. When the attention of a large body of readers is concentrated on a stamp story, it follows that a few non-philatelists are receptive to the idea of stamp collecting. The best means at hand for missionary work for philately seems to be through the medium of printed references to stamps as objects of collection in papers that are read by those who are not philatelists, as a rule.

Writing from Washington, a correspondent says that the question of further commemoratives is in abeyance, but he indicates that numerous proposals for the creation of such stamps have been received. It is doubtful, he says, that any definite rule has been made by which the propriety of such stamps may be measured as may have been understood that there was, in consequence of what has recently been said on the subject in this column. The absence of Postmaster General New from Washington for recuperation has naturally checked action on some of the proposals that have been made, but if we read aright, an announcement of interest to collectors will soon be made. To those who write us about the possibility of new commemoratives, we have to say that we have no information that does not appear in print in this paper as soon as possible.

ADDED MONTHLY FEATURES

THE HOME OF THE POSTAGE STAMP
BOX 3, JACKSON HEIGHTS, NEW YORK
J. Avery Wells Telephone. Havemeyer 3350. J. Van Kirk Wells

SALMAGUNDI:—

WE are indebted to Emil Misrahi for a copy of the Panama Star and Herald giving the particulars of the destruction of the plates for the Lindbergh stamps. Mr. Mizrahi states that of the 2c stamp, 300,000 were printed, and of the 5c, 150,000.

B. J. DATTNER has sent us for inspection a set of the new Monaco commemoratives. The engraving is well done, and the colors are excellent, and the whole set is very beautiful.

J. D. BARTLETT, El Paso, Tex., sends us a new subscription, and incidentally asks us to boost the convention of the Texas Philatelic Association, which meets April 20-21, in El Paso. We have already noted this in the WEEKLY, but Mr. Bartlett is such a good friend that we have no hesitation in repeating the information. The exhibit in connection with the convention will consist of over seventy frames with stamps under glass as well as a large number of collections in albums. The El Paso Club urges your attendance.

THERE has been organized in Chicago an Aero Philatelic Club of more than one hundred members. The entrance fee is $4.00, and the yearly dues $6.00. Every new member receives free, during the year of membership, one cover from each point having a special airmail cancellation. Stationery and cards are furnished at cost with members' names printed thereon.

THE Missoula (Mont.) Philatelic society, composed of persons interested in collecting and owning rare postage stamps, was completed at a meeting held March 7 at the home of Prof. C. H. Riedell, 502 Connell Av. Prof. Riedell was elected president of the organization, Dr. T. T. Rider, vice pres., and Prof. F. O. Smith, sec. Following the business meeting, a general social session was held. Fifteen interested persons were present at the meeting. Congratulations.

THE Glenview Stamp Club has reorganized with about fifteen members. The club intends to have a speaker every meeting to start the collectors along the right road. This year the club instructor offers a medal to the one who progresses the most in the kingdom of stampdom. The club will be glad to communicate with any other school club, address Miss V. Lowe, Glenview Junior High, Oakland, Calif.

THE annual meeting of the Metropolitan Philatelic Society was held March 8 in the Quincy House, Boston. The following officers were elected: Pres., C. V. Farley; Vice Pres., P. A. Lasky; Sec., Mrs. J. R. Hoffland; Treas., F. H. Dodge; Directors, C. A. Davis, P. F. Denner; Auctioneer, C. C. Dürning; Sales Mgr., E. B. Elder; U. S. S. Directors, S. G. Bixby, G. G. Ryder. A very interesting talk was given by F. I. Morse on Tibet. He also exhibited rare covers from this country. This society meets monthly on the 2nd Thursday of the month in the Quincy House, Room 18. Visitors, both male and female, gladly welcomed.—E. S. BACON.

H. W. BOERS sends us several news items, and one of them we print in full elsewhere in this issue. We should be very glad to use all the clippings that Mr. Boers sends in, had we the space to do so. He is omnipresent when it comes to gleaning all the news matter pertaining to airmail out of the daily press.

WE are desirous of securing some extra copies of the Feb. 20 issue of the WEEKLY, and will give one of our exchanges in return for each copy of Feb. 20 received in the original fold. We do not want to be overwhelmed with copies, so this offer is limited to New York and the New England states.

WE thank the Wingo Stamp Co. for a page stamp feature from the Dallas News. It's great reading and great publicity. We can't reprint it now, but we will salt it down until the good old summer time comes and some of our advertisers are taking a vacation.

A "STAMP QUESTION" contest recently appeared in the San Francisco News, and one of our subscribers, I. J. Coontz, led all the entrants. Mr. Coontz does not hesitate in giving the WEEKLY some of the credit.

THE Yorkville Stamp Society, 1568 Second Ave., N. Y. City, held its first exhibition night on Wednesday, March 14. Dr. S. Avazon exhibited his famous collection of France and explained the various scarce cancellations.

PROF. F. S. EATON has sent us two clippings from the French publication La Parfumerie Moderne and shows a page of covers with the United States represented. We frequently receive papers from Europe with illustrations of U. S. stamps. The other clipping is from L'Illustration and consists of a page of illustrations of stamps in their original colors. Several continents are represented and it makes a very handsome feature. An article describing the illustrations appears in the magazine.

A. O.—An overprint found upon certain South Australian stamps signifying "Audit Office." It was in use during the period 1868-74, after which date the general "O S" stamps were used in all the departments of this Colony.

A. P. S.—An abbreviation for American Philatelic Society—the "national" stamp association of the United States—in general use in this country.

A Payer—Te Betalen.—The only inscriptions shown upon the Postage Due stamps of Belgium in use since November 1, 1895. They both mean "to pay," referring to the amount of deficient postage to be paid on the delivery of the letter, the former being the French and the latter the Flemish form.

A Percevoir.—An inscription found upon the Postage due stamps of France and its colonies, and the first set issued in Belgium. Translated literally, it means "to receive" or "to collect" and refers, of course, to the sum to be collected on the delivery of insufficiently stamped letters.

Double Lined Letters

A term usually used in descriptions of watermarks to distinguish them from similar ones in which the letters are "single-lined." The Crown A watermarks of the Commonwealth of Australia will serve as instances, some of these having the "A" formed of single and others of double lines.

MAKEA TAKAU
Cook Ids. A2
1893-1916, 5d

This stamp helps to bring ethnology into philately. The portrait is one of that dying race, the Maoris—Makea, Takau. The Maori women, who have fine heads of hair, have the custom of plaiting it in two braids which are often worn one over each shoulder; one braid may be seen in the portrait. These stamps were engraved and printed at Wellington, N. Z., and were paid for by philatelists who contributed by buying up quantities of the previous issue. The engravers and printers were warned "not to make Makea's likeness too dark." Malietoa of Samoa was portrayed in black on one stamp, and the color was considered by him a very uncomplimentary reference to his complexion. The islands were annexed to New Zealand in 1900, and as a consequence we now have special stamps for Niue, Aitutaki and Penrhyn, all of which belong to the group.

Apoteosis De Miranda

(Apotheosis of Miranda)

An inscription found upon a set of Venezuelan stamps issued in 1896 to commemorate the eightieth anniversary of the death of General Miranda—a Spanish-American revolutionist who succeeded in getting Venezuela proclaimed a republic.

Wortham, Tex., Organizes

H. Englehardt has just organized a stamp club in Wortham, Tex., with the following officers:—Pres., Leonard Haston; Vice Pres., Tom Wallis; Treas., Vernon Russell; Sec., Hal. Wallis. Mr. Englehardt was made an honorary member of what promises to be a strong junior club. Nearby collectors will be welcome at the Band Hall any Wednesday night. Grown-ups will be admitted as honorary members.

If you want to lend a hand to the boys of this club send some of your duplicates to Mr. Englehardt, Box 415, Wortham, Texas.

Guam

The most southerly and largest island of the Marianne or Ladrone archipelago. For many years it was a Spanish colony, but was ceded to the United States by Spain in 1898. It has an area of 225 square miles, and a population of about 9,000, and now forms an important U. S. coaling station. Shortly after American occupation (1899), a special series of stamps was issued, these being the then current stamps of the United States overprinted "GUAM." At the present time, as in the case of Porto Rico, ordinary U. S. stamps are used without any distinguishing overprint.

Guanacaste.—A province of Costa Rica situated in the northwest and including the Nicoya Peninsula. It has an area of 4,000 square miles and a population of over 18,000. From 1885 until about 1890 all the stamps used in this province were overprinted with the name "GUANACASTE."

Guanajuato.—The capital of the state of the same name in Mexico with a population of about 50,000. On two occasions during the unsettled times of 1913-16, it issued special stamps, formed by overprinting some of the then current Mexican issues with the words "Gobierno Constitucionalista."

Guaranda.—A town in Ecuador at which a number of 5c provisionals were issued in July and August, 1895. Their status is considered doubtful by the best authorities.

The Panama Canal

Stamp collecting creates interest in a great many things. One of these is the Panama Canal. Who can collect the stamps of Panama without becoming interested in the canal that was built by the United States. From 1915 to 1920 there are plenty of stamps bearing pictures of the canal to make one wish to make the trip through. Scott's type A30 shows the Gatun Locks. A31 is a picture of the famous Culebra Cut. A34 and A35 picture a boat going through the Culebra Cut in August, 1914, while A36 shows a steamer going thru the Gatun Locks in March, 1915. A38 and A39 also show interesting views of the canal. These same stamps were used in the Canal Zone after being surcharged with the words "Canal Zone."—A. C. LeDuc.

Secret Marks

These are small marks introduced into the designs of stamps for some specific purpose. It was at one time very generally believed that stamp manufacturers were in the habit of introducing secret marks into their work as an extra precaution against, or a help in the detection of forgeries. Where these marks are intentionally introduced they are simply meant as distinguishing marks, and there is nothing "secret" about them. Thus the "hairlines" on certain British stamps, which are usually known as secret marks, were introduced to distinguish stamps printed from certain plates. In the same way the so-called secret marks on the United States stamps of 1873 were introduced into the designs so that the Continental Bank Note Co. could distinguish between the impressions from plates of their own manufacture and those made by the National Bank Note Co.

1870—Without dash in pearl.

1870—Without semi-circles.
1873—With same, lower right corner.

1870—Rounded out balls.
1873—Balls of "2" crescent shaped.

DAHOMEY TREE-CLIMBER

It is the method which ests itself naturally to one survey- a palm with the idea of climbing it. ns originate as a cluster of fronds ting almost directly out of the nd. Successive growths of new ds are thrown out from within and e the old ones, which decay and off close to their base. These suc- ve rings of old frond stumps, rising above the other, form the rough casing of the palm trunk which so resembles the skin of a pineapple. frond stumps, being inclined up- and outward, offer themselves tingly as footholds. In young palms, are often so prominent that the tree be climbed easily by their aid alone. very old palms, on the other hand, are so worn by the weather that afford hardly any support at all.

DEPT. 20, 391 STRAND, LONDON, W. C. 2, ENGLAND

The climbing equipment consists of a broad hide or leather band, which the climber, approaching the palm, secures round his own body and the trunk of the tree, adjusting one end round the bulkier portion of his loins or the small of his back, according to preference, and lodging the other end over the highest frond stump he can reach. Then, steadying the band with his hands, and pressing himself outward from the tree, he proceeds to mount, by alternately using the frond stumps as steps for the feet and jerking the band to a higher level by a sudden, slight inward inclination of the body. A climber by this method, after a little practice, can mount at as great a speed as though he were literally walking up the trunk. The palm fruit, having been gathered, is either dropped to the ground or placed in a basket slung by a rope over a convenient frond, and the climber descends by simply reversing the process of ascent.—Gibbons Stamp Monthly.

Harris

—A genuine pride in his Stamps of Ceylon.

Frederick R. Harris, of Philadelphia, rear admiral in the United States navy, a nationally known construction engineer and this country's greatest collector of Ceylon postage stamps, carries his last-named distinction with the same pride he shows for the first two.

Addressing a score of Detroit's leading collectors at a banquet given at the Maccabees' building under auspices of the Detroit Philatelic society, the admiral confessed that the honor of being an expert in the field of stamps is one he would not lightly forego. His collection, begun in his boyhood, is rated the second best of its kind in the world.

The admiral is here to testify as an engineering authority in the so-called Ferguson patent dock case, pending before Judge Arthur J. Tuttle in federal court.—Detroit Free Press.

WHO STARTED THIS?

By GUM.

Who thought up the expressions so dear to us all,
"Perf. 12x13" and all that?
Who started to say he had goods to sell
And would sacrifice them at "Half Cat."?

Who first wanted "Blox" and must have them "Mint,"
Or "Postally Used," as might be?
Who bought his in "Sets" or sent in his name
And hoped for a "Rarity" "Free"?

Every such phrase has a thrill for the man
Who handles the album and tongs,
And praises are due to their authors, I say,
As much as to writers of songs.

Someone no doubt had a vast store of junk
Who first decided to sack it
And sell it unseen to anyone green
Who had never before bought a "Packet".

Forsooth our "Covers" mean nothing else
But Envelopes stuck onto stamps,
But that term didn't rise to its present renown
Without some poor brain having cramps.

To have stamps "O. G." and "Centered" exact
Some guys will so fume and so fuss,
They should pay their respects to their ancestral pests
Who thought of expressing it thus.

Who first dared to station himself o'er the mob
By saying, I "Specialize" now,
And WHO had the nerve to put up his sign Saying proudly, "Philatelist"? WOW!

Some of these terms come in and go out,
And some will be with us forever.
Here's one—"On Approval"—that surely will live,
And our money from all of us will sever.

No matter how dear these words to our ear,
To others we'll thrill just as quick.
When some brain gives birth to the right idea
Like a "Peelable Hinge"—it will Stick.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

ARE YOU LOOKING--- for United States stamps? If so, I offer to the serious client, one of the finest stocks of postal and revenue issues ever gotten together. With the constantly increasing demand, it is difficult to keep most of the rarities on hand, but as I am continually purchasing important properties, if you will favor me with your want list, it will be kept on file and the varieties desired submitted, as they come to hand. In the meantime, I can furnish most everything valued up to five hundred dollars or more, and a good number of the rarities. My stock is especially strong in mint singles and blocks, and at the present time can furnish practically everything in this shape from 1880 to date.

Don't ask, however, for a copy of $594, for unfortunately, I cannot supply this. As a matter of fact, I am in the market to buy one or a dozen copies, either in used or unused condition.

Stamps are priced throughout in accordance with their condition and desirability. If you are looking for the perfection specimen in the pink of condition, it will possibly cost you full catalog or more. If you want the good, sound average copy, which is found in 90% of the collections, I can no doubt furnish this at 40% to 50% discount.

I am in the market at all times to purchase important properties or individual items, and if you are thinking of selling, I trust you will communicate with me.

I am also anxious to purchase at a reasonable figure, a mint Twentieth Century British Colonial Collection around five thousand dollars net, or less. Do not want this at a fancy price, for I well note that such varieties are selling from a fourth to a half catalog price at auction, and it is only the very exceptional and unusual piece that brings more. Please do not submit such a property, however, without previous correspondence.

Washington Notes

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman kindly furnishes me with further copies of Resolutions introduced in the Senate, relative to new postage stamps. On January 9th, Senator Wagner of New York introduced a Resolution authorizing the Postmaster General to issue a special 2c stamp commemorative of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Government of the State of New York.

On February 27th, Senator Edge of New Jersey introduced the Resolution, which Congressman Ackerman introduced in the House, authorizing the Postmaster General to issue a series of thirteen stamps to commemorate Colonel Lindbergh's visit to the thirteen countries of South and Central America. The Resolution calls for denominations from one-half cent to one dollar inclusive.

The third Resolution was introduced on March 5th, by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, and is similar to the one introduced in the House by Congressman Watson, authorizing a 2c stamp in honor of the 150th anniversary of the Encampment of Washington's Army at Valley Forge.

Mr. Ackerman writes that seven Congressmen are going to be permitted to lay their claims before the Postmaster General, and that some of them are sure to have their requests honored.

A "Molly Pitcher" commemorative is requested, and it is thought that the personal endorsement of the women of the House of Representatives, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Kahn, and Mrs. Langley, if they could be obtained, would aid those who are endeavoring to have such a stamp issued.

Mr. Hogg of Indiana expected to have Senator Robinson introduce a Bill in the Senate on March 8th, authorizing a John Rogers Clarke Stamp.

I doubt if there was ever a time when more commemoratives have been asked for, but most unfortunately, the Post Office Department is not favoring the several propositions, although to date enough letters have been received recommending the Valley Forge stamp to warrant favorable action. Never in the history of the Department have so many communications arrived, suggesting a commemorative of this type.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania writes under date of March 9th that he is keeping after the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, and hopes to obtain prompt and favorable action on Senate Resolution No. 107, authorizing the Valley Forge Stamp.

Bureau Plate Numbers

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, we have been able to bring our list of plate numbers up to, and including those issued, to March 8, 1928. It is of interest to note that in the entire lot of plates made during the last several months, that there is not a single flat plate, but that they are all of the curved rotary type. The methods now being used by the Bureau in producing plates is such that no where near as many plates are required to produce a ga quantity of stamps as has been nec heretofore.

10c Lindbergh, Double Transfer

Rev. E. M. Gearhart kindly in me that he has seen the lower hor strip of the 10c Lindbergh air stamp from the southeast pane of No. 19008, wherein two stamps s distinct double transfer.

The extreme stamp in the lowe corner shows the double transfer "0" of the left "10." The stam mediately above the plate number a double transfer in the numeral the left "10."

Mr. Gearhart states that credit f discovery should go to Mr. All Vestal. Personally, I have not h pleasure of inspecting the variet am furnishing the information j received from Mr. Gearhart.

genta, which seems to have been mixed with an orange ink. In addition, the letters received the normal Waco postmark. Those addressed to Galveston received the back stamp of that office, in addition to a special blue rectangular postmark reading, "First Air Mail Flight from Galveston, Tex., Port and Playground of the Southwest."

Those addressed to Houston received a special back stamp that has not been noted heretofore. It was applied in blue, in three lines without border, reading—"First Flight Houston to Waco on C A M 21 Mar. 5th." In addition there were three extra postmarks, one being the normal postmark in black, the second a Star showing a statue of Houston, and below the wording—"Sam Houston Memorial." The third marking is a portrait of General Houston with his name below. The markings just described as back stamps, were used on the face of covers sent from these two latter cities. I wish to thank Mr. O. C. Rittenhouse for a first day cover from Waco.

The Postal Bulletin for March 6th, announces that bids are invited returnable April 30th at 12 noon, on three new contract air mail routes. One is from Chicago, Ill., via South Bend, Ind., Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Battle Creek, Jackson, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Pontiac, Lansing, Flint, and Saginaw, to Bay City, Mich., and return. The second runs from Chicago, Ill., to Terre Haute and Evansville, Ind. (St. Louis, Mo.,), Nashville, and Chattanooga, Tenn., to Atlanta, Ga., and return. The third runs from St. Louis, Mo., to Kansas City, Mo., and return.

Mr. George W. Angers advises that on March 15th, at 4.15 P. M., there will be inaugurated the First Motorcycle-Aeroplane Courier Service Feeder Line. It will start from Holyoke, Mass., go to Northampton, Westfield, Springfield, thence to Hartford, and arrive in sufficient time to meet the southbound plane of the Colonial Air Transport, operators of C. A. M. No. 1. This mail will be picked up by the air mail plane and carried to its destination via the regular air transport route.

A request of the Post Office Department has been made by local interests, including the Indian Motorcycle Co., as well as the Colonial Air Transport, for the authorization of a special cancellation in conjunction with this opening trip. As no notice has appeared in the Postal Bulletin, it is not likely that the request was granted. The Indian Motorcycle Company, however, contemplates imprinting upon any covers sent in their care the following: "First Experimental Motorcycle-Aeroplane Courier Service, March 15, Holyoke-Hartford, C. A. M. No. 1."

at all, the greater part of the quantity issued being in stock at the P. O. The stamp is already worth nearly double its face value in Greece. It is said that the existing 3dr and 6dr are to be overprinted and used for air mail postage.

Luxemburg.—Stamps withdrawn. Mr. M. Weber informs us that the 65c and 80c of the current issue are to be withdrawn, as the printed matter rates for which they were originally intended are no longer effective. A new 60c is on order to replace the current provisionals of this denomination (60c on 75c), but should the stock of provisionals be exhausted before the new stamp is ready, further provisionals will be made by overprinting 60c on the remaining stock of the 65c and 80c.—Philatelic Magazine.

Monaco.—R. Roberts and B. J. Dattner has shown us the new Exhibition stamps which are of three values all of the same design. They are the work of M. Henri Chaffer, an artist of the Principality, and picture the likeness of Prince Charles III (1861-89), Prince Albert (1889-1922), and the reigning Prince Louis II. The issue is given as 50,000 each printed by the taille-douce process. They are on sale at the Exhibition only, and will be limited to four or five sets to each person. After the Exhibition they will be obtainable only through stamp dealers. Values and colors are 50c+50c red, 1fr50c+1fr50c blue, and 3fr+3fr lilac.

Portugal. — Our Oporto correspondent, Mr. J. G. Graham, kindly sends us a new shade of the 64c, Ceres type, viz., powder-blue, which, he tells us, has lately come into use.—Stamp Collecting.

Russia. — Mr. Nicolas Ananieff informs us that he has received four values of stamps issued to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the Red Army. The stamps are the same size as the latest regular issue, and have the dates "1918-1928" on each stamp. The values and shades are 8 kop. brown (Infantryman); 14 kop. blue (Russian Sailor); 18 kop. rose-red (Cavalryman); 28 kop. green (Aviator at his Controls).

Siam.—L'Echo is informed that the 15s carmine and the 28s brown-violet will be issued shortly surcharged 5 and 10s respectively. We have received copies of the 10 on 28s. The surcharge is in red.—Philatelic Magazine.

Surinam.—Whitfield King & Co. submit for chronicle copies of the 7½c, in orange-red color.

Gibraltar.—Messrs. Yvert & Tellier announce that the rumor persists that the colors of the 1 pound and 5 pound values are to be transposed, the former appearing in violet and black, and the latter in orange and black.

Greece.—Mr. P. J. Drossos reports that the Favier commemorative set was put out of use on Feb. 1st last. The 1dr had been used up some time ago, but the 6dr is a value which has not been used

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS

"Universal" Colour Scheme.—The above scheme which standardised the colours of most of the various duties employed by the Crown Colonies has been abandoned by degrees since the war, and now cannot be said to be operative except that single letter rates, home and foreign, are retained as red and blue respectively, in accordance with the agreement with the Universal Postal Union.

The significance of the above, from the financial standpoint, is that one cannot assume if a colour of a certain duty is changed in some Colonies it will be in others. The £1 value of Gibraltar recently appeared in orange and black. This is the colour used in Tanganyika, but it is not likely that all the other £1 duties are to be so changed.

Such values as the 4d, 5d, 6d, and 1/- are appearing in all sorts of fancy colours. Also, whilst the Leeward Islands (including Antigua, Dominica, Montserrat, St. Kitts, and Virgins) have abolished the 5d duty, other Colonies, such as St. Helena, are just introducing it, in which country it is the 4d that has been abolished.

Colonial Bulletin.—The latest Colonial Bulletin does not disclose anything startling. One or two expected colour changes, and new issues despatched, which had previously been announced as in preparation.

The new Cyprus set is interesting. It is to supersede the existing set for a year, and no doubt substantial numbers have been printed and there will be heavy sales, so that one cannot expect any rarities to result from it. Cyprus, which for so long managed with a 5/- as highest value, is now to have a £5 duty. The amalgamation of Postage and Revenue series is anything but a boon for the Collector. It means he is unable to complete sets, unless able to purchase such duties as £100 or 1000 Rupees. These ultra high values might well be omitted from a Postage Stamp Catalogue, when not issued or used for postal purposes. Another disadvantage of unified series is the possibility of "cleaned" fiscally cancelled stamps being offered as postally used.

The high values of Ceylon, although nominally on chalky paper, have been cleaned in very large numbers, and many of them used again on documents, etc. The loss to the Government became so large that the new high value series was introduced to prevent this.

Mauritius.—A correspondent asks me what is the current 10 rupee stamp of Mauritius, as there is none listed in Gibbons. I think the answer is that the 10 rupee Die II. on old watermark paper is still in use, or was very recently. I understand this duty has been printed on script paper, and will be issued when the other runs out. The pricing of this stamp at 35/- in Gibbons is therefore misleading. It is marked as current, however, in certain other lists and catalogues, and can be picked up at current issue prices still.

St. Kitts-Nevis.—The 2½d in blue on chalky paper may turn out quite good, as it is stated to have been issued in error. Its value largely depends on whether the catalogues, especially Scott and Gibbons, list it separately. Many of the Edwards are much scarcer on one or other of the two papers, but being grouped together, any difference in value they possess has vanished. The St. Kitts 2½d is certainly a very different colour from the first one issued before the brown stamps. Both the brown and the original blue are also quite scarce little stamps now.

Shades.—In some countries, such shades in modern issues are catalogued and in others not, and it would be an advantage if more uniformity could be secured. Thus the 6d and 2/- Gibraltar Script are listed in both shades as major varieties, whilst other Colonies, which have similar or even larger shade differences in these same duties, are not even mentioned. I rather fancy the 6d and 2/- Gibraltar 1st shade Script have been a bit overpriced, and the market price seems to be somewhat on the downgrade.

St. Lucia.—The scarcity of the 2½d orange is well known, but the fact that the 1d red and 3d blue script are also becoming quite scarce, has not been so generally recognised. The recent revision of the catalogue price shows which way the wind is blowing. Unfortunately, we have no statistics as to numbers printed. Of the 2½d orange it is stated 12,000 were printed, and of this probably about a quarter were sold by the Crown Agents in London. The 1d red and 3d blue are both still obtainable under 1/- and are good buys. There are two quite distinct shades of the 3d as listed and the dull (or paler) blue issued in 1926 must have had a very short life, as the 3d on yellow script was issued later on in the same year.

Turks & Caicos Is.—It is not necessary to remind readers that the 1922 series is worth buying. Sales have been very brisk, but it does not appear likely that there will be any very large rise in this set as a whole. There will probably be some duties that may turn out quite scarce. I rather fancy the 5d duty will be as good as any.

Newfoundland.—The new issue is an attractive series assured of good sales to collectors. It is worth noti it is to be the new permanent but that stocks of the 1923 and ous issues are to be exhauste Some criticism has been level cause complete sets were pla sale in St. John's for collectors. London for dealers, but as thi tice is quite usual with many now, not much criticism can be on this score. Of the 1923 s told collectors in my last notes values that were going to be ners." Of the new series it o mains to add that it is a credit oldest colony.—Philatelic Maga

TWO DECEASED LEADERS

B. K. MILLER, JR.

J. BRACE CHITTENDEN

We have received from Albert W. Draves, Milwaukee, Wis., the particulars of the death of Benjamin K. Miller, Jr., of that city. Mr. Miller was widely known, not only as an attorney and traveler, but as a studious stamp collector. He was seventy-one years old and died on Saturday, March 17, at the Columbia Hospital.

In his extensive trips abroad, Mr. Miller visited practically every country in the world. He was prominent as a game hunter, and maintained a summer home near Wild Rose, Wis., which was famous for its collection of wild game trophies. Some of his hunting expeditions were in the African jungles.

Mr. Miller was an authority on U. S. stamps, and gave his famous collection to the Public Library of N. Y. City about three years ago. At the time, Philip H. Ward, Jr., published the particulars of this famous collection in the WEEKLY, and we reprint it elsewhere.

Perhaps the most valuable stamp in his collection is a 30 cent invert used stamp of 1869, which cost Mr. Miller $1,750. The catalogue price is $2,000, and the actual amount required to gain possession of one of these treasures would be in advance of the catalogue figure.

Just as we are going to press with this issue, Charles J. Phillips of N. Y. City wires us the sad news of the death of J. Brace Chittenden, who has served efficiently as secretary of the Collectors Club of New York, the most influential stamp organization in the United States, and which he was also serving as a member of the Board of Directors. We are also indebted to J. M. Bartels for early information.

Dr. Chittenden was a general collector of 19th century, specializing in Austria and Mexico, and is the author of a handbook on Mexico. He was a member of the F.R.P.S.L., and a lawyer by profession. He graduated from Harvard in 1889, with the degree of A.B., and in 1890 received his A.M., and has also received various other degrees. He was a tower of strength in promoting the interests of the Collectors Club, and especially in his work upon the library. He was one of the Judges at the great Exhibition held in New York in 1926.

"Doc" Chittenden, as he was called by his many associates, had a stroke of paralysis on Saturday, March 17, and died the following Tuesday.

Preliminary Notes On Belgian Precancelled Stamps

By STEPHEN G. RICH.

At this time we also have a new type, found, so far as I know, from Charleroy only. The line with the word "Station" in brackets was removed from Charleroy Type 6 roller, and hence we have this precancel with a wide space between the place-name and date. Description:

Type 12: Type 6 with the second line of the place-name removed and a blank space left. Short date. Charleroy only, 1911 to 1922.

At this same time bilingual plate-types were introduced. At first they have short date and always the Flemish place-name above the date. This type with French place-name above the date has not yet been seen by me previous to 1922, but I list it along with the Flemish-top type in case it should occur thus early. Fig. 8 illustrates one of these types.

Description:

Type 22: Printed, bilingual.

Thin type and border.

Place-name 2.6mm high; Flemish place-name above date.

Date 3mm high: short date.

Type 23: Printed, bilingual.

Same as type 22, but French place-name above date.

With the advent of a new issue in 1912, we find no new types of precancelling; but the types in use in 1911 are applied to both series. As yet I have seen only the 1c, No. 92 (orange, large figure in center), of the new issue precancelled this year; but Mr. Metz lists the 2c, No. 93. Both the 1c, No. 82 and the 2c, No. 83, of the old issue are easily found with this date of precancelling.

A further plate-type, with full date and somewhat taller lettering in the place-names appears in 1913. In all the specimens I have seen there is a number after the place-name. This type is found only during the two years preceding the German invasion, and was not revived after the war. It comes with both the Flemish and the French place-names above the date, and hence must be listed as two types. In Fig. 9 I illustrate it. I am hoping to find it without figure after the place-name and also from towns other than Ghent and Liege.

Description:

Type 24: Printed, bilingual.

Thin type and border.

Place-name 3.0mm high, in wide type, with figure after name in all specimens seen. Flemish place-name above date.

Date 3mm high; full date.

Type 25: Printed, bilingual.

Same as type 24, but with French place-name above date.

1913 and 1914 offer us nothing especially interesting in the way of stamps precancelled. I have not seen any of the old issue that ended in 1912 precancelled from these years. All 1914 precancels are of course from that portion of the year previous to August 5, when the invasion began. Nevertheless, they are not particularly scarce.

I have not been able to find any precancels from the period between August 5, 1914, and November 11, 1918, either on the surcharged German stamps in use throughout most of the country, or on the King Albert issues in use in the little unoccupied sector. A study of the map and the places known to me, either from my own specimens or from Mr. Metz's list, as precancelling localities, shows that none of them were in the unoccupied sector.

Precancels of 1918 do exist, however. The only one I have seen is the 1c, No. 108, from Brussels, type 9.

With 1919 precancelling resumes its full swing. In this year there appear roller-types only, and all on the 1c, No. 108, and 2c, No. 109. The types in use previous to the war are continued. In Brussels, Ghent and Liege, this year finds a fair proportion of the specimens precancelled in a more or less purple ink. This ink continues into 1920, and is found sporadically, but rarely, even later. 1919 is notable also for the occurrence of erect and inverted positions of precancelling. The inverted position, in 1900, is the only exception to the normal positions, up and down, hitherto known to me. 1919 shows Ghent erect in purple and Maeseyck invert. I further note that in 1919 we find both types 9 and 10—similar, but one with Flemish and the other with French place-name above date—in use at Brussels.

In 1920 three new types appear, all rollers. All are bilingual: one type has short date; the other two have the place-names somewhat larger than those hitherto used. The double precancel, found as early as 1897, and occasionally all the time since then according to Mr. H. S. Ackerman, is found in 1920 and 1921 fairly frequently. The three new types need not be illustrated: the descriptions are sufficiently explicit.

Type 13: Bilingual: place-names 2.2 mm high. French place-name above date.

Date 2.2mm high: short date.

Type 14: Bilingual: place-names 3.1 mm high. Flemish place-name above date.

Date 2.2mm high: full date.

Type 15: Bilingual: exactly like type 14, but French place-name above date.

Sevard's Twinkles

Mr. Armand Weiss who collects fanciful fancies, shows us three covers he swiped from the company's mail, all of which bear a Cuatro Centavos Colombian stamp together with a half centavo stamp in red, ostensibly for the "Junta de Defensa de Barranquilla." This, one believes, is a patriotic local of some sort, as it bears a legend "Premio De Patriotismo" in a shield, showing a geodetic triangulation station, a rampart, two cannon, which might serve as anchors, and two men in two canoes hunting duck. A chap on shore raises one arm, as if he had joined the Mussolini crowd, even tho he wears a white shirt.

Each cover has a nice cancel. The first shows a double ring town 31mm and 20 mm, in magenta. The outer legend is "United Fruit Company" above, and "Steamship Service" below. The inner legend is "Posted on the High Seas" with date and "Purser S. S. Santa Marta." Another in black shows the "S. S. Metapan," and the third is the usual New York "Paquebot," our 25mm duplex. These things come along every now and then, but mostly then.

TODAY WE WERE DUNNED FOR EXPRESS CHARGES FROM CINCINNATI BY MEANS OF THE 1C JEFFERSON POSTCARD, PERFORATED TOP AND BOTTOM, SIDES IMPERFORATE. EVER SINCE THE NEW PERFS CAME OUT, WE HAVEN'T DARED ANNOUNCE WHAT PERF GAUGE WE FOUND.

And along came another 1c Jefferson postcard on a stiff, hard paper, entirely different from the buff soft paper or the white glazed early papers. The paper resembles that crisp, hard, oily brown board usually found on order books, the kind you used when you thought you could sell aluminum dish pans during summer vacations, or like that paper the grocer used to make sugar cornucopias out of, Saturday nights when you paid the grocery bill with Mamma. And then the grocer would give you a little bag of gum drops "for the little fellow." Try it these days. Mrs. A & P chuckles every time you squeeze your last dime.

February 29th came along with its odd cancel influenza. Do they ship out bills by the carload in your town on the last day of the month? And we might as well steel our hearts to the February 30th error which someone will pan off on us as something unusual.

The "Let's Go" slogan appeared in Chicago on March first. That's a good one, because when you go to one of those camps, you'll get to March first all right.

A PERFECT STAMP, SAYS ONE, HAS IMPECCABLE EVENNESS OF MARGINS. WHY IMPECCABLE? MUST A STAMP NOW RUN TO THE CONFESSIONAL, AND WAIL IN ANGUISH "PECCAVI, PECCAVI, PECCAVI, GLORIA PATRI" LIKE SOME HARASSED SOUL FEEL-

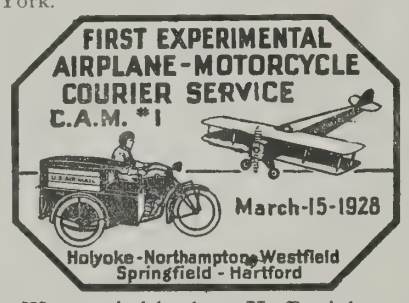
ING THE PERSONAL PROVOCATIVE TO PENITENCE?

Yet there is reason for defining stamp condition, and Phillipics from old P. M., J. O. Moore, Stanley Gibbons, and various anchoret writers plead the cause of the stamp dealer who would gladly sell only perfect copies, if such be had. J. O. Moore says "it is quite impossible to compile a catalog giving accurate prices on every degree of fineness," which opens the door to the chap who feels that there are no more worlds to conquer. Have an Alexander.

First Flight

—Experimental Airplane Motorcycle Courier Service Inaugurated.

The latest in experimental mail service is a combination of airplane and motorcycle in a so-called "courier service" connected with C.A.M. No. 1. The first flight was made March 15, 1928, the motorcycle connecting Holyoke, Northampton, Westfield and Springfield, with airplane service from Hartford to New York.



We are indebted to H. P. Atherton and George W. Angers for first day covers. A very interesting cancellation is used. In a design octagonal in shape is found a motorcycle and an airplane, with date "March 15, 1928," and suitable inscriptions at top and bottom. This marking is in purple, and is supplemented by the following inscription in red, on the Westfield mail:—

"This letter is despatched by first trip of Courier Auxiliary to Air Mail in United States from Westfield, Mass."

This flight is an historic one, and the Springfield, Mass., papers made a great deal of it. Celebrations were staged at various points on the route, and a banquet was served at the Hotel Bond at Hartford, to local officials and philatelists.

—B. K. Miller Collection Donated to the New York Public Library

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

When we talk of wonderful collections or accumulations of United States stamps, we naturally think of the east, but we find that Mr. B. K. Miller of Milwaukee has brought together one of the world's finest collections of our issues. Insofar as the covering of the whole field is concerned, I know of no collection so comprehensive, for Mr. Miller, a real student of our stamps, not only collects the adhesive postage varieties, but collects the Departments, the Newspapers, Re-issues, Special Printings and all other oddities interesting to the advanced specialist. He desires unused specimens, blocks, covers and cancellations, and in the latter case he wants those varieties which prove the use of the postage stamp in certain peculiar ways, for instance, the cancellation may indicate that the stamp has been used on Registered Mail, on Supplementary Mail, on Parcel Post, or some other special class.

In this very unusual collection is to be found practically everything in the way of general issues, from 1847 to date. This includes a partially reconstructed of the 10c 1847, numerous blocks a pieces of the 1851, including recon ed sheets of most of the 3c plates. 1861 series, Mr. Miller possess August issue complete, all of th tember varieties, and practically the rare grills, including the 30c all over. In the way of re-issu special prints, his is one of the fe lections that is complete in this l he has them all, including the ra papers of 1880, in addition to the milion and 5c blue Taylor on bot and soft papers.

Insofar as Department stamps a cerned, he counts among his treasu tire sheets of the $10 and $20 Sta

In the way of Newspapers his tion is complete, it containing th Bureau and Special Prints—the "Specimen" varieties and the in rated emissions, of which but few issued. Mr. Miller has also r added to his collection the very f of Franklin and Eagle carriers together by Dr. Chase.

URUGUAY
ISSUES 1856-1877 ONLY

I have to announce that I have just purchased a well known collection formed in Montevideo, Uruguay, and comprising the classic issues of 1856 to 1877 only. The famous "Diligencia" issue of 1856 is represented by 17 fine copies.

The large "double figures" issue of March, 1858, by the following:—

120c blue	3.00
180c green	8.00
240c vermilion	32.00

Included in this issue are many rare shades, stamps on thick paper and interesting varieties.

1859. Thin figures. A fine lot of all values and some fine unused blocks.

1860-62. Thick figures. Also a fine lot an unusual item being a cover franked with the rare 180c green and a 60c, making the 240c rate to Buenos Aires.

1864. All shades, an outstanding item being a mint block of 4 of the 8c salmon-red on very thick paper.

1866. The surcharged issue is a good lot, including the tete-beche 10c and some rare errors. Also a number of fine used, which are much rarer than catalogued and which sell in Montevideo up to double catalogue prices.

Jan., 1866. Imperf. A grand lot of these interesting stamps, including wonderful mint blocks, such as 5c blue, blocks of the 60, 8 and 4. 10c green, block of 12. Also many of the errors.

In the later issues I draw especial attention to one of the rarest items in Uruguay stamps. The American Bank Note Co. engraved the issue of 1877-79 and made an error in the first printing of the 1 peso blue. The arms in the oval are too small and the quarterings are reversed. This was found out and not issued and most of the stock was destroyed. A few copies are known in great collections, but is one of the great desiderata of advanced collectors.

Approval books of any issue can be sent on demand.

MIDWESTERN PHILATELIC EXHIBITION

ALBERT S. HILL, Treasurer.

Being a treasurer is somewhat of a habit with Mr. Hill. Having joined the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club in 1921, he was elected treasurer the following year, and has been re-elected annually ever since. He has the distinction of being the only member of our Club who has the picture of a relative (Seward) on our postage stamps.

Albert began collecting as a small boy, but dropped the hobby upon entering high school. With his boyhood collection as a starter, he began collecting again in 1920, and is a general collector.

Appreciating the value of association with other collectors, he promptly joined the local club, and also became a member of the A. P. S., No. 6827.

Though most of his business experience has been in banking, he is now engaged in the auto business, and in the manufacture of auto engines.

A FIND

By THEODORE L. BEHR.

United States collectors may be interested to hear of a find of a block of eighty-two of the 1c 1851, Type 4, among the duplicates of a collection placed in the hands of Edward P. Seebohm, the well-known San Francisco dealer for auction. The sheet was stuck down in an old MEKEEL'S album, and a part sheet of 3c 1857 had adhered to the face from age and pressure. Careful handling removed practically all trace of the 3c sheet, and a large part of the original gum has been preserved on the back of the one-cent sheet. The collector, now deceased, had cut out stamp No. 1, and put it in the regular space in his album. This has been replaced in its proper position in the sheet.

There are 81 stamps intact on the block, which is from the left hand pane. The entire bottom row is gone, and stamps 70, 79, 80, 86, 87, 88, 89 and 90 are also gone. Otherwise it is complete with full imprint and plate, and shows a great many interesting varieties, and is of inestimable value in plating. Two of the three inverted transfers are present, Nos. 71, 81. These both show the variety plainly, and there are some traces of the inverted impression in the sheet margin. Five of the cracked plates are in the block, Nos. 2, 40, 46, 50 and 60. They are rather difficult to see, requiring a strong glass to bring them out.

There are twenty-seven double transfers in the block, some are quite faint, but others are very strong. It is from a late impression and shows the recutting very plainly. The double recut at top and bottom, No. 52, is very easily seen, and all the double top recuts are present. Those most difficult to identification are the stamps of the top row, which are recut at bottom only. Being nearly a full transfer, the top line is complete and appears to be recut. However, upon careful comparison the recut stamps can be identified.

This sheet has been shown to Stanley B. Ashbrook, the well-known specialist on these stamps. In his opinion it is the largest imperforate 1c block in existence.

THE feature, "Fifteen Minutes with Stamp Collectors" will be broadcast over radio station KFRC by Norman Shepard, on Mondays from 4.15 to 4.30, Pacific Standard Time, instead of Tuesdays. The change takes place on Monday, March 26. Mr. Shepard is doing an excellent work.

My New Issue Service
continues to grow. Starting only a few weeks ago, I have just opened the 25th box. I charge 32 cents per shilling, and the service is for those who shop in first class stores.

I shall be only too pleased to send the Prospectus of this New Issue Service to any collector who wishes to look it over.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THE TRADE

Although in October we published by several thousand the largest edition of catalogues we had ever issued, the

1928 EDITION

is completely exhausted and no more orders can be filled.

We wish again to emphasize to our trade the importance of accurately estimating public demand for this volume; for our printing order must be largely based upon estimates taken from advance orders.

We are ready to co-operate in every possible way and request our dealers also to co-operate with us and their customers in making their estimates ample, and as accurate as possible.

EDITORIAL

In the weekly sheaf of clippings that come to us, there have been accounts of stamp exhibits in the windows of business places and institutions, latterly, to prove that telling work is being done in the direct introduction of stamps to the public. It is apparent, too, that some of these informal displays depend on air mail envelopes as a feature calculated to attract the eye of the outsider. This development is mentioned because of the growing interest of the public in all that pertains to air mail progress, and we have had proof that displays of the kind have provided the means for connecting the philatelic "prospect" with our pursuit. We have just learned that a Chicago newspaper intends to exploit the stamp side of air mail service by a striking exhibit, as well as otherwise, and particulars will soon be forthcoming, no doubt.

The Milwaukee newspapers give prominence to the news of the death of Benjamin Kurtz Miller, Jr., of that city, on March 17th; and philatelists will regret to hear of the passing on of this distinguished student of the stamps of our country at the age of seventy-one years. His death took place at the University Club, and was due to a cerebral hemorrhage followed by pneumonia, and the funeral services were held on March 19th. As the collecting world knows, Mr. Miller gave his collection of the U. S. issues to the New York public library several years ago, when the generosity of Mr. Miller in thus conferring a public benefit was generally applauded. Mr. Miller was a thorough student who possessed a logical mind that stood him in good stead in considering the obscurer problems presented by some of the aspects of our issues; and we gratefully acknowledge his aid at different times in explaining details that were not apparent on the surface. Mr. Miller was known to some kindred collecting spirits whom he entertained on occasion, and at one time, he was an active competitor for choice specimens for his collection. Mr. Miller was a member of the oldest law firm in Wisconsin, and was the author of several works on legal procedure. He was a member of clubs in London and New York, as well as in Milwaukee. As a traveler he visited almost all of the countries of the world; and incidentally, he had won his spurs as a big game hunter in Africa. His summer home at Wild Rose, Wisconsin, contained many trophies of the chase. As the Milwaukee Journal says, "tracing the history of stamps of the United States, and associating them with significant events was his hobby." Philately is the better for Mr. Miller's identification with it; and his quiet, strong personality will long remain a picture with us.

From Mr. Richard J. Schwarz, Chicago, we have received the following timely information on the subject of Mexico-U. S. Airmail, which is based on the testimony of a letter from the Post Office Director General, dated Mexico City, March 10, 1928, now in the possession of Mr. Schwarz: "On February 17, I saw an Associated Press dispatch in one of the daily papers saying that air mail service was to be established in about ten days from that date, between Mexico City, with stops at Guanajuato, San Luis Potosi, Monterey, all in Mexico, to Laredo, Texas. Promptly, I prepared several covers, and in my poor Spanish, wrote to the P.M., at Mexico City, requesting that these covers be carried on the first flight to the U. S. Fifteen days passed and I saw not even a scrap of further news regarding the proposed service. However, on March 20th, I received a large official envelope registered, containing my envelopes, which were returned with a courteous letter from Senor R. Becerra Soto, Chief of the Department of Transports, Railway Section, Office of the P. O. Director General. Since most of the information contained in this letter is of importance to air mail collectors and will settle several doubtful points, the following translation of parts of the letter is made: 'As the rate, which will be in force, is to be $0.75 Mexican, for each piece of 20 grammes or fraction, sent to points in this country, allow me to inform you to that effect for future reference. At the same time, also be advised that this service will not be inaugurated for two or three months, and the exact date on which it will become effective will be communicated in ample time through the Associated Press, no doubt. For that reason, I am returning your covers so that you may keep them until you have the exact date on which the service will become effective, at which time I ask that you please send the necessary amount for the pieces that you desire, either in bills, or by International Money Order, and by no means in postage stamps of the U. S., nor in silver coins'."

A reader says that in one of the English catalogues "the portrait on the Guatemalan railway stamps surcharged for postal uses in 1886 is given as that of M. Rivera Paz" while "elsewhere it has been called that of General Barrios," and he wishes to be informed which is correct. When these stamps first appeared, they were described as bearing the portrait of General Don Justo Barrios, who was president of Guatemala for successive terms, but who was killed at the Battle of Chalchuapa in Salvador in April of the year 1885, and we find that Moens ascribes the bust of Barrios. This Barrios was not he who became president of Guatemala in March, 1892, and was assassinated in February, 1898, it is needless to add.

The Moens' catalogue referred to was the 1893 edition of a work that was considered the indispensable catalogue of its day, and which was quoted with an air of finality in the solving of philatelic problems. This seventh or last edition of the monumental work appeared in three large volumes, and its scope may be imagined when it is said that 179 pages are allotted to postals and letter cards, and 352 pages to fiscals. Such is the amplitude of the catalogue that it remains a living tribute to the distinguished compiler who made his name and city, Bruxelles, Belgium, famous the philatelic world over. It may be added that this catalogue is out of print, and is to be found only on the library shelves, as a rule, of the older stamp students.

It should be said in connection with the discussion on Mexican aerial postal service that the statement made by Mr. Ward on page 140 of the issue of February 20th, to the effect that Mexico was not prepared as yet to establish an air mail route from Mexico City to the southern boundary of the United States, was based on information supplied by our post office department. In the circular on the subject that was sent from Washington, proposed routes are mentioned, but it is evident from the text that no route had been established. However, the letter that was submitted for inspection by Mr. Adolph Sonntag, Chicago, as having been received from Mexico in Chicago, on February 18, 1928, bore the impression "Servicio Postal Aereo," and this Spanish notation evidently referred to aerial service from the American station to Chicago.

An interesting letter has come from a reader who wishes to know if collectors are aware of the existence of a work that dwells on the philatelic theme to the extent that the book may be called a work of philatelic fiction. He refers to "A Third Person," by Mrs. B. M. Croker, published in London (F. V. White and Co.) well over thirty years ago. Further, our correspondent outlines the plot at some length, but we think it advisable at present merely to recommend the book, which is a sparkl cital of a philatelic romance in a minor key. It was duly commen the stamp journals of the time, an atelic patrons of libraries today try to resurrect it for an evening' ing.

STO. DOMINGO-HAITI AIR MAIL

By HARRY E. HUBER.

On Thursday, July 14, 1927, an experimental flight was made from Barahona, Dominican Republic, to Port au Prince, Haiti, in one of the small planes belonging to the West Indian Aerial Express, with a mail of twelve letters (one being official) prepared the week before.

Only the 2c ordinary letter rate was charged, and prepaid by means of the 2c red, Santiago de los Caballeros Exhibition stamp of May, 1927. The postmark, applied in blue-green, is "Barahona, Republica Dominicana," within a single lined circle, 25mm, with "JUL—8—1927," in three lines in the center; to the right of the circle are five horizontal lines, 45mm long, and spaced 4mm vertically. At Port au Prince the letters were backstamped "Port au Prince, Haiti," within a single lined circle, 28mm, with "14—JUL—27" in the center in three lines. To the face was added the special marking, 45 x 28mm, first used when the Port au Prince to Jeremie inland air mail service was inaugurated on July 12, 1927.

The official letter, addressed to the "Administrator des Poste, Port au Prince, Haiti," was enclosed in a penalty envelope (i.e., "Asuntos oficiales—Multa por uso privado $100"), bearing in the upper left corner, in four lines, "Republica de Dominicana—Secretaria de E. de Fomento y Comunicaciones—Direccion General de Correos y Telegrafos—Administracion." On the face of the envelope (and on the back, over the flap), in red, is an official seal consisting of a double lined circle, 50mm, inscribed around the inside "Administracion Pral de Correos Barahona, R.D.," and enclosing the Arms of the Republic. The face also bears the blue-green postmark of "Barahona, R.D. JUL—8—1927" described above, and in addition, in blue-green, a special marking "CORREO AEREO" preceded by an index hand, the whole measuring 82mm in length. This official letter was not backstamped at Port au Prince, neither did it receive the special air marking.

On Monday, July 18, 1927, the plane returned to the Dominican Republic, with an air mail of 90 letters for Barahona, and 473 letters for Santo Domingo City. The details of this mail have already been given in my article on "West Indian Aerial Express," which appeared in M. W.S.N. of January 23, 1928.

I hold a splendid stock of rarer 19th Century Colonial material.

20TH CENTURY

I have a wonderful stock of these—the catalogue value of several of the most popular Colonies running singly way into five figures — and in some instances exceeding the astounding amounts of $50.000 and $60.000 per Colony. There are no sub-varieties or freaks included to swell these valuations.

All in all, I have no hesitancy in claiming for this wealth of material that it is the world's leading stock of modern British Colonials. The largest collectors in the country — and a great many prominent foreign collectors — are buying from this stock. I do not believe there is a day when new names are not added to my large clientele.

I invite you to compare my prices with any other market — even though I am confident that you will find my stamps to be in a condition that will delight you.

In my business attempt is never made to unload stamps at "fictitious" prices. I do not sell current stamps like the ST. HELENA 7/6, ST. VINCENT 5d and others at 100% or more over face. One of our most ambitious "tipsters" has had the ST. HELENA 7/6 down as "the best stamp of the month". In itself truly a wonderful title to give any stamp — I would like to have the description more clearly defined! Personally, I would rather describe it as "the most popular and most expensive current stamp on the American market"! I know of nothing that would indicate its obsolescence.

Norway

—An Interesting Little Auction Room Experience with No. 4

By GUSTAVE LARSON.

It may interest specialists in the stamps of Norway to know the prices realized on a few items at a recent auction in Norway. A block of four of Scott's No. 2, brought $71, a block of No. 5 went for $23, and a block of four of Scott's No. 4 received a bid of only about $13.

This recalls to my mind the block of eight of this stamp which caused such furore of excitement at the Worcester auction two years ago. This block was run up to the stupendous sum of $165, on what was claimed was an out-of-town bid.

The writer was hot in the competition, acting for a party out West, but of course missed it, only to be approached by the auctioneers later with regards to taking it over, as, "sadly enough," the bidder had been under the impression that he had been bidding on a block of No. 1, and of course upon discovering his mistake promptly returned the item.

Wisely enough, my client refused to consider it, and I do not know where the block is today. A certain dealer "it is said," claimed he could take the block and split it into two fours, and sell each for a $100, but don't know if he did it or not.

Stamp News for the Juniors

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

The Ideal Collection

By F. H. Buck, Jr.

When a youngster starts out to collect, or when the veteran collector decides to shift albums, he has three alternatives: first, he can put his collection in printed albums; second, he can put his collection in sectional albums; and third, he can place his collection in blank albums. Some collectors may be in a quandary as to which is the ideal choice. For them we will try and define an ideal collection.

There can be no ideal collection from any one man's point of view. The duty of the hobby is to satisfy the natural craving of a man to collect. There are men who do not care in what manner they collect, but collect only for the pleasure of possessing. To those who are "stamp gatherers" the printed albums should be ideal. A collection must be housed. The printed album is a house for an accumulation of stamps.

Next there is the man who does a little more than gather stamps; he collects stamps. And in the interest of systematic and scientific collecting such a man naturally desires the sectional albums, which are accordingly his ideal. Thus a man is able to specialize in the countries which are of interest to him.—Pacific Stamp News.

Double Impression

By Philip H. Ward, Jr.

When a catalog lists a double impression, it means that the stamp has been printed twice—that is, one impression on top of another. The most distinct and most desirable are those which have actually gone through the press a second time. Double impressions often occur as in the case of our surface offset printed stamps of 1918-20, where the roll has slipped and contains ink from a previous impression, thus giving a type of double print that we have not had heretofore. Quite often, double transfers are confused with double impressions. But in the case of the former, the variety is a plate variety, whereas in the double impression, we have a printing error.

Observation Contest

By Victor M. Suarez, Merida, Mex.

I am an enthusiastic philatelist and want every one in the world to enjoy our hobby. Boys must enter philately, and when bigger they will be real Philatelists. We have to work to develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

I think the best way for this is to induce junior collectors to study their stamps. An easy way to do this is by means of observation contests. Now I am proposing that you open a prize contest in your Junior section.

Here are 10 questions and there will be various prizes, depending upon the number of entries. Send in all the replies you can, and neatness and originality will have weight in awarding prizes. If only one question be answered, proper credit will be given you. Here are the questions:—

(1)—What stamp shows the legend of the she-wolf nursing Romulus and Remus?

(2)—On what stamp is represented a fencing bout?

(3)—On what South American stamps is depicted George Washington's likeness?

(4)—On what recent stamp appear the words: "Nadie la apagará"?

(5)—What recent stamps represent places of Bible interest?

(6)—What stamp bears the inscription "Xmas, 1898"?

(7)—What Greek deity is the most commonly seen on stamps?

(8)—On what U. S. stamp a viking galley is depicted?

(9)—On what stamps is depicted a house interior?

(10)—On what U. S. stamp is depicted a Spanish queen?

All answers should be sent to Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News, Beverly, Mass., before May 1. Get busy Juniors.

A Little Bit Of Old Erin

("West High Tattler", Des Moines, Ia.)

The Irish Free State came into existence on December 6, 1921. Immediately the government in charge made arrangements for the overprinting of British stamps. The first set of these provisionals of the Irish Free State was issued February 17, 1922. This set consisted of all values of the current British series, with a five-line overprint in Gaelic, reading: "Rialtas Sealadach na hEireann 1922" which means "Provisional Government of Ireland, 1922." For nearly a year the stamps of the Irish Free State were overprinted British values bearing the words "Rialtas Sealadach." Efforts were made, however, to secure permanent designs. An official competition was announced which closed February 25, 1922. A prize of 25 pounds was offered for any design accepted.

Design Changed

On December 6, 1922, the ki Great Britain formally ratified th Free State and the permanent g ment was installed. Immediatel printers were told to overprint stat Eireann" (Irish Free State) than "Rialtas Sealadach na hEi (Provisional Government of Irela the British stamps. Confederate "Essays"

One of our juniors, Robert K. Story, wishing to know the origin of some "essays" of Confederate stamps sent a set to us for our inspection. The set consisted of a 10c value in the design of the 5c 1862, A4, illustrated in the catalog, and printed in gray, brown, blue, orange and green. Philip H. Ward, Jr., writes us the following concerning these essays:

"I have your letter with enclosure, and in reply would advise that the Confederate items which you send, and which I herewith return, might be designated as —"Essays." These 10c plates similar to the 5c plates, which were used to make stamps, were made during the Civil War, but were captured—hence, never were used to produce stamps.

Several years back, the plates were found and the impression such as you have, were run off by a Columbus, Ohio, dealer. They are interesting as impressions from original plates, and if I recall rightly, he distributed sets such as you have, free of charge with a subscription to his stamp paper. I trust this is the information desired."

Gumpaps, Etc.

Gumpaps.—A coined word much in vogue at one time in England as a contemptuous cognomen for "speculative" stamps.

Gutegr.—An abbreviation for "gutegroschen" as shown upon the 4/4ggr stamp of Brunswick.

Gutengr.—Another abbreviation for the same word as shown upon the 1ggr stamps of Hanover.

Gutengroschen.—(or Gutegroschen). —The value in which some of the stamps of Brunswick and Hanover were expressed. A gutengroschen had a value of about 3c in United States currency.

Guyane.—The French form of Guiana as shown upon most of the stamps for that colony issued prior to 1904.

Guyane Francaise.—The inscription shown upon the current stamps of French Guiana.

IAN PRECANCELLED STAMPS

obably a type similar to type 13, short date and with Flemish place- above date will be found. In that it will be type 14, and my types 14 15 will each advance one number.

1 offers only one point of interest. the fall in value of the franc, and onsequent raising of postal rates, the o. 139, issued to meet this need, ap- precancelled. Double precancels nue.

2 is marked by the revival of pre- lling by a plate in a printing-press. bilingual short-date design, type 22, rived; and type 23, similar, but with h name above date, is used at Brus- and Liege. It will be recalled that ed this type along with type 22, in on the probability of its being l in pre-war use also. The new is- which appeared in 1921 and 1922, comes precancelled in 1922; as a re- we find precancels in this year of c, No. 108, and 1c, No. 145, 3c, No. and 3c, No. 147, from the same s and in the same types in some . The steady fall of the franc con- d through 1922; accordingly, we find c, No. 110, precancelled for the first in this year. This green 5c is, as s I know, found precancelled only 22. The gray 5c, No. 148, replaces m 1923 onwards.

. Metz mentions that the "Tin " or "Roi Casque" stamps of 1919- ist precancelled. I have not yet them thus. He does not mention the or type; but it is likely that it will roller-precancel, perhaps as late as but more likely earlier.

th 1923 a new printed make-up, distinguishable from all previous ncellations is introduced. This is l in three types: two of them bilin- varying by the language of the -name on top; and the third with place-name in one language only. monolingual form I have seen only Charleroy. The 1923 printed types use up to the present. They may ld readily from all other precancel of Belgium by the fact that the are printed from a font in which numerals have serifs, and always full dates. These serifs are more nicuous than the small ones on the es in the short-date bilingual printed types, 22 and 23. In figure 10 I show one of these types. Description:

Type 26: Printed, bilingual.

Medium type and border: dates fairly heavy.

Place-names 3.1mm high: Flemish name above date.

Date 3.1mm high, with serifs on figures. Full date.

Type 27: Printed, bilingual.

Same as type 26 with French name above date.

Type 28: Printed: place-name in one language only.

Same sizes and kinds of type as Type 26.

The years since 1923 offer nothing new that I know of in the way of types, new stamps precancelled, etc. There is a slight tend towards more of the non-bilingual type 7 precancelling, and the number of places using precancels seems to have reached its pre-war size.

Especially during the immediate post-war period, there is a slight tendency towards a rounding of the corners of the frame enclosing the precancellation; but this is evidently due to wear, and can be seen increasing year by year in some cases.

Mr. Metz mentions that No. 242, the 2c charity stamp of 1911, and No. 397, the 5c postage due of 1919, exist precancelled. I have not yet seen them.

The Belgian precancels appear to have been used, and to be used entirely on printed-matter. Without exception, when it has been possible to identify the piece of paper on which one was found, it has proven, in all cases known to me, to be a portion of a wrapper used on a periodical. This will account for the limitation of precancelling to the few low values. Precancels and ordinary stamps used together exist: I have a piece from Brussels, 1922, showing the precancelled 1c and 2c together with ordinary 5c and 50c on what appears to be a portion of a wrapper from a large bundle of newspapers. The cancellation on the ordinary stamps reads "Brussels, Journaux" in an oval.

Precancels will be found with the word "REBUT" or a portion of it stamped over them. These are taken from "returned-to-sender" copies of journals, and the overprint "Rebut" will be found to be a post-office mark that extends onto the cover, if any of it can be seen.

I cannot end this series of preliminary notes without a suggestion as to listing of these precancels. I have, early in the article, suggested that the term "normal" for a position of the cancellation be discarded as misleading, and that we recognize the four positions "up," "down," "erect," and "inverted." I would further suggest that we make no attempt to call the first type used in any city "Type I," the second "Type II," etc., but that we adopt the general type-numbers, and those only. Thus we shall gain all the advantages of the "Universal" system. In fact, if the copywriter of the "Universal" will permit of its being done, I suggest that we extend his system to Belgian precancels and include in it every Belgian type.

This is a preliminary set of notes; anyone who can correct any errors in them will do me a favor by such an action.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

I WANT:—

At the present time, I am especially anxious for certain United States items in order to fill in blank spaces here and there in the albums of my clients. In each and every case, I desire fine copies only, and where possible, I prefer them in mint condition. Please place prices on each individual item and remember that I offer immediate cash.

1851—1c I, 1c III, Mint blocks of all values.
1857—1c Ia, 1c III, 1c IV.
1860—Imperforate 30c, 90c.
1861—August 1c, 5c, 12c, 30c, 90c.
1861—5c to 90c in mint blocks.
1862—3c scarlet and 15c in blocks.
1867—Grill 5c, 30c, 90c in blocks.
1869—30c Inverted Center.
1869—Blocks 6c to 90c.
Bank Notes—6c up in blocks.
1898—8c Omaha, part perf. pair or block.
1901—1c, 4c inverted centers.
1909—Blue Paper 4c, 5c, 8c in blocks.
1922-26—1c Rotary, Perf. 11x11 (⅜594).
Revenues—All the rare inverted centers.

What have you to offer? Also please remember that I am in the market to buy any other fine and rare individual items as well as substantial U. S. Collections.

If you want to fill that space — if it is an United States stamp I am likely to have it. Prices based on condition and rarity. Best of banking, commercial and philatelic references, if desired.

Air Mail Notes

On Saturday morning, March 3, 1928, Lieutenants Albert F. Hegenberger and Harry Johnson hopped off in a Ford-Stout all-metal plane from Boston for Detroit, accompanied by Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh as passenger.

On this trip one hundred letters were carried from the Boston Airport to Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, Mich. These covers bear on the reverse a 2-cent stamp showing a Boston postmark of March 3, 1928, at 7 A. M., one hour before the hop-off. On arrival at Mount Clemens, the covers were remailed with a 10-cent air mail stamp, and received the Mount Clemens postmark, dated March 5th, at 4.30 P. M., with the Boston air mail receipt mark on the back, dated March 7th, at 10.30 A. M. We are told that the plane in going West stopped over Buffalo on March 4th.

As this air mail flight was not an official flight, it was necessary to post the communications with a 2-cent stamp addressed to Lieut. Johnson, in order to have them receive the Boston postmark. They were promptly mailed on their arrival at Mount Clemens, and the further air mail stamp necessitated a postmark at that point. This is one of the methods evolved sometime back, in order to get the postmarks at both points, where a flight was not officially authorized.

These interesting covers carry a further marking in green, unofficial of course, reading "Carried by Lieuts. Hegenberger and Johnson—Mrs. E. L. Lindbergh passenger—March 3, 1928," and below this on a dotted line, which is part of the same marking, we find the autograph of Lieut. Hegenberger. We thank Mr. Arthur Barger for sending one of these covers for inspection.

It will be remembered that Lieut. Hegenberger is the pilot who successfully flew over the Pacific.

Mr. George W. Angers kindly sends four covers via the First Experimental Airplane-Motorcycle Courier Service, which was described in this column quite recently. The mail was carried via motorcycle on March 15th, from Holyoke, North Hampton, Westfield, and Springfield, to air connections with C.A.M. No. 1, and was carried via air mail the rest of the way. These four covers bear the postmarks of the four cities men and in addition an octagonal m similar to the official contract ai service postmark reading "First E mental Airplane-Motorcycle Couri vice C.A.M. No. 1, March 15, Holyoke - North Hampton - We Springfield - Hartford." This m which was applied in violet, shows ture of an airplane, together with torcycle, marked "U. S. Mail." back we find the New York pos The cover from Westfield has in a on both the front and the back a n marking in five lines reading "Thi is dispatched by first trip of Auxiliary to Air Mail in the States from Westfield, Massach

It is to be noted from the daily that Colonel Lindbergh is endeavo further interest members of the and House, in the air mail serv taking them on personal trips "Spirit of St. Louis" over Wash The Bill recently passed by the of Representatives, and which wi out doubt finally become law, c a reduction of the postal rates mail from ten cents per half ounc present, to five cents per ounce, viously stated. This will materi crease the use of the air mail, time is no doubt quite near, when substantial portion of our first cl will travel in the air.

New South Carolina Revenue

Mr. J. V. Nielsen, Jr., writes order to take care of the new pr of South Carolina's revenue 1928, that the Tax Commissi shortly issue new tax stamps drinks in denominations of—19 c cents, 76 cents, $7.60 and $76, t fixed to containers of concentrat fountain sirups at a rate of 76 gallon.

The tax was formerly collect 20 per cent tax charged by the d on each individual sale, but the n vision requires that the tax be a concentrated sirup containers.

As the stamps have not, as y issued, Mr. Nielsen furnishes n mation as to their design.

have received this stamp on two shades of paper, one being a pale yellow, while the other is a deeper color.

Kuwait.—Mr. A. L. Greenway kindly tells us that in April, 1928, the local post office will be taken over by the Indian authorities, and Indian stamps will then be used.

He also gives the interesting information that the 1r and 2r Kuwait, ordinary, and the 3a, orange, Service, are now out of stock, no more being available. Used stamps, unless postmarked by favour, are very hard to get, particularly the higher values.—Gibbons' Stamp Journal.

Lithuania.—A friend of ours who has just returned from this penurious country regales us with details and reminiscences which certainly do not fill us with a headlong desire to spend our summer holidays in Lithuania this year. The mountains therefore come to Mahomet. Here are further details (by courtesy of Messrs. Yvert & Tellier) of the impending Tenth Anniversary of Independence commemoratives, already chronicled in these columns:—Portrait of President Smetona, 500,000 of each: 5c brown and green, 10c violet and black, 15c orange and brown, 25c blue and dark blue. Chainbreaker: 50c blue and brown, 60c red and black. Soldiers in Trenches: 1l green and grey.—Stamp Collecting.

Madeira. — L'Echangiste Universel illustrates a new design, which it states will be issued shortly. The inscription at the top will be altered to "PORTUGAL—CORREIO" and "MADEIRA" will appear in relief on a solid background in a tablet at the foot. The centre will show the conventional figure of "Ceres." The values are stated to be 4, 5, 6, 10, 15, 16, 25, 32, 40, 50, 64, 80, 96 centavos, 1, 1.20, 1.60, 2.40, 3.36, 4.50 and 7 escudos.—Philatelic Magazine.

Malta. — An esteemed correspondent kindly sends us the appended cutting from the Malta Daily Chronicle of February 16th:—

"At the same sitting of the Senate, Mr. Arrigo asked the Head of the Ministry whether the Government is prepared to revert to the former system of having "Revenue and Postage stamps" combined for all purposes. The Right Hon. Lord Strickland replied in the affirmative.

Asked whether the reversion would take place in the near future, Lord Strickland replied that he would not give any information that might encourage speculation and help speculators."—Stamp Collecting.

Patiala. — Whitfield King & Co. report the ½a, 1a and 2a current stamps of India watermarked multiple stars with the one line surcharge "Patiala State" in black.

Straits Settlements.—Mr. O. H. Gray passes on to us, for what it is worth, an unconfirmed local report that the Straits Settlements and Federated Malay States will shortly combine for postal purposes and will thenceforward use a common series of postage stamps. It is at least an interesting possibility.—Gibbons' Stamp Journal.

Tripoli.—New Series. Il Corriere Filatelico illustrates six new designs, which we gather are the work of Professor Aleard Terzi and will be issued on the occasion of the 2nd Fiéra Campionaria di Tripoli. These words form part of the inscription.

The three low values are of normal size and bear at each side a bundle of Lictor's staves, above which is the legend given above, in the centre is on the 30c, a view apparently of Tripoli with a tall minaret in the foreground, on the 50c a palm tree, and on the 1.25 lire some camels.

The three high values are oblong, each with the bundle of Lictor's staves at the side with the date "1928" super-imposed on the left bundle. Values are 1.75, 2.55 and 5 lire.—Philatelic Magazine.

Union of South Africa. — There will be no further printing of the 4d value in triangular form. To take its place, a stamp more in keeping with the others of recent issue has already been produced by Messrs. Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co., and will shortly be in use. We understand on high authority that this stamp is of rectangular formation and that it depicts a South African kraal. A supply has already been dispatched to South Africa.—Stamp Collecting.

SANDINO STICKERS SPURNED

(Clipping, Judson Knappen.)

NEW YORK, March 15.—Postmaster General Harry S. New and Postmaster John J. Kiely of New York were ordered yesterday by Federal Judge John C. Knox to show cause why they should not be restrained from interfering with mail matter bearing stickers protesting against "Marine rule" in Nicaragua. The order is returnable Tuesday.

Application for the order was made by Arthur Garfield Hays, because Postmaster Kiely had returned mail bearing stickers with the inscription "Protest against Marine rule in Nicaragua." The stickers had been sold by the league to aid the cause of Gen. Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan leader, who has clashed with American Marines.

A LEEWARDS NOTE

By "CALABAR".

With ref. to Mr. Hermann Focke's notes on Leeward Islands (p. 163, March 5th issue), he says of the 5d script that "it actually appears to be obsolete, because the usual letter of remittance did no longer have this value mentioned in the list of current L. I. stamps." I presume Mr. Focke purchased the stamps mentioned in his article from Montserrat, as the 5d script was obtainable there late last autumn. This stamp was still on sale at Tortola, Virgin Ids., on 16th February, last, and has been on sale there since May, 1927, and may or may not be obsolete at the time of writing. The 3/- price mentioned by Mr. Focke is not at all justified in my opinion, in view of what I have just said. Incidentally the 3d script, Virgin Ids., was on sale at Tortola as early as 16th Feb.

By the way, the 5d, 6d and 1/- Turks & Caicos, 1922 issue, were exhausted by the middle of February. At that time, however, all other values of this issue, including the 2/- script, were still obtainable. The latter stamp gives promise of justifying my prophecy made last autumn (vide my Nov., 1927, "Notes and News").

I trust readers have laid aside a copy of the recently issued £1 Gibraltar, orange and black, as it is rumoured that the colours of this and the £5 duty are to be transposed.

Incidentally, pressure of other interests has compelled me to discontinue my "Market Notes" articles for the time being.

"I WAS much pleased at seeing Mr. F. Trifet's name in your 1940 number. I had some very pleasant dealings with him in the early 70's, in French, Norway and Switzerland. From him I got some of the Swiss Canton stamps that I see are marked high in cat., but I am so nearly blind now that my collecting days are about over, but I am enjoying the paper very much."—CHARLES A. PRATT.

Collectors Club Favored With An Exhibition of Mr. Arthur Hind's Rarities

Reported by CHAS. J. PHILLIPS.

The Collectors Club, New York City, met Wednesday, March 21st, and a great treat was given those who attended. It was scheduled as a meeting to have five minute papers with discussions by members, but the program was cancelled as Mr. Arthur Hind was prevailed upon to break his travel home from Monte Carlo to stop over a couple of days in New York and show the wonderful exhibits with which at Monte Carlo he won the Grand Prize, a magnificent Sevres Vase, value 25,000 Fcs.

The whole of this exhibit was mounted in fourteen of the new frames on the Club walls, and was examined over and over again by the large gathering of nearly one hundred keen philatelists who confessed that they had had the show of their lives. In our limited space I can only mention a few of the many noted rarities shown here:—

CLASS X

Division A

25 great rarities of any country

Br. Guiana, the famous 1c black on rose error; 1856, 4c black on blue. France, 1849, 1Fr, block of 4, containing the unique tête-bêche, orange, vermilion Vervelle. Gr. Britain, block of 36 V. R.'s Hawaii, 1851, 2c blue, both types used. Mauritius, Post Office, 1d and 2d superb unused; 1848, 1d orange, first printing on thick yellow paper, unique block of 4, unused; Reconstructed plates of the 12 types of the first printing of the 1d orange and 2d blue. New South Wales, 1851, 3d green, block of 36. Oldenburg, 1858, 1/3g black on green, block of 12, mint. Saxony, 1851, ½ng block of 10 errors. Spain, 1851, 2r blue error, in a vertical pair with a 6r; 1851, 5r chocolate, block of 12 errors. Swiss, 1843, 10c double Geneva, block of 6, unused; 1843, Zurich, 6r a sheet of 100 made up of ten rows of ten stamps, unsevered. Tuscany, 1853, 4cr green with the value inverted. United States, 1846, Annapolis, 5c red, inverted; 1847, 10c black, mint block of 4.

Division B

25 rarities of Europe

Austria, 1851, Journal, 6Kr red. Bavaria, First issue, 1kr black, block of 45. Roumania, Circular, 27pa unused; Circular, 27pa a tête-bêche pair, used; Circular, 81pa unused. Spain, 1851, a single copy of the rare error of the 2r blue in the color of the 6r. Tuscany, 3 lire, unused. Two Sicilies, ½t Arms, unused.

Division C

50 rare stamps of Europe

Great Britain, 1855, 4d, small garter, block of 6, unused; 4d middle garter, block of 6, unused; 1865, 9d, plate 5, unused; 1882, £1 watermarked anchor, unused, and the rare I. R. Official, £1 brown, oblong, with both watermarks. Austria, Journal, 30kr rose, unused. Belgium, 1850, 10c, 20c and 40c in unused blocks of 4. Bergedorf, 1861, ½s and 3s in blocks of 4. Norway, 1854, 4s blue, strip of 4, unused. Oldenburg, 1852, 1/3g green, block of 9, unused. Also many fine Spain.

WORLD'S FOREMOST COLLECTOR
Arthur Hind, Utica, N. Y.

1c and 3c 1851

We have just had a superb cover collection of the above placed in our hands for disposal. Every item in this collection is very fine to superb, and most of the covers have rare and interesting cancellations. There are no minor plate varieties, etc.

Amongst unusual items we notice a superb block of 4 from Plate 8. The finest lot of Canton, Miss., cancellations we know of, superb 1c '51's on the cover in singles and strips, and some really rare cancellations on the '51 issue with a few on the 1857 issue, including "The man in the moon," not to be confused with similar cancellation found on the 1861 issue.

We should be pleased to hear from interested parties and will be pleased to submit selections to suit individual requirements.

Reported by HERMAN W. BOERS.

"I am not a stamp nut but since becoming Postmaster General I have been much interested in stamps and can understand the fascination in collecting them. I should like to extend my congratulations and the wish that your meeting may be in all ways a success."
HARRY S. NEW, Postmaster General.

The annual banquet of the Michigan Stamp Club, keenly anticipated, is now a matter of history. The memory of it will linger long with those who attended. The occasion was full of life and there were no idle moments.

Fully one hundred gathered at the Book-Cadillac Hotel March 17. Some thirty ladies were present and Ann Arbor and Flint were represented. The newly elected president, Harry Carter, spoke of the Club's activities and introduced ex-president Charles Brisley, who acted as toastmaster. One of the features of the evening was the entrance of a mail-man carrying a bag with letters addressed to those attending the banquest. They were postmarked March 17, 5 P. M., and each bore a pair of coil stamps. The menu was enclosed.

A number of telegrams were then introduced, one being addressed to Toastmaster Brisley and reading as follows:—"Stamp Shortage throughout Latvia. Understand there is an over-supply in Detroit. What can you do to help us out?" (Signed) Postmaster General of Latvia.

Numerous letters of congratulation were received. Postmaster General New sent the letter quoted at the head of this article. Congratulations were also extended by Pres. Wilhelm, the WEEKLY, and others.

The address of the evening was by Postmaster Charles C. Kellogg of Detroit, who was given a hearty round of applause when introduced. He is a real friend of stamp collectors and always willing to be identified with their activities. He spoke of various postal matters, referring especially to the growth of the service in Detroit.

Then came the gold rush, when envelopes were distributed, each containing a stamp donated by some member. Among the choice specimens was the prize of a 5c 1847 Franklin on cover, won by Mrs. Stillman.

Vocal and instrumental selections were contributed to the program. An auction sale, conducted by Dr. H. Preston Hoskins, was a feature of the evening. The decorations were in green, as it was St. Patrick's Day, and there were green novelty hats, bouquets and sprays. The ice cream, too, was in green. An official photograph was taken by Floyd Quick, a member of the Club. The entertainment committee was heartily congratulated on the way the details of the banquet were carried out. There were many members present who do not attend the regular meetings. The Detroiter Abendpost published a full account of the meeting and it was well reported in the other papers.

1000 DIFFERENT STAMPS, ONLY $1.00

Think Of It! ! Ten Different Stamps For One Cent!

GUARANTEED TO PLEASE OR YOUR MONEY BACK

NO MATTER how many stamps you have, you probably will find many varieties in this packet which are new to your collection. And then you still will have hundreds of duplicates left for trading.

BESIDES, think of the thrills of viewing the many kinds that you never saw before. Think of the amount of pleasure you can get from sorting out 1000 different stamps. And that's what you're collecting for,—the pleasure, the recreation, that you get out of it. One little dollar's worth of stamps may supply a kick that you could not get out of several "bottles".

EXTRA ADDED ATTRACTION. Each purchaser of this 1000-variety packet will receive FREE six months' subscription to WASHINGTON STAMP NEWS, the news circular which tells about new U. S. stamps and philatelic activities.

Single (No. 28), four margins and lightly canc., blue mss. tying to cover..$ 50.00
Horizontal pair (Nos. 21 and 22) tied to cover with blue mss. canc., four nice margins except at upper left corner 125.00
Single (No. 34), four margins—tied to cover with usual blue pen mark and red town canc. 35.00
Horizontal pair (Nos. 31 and 32). No. 31 has double line at bottom but is a bit close at upper and lower corners. No. 32 is a beauty—and each is cancelled with red "Paid" on a handsome cover 150.00
Horizontal pair (Nos. 27 and 28), fine margins except at upper left corner. Very unusual cancellation of three light penstrokes in magenta. On cover to Buffalo—not tied 100.00
Horizontal pair (Nos. 31 and 32) tied to cover with very rare canc. of black pen strokes. Very large margins on all four sides, especially No. 31, which has double line at bottom. Red U. S. Express Mail Postmark "New York N.Y." and also small straight red "Paid" in same color. This cover went to northern New York State and is probably a unique example and of great interest even tho part of the address has been cut from the front of the cover 250.00
Single (No. 18), small margins—tied to cover with black pen strokes 35.00
Vertical pair (Nos. 1 and 6) with large margins except at top. Canc. red "Paid" and tied to cover with town postmark. One stamp lightly creased where cover was folded — but a rare and beautiful pair 150.00
Horizontal pair (Nos. 19 and 20) tied to cover with red "Paid." Four large margins 175.00
Horizontal pair (Nos. 26 and 27), red grid canc. Tied to cover with town postmark. Not fine, but cover also bears a fine copy of Dupuy & Schenk penny post local on glazed paper.. 100.00
Single (No. 9) used from Boston. Four splendid margins and tied to cover with black pen strokes. From a famous correspondence 250.00

WONDERFUL SOUVENIR AIR COVER

Lieut. James Doolittle, the greatest stunt flyer of the U. S. Air Corps, now on leave and demonstrating Curtis planes in South America and testing out air mail routes to be established, has just completed an experimental flight from

LIMA, Peru, TO LA PAZ, Bolivia

La Paz has the highest flying field in the world.
Flying a Curtis single seater Hawk plane, Lieut. Doolittle left Lima on Feb. 25th, arriving at La Paz on Feb. 26th.
A small number of souvenir covers were carried. Each cover is franked with a 10 centavo Peruvian stamp, cancelled LIMA, Feb. 25th, 1928 and is backstamped La Paz, Feb. 26th, 1928.
Covers bear two cachets — "Correo Aereo" and a shield "First Experimental Flight Lima - La Paz".
Ordinary size envelope — a very pretty cover.
Only a limited number of covers could be carried, and these I offer exclusively while they last at

R. C. BACH, 15 John St., NEW YORK, N. Y.

Many Masonic designs have been pictured in various publications, and you perhaps have others to supplement this group, along with a previous group in a Forum of some time back. Not having at this time enough good Masonic cancels to fill out the entire group, I added three anchors, as they seemed to fill in as well as any other designs, and were in a group of three only.

Right now I have over 300 new designs drawn, and these will soon be put into shape to start my third year of cancellations in the Forum. Each of the two preceding years has had twenty groups, and the coming lot will make your scrap book have a total of 60 groups of cancellations with an average of ten to each group, or some 600 different designs.

Several have written in to tell me that they have saved all of the groups, and that they make a rather neat little booklet to have along when they show their collection of cancels. I once thought of assembling these into a small booklet along same lines as these appear in the Forum, possibly showing the various designs in their own color. For example, all that are black or nearly a true black would appear as black. All blues and shades of blue to be shown in solid blue, and shades of red to be printed in red, with others under separate heading, and while the design would appear in black, the title would name the true color of each design.

This is quite a task, and the work is nowhere near its completion. If it ever will be is doubtful. New designs come in every once in a while, and many are fine designs, too. The past month brought several. One of the most interesting things was the wolverine from Mrs. O. W. Mott. There were two types, each falling on 3c greens. Both designs were in a circle, and a five point star was inside one circle. One showed a large animal crouched ready to spring from a limb of a tree on which he was standing, while the other was a small animal in the star.

It is odd how such a pretty pair of cancellations should have been so long overlooked. Unfortunately the name of the town using this design is not known, as the stamps were not on the cover. Maybe some reader will recognize these from the descriptions.

Dr. L. L. Myers has sent in a very neat 3c 61 cover, hit twice by the following pmk. "C. & I. J. R. R. SEP 22 1866 MC. GONIGLE'S." It is in a 34mm ring, and the letter is from Oxford, Ohio. This one has evaded me till now. Does anyone know this road? Will be glad to receive the answer.

In drawing up all these designs one of the most interesting lots that I have ever assembled is that from the collection of Dr. Chase. It carries through the 3c 1851-57 issues, and I gathered some 125 designs from it, that I did not have previously. These have now been inked, ready for having cuts made, and they are a fine group.

Another lot that is fairly large, and quite unusual, is the series from a large collection of Departments, which was saved for cancellations alone. It has some very unusual designs. Then I have taken all the designs, that have not been shown elsewhere, from my own collection of 2c black, and there are several of interest in this lot.

If covers bearing cancellations of interest before stamps were to be drawn upon, we would then have some additional happy creations. These may be made into a group of ten or so, and shown sometime, as they are quite interesting and unusual. Moreover, the town of origin is on all of these, and that is always a desirable factor in collecting cancellations.

I presume that you have saved all of the outgoing foreign mail cancels on the Bank Note issues by now. They are a very snappy lot of designs, and they are always pretty on a 7c vermilion, many fall on this stamp. The 6c National permits these designs to "take" well, also. You can make up a nice little side line lot of Bank Note cancels with their corresponding stamps from Hawaii, all bearing the identical cancellations, for these were hit at the same time, and by the same cancelling device. Keep an eye open for them. They are usually circular in shape, with an outline of dots around the cut cork cancels. Look through your Hawaiians, then try to find the same cancel on your U. S. Bank Note stamps, you can probably find some of these, then mount them alongside one another for an interesting page, or more, if you're lucky.

Look at your Canton, Miss., cancels, and you'll probably see one made from a cork, it shows the word PAID crudely cut in a circular form above the large 3. The letters and figure appear colorless, while the rest of the circular design is of solid black. Now hunt around and find another of same type. If lucky, you'll see that they are not that same type, for one has been recut for a certainty. This happens with several cancellations.

THE MONACO EXHIBITION

By FRED J. MELVILLE.

The Princess of Monaco opened the International Stamp Exhibition at the Palais des Beaux-Arts, Monte Carlo, on Saturday, February 18th. She came in state, with a Royal escort, and a fanfare heralded her arrival. She took the place of Prince Louis II, who is abroad, but it was appropriate that the lady whose marriage provided Monaco with an occasion for a special stamp issue in March, 1920, should inaugurate the first international philatelic exhibition held in the principality.

By common consent the exhibition is the richest display or rare stamps ever seen on the Continent, with all the front-rank rarities in full array. There are nine out of the twenty-six known copies of the "Post Office" Mauritius stamps, and the number would have been higher had not one generous American-Swede just made a present of his two copies to the Swedish Postal Museum. This is Mr. Hans Lagerloef, of New York, who has given most of his stamps to the Stockholm institution, but is still able to show magnificent entries in three sections of the "rarities" class.

As to other outstanding items, I doubt if there have ever been so many of the rare Hawaiian "Missionaries," or the first issue "Reunions" brought together before. The total value of the stamps on view is about forty million francs, and the most elaborate precautions have been made for their safety. The gangways between the rows of frames are patrolled by numerous firemen, complete with brass helmets, and the picturesque gendarmerie of the Principality.

But fire and theft are not the only risks. The glorious sun that has blazed on Monaco all the week, however good for the collectors who have flocked there, is an enemy to stamps. So the sun is completely shut out from the Palais des Beaux-Arts, and some 50,000 candle-power of artificial lighting has been added to the interior.

There are 350 entries in the competitive classes, about fifty of which are from England. The British exhibits are in most cases the best of their kind, and will figure prominently in the prize lists. Both from the cognoscenti and the general public a collection like Mr. R. F. A. Riesco's Cape of Good Hope attracts a great deal of attention. So do the few superb pages from Sir Nicholas Waterhouse's collection of United States, Mr. D. Bernard's Nevis, Mr. S. A. Brown's Gambia, and Dr. Byan's Sudan. Among the British collections now shown for the first time are two of front-rank importance in Mr. E. J. Lee's Uruguay, of which only a few could be shown in the frames out of some forty albums, and Mr. A. J. Agnew's China, which is the most beautifully arranged collection on view.

Among the great collectors who may be classed as successors of the celebrated Ferrari, Mr. Arthur Hind of Utica, New York, M. Maurice Burrus, of Alsace, and M. Theodore Champion, of Paris, show their chief gems, but M. M. Burrus and Champion exhibit hors concours. Mr. Hind has spread his entries over all the six divisions of the "rarities" class in which an amateur is permitted to compete. In the group of "twenty great rarities of the world" he includes his unique 1 cent British Guiana, both types of the 2 cent Hawaiian "Missionary," the two first Mauritius unused, etc.

The second group, "twenty-five different rarities of Europe," brings forth his rarest Moldavians, a red Austrian "Mercury" unused, a block of Great Britain 1d black from the rare Plate II. A third group, "fifty rare stamps of Europe," includes some quite modern rarities of Danzig and Esthonia, while "fifty rare stamps of Asia, Africa, America and Oceania" includes such imposing items as a sheet of the 10 centavos Cordova, the "Hamilton" Bermuda, the inverted swan of Western Australia. "One hundred rarities" from the same geographical divisions afford Mr. Hind another big opportunity, and so do two further classifications, each of twenty-five stamps on the original letters or envelopes.

It was not generally known that Mr. Hind had a copy of the 4d Western Australia with inverted swan. The copy he shows is the one sold at auction in London last year. It was bought at the sale for £680 by an English collector who was not interested in Western Australia, but considered it cheap at the price. The buyer made a present of it to his wife, who, learning that Mr. Hind had regretted missing it in the sale, sold it for £800. There are now two of these stamps in American ownership, the other being in the collection of Colonel Green, son of the celebrated Mrs. Hetty Green, —Postage Stamp.

IMPORTANT

Why not get the benefit of one of the greatest general stocks of stamps in the world? It is here, is being added to and filled in as opportunity offers and our hundreds of agents in all parts of the globe procure the stamps we ask for. Our ability to buy and market brings goods to us the average dealer never has.

WANT LISTS We fill thousands of them yearly, and many are from leading collectors. The prices are based on cost and are as reasonable as the goods can be sold and do business. Why not see what we can do with yours?

APPROVALS Our specialty for over 25 years. Some 60,000 var. and a line of books, usually 200 to 400 stamps to a book that we do not think can be duplicated. Mostly a country to a book. French, British, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish Colonials in separate series of books. For instance, we have 12 different books of 20th French Colonials, containing some 2000 varieties. Books arranged on non-duplicating basis. For the average general collector this is a SERVICE in the full meaning of the word. We even have Scott's loose leaf International albums, both 19th and 20th, filled with a collection that can be submitted in sections which range in net value for $300 to $1500 a section. Some twenty sections. This is the last word in approval service. Anyone who can furnish proof of their responsibility can make use of this service.

PHILLIPS' MONTHLY BULLETIN Recognized as the livest house organ in the trade. Issued monthly, not any time we feel like it, 32 pages or more each issue, giving you representative offerings from our huge stock, new issues, special offers, etc., etc. In a year it offers more high grade material than any similar list. Thousands of collectors look for it each month. Why not you? It costs you a 2c stamp to get it — it costs us thousands of dollars a year to get it into your hands — FREE.

When you are tired of shopping here and there, getting a little of everything and not much of anything, then remember us. Our best customers have come to us from the recommendations of pleased and satisfied patrons. Why not at least drop us a line to-day for Phillips' Monthly Bulletin and other advertising matter?

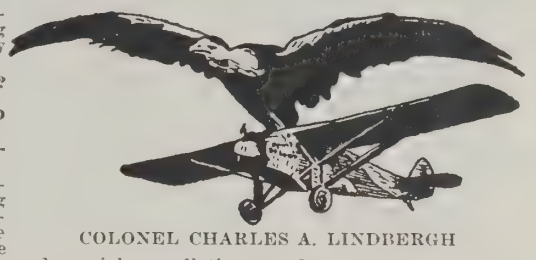
LINDBERGH DATA

Colonel Lindbergh recently completed his "Good Will" flying tour of the U. S., visiting every state in the Union.

WHAT CITIES DID HE COVER?
WHEN WAS HE THERE?
WHAT SPECIAL FLIGHTS DID HE MAKE?
WHERE WERE SPECIAL CANCELLATIONS USED?



COLONEL CHARLES A. LINDBERGH

We have just gotten out a little booklet which contains among other things a special map showing in detail all of the points the "Lone Eagle" visited, when he was there, special flights made and special cancellations used.

The assembling of this data would cost you individually at least $14.00 to duplicate. We offer it in compact booklet form at only 50c postpaid. Get Your Copy Today.

BRITISH COLONIALS

20TH CENTURY -- MINT

My prices are always quoted on the basis of stamps in the finest possible condition unless otherwise noted. Copies with the perfs. a trifle close are always quoted separately. I am constantly weeding this kind of copies out of my stock. In making large en bloc purchases it is impossible to avoid that class of stamps entirely. Of course, there are certain modern Colonials that are unobtainable or practically unobtainable in any other condition — but these form such a small group, so they may be left out of consideration when discussing the centering question along general lines. I cater to the super-fastidious collector, and I know that I can satisfy him. If we ever disagree, no harm is done because anything is accepted when returned promptly. It is my intention to build up a small line of approval books in which slightly close stamps will be offered. The stamps will be excellent in other respects, and a great many of them will be fully as fine or even finer than the grade called "very fine" in many stamp sales. In these approvals will be included many valuable stamps that are bound to prove an excellent investment — even though they do not come quite up to what I call first grade. I will be pleased to hear from interested collectors.

—Arthur Hind's Million Dollar Exhibit at New York.

Sun" Clipping, Mar. 22—J. M. Bartels.)

everal hundred of the rarest postage mps in the world, estimated to be th more than $1,000,000, were exhibt last night to the members of the Colors Club, at 51 West Forty-eighth Sreet. The stamps have just been ought back to America from Monaco Arthur Hind, Utica textile manufacter, who exhibited them there in the rnational philatelic show last month. ey received the highest award, the and Prize, and in addition Mr. Hind ught back several medals.

The collection of rarities was much ger than those shown by Mr. Hind at international show in this city in ober, 1926, when he also won the eling award in that class. Many of stamps shown are unique, no others their respective types being known. e of these unique specimens is the ious British Guiana one-cent, 1856, which Mr. Hind paid $32,500 at the tion sale of the Ferrary collection in is several years ago.

Mr. Hind's collection of United States visional issues, put out by several poststers prior to the first Government is in 1847, is also said to be the finest the world. He has several rare specins. The entire group has never be- been shown in this city. It includes such rarities as the Lockport, Boscawen, Alexandria, Brattleboro, St. Louis, Millbury and Baltimore issues. Three other United States rarities were beautiful unused copies of the 15, 24 and 30 cents, 1869 issue, with inverted centres.

Another interesting stamp was an unused copy of the Great Britain ninepence, 1865, issue, which King George V took from his collection during the war and donated to the National Philatelic War Fund. The stamp was sold at auction in September, 1915, in London for the benefit of the Red Cross and brought more than $2,500. The first buyer, who purchased it for £250, gave it back for resale. The stamp is nicely mounted on a card bearing the signature of King George.

Among other countries from which the rarest copies known to philately were exhibited were Cape of Good Hope, India, Mauritius, Spain, France, Hawaii, Switzerland, Tuscany, Rumania, New South Wales and a remarkable lot of the early post office issues from the Confederate States.

Prior to the exhibition Harry L. Lindquist, President, referred to the recent death of Dr. J. Brace Chittenden, who had been Secretary of the club for more than twenty years and who was recognized as one of the leading philatelic students in the world. Resolutions expressing respect for his memory were adopted following a tribute by Charles J. Phillips.

EDITORIAL

Certain friends of the "Weekly" in Chicago have been instrumental in securing for it a prominent place in the window exhibit of the Herald-Examiner at Franklin and Madison Streets, Chicago. Last week we spoke of the plans of this enterprising daily of wide circulation to offer Lindbergh flight covers as premiums for those obtaining new subscribers for the newspaper, and now we find that a large window is occupied by frames whose contents depict the history of air mail flights from first to last; and that room is given to a frame, "Philately," showing various commemoratives of the U. S., with the heading of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS at the top of the picture. We appreciate the efforts of those who fashioned this display, and gave our paper the favorable setting that it enjoys, and we need not say that the result is a most pleasant surprise. This frame is the only one that has no air mail suggestions as the other large frames show the "Development of U. S. Air Mail," with trial, first and special flights; "Development of World Air Mail," and "Memories of Lindbergh and the Air Mail," respectively. The covers comprising the exhibit are the property of Mr. J. Max Golding, whose activities as president of the Chicago Aero Philatelic Society, in promoting general as well as philatelic interest in air mail covers have been attended with most happy results. In an article in the Herald-Examiner of Sunday, March 25, 1928, headed, "Letters Show How Air Mail Trail Was Blazed," mentioning the exhibit that was to be made on the following day for a limited time, the opening paragraph read: "The start and the development of the air mail has been, perhaps, one of the most fascinating, most wonderful activities of all time. It is the story of adventure—a story of thrills and of romance." In the aggregate, the covers in the window compose one of the best collections of air mail varieties that is in existence; and the newspaper dwells upon some of the pieces with special reference to their historical appeal. The Herald-Examiner offers two of the latest Lindbergh covers to each person who secures two subscriptions of six months, for home delivery; and it is likely that collectors, and the public generally, will stir themselves to get the covers on the terms of the offer. We trust that the management will be made aware of the interest in these covers and that the responses will show that it made no mistake in presenting them as premiums. The covers in question were obtained from a Chicago collector who sent a large number on the recent Lindbergh St. Louis-Chicago flight.

Speaking of the recognition of philately by newspapers, we cannot commend too highly a remarkable tribute to collecting that appears on the first page, set off in a "box" of the Los Angeles Record, March 14, 1928. The paper was sent in by Mr. F. G. Browne and we wish to say that the writer of this appreciation of collecting has produced a classic call to the collecting standard, and has enshrined himself in our affections by his almost spiritual treatment of his subject. His sentiment rings true, and we regard his testimonial, modestly headed, "One Man's Opinion," as a treasure to be shared by all our readers. It would seem to us that no parent could easily dismiss the summons of this unknown writer:

"A couple of weeks ago I was in town and the boy showed me his latest treasure. It was a pathetic notebook with a dozen dejected stamps pasted in it, but he was all enthused with the notion of starting a stamp collection. Last time I was in I went to a stamp shop and bought a beginner's album and a packet of 500 assorted stamps and 1,000 gummed hinges. Then for two evenings the boy and I had a dandy time, after we had borrowed tweezers from daughter, and grandmother's reading glass.

I feel sure that the boy now knows more about geography than two years in the classroom have taught him, and I know I discovered a number of things about the new nations in Europe that I had not known. There was one stamp that showed a knight on a charger with uplifted sword and he was ready to strike down the imperial eagle, a very significant stamp. There were dozens of most interesting stories in those stamps.

While son was pasting up his album two neighborhood boys came in and each had the stamp collecting mania, but neither boy got any sympathy from dad; they had to depend on the mother for an occasional quarter and ever ready understanding. That took me back to my boyhood and I remember what a terrific kick I used to get from sorting out a new packet of stamps, and how darn little understanding father had as to what it was all about.

There is no finer hobby for a boy than the collection of stamps. Indeed, there are few hobbies that a man will find to have a more continuing appeal through the years. I wish I had kept up my album in which I pasted the last stamp in '93, it was a series of the Columbian issue.

If your boy shows an inclination to collect stamps, you buy him a 60-cent album and a few hundred stamps, and occasionally you spend an hour or two with him helping him to run down some obscure stamp and get it herded into its proper spot. You will never regret the few dollars, nor the few hours; nor will your boy."

The understanding that no special cancellation was to be used on the first night flight of Route 3, C.A.M., Chicago to Dallas, February 1, 1928, was based on the information of a notice that was sent out by an officer in the service; and as a consequence, practically no collectors prepared covers for this flight. However, we are now told that a packet of letters was received at Chicago from an eastern man, and rather than to disappoint him, a special stamp was hurriedly prepared, with the legend: "First Night Flight—Route 3 C A M—Chicago—Dallas—Feb. 1, 1928" and applied to these envelopes, and the commercial mail that was awaiting flight. A Chicago collector was enabled to take advantage of the last minute decision, but fewer than one hundred letters for collectors were cancelled, we have been advised.

Mr. M. A. Vogel, Chicago, has an interesting souvenir in the form of an enclosure in a letter received from Ricardo Padilla Soto, postmaster general of Costa Rica. Under date of March 17, this officer wrote: "Enclosed find a 'Lindbergh' cover with my compliments." The envelope bearing the special Costa Rica Lindbergh stamp was addressed to the donor.

Death has been taking a heavy toll of philatelists during the past few months, and it is with deep sorrow that we record the passing on of Dr. J. Brace Chittenden of New York, a philatelist without reproach, and a gentleman of the finest type. We have received particulars of the death of this admirable man from Mr. Konwiser, and they will be incorporated in a testimonial in the following issue. Dr. Chittenden's identity with philately has been helpful to our pursuit in so many ways that one is at a loss to know how to fittingly present an account of his manifold activities, through the course of years. The great interest that he took in the Interna Exhibition at New York may n considered as a sort of climax busy career as author, historian an student of stamps. A CANAL ZONE VARIETY

T advertisement of Edw. J. Meehan, here in this issue, announces an in- ing Canal Zone variety. It has been otized by a New York dealer who clizes in Canal Zone. He reports:—
"I have examined the surcharges on Postage Due stamps of Canal Zone itted to me by E. J. Meehan of this y. The stamps referred to are No. the catalogue, of which no mention nde of any second type. It is quite dit that there was a second printing his 1c stamp with letters which are ar, the A's showing a flat top. This silar, but not the same as the first ing of the U. S. Postage stamps 6-80, of which two types are also on.
I herefore conclude that this is an talogued variety, and while the Scott robably would not include it as a ate number, there is no note re- rg to the fact that two types exist s particular stamp as appears after e issues.
Yours very truly,
J. M. BARTELS."

PHILATELY IN SYRACUSE

CHARLES J. PHILLIPS RECEIVES AN UNUSUAL TRIBUTE IN A LEADING EDITORIAL

Syracuse "Sun" Clipping (Walter S. Bull).

The dinner of the Philately Society of Syracuse in Schrafft's was well attended, three score members being present. The gathering comprised representatives of business, of the professions and of other important activities of the city, and nearly all of them were the owners of valuable stamp collections, of which not a few were the fruits of long years of patient accumulation. They are the leaders in an avocation which, in its elementary forms, has enlisted the interests of thousands of Syracuse school boys and girls. The experience of Syracuse in this respect is not exceptional. Stamp collecting is, in fact, a nation-wide pursuit, side occupation or pastime, according to the point of view.

The evidence is found in the creation of a stamp trade of formidable dimensions, with New York City as its chief center, and with branches distributed throughout all American cities of populations ranging from 100,000 upward.

At the recent banquet the Syracuse society had as its guest Charles J. Phillips of the metropolis, who has enjoyed for forty years a prominence in philately on its professional and commercial sides which has probably not been surpassed by any other living man either in the United States or Europe. For about three-quarters of that period he was the chief owner and executive head of the most famous concern devoted to the stamp trade in the world, the London house of Stanley Gibbons, Inc. In this capacity he held a triple distinction as a dealer in stamps, an acknowledged expert of the first rank and a voluminous contributor to the standard literature of philately. About ten years or more ago he transferred his large business to New York City—a departure that was by no means illogical, inasmuch as the stamp issues of the United States have been perhaps his most favored specialty since his early manhood.

This explains in a way why Mr. Phillips selected as the subject of his address at the Syracuse banquet "The Department Stamps of the United States." Many of our readers are unaware that in the seventies and early eighties, before the days of the official frank for mailing purposes, each of the then existing Departments (including the Executive) had its own distinctive stamp for official correspondence. The issues are, of course, long defunct, but specimens of them are still eagerly sought by philatelists. Strange to relate, the English-born expert who was in this city last week is in all probability the foremost living authority on these purely official American issues. He knows all about them down to the minutest detail of engraving, of paper, of all the known eccentricities of design and printing—in short, of everything bearing on their issuance or circulation. In support of this statement, it may be said that he exhibited at the Syracuse meeting large cardboards filled with specimens of the Department stamps, from Executive and State down to Agriculture, sufficient in number and volume to fill a good-sized suit case. Many of them, moreover, were mute reminders of stirring romances in the years following the Civil War. For example, Mr. Phillips included in his display hundreds of stamps mailed to the War Department from our frontier posts in the still unsettled Western territories, and bearing postmarking devices of many strange kinds, among them "a kicking mule." It was a stamp exhibition of rare historic interest to the beholders; but it was no more novel and impressive than the reflection that the owner of this unequaled collection of United States official stamps and the man who discoursed upon them so learnedly was an English school boy when the Department stamps were in circulation.

Lindbergh

—Congressional Franking Privileges on Air Mail Advocated.

WASHINGTON, March 26—Colonel Lindbergh found himself in his element today when he appeared before a house committee to give his opinions on the air mail service. It was his second appearance before a congressional committee within a week.

Halting at the capitol on his way to Bolling Field for his daily flying, the New York to Paris flyer endorsed the Swing Bill to extend the franking privileges of members of Congress to the air mail service.

Lindbergh said he thought it essential "for the government branches to be able to use" the air mail service, especially since the service was inaugurated by the government.

Under questioning by Representatives Swing of California, author of the bill, and Perkins of New Jersey, Republicans, the colonel said that if members of Congress used the air mail people throughout the country would become more familiar with such a service and probably would begin to use it themselves. Lindbergh, whose career as an air mail pilot is well known, said that merchants gradually were taking up the use of the air mail service. He predicted that in time every city in the United States would be connected by air mail lines and that as a result of improvements in flying equipment it would not be long before the air mail pilot would be able to fly in all kinds of weather. Eventually, he said, another transcontinental air mail route would be established, this time through the southwest.

NEWSY NOTES

By BEACH CONGER, JR.

A National Philatelic Exhibition is being prepared for in Poland, to take place sometime in May. Following the examples of various other countries, the Polish Post Office is going to issue special commemoratives. The set consists of two values, the 50 groszy, with portrait of Marshall Pilsudski, and the 1 zloty, with portrait of President Moscicki. The stamps are to be sold in setenant pairs at twice face.

Andorra has depended on France and Spain for her postage stamps for a long while, those going North franked with French, and those going South franked with Spanish stamps. In 1876 a set of stamps especially for Andorra was printed, but never put into use because of objections of the French Government. The Spanish Post Office is now preparing a new set, but no definite information concerning the issue has been received yet.

The colors of the 2½ and 3 pence of Dominica have been changed. The 2½d from orange-yellow to blue and black, the 3d from ultramarine to red and black on yellow. Both are printed on Script CA watermarked paper.

Because of the airmail line between San Domingo-Hayti and Porto Rico, San Domingo has issued a new 12 centavo airmail stamp. Brazil honours the introduction of coffee into Brazil (200 years) with a new issue, consisting of 100 Reis green, 200 R scarlet, 300 R black.

In Cook Islands a new 2½ and 4d have been issued to replace Nos. 53 and 55. Used copies will soon be scarce of both stamps. No. 67 has been withdrawn. A rise in prices is certain.

Stamp News for the Juniors

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

Bear in mind that two short articles of from 50 to 75 words read better than one long one. Address the Beverly office.

Cuban Independence Issue

Among the recent issues of Cuba is the attractive stamp issued to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the republic. This stamp is an oblong and about the size of our recent sesquicentennial stamp. It is worked up in different shades of violet. At the center is the Cuban shield flanked by two symbolic female figures. That of the left holds a trumpet and a sword, while the one at the right has a palm leaf and a wreath. In the upper left corner is the date 1902, the year of the birth of the republic. In the upper right corner is the date 1927, the year of the issue of the stamp. Between the two dates is the word "Correos," and below this the words "Republica de Cuba." These lie between scrolls and are very prominent because of the dark background. On each side are columns at the base of which are the values "25c." Across the bottom are the words "25 Anos de Republica." All letters and figures are colorless on a dark background, which sets them off exceptionally well. There is no denying that this is one of the most attractive stamps issued by Cuba.—A. C. LeDuc.

Scott's U. S. No. 519

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

During the fall of 1917, the New York Post Office found that they had a quantity of 2c imperforate stamps on hand for which there was no demand, as the local postal rate had been increased to 3c. In order to use up this stock, they returned them to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to be perforated. The design of the stamps was the old design of 1908, watermarked with the double line letters. As the Bureau had changed its perforating machines since this stamp was first issued, the old stock received the new perforation, thus giving us a new variety. The entire lot, which amounted to several hundred thousand stamps was returned to the New York Office, but they were practically all used within two or three days, and the supply was practically exhausted before being discovered by the stamp collector. As a result, few are available, and the variety is today quite desirable.

Baltimore

The largest city in the State of Maryland, and the sixth in population in the whole of the United States. It is situated on an arm of Chesapeake Bay, and was founded in 1729. Its handsome monuments to Washington and George Peabody and the Battle Monument commemorating the citizens who fell defending the city against the British in 1814, have earned for it the name of "Monumental City." In 1845-6 special 5c and 10c stamps and envelopes were issued by the then Postmaster of the city, Mr. James M. Buchanan to facilitate the prepayment of postage. These continued in use until they were superseded by the general issue for the United States on August 5, 1847. In 1851, a semi-official postal service was established for the delivery of letters from the post-offices to addressees, and in connection with this special 1c stamps were issued.

For the Juniors

American Bank Note Company.—A well-known New York firm of printers and engravers who produced all the United States stamps from 1879 until 1894. The Company has also produced numerous of the stamps of Newfoundland, Hayti, various South and Central American Republics, while the Canadian branch of the firm has produced all the stamps of Canada issued since 1868. The Continental Bank Note Co., which held the United States stamp printing contract from May, 1873, was absorbed by the American Bank Note Co., in 1879.

American Express Company.—A local post of the United States, operating in New York City in 1856, in connection with which a 2c stamp was issued. Two types of the stamp are catalogued, but they are not fully authenticated.

American Letter Mail Company.—A local post established in 1844 by Lysander Spooner, and operating between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other points. Two types of stamps were issued in connection with this post, one being without value, and the other being inscribed "20 for a dollar."

A Few Brazils

The three types of Brazil called by Scott's as A80, A81 and A82 were issued in 1922 to commemorate the centenary of the independence of the country. A80 is the 100 reis value and is bright blue in color. It is truly an attractive stamp with its spirited horses and plumed horsemen. The beauty of the engraving cannot be properly appreciated without the aid of a glass to bring out the details. A81 is the 200 reis value and is colored scarlet. The portrait in the circle at the left is that of Dom Pedro I who was the first emperor of Brazil. The portrait in the circle at the right is that of Jose Bonifacio. A82 is the 300 reis value and its color is green. The stamp shows the exposition grounds at Rio de Janeiro. An exposition was held here in 1922, and was international in scope. These three stamps are a very interesting set and as they are all low priced they are within the reach of all collectors.—A. C. LeDuc.

Stamp Notes

Guy. Franc.—An abbreviation for "Guyane Francaise" as surcharged upon many of the early stamps of the general French colonial series for use in this colony.

G. W.—An overprint found upon the 1d and 4d stamps of the Cape of Good Hope, current in 1877, converting them for use in Griqualand West.

Gwalior.—A state in central India between the United Provinces and the Central Provinces, having an area of 29,000 square miles and a population of well over two millions. The first postage stamps for use in Gwalior were issued in 1885.

Loose Leaf Blank Album

By F. H. Buck, Jr.

The true philatelist is more than a collector. He is a creator, striving for beauty with collection. He collects not for the enjoyment of gathering and possessing as much as the pleasure of creating. How many have experienced that pleasure? It is safe to say that the owner of a loose leaf blank album is the true philatelist. It is with such an album that a collection can be formed which will have originality, completeness, and interest. It is generally the man who has this creative instinct that buys sets rather than singles and has an attractive display of stamps rather than a collection. Who cares about some old mangey stamp from an old non-existent country? Never mind the album, we collectors should be allowed to collect what we want and when we want. The blank album fills the purpose.—Pacific Stamp News.

Arvizkarosultaknak Kulon

An inscription found on the lower label of a special series of stamps issued in Hungary in November, 1913, the extra 2 filler charged for each being devoted to a fund for the relief of victims of the flood of 1913. The literal translation is "For the flood sufferers, extra," which fully explains the use which was made of the extra 2 filler charged for each stamp.

IN STOCKTON, CALIFORNIA

In the Stockton Independent of March 4th, there appeared a striking article that reviewed stamp collecting in the city of Stockton. Nearly three columns of text and illustrations were covered by the heading: "Stamp Collecting Popular in Stockton. Rare and Valuable Collections Owned by Local Philatelists." The account is by Eleanor Woods McLeod, a young lady who is winning a definite place in newspaper journalism, and her pen has a fine swing in the article under notice. Mr. A. C. Anderson, our old friend, is pictured as a "Stamp Fan," and he furnished much of the material for the feature. Incidentally, Mr. Anderson has taken the WEEKLY since 1899, and we quote: "Anderson? Everybody knows him. He takes your ticket at the State theater." Evidently, stamp interest in Stockton is running at high tide; and the census of collectors there is an impressive one. The roster of names includes some of the leading citizens of the city, and as may be imagined, Mr. Parker's western franks are mentioned. Much of the information in the article is based on the observations of John W. Willy, chief deputy assessor, who identified himself with collecting over fifty years ago; and it makes interesting matter. In fact, the review, while primarily local in its application, has a broader survey in part and general conditions as pertaining to philately are not ignored. The non-philatelic readers of the article have the realization brought home to them that stamp collecting is a considerable factor in the lives of many people.

NEW ISSUES ON APPROVAL

THE best way to buy new issues is, not to bind yourself to take anything up to a certain value, but to make your free choice from selections sent on approval.

We shall be glad to send selections of new issues, on approval, to any part of the world, either monthly, or at any desired interval.

Please state whether you require new issues of the whole world, or of any particular group, and whether you have any limit as regards face value.

References with first letter, from collectors not known to us, will save delay.

NOTE.—At our rates an ordinary current unused one shilling stamp of a British Colony costs you 32 cents and a £1 stamp six dollars.

Big Bourse

—You Are Invited to London for Stamp Dealers Bourse, June 25-27

By ALBERT H. HARRIS.

The First London International Stamp Dealers Bourse, which had been fixed for May, has been postponed until June 25, 26 and 27, in order that it may not clash with any Continental functions.

This will be the same week as the Congress of the Philatelic Societies of Great Britain, which is a collectors gathering, in connection with which also an Exhibition of Rare Stamps is being organised by the Royal Philatelic Society. It is also the moment when everything in London is at its best, and the season at its height.

The Dealers Bourse Committee consists of most of the leading dealers in London: Frank Godden (President), F. B. Smith, W. Houtzamer, H. Nissen, T. Allen, O. Marsh, F. B. Turpin, P. L. Pemberton, F. H. Oliver, C. H. Greenwood and Leonard Gill. The Hon. Organising Secretary is myself.

All American dealers or collectors visiting London this June will be very welcome, and I am instructed by my Committee to ask you to be good enough to make this known through MEKEEL'S. No doubt you will do so in your own words, as this is a hurried letter of information only, but the names will, I think, be enough to convince you that a very real effort is being made to make this the First International Dealers Stamp Bourse in London a very great success.

We have hired the largest hall in the Holborn Restaurant for the three days, and the charge for tables (for buying and selling) will be the nominal one of $5.00 for the three days inclusive. Tell all the boys to come and we will make them welcome and happy.

Air Mail

—New Orleans to Mexican Border.
—St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha.

Proposals for bids on three alternate air mail routes between New Orleans and the Mexican border connecting at New Orleans with the Atlanta-New York route were issued by Postmaster General New, returnable May 21.

The route to be taken will depend upon what point the Mexican government finally decides as the terminal for its proposed line to the American border. The distances on the three routes advertised do not vary greatly.

From New Orleans the line will go direct to Houston, Texas. From Houston it may go to San Antonio, to Laredo, or to Brownsville, via Corpus Christi, depending upon the location of the Mexican border terminal and other circumstances.

Under the proposed schedule planes from New Orleans, carrying air mail from New York and Boston, and intermediate points would arrive in Houston about 3 p. m., and at the Mexican border, regardless of the route chosen, about dark.

* * * *

Postmaster General New today recalled previous invitations for bids on an air mail route from St. Louis to Kansas City, and immediately advertised for new bids which would extend the route to Omaha, making a connection there for St. Louis mail with the transcontinental route. The proposed schedule on the extended route provides for a plane to leave Omaha daily at 12.35 a. m., following arrival of the transcontinental planes from San Francisco, with mail for Kansas City and St. Louis. Arrival in St. Louis is scheduled for 5.10 a. m. The flying distance is approximately 395 miles each way.

Washington Notes

Mr. H. M. Southgate writes that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing have now standardized on one font of type for use in precancelling our rotary print stamps from one cent to ten cents inclusive. Heretofore, there have been seven types used, but some of these took so much ink that the product quite often is smudged. The new type is a plain block type with all capitals, and should improve the finished product greatly.

As fast as the new precancel rolls are required, the new standard type will be supplied, but the old rolls will be used until worn out.

The new 73c booklet, which contains both 1c and 2c panes from the rotary press, has been issued. Heretofore the only copies of the new 1c rotary booklet perforated 11 x 10½ have come from the 97c books. The 25c booklet of 1c stamps has not as yet appeared.

The Post Office Department still continues to receive numerous letters relative to new commemoratives, but the Postmaster General at this writing, has not given his favorable consideration to any of them. A conserted drive in behalf of the Valley Forge stamp is being made, and it is hoped that by the time these notes appear in print that such a stamp will have received his approval. Each member of Congress from Pennsylvania, and both Senators, as well as numerous others have requested the issue.

Mr. Gust Setzer has shown me a block of the current 20c stamp in a deeper shade which approaches the claret. This is somewhat different from those seen heretofore.

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman kindly furnishes me with a copy of House Resolution No. 12291 reading as follows:—

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the Clerk of the House of Representatives and the Secretary of the Senate are hereby authorized to supply Members of the House and Senate, respectively, upon their written request, with air-mail stamps to cover the necessary postage fee on official correspondence requiring expeditious transmission, and the purchase of such air-mail stamps shall be payable from the contingent fund of the House and Senate, respectively.

The executive departments and independent establishments of the Government are authorized to purchase air-mail stamps for use on official correspondence, requiring expeditious transmissions, and the fund appropriated for contingent expenses for their respective departments or offices shall be available for such purposes. Provided—That no deficiency shall result in such appropriation by reason thereof.

The Post Office Department shall have printed and available for distribution for use under this Act air-mail stamps specifically indorsed showing that they are for official business only.

Whoever shall make use of any air-mail stamps authorized by this Act to avoid the payment of postage on his private letter, packet, package, or other matter in the mail, shall be fined not more than $300."

Should air-mail stamps be furnished to the members of the Senate and House without charge, it is quite likely that they will be overprinted in some manner to prevent their use by others.

Air Mail Notes

On March 23rd, the Postmaster General called for bids on three alternate air mail routes between New Orleans and the Mexican border, connecting with the Atlanta-New York route at New Orleans.

The route to be taken will depend upon what point the Mexican government finally decides as the terminal for its proposed line to the American border. The distances on the three routes advertised do not vary greatly.

From New Orleans the line will go direct to Houston, Texas. From Houston it may go to San Antonio, to Laredo, or to Brownsville, via Corpus Christi, depending upon the location of the Mexican border terminal and other circumstances.

Under the proposed schedule planes from New Orleans, carrying air mail from New York and Boston, and intermediate points would arrive in Houston about 3 p. m., and at the Mexican border, regardless of the route chosen, about dark.

The Postmaster General has recalled previous invitations for bids on air mail route from St. Louis to Kansas City, and immediately advertised for new bids, which would extend the route to Omaha, where a connection with the transcontinental route will be made.

Mr. W. T. Wilson also submits above for chronicle and states these provisionals were issued on the 10th of last month.

GIBSON COLLECTION OF 1847

It gives me great pleasure to announce that I have just acquired the famous Gold-Medal Winning Collection of United States 1847 Issues, formed by Mr. Henry C. Gibson. Mr. Gibson has been upward of twenty years getting this wonderful collection together, and piece by piece it is today the finest assortment of these issues in existence. It is priced separately, and will run upward of one hundred thousand dollars.

The 5c issue is represented by a mint block of four, a block of six, strips, pairs and singles, in immaculate unused condition. There are numerous singles and pairs on and off cover with various cancellations. I note about twenty-five different Railroads, as well as some few with "Steam" postmarks. There is a Mississippi River Packet, the only one in the collection and the only one that I have ever seen. A magnificent strip of four on cover has a black Boston grid postmark, and is tied by a red "Paid."

The lot of 10c exceed the lot of 5c, if such a thing is possible .

There is present a mint block of six of the 10c, one of two unused blocks known. There is a magnificent mint single, together with a very fine used copy showing a distinct double print — believed to be unique.

In the way of covers, the collection contains possibly the three finest United States covers in existence. There is a strip of six tied with a Philadelphia Railroad postmark, in addition to a French cancellation, also a magnificent strip of six on cover with right sheet margins used from Mobile, Alabama, and cancelled with the bright, cherry red grid postmark used by that town. These are the only two strips of six on cover known, and nothing larger on cover exists. A further item equally interesting is a magnificent strip of five, together with a strip of three, tied by the well-known "Paid" New York cancellation in red. This postmark was used on the New York Postmaster Provisional and is exceedingly scarce on the 1847 issue. These covers are the show-pieces of the collection and were admired by everyone at the International Philatelic Exhibition, where the collection was awarded highest honors.

Mr. Gibson had the finest one of two complete reconstructed plates of two hundred subjects of the 10c stamp known. At present, the plate will not be broken, but will be offered intact. It consists of upward of ten strips of three and strips of four, thirty or forty pairs, and the balance in singles, mostly in superb condition.

There are two or three Railroads, which are exceedingly rare on this stamp. There is a pair on cover with "U.S. Express" cancellation in red, showing the well-known "Post Office" shift. There is a further pair on a second cover, showing the two stamps with shift in the right "X." There is a strip of four on cover tied with a blue Baltimore postmark and each stamp is cancelled twice with a red figure "5."

Singles and pairs of both denominations used on covers are present from numerous cities. The Gibson lot of proofs is probably the finest lot of this issue ever gotten together, and includes the pick of the numerous important collections that have been broken up in recent years.

The Reprint section forms a wonderful lot, including partially reconstructed sheets of both the 5c and 10c. Complete sheets of the proofs of each, together with the two varieties nicely shaded in singles, are present.

Correspondence is solicited with those interested.

If you are looking for anything in the way of United States stamps, please bear in mind that the finest collections and individual items now coming upon the market pass through me. Whether you buy or sell our issues, I would be pleased to hear from you.

STAMP MARKET GOSSIP

By "THE SEER OF THE STRAND."

Speculation.—It has been my intention to devote a few lines to this subject upon several occasions, but something else has invariably intervened. However, now that I have taken the plunge, it is going to be in the nature of a plea on behalf of the dealer whose intentions are unquestionably honest.

How many of my readers have from time to time gone the round of the London Stamp Market, picking up here and there some of the items which have since shown considerable increase in value? No need to reply! The dealer does not object to this in the least, but a word must be said for him when he receives day after day requests both in writing and verbally for "Current stamps which are soon going up in price." It is only natural that if the dealer in question knows of any, a hard task is before him. After all, it is his business, and it is not up to us to question what profits he may make upon any specified item. I have continually found that those individuals who write to the press complaining of the lack of courtesy extended to them by various dealers are really in the great majority of cases "Dejectors." Is it any wonder, then, that the "cold shoulder" is given when it is known that the applicant would not be seen but for the fact that he is after something for speculative purposes?

Go in and win, say I, when I give various items as likely to prove remunerative, but it is to be remembered that these lines are open for everybody to read. There is no secrecy about them, and if any dealer thinks fit, after seeing my notes, to raise his prices, that is his business. My only point is that one must allow others the same amount of intelligence in the matter of speculation.

Seychelles.—A little current stamp of this Colony is likely to become rather a good item in future. This is the 4c green, S.G. No. 122, listed at 1d. The Crown Agents for the Colonies have given notification that this stamp will shortly change its colour, so a few copies obtained now should be worth while.

Turks Islands.—I have had cause on more than one occasion to refer to the stamps of Turks and Caicos. It was my pleasure a few days ago to read a very nice letter from the Colony in which it was stated that the present issue was extremely low and that the new issue must of necessity be placed on sale almost immediately. That letter was at least two months old. For some time past I have found the higher values of the current set very hard to obtain, and as they have had rather a short life, it may be taken for granted that prices will be soaring very soon. The 2/- especially, S.G. 173, being the last to be issued on the script watermarked paper, will be the best, and I have no hesitation in advising all readers to give this stamp their immediate attention.

Cyprus.—This little Colony is about to have another new issue. I am informed that the coming stamps will make their appearance at any time. In fact, it is quite possible that they will be on sale by the time these lines appear in print. I strongly urge that the new issues be taken up at once, as it is only a temporary measure and not likely to last more than twelve months. In passing, I am not going to recommend the current issue because I have every reason to think it will be on sale again immediately after the expiration of this year.

Dominica.—So far, I have seen no reason why the 2½d orange-yellow, S.G. No. 75, should have advanced in price. Although the demand for the 2½d "oranges" of various Colonies has been large in the past few months, this stamp has always been obtainable where others have not been so. However, I learn that the colour is now about to be changed, and will shortly be issued in blue, with the black centre as usual. This brings me to the existing 3d blue with black centre, and I cannot help thinking that both these stamps will very soon be at a premium.

Whilst on this country, I should to mention that the 1914 5/- red green on yellow, with Mult. CA w mark, is still on the upgrade, and it surprise me very much if this stamp not range alongside its predecessor point of value in the near future.

Egypt.—The new "Statistical Cong stamps of this country have al shown themselves to be very pop They were issued on December 29th, are available for postage until M 31st next. I anticipate, however, long before then, supplies will be hausted, so advise all interested to s their copies immediately, as past ex ence leads one to think that when there are no more obtainable, prices reach a very high figure.

Newfoundland.—Now that the fine new pictorial issue of this an Colony has made its appearance, we find collectors (and incidentally de also) hunting around for good thin the late issue. I may, perhaps, be a help them along if I say that there rather a big variation in the nun printed, and judging by this, I s take the following order of merit: 11c, 24c, 8c and 12c.

BOOKS ON POSTAGE STAMPS

By B. W. H. Poole.

There is no end to the making of books—they arrive in a constant stream, some to be forgotten almost as soon as published, others to have a transient popularity, while the select few live to delight an ever increasing circle of readers. To fall in love with a good book is one of the greatest events that can befall us, wrote Henry Drummond on one occasion. The same celebrated Scot declared the beauty of such a friend is that we discover him. With the endless stream of books published nowadays what opportunities are presented to acquire new friendships. Washington Irving once expressed his astonishment at the fecundity of the printing press in the manufacturing of books. What would he say these days, were he alive to note the prodigious output of new books which the publishers have the courage to produce, regardless of the myriads of volumes that have already appeared?

That things were vastly different in the "good old days" is evidenced by a plain looking stamp which appeared in Spain in 1870. The design shows an envelope as a centerpiece, on a lined oval background around which is the inscription "Cartilla Postal De Espana." This label was for the special use of Senor Diego Castell for franking a work entitled Cartilla Postal de Espana—literally "Postal primer for Spain." This was a small pamphlet of eighteen pages, containing instructions for addressing letters in the manner desired by the post office, and it was considered so useful that in 1868 it was sent to 25,000 primary schools in Spain. In consideration of its general utility its author was given the privilege of sending it free by post for a period of six months from January 1st to June 30th, 1870. Senor Castell prepared the special stamp described above, which franked all the copies of his pamphlet mailed during the prescribed period.

Another Spanish author, Senor A. F. Duro, was similarly honored in 1881. Senor Duro wrote a work entitled Resena Historica Descriptiva de los sellos de Espana ("Historical Descriptive review of the Spanish postage stamps") and this book was considered of such general usefulness that the postal authorities allowed it to be passed through the mails free of postage. Senor Duro issued a special stamp for franking his work, the design showing an open book impinged on a branch of olive on a lined background within an ornamental frame. At the top of the frame is "Franquicia" and at the bottom is "Postal" meaning literally "immunity from postal tax."

Luiz de Camoens, the greatest of Portuguese poets, was honored with a commemorative series of no less than 31 values of Portugal in 1924 in celebration of the 400th anniversary of his birth. One of the designs of this lengthy series shows the title page of his most famous work Os Lusiadas, while another design shows him in the water after being shipwrecked on the coast of Cambodia, holding the precious manuscript of this work high in the air to save it from destruction.

Italy marked the 600th anniversary of the death of her famous poet Dante Alighieri" in 1921 by the issue of three special stamps. Dante was not only the greatest Italian poet, but also one of the three greatest poets of the world. Among his many famous works La Divina Commedia (the Divine Comedy), which probably occupied Dante at intervals during some twenty or twenty-five years of his life, is, without comparison, the greatest epic in Christiandom. It consists of one hundred cantos containing in all 14,233 lines so that it is a monumental work in length apart from its literary brilliancy. This work, in the shape of an open book, forms the centerpiece of one of the stamps in the commemorative series referred to.

Bolivia issued a series of stamps in 1878 showing a book as part of the design. The book is open and across its two pages are the words La Ley, meaning "The law."

Liberia, a country one would hardly associate with literary erudition, issued a stamp in 1909 in the design of a bound book. The back of the book is lettered Liberia and the front cover is embellished with a local scene, the lone star of the Republic, and the value.

Our philatelic library is, thus, a small one, but if one includes manuscripts under the heading of books many items may be added. These include such subjects as the Confederate stamp of Canada, the 24c, 1869 issue of the United States, showing the signing of the Declaration of Independence, one of the Vashoff stamps of Bulgaria showing the poet holding his manuscript, etc.—Philatelic Opinion.

OUR BOOK REVIEW

Elsewhere in this issue appears an advertisement of Milton T. Mauck, 36 Ridge Rd., Rutherford, N. J., announcing "The Lone Eagle," which is described as "a permanent record of a great achievement." It deals with Col. Lindbergh's "Good-will" tour of the United States, which is "one of the most fascinating chapters of our airmail history." The book is highly recommended by airmail specialists, and Mr. Mauck is particularly pleased at receiving a commendation from W. Irving Glover, 2nd Asst. Postmaster General, who calls it "very complete and most interesting." The book is well illustrated and contains a map showing the entire route. Col. Lindbergh started July 20, and visited forty-eight states, and the District of Columbia. His total flying distance was 22,350 miles. The price of the book is 50c.

BRITISH HIGH VALUES

Writing from Elmwood, Tennessee, Mr. Jno. Jellicorse says that he was interested in an article in the Weekly on the use of high value stamps in the Leeward Islands. Postage and Revenue are so mixed up in all or most British stamps, he says, that some uncertainty may exist as to usage. "British parcel post is generally limited to 11 pounds, but in some countries there seems to be an exception with an allowance of 22 pounds. I enclose a table of rates from England to various parts of the world, and from it you will see that the only rate over 10/- is on extra large parcels to New Zealand, and to Japan via Canada, perhaps some of the Pacific Islands may be higher. Looking at these rates what postal use is there for a pound stamp; and if there is no use for it in postage, it is a revenue stamp and nothing else." Postal rates in the colonies seem to have become so moderate that a ten shilling stamp does wonders. It is to be said, however, that first class postage may mount very high on occasion, as has been pointed out from time to time in the past.

STAMP NOTES AND NEWS

Australia.—The 4d bistre stamp has now appeared with the new watermark, multiple small Crown A close together. We have also seen the 1/- old Crown A watermark, No. 10, in our catalogue, with the watermark sideways instead of upright. We are informed that this error is due to the faulty cutting of paper and that only 25 sheets were issued, of which quite a large number were used for postal purposes.

Ceylon.—We are informed that the reason for the change in the design of the rupee values of the current set is that it was found that a large number of high value cancelled stamps were being cleaned and illegally used again. When the new 10, 20 and 100 rupees stamps were issued the whole stock of the old issue was destroyed in a furnace, so that the old type stamps are likely to considerably increase in value. The new type of the 1, 2, and 5 rupees have not yet been placed on sale, but we have no doubt that when they are issued the old type will share the same fate as the higher denominations.

China.—A commemorative set is announced for this unsettled country showing a portrait of Marshal Chang-Zso-Lin, the denominations being 1c, 4c, 10c and $1. 4,600,000 of these stamps will be issued, of which 370,000 will be overprinted for Sinkiang and 1,500,000 for Manchuria.

Cyprus.—In our last supply received of 4½ piastres, King George type, we find this value is quite a different shade to the previous printing, which is on yellowish-green paper, whilst the new supply is on a bluish-green paper. The black portion is not so intense and the words "Cyprus" and "4½ piastres" are in a deeper colour, more brown than orange.

Egypt.—In each sheet of fifty of the 10 milliemes Statistical Congress stamps a variety occurs on the 42nd stamp, which shows a flaw in the plate between the words "Le Caire" and "1927"; this flaw looks like a very large full stop and is a constant variety. We have just received a small supply of four more denominations in the new type with portrait of King Fuad, 4, 20, 100 and 200 milliemes, so that now there is only the £1 stamp to be issued in this new type to complete the set.

Jamaica.—We understand that the remaining stock of the 1½d Contingent stamps is to be destroyed owing to the fact that the recent damp weather has caused the sheets to stick together. There is also a rumour that a complete new issue of stamps is in contemplation.

Liechtenstein.—With further reference to the stamps issued for the benefit of the sufferers from the recent floods in that country, we are now able to give further particulars as to the designs; the 5 rappen shows a railway bridge near Buchs destroyed by the River Rhine; the 10 rappen, the inundations of the Rhine near the village of Ruggell; 20 rappen, rescue work undertaken by Austrian soldiers; 30 rappen, rescue work undertaken by the Swiss soldiers.

Mauritius.—The 8c stamp, King George design, has been unobtainable in the Colony for some time past, a fresh printing has now been made and we have just received a supply, this new printing is of a different shade, which is deep yellow and is printed from plate 16, whereas the old printing is from plate 17 and is a much paler yellow.

Poland.—We are informed by the Committee of the National Philatelic Exhibition, which is to be held in Warsaw next May, that two special stamps will be issued, 50 groszy showing a portrait of Marshal Pilsudski, and 1 zloty showing a portrait of the President of the Republic, Moscicki. These stamps are to be printed in pairs in sheets of two in a similar manner to those issued for the Philatelic Exhibition held in Strasbourg in 1927. We understand that 20,000 blocks or sheets will be printed, one only being sold to each purchaser of a ticket of admission to the Exhibition.

Russia.—A set of four stamps has been issued to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the formation of the Red Army; the 8 kopecs, brown, shows a picture of a soldier; the 14 kopecs, blue, a sailor; the 18 kopecs, carmine, a mounted soldier; the 28 kopecs, green, an airman apparently in flight over a Russian town. All stamps are dated "1918-1928."

Switzerland.—We have received the current 5 francs stamp which has been printed from a re-engraved plate, the main differences being in the mountains, which are much clearer, and the letters of "Helvetia" are close together, whilst the scroll which contains this word is unshaded at either side. The stamp is printed in a bright blue, quite different from the previous issue, which we shall have to alter in our catalogue to violet-blue.

Dominica.—In our supply of the new 3d stamps on yellow paper we find there are two varieties, one on pale yellow and the other on a deep yellow paper.

Uruguay.—On January 14th the new railway from San Carlos to Rocha was opened, and to celebrate the event the 12 centavos blue stamps of 1924, No. 279 in our catalogue, were overprinted "Inauguracion Ferrocarril San Carlos a Rocha 14-1-928" and the value. We assume the date is an error and is intended for "14-1-1928." There are four denominations, 2 on 12c, 5 on 12c, 10 on 12c, and 15 on 12 centavos. As is usually the case with commemorative issues from this country, these stamps have had a very short life, we are informed that they were in circulation for one day only, January 14th.

Yugo-Slavia.—An Air Service between Belgrade and Zagreb, with subsequent extensions to Split on the Dalmatian Coast, Podgoritsa in Montenegro, and Skoplje and Bitolj in Serbia, is about to be started if it is not already in operation. We understand that a ten years' contract has been signed Company for Aerial Communicati that 400 flights per annum are g teed. It is also intended to carry p gers, goods and luggage in addi mail. Postal rates for letters sent Mail will be 50 per cent higher th ordinary letter fee. The linking this Service with Budapest is c plated in the near future and later Northern Europe. In view of t formation we have no doubt th Mail stamps will soon be issued country.—Whitfield King & Co. letin.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY

THE CONVERSION OF OLD MAN PERRY

With Apologies If Necessary, To One Hundred Recent MEKEEL'S WEEKLY Advertisers

By EDWARD DANIEL FOX, A.P.S. 8947.

I was on my way home from a coasting party on MITC-HILL the other afternoon, and when in front of the VOORHEES place up by the LEVE I met Old Man PERRY (Himself). Inasmuch as he's a hard boiled old codger, and incidentally the official gloom spreader in our fair city of Fiddler's Green, I attempted to pass unobserved. However, he divined my purpose, and stepping directly in my path, LITT into me pronto.

"Say," he began, without ado, turning a HAWKEYE on me as cold as ICELAND. "What's this I hear about you bein' a stamp collector?"

"It is true," I confessed, somewhat proudly, "I am not only interested in stamps, but in anything pertaining to STAMP TOPICS."

"How long has this new fangled notion been goin' on?" he leered, attempting to HARRIS me.

"The idea is not new!" I protested emphatically, "It has now BINMORE than a century since COLONIAL days of NEW ENGLAND. People exchanged letters even in OLD COLONY times, and when stamps came into common use they were collected by folks who loved an interesting and educational hobby. Of late years the ADVANCE of philately has been phenomenal, and today I defy you to place a finger on any town on the ATLAS that doesn't boast a collector."

"IOOR anyone else would be a fool to fall for such trash." scoffed the Gloom Spreader.

"That's where you're wrong," I continued, "for philately appeals to all classes and vocations. For example, here in your own city you may often C. J. PHILLIPS hunt the BIRD in the FIELD, N. JOSEPH, the TRAUTMAN, attempt to HOOK the elusive fish from the sparkling waters of ASHBROOK. These men love their sport, but their hobby more. In the business world the SCHUMACHER who mends your soles, the COLMAN that supplies your fuel, the MILLER that grinds the feed, and the BARKER who shouts his wares, all worship at the shrine of philately."

"Haywire!" sneered PERRY, shifting gears on his cud.

"Listen!" I exclaimed, warming to my subject, "and you'll hear MOORE. Along the EASTERN seaboard from NEW YORK to the Golden Gate of the west, this ACME of hobbies is followed by men of STERLING integrity and highest AMES. Not alone in METROPOLITAN centers, but in smaller places as well every WARD is represented, from one section of the city to the TOWNSEND. We believe the UNITED States to be THE HUB of the universe, yet the entire GLOBE collects. Even the ROYAL family, from the humble BUTLER, watching the diners EATON, and on to the RELIANT old KING on the throne, are enthusiastic about philately. In the detective world from Nick CARTER to WATSON, of Needle fame, philatelists are numerous, while educational institutions as large as YALE college down to grade schools in the smallest BERG in every STATE, show a remarkable quota of collectors."

"But this collectin' GOETZ you nothin'," countered the Old Man.

"Wrong again," I came back, "For many a collector will POOLE his NICKLES, and like an ECONOMIST, buys SLOANE easy. He then MARKS time and inasmuch as all men must DIONE certain day, his end finally comes. After relatives and friends have filed past the BIER, and WILLS are read, they will exclaim, 'Here indeed was a WEISSMAN. More POWER to philately, a wonderful hobby pleasing alike to GODDEN man'!"

"You CROWELL about this fad," he went on, "But how about the YOUNG folks nowadays bein' interested?"

"Interested?" I repeated, "Absolutely. Take for instance MARTIN HUSSMAN calling on Miss HANNA WILSON, and presenting her flowers in the form of a NOSKE. Do you think his idea of wooing in CORTLANDT is to PARKER in GIBBONS cabaret, and then CHARTER a table with a five dollar cover charge plus the cost of the MEHL? He is too BRIGHT for that, for he realizes that there the BAR-TELS on your purse, and he cannot afford to let the KEIG-WIN. Instead he invests his money in stamps, and they PARK in the STAMP STUDIO of her HOME, thereby showing GOOD judgment."

Collectors have at last discovered how interesting are these revenues of sixty years ago. They were government revenues but the users were permitted to select their own designs, colors, shapes and sizes and what an array there is! The supply is none too great, the catalogue prices have not been changed in years and the demand is greatly increasing.

H. F. COLMAN
509 Seventh St., N. W. H. A. ROBINETTE (Successor) Washington, D. C.

"Applesauce!" he snapped, "I'd —"

"Listen," I interrupted, "I want you to GITTIS, and remember it. I'll wager anything he weds the girl, and anyone who BETTS that way will win, too."

"I don't want to RAP-KIN," croaked PERRY, "but my daughter keeps company with BERTRAND ELL, and no LYON, if she tried to interest HERBERT in stamps, I'd take the young HUSSEY and LOCHER up."

"You'd probably BALL her out," I admitted, "but I hardly believe you would HARMER. If she interested her fiance in stamps, I'd admire the little CHAMPION for her philatelic spirit."

The Old Man was silent for a time, his face a BROWN study.

"Well," he finally cackled, as he shuffled off down the hill, "Either you're full of GINN or you're crazy."

"So's you're OHLMAN," I muttered in disgust, and DREW my SLEDD."

The following evening Old Man PERRY called me on the phone.

"Say," he said, with just a trace of JOLY in his voice, "I thought over what you told me last night about stamps, and today the wife and I rummaged through the attic. We found a trunk full of old letters Dad and Mother wrote to each other before the Civil War. The stamps are all colors and values, and if you're interested, WALK over. You're welcome to the lot, you young Phil-a-tel-ist." And believe it or not, he actually laughed.

Great SCOTT! Did I want to SEYMOUR of this find, virtually THE HOME OF THE POSTAGE STAMP? I'll tell the Philatelic world I did. I WENDOVER in a hurry, and the only reason I ran all the way was because I'm not a Lindbergh, and couldn't fly.

DETROIT AIRCRAFT SHOW

By Herman W. Boers.

An All-American Aircraft Show is being held in Detroit, April 14-21. Through the courtesy of the management booth space is reserved for a temporary P. O. station, and all mail will be imprinted "Mailed at the All-American Aircraft Show, Detroit, Mich."

The sending of letters by airmail will also be a feature of the show, and the Detroit postmaster will be very glad to co-operate with those who deposit with him envelopes bearing postage at the rate of 10c per half ounce. These airmail will be an appropriate souvenir of the Aircraft Show.

Written for the WEEKLY

THE ST. HELENA 7SH 6D

By "Calabar".

At the time of writing considerable speculation is being centred about the current 7/6 of St. Helena, with prices asked running as high as $5 per copy in N. Y. The fact that Scott has deleted their quotation for this stamp, has given an added impetus to speculative activities —all of which is to be regretted, since the 7/6 is not obsolete, nor so far as I know is there any intention of withdrawing it. I happen to know that a certain well-known N. Y. dealer received a cable from St. Helena only a very short time ago, to the effect that it is still current. The various rumours which have been circulated around are therefore quite without foundation, and it is too bad that one of the contemporaries of the Weekly gave space to these rumours in its columns, the more so as the article referred to was written by one of the very dealers who are offering the stamp at the above figure, viz., $5. I am afraid that many collectors were deluded into buying this duty under the impression that it was shortly to become obsolete, and now when they are made aware of the true state of affairs, their disillusionment will turn them against a branch of collecting which too often has been exploited in just such a manner.

It is interesting to note that in the majority of the popular Colonies, where one or more recent duties have turned out to be good, the remaining current stamps come in for unwarranted price boosts, particularly the high values. This was true recently with St. Kitts, and is also true as re St. Helena. The current £1 is being quoted at $7 per copy, or $30 per block of 4, in one quarter, and for no other reason than that the 15/- became a rarity overnight, and that the 7/6 is a subject of speculation.

BINDERS FOR SALE

Do you want a fine cloth spring-back binder for the Weekly? If you knew what it is like you would not do without it. Each paper can be added to the file as it arrives, and the volume for the year can be kept in compact form.

Price is $1.50 plus parcel post charges on two pounds. Address either the Chicago or Beverly office of the Weekly, whichever is nearer.

DETOUR, MICH., AIR MAIL CURIOS

(Clipping from Detroit "News".)
(Courtesy J. B. Jackson and H. W. Boers.)

"Which ever way the wind doth blow
Some heart is glad to have it so."

LIKEWISE, when some or other village is snowbound, as in the recent instance of Detour, Mich., stamp collectors are made happy with canceled stamps and envelopes. This is the way it works:

Ralph E. Quinn, secretary to Mayor John C. Lodge, recently received several hundred envelopes, all alike, postmarked "Detour, Mich," and none of which contained any message or even blank paper. A separate letter, addressed to Mr. Quinn, requested him to forward the envelopes through the mail to a given address. Somewhat puzzled, but accommodating nevertheless, Mr. Quinn did as directed.

Wednesday, the solution arrived in the form of a circular from a stamp firm. It offers to stamp collectors three specimens for their stamp albums, described as follows:

"No. 1.—The newspapers carried the story of Pickford and Detour, Mich., being snowbound and that United States Army planes brought in mail. These planes also carried mail out. We have 'Detour, Mich., March 16,' backstamped 'Detroit,' $2.

"No. 2.—Pickford, 10-cent air stamp, March 15, backstamped 'Detroit, March 17,' 'Emergency Plane,' $2.

"No. 3.—Still another, sent from Sault Ste. Marie, March 16, and carried by the air mail emergency plane to Detour. Backstamped 'Detour, March 17.' Inscribed 'Emergency Plane' in green, $1."

The circular goes on to explain that planes from Selfridge Field carried mail and provisions by order of the Post Office Department into snowbound Detour, and that "most of the letters that we have seen had Detroit and Pickford postmarks on the face and were backstamped 'Detroit'."

All of which lends support to the proposition, to paraphrase an old favorite:

"Which ever way the snow doth fly
It sends the price of postmarks high."

FROM FAR KARELIA

Mr. John N. Johnson of the postal service, Chicago, says a good word for the Karelia issue of 1922, which has not been regarded as typifying the highest degree of philatelic correctness. In fact, there are some who say that the long set is a dubious contribution, at best, to the stamp wealth of the world. Mr. Johnson says: "I have a way of getting you some information about the actual use of the stamps from a correspondent who will supply me with it, I am sure." We trust that we shall have water for an immunity bath from Mr. Johnson, for the stamps of this republic of Karelia, which is a part of Soviet Russia, east of Finland.

Revolutionary Stamps of Russia, 1920-1922

Taken from the "LISSIUK" collection awarded the Silver medal, Class 20th Century, Section 19, at the International Philatelic Exhibition held in New York City from October 16th to 23rd, 1926, at Grand Central Palace.

Written by K. LISSIUK of the Lissiuk Philately Co., 1476 Broadway (42nd St.), New York City.

As stated previously, while the Revolution progressed Russia became divided into political factions who fathered their doctrines and ideas by setting up independent states. Each state issued their own stamps. I might mention—Armenia, Azberbaijan, Batum, Far Eastern Republic, Georgia, Northwest Russia, Siberia (not all), South Russia, Trans Caucasia. Ukrania, and Western Ukrania. All of these, except Azberbaijan which later absorbed Georgia and Trans Caucasia, adopted the described method of individually surcharging their First Republic stamps. Many of them at a later date, prepared their individual designs from which permanent stamps in the reduced currency were printed and used. In 1921-22 these independent issues were displaced by the recognized Soviet issue. Both the "First Republic" provisionals and permanent issues are shown in the general stamp catalogues as legitimate major varieties. Collectors accepted them in their collections without question. Their high philatelic value is a judge of their scarcity as a group.

To assume that the "State" issues and the unsurcharged First Republic stamps comprised all the legitimate postal issues throughout the whole of Russia is an error. Many districts and cities, independent or otherwise, also exercised their right to have their own stamps, or Revolutionary provisionals along the same lines —that was by surcharging the remaining stocks and values of the First Republic stamps. Suffice to state, that these subdivisions of the country never advanced to the point of making permanent legitimate issues.

It is about these Revolutionary stamps that this article is specially concerned. They were produced by the individual postmasters and universally accepted as regular postage on all mails. It would seem that at the time and due to chaotic conditions philatelic information did not function in the districts and cities, scattered throughout the country, which reverted to the use of provisional stamps. However their existence has been generally known for some time past, but the information furnished the philatelic public was far from being complete or accurate. A few items have been listed in the catalogues, others mentioned and the balance left untouched. Further details are known by natives of the country and early collectors of the stamps. At present it is natural for the cataloguers to be skeptical and careful in the exchanging of notes for their future listings.

My collection shown at the International exhibition contained a new and virgin field of comparatively unknown stamps. In fact I have been told that the American press has never published anything of the "District and City Provisionals of the Russian Revolution" before. From my notes I was able to construct a list supported by illustrations of the many varieties. The small collections of about 250 to 300 items impressed me as being unique, judging by the crude and odd looking surcharged stamps it contained. I particularly noted that by far the greatest number of the stamps had been cancelled, which would indicate the scarcity of the unused. On the whole the collection was big in research and philatelic value.

From correspondence and data submitted I found that a movement was well advanced to complete these stamps in the national collection in the archives of the Museum in Moscow. Splendid co-operation has been given by the Soviet postal officials, several individual postmasters and last but not least by stamp collectors. Just recently a catalogue printed in Russian accepts these issues with those of the states referred to above. Pen marked surcharges are also included as well as "What not to collect" pertaining to unofficial, unauthentic, speculative and illegitimate stamps. When the subject has been given proper recognition throughout the philatelic world at some future time, any doubts, suspicions and knocks will be dispelled forever. Advanced philately should not allow a repetit our own Confederate postmasters' After 65 years since issuance, iter still being added to the list. Alrea years have passed without any activity on the part of all concern though progress is reported. It is that this article will at least pa way for proper consideration o part of the "Revolutionary Stam Russia" which for many reason been neglected.

In closing, and before listing the districts and cities and the various provisionals, style of surcharge and which permanent First Republic they are to be found, etc. I migh that high prices prevail on most of For uncatalogued stamps they are ously priced in "dollars" and not "d The record quotation for an unusec is already five hundred dollars though about 10% of the stamps ured to exist a new field (small true) has been opened with a just r for those who are fortunate enou possess or secure any of these looking stamps of our own gener Who knows but what they will b some day the World's 20th Ce rarities.

METROPOLITAN STAMP COMPANY
1482 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

Sevard's Twinkles

Mr. Jandrue, Everett, Mass., very kindly sent us an air mail cover with a parachute date, better known as leap year, from Ashland, Ky., and one notes that the letter bears a legend "First Contact Leap Year Air Mail." Whether or not this is meant to be "Contract" or "Contact" makes little, if any, difference, yet we think "Contact" a splendid word for the cover, and perfectly correct.

For those who collect townmarks, we have found that the very large cities all have either International or Universal machines. The next gradation in size of the cities, brings forth mostly International machines, and many of the older types still in existence. These cities all have duplex handstamps also, most with the numeral "1", but many with "2" and higher. Many times, certain numbers are lacking, jumping to "26" or "33" without any sequence. Towns below 10,000, usually have a 29mm grid handstamp, and towns under 5,000, a 31mm four bar regulation. These classifications are approximate only, and should be accepted as a broad interpretation. Thus in New York City, we find a machine cancel found nowhere else. Chicago has its Universals with broken waves and inset die numbers. Philadelphia with its Internationals are often hard to distinguish. Brooklyn has many auxiliary marks, known as straights with station insets. Detroit is easy to classify. Boston, however, with its die letters and die letter insets is peculiar to learn about. Saint Louis is another easy one. Thus we might go down the line from city to city with their letter rate cancels.

ON THE HIGHER VALUED STAMPS, ONE CAN TRACE THE ROLLER CANCELS IN MOST CITIES, THE PLAIN OVALS, THE INSET OVALS, SHOWING A STATION NAME, THE "DRUG STORE" OVALS, SHOWING A NUMERAL IN THE CENTER, BOX CANCELS, AND MANY OTHER CANCELS WHICH APPEAR IN CITIES FOR A TIME.

Then there are the precancels. Sometimes one believes that the precancels of a certain city with a few hundred thousand population are philatelically as important in classification as some small island, some little island, practically nothing more than a rock of pliocene tufa, with a few stunted birches, a handful of heather and dry grass, flocks of nesting seagulls, semi-arctic butterflies of the order Polymmatus, all on this lost outpost of an unknowing hemisphere. Out there amid the endless procession of clouds ever laden with rain, out there with the ceaseless beating of the seas on its wave eaten barren shore, exists what to merit a stamp?

There are the meters, too, the usual type E with the meter number on it, or the Type E2, which shows a line under No. Both are used today quite commonly. And the box type meters, the Standard type, the type with the period after CTS and the Mail-O-Meter type with dots in the townmark. Further one could get fourth class permits, the box type and the postmark type, the former being very common. Even then one may discriminate between the box types with U. S. Postage in them, and those, without such requirement. More and more one can build up the history of a city from its desiderata, postmarks, meters, permits, precancels.

SWEET SIXTEEN GUM, THE NEW YORK CLIPPER, SLY FOX CIGARS, PABST BEER, SWEET CAPORALS, THE JOHNNY SMOKER, COLLAPSIBLE BATHTUBS, TONY PASTOR'S, 16 TO 1, COXEY'S ARMY, THE WIGWAM—AREN'T THEY ALL?

Not one has passed but left an imprint here
To mark the way for other's stay or while.
All like some coral isle that grows from depths,
From inch to inch, from skeleton to branch,
Of little, growing things to build them up
By standing on the dead who've passed their way.

No inner frame lines?

The first class fare by eamers of the New York & Porto S. S. Co. (s. s. "Coamo" or s. s. Lorenzo") between San Juan and Domingo City is $30.
mail was carried on the first regu- ight from Santo Domingo City to Juan, on Thursday, December 1, but on Saturday morning, Decem- rd, a more or less exclusive mail of tters was taken.
e air letter rate of 10c was prepaid ther the 10c blue, Entrega Especial, 20, or the 10c red-brown, Expreso, 927, both horizontal rectangular in , 47 x 21½mm, lithographed locally, termarked, and perforated 11½.

The postmark applied in blue-green to the stamps on these covers (605) is a single lined circle, 24mm, "Santo Domingo, Republica Dominicana," with the date in the center in three lines, "DIC—2—1927," and five horizontal lines at the right, each 45mm long, and spaced 4mm vertically. There is also a special marking applied in blue-green, in three lines, "CORREO AEREO—POR AVION—'Santa Maria'," whose greatest horizontal and vertical measurements are 59mm and 22mm respectively.

At San Juan, P.R., this mail was backstamped with the Duplex marking of that office, a single lined circle 25mm, inscribed "San Juan, P.R." with the date in two lines in the center, "DEC 3—12.30 PM," and the year "1927," placed at the foot between the postmarking circle and the ellipse on end (formed of graduated horizontal bars, with the numeral "1" inset) at the right.

As the steamer with the mail from New York arrives at Santo Domingo City every Tuesday morning, and leaves at 5 p. m. for San Juan, P.R., it is practically impossible to send replies to letters received by this steamer. However, if letters are sent by air to San Juan Thursday morning, they will catch the steamer sailing that afternoon for New York, and save a whole week. Otherwise, the return mail must wait for the outgoing boat from Santo Domingo City on Tuesday evening of the following week.

Under the heading of "Air Transport Service," the "Pan-American Union Bulletin" of January, 1928, has the following to say:—

"The National Congress of the Dominican Republic recently approved a contract with the West Indian Aerial Express for the establishment of a weekly air passenger and mail transport service between the cities of San Juan, P.R., Santo Domingo City, Port au Prince, Haiti, Santiago and Habana, Cuba.

In accordance with the terms of the contract, the Government promises to pay the company $250 a pound for mail, absolutely guaranteeing $500 a month in the event that the weight of the mail should be less than 2 lbs., as well as the sum of $1,500 monthly as a subsidy to stabilise and encourage the enterprise."

San Juan Westward Service

As yet no arrangements have been made by the United States Post Office Dept., for the dispatch of letters by air from San Juan westward, and under date of January 10, 1928, Sr. Rafael del Valle, Postmaster at San Juan, writes:—

"No arrangements have as yet been made for the dispatch of mail westward from San Juan, P.R., although mail is being received from those countries (Santo Domingo City, D.R., and Port au Prince, Haiti) in San Juan, twice a week . . . I cannot state at present whether they intend to establish an air mail service from Porto Rico to the said countries in the near future."

10c Entrega Especial and Expreso

The 10c blue, Entrega Especial, stamp has as its central feature a biplane in flight, with "Republica Dominicana" in colorless, curved above. In the upper corners, in ovals placed diagonally, is "Correos," and circles in the lower corners contain "10c," colored; between the two, across the foot, is "Entrega Especial" in colorless.

The printing of this stamp ceased (until December, 1927) with the issue of the 10c blue, Entrega Especial, of 1925, patterned after the 10c blue Special Delivery, of the U. S. A. (issued July 12, 1922), which is officially described as picturing "the front of a Colonial residence, showing a motorcycle parked against the curb, with a special delivery messenger delivering a letter." Although the front of the "Colonial residence" is identical on the two stamps, the lettering is differently disposed. On the Dominican stamp, "Entrega Especial" is in a straight line at the top; ribbons directly under are inscribed "Correos" at the right and left, and across the window at the right of the residence is "Republica—Dominicana" in very small colorless lettering. At the foot is "Diez Centavos," between circles in the corners bearing the denominational figures "10."

In 1927, the inscription at the top of the 1925 design was changed to "Expreso," and the color from blue to red-brown. In changing the printing stone, the first "E" of "Entrega" was not erased from the 18th subject, causing the error "E EXPRESO" once in each pane of 25 stamps.

The first printing of the 10c blue, biplane in flight, of 1920, consisted of 50,000 stamps, and was legalised by a decree of March 10, 1921, signed by Rear Admiral Thomas Snowden, U. S. N. Military Governor of Santo Domingo. It was superseded by the 10c blue, Colonial residence type, of 1925, but subsequent to the inauguration of the West Indian Aerial Express air mail service in December, 1927, its printing was resumed. It was the use of this more or less obsolete stamp on some of the first day air mail dispatched to San Juan, P.R., December 3rd, that caused the report that the Dominican Government had issued a special stamp for the service. The stamps so used, however, were merely some remainders gathered up at some outlying Post Offices.

IN REJOINDER

By HERMANN FOCKE.

Yours of recent date received and duly noted. I have just read your correspondent's—with Nom de plume "Calabar"—comments on my article on Leeward Islands stamps, and will say that he is wrong in his first and right in his second assumption, i.e.: I did not obtain my stamps at Montserrat, but at Tortola, V. I., about the same time that he states he received his 5d stamp, they were consequently in issue at that time.

His remarks about Turks Island, or rather Turks & Caicos Islands, old issue I can supplement by giving you the following information received from my correspondent at Grand Turk this morning:

"The new issue came out on the 1st instant and I am informed by the P. M. that the entire stock of the previous issue has been burnt; this was done because some of the dealers who had invested large sums in the old issue objected to the Post Office still keeping them on sale, and thus cutting them out of the profits they would (like to) make." (The two words in parenthesis are my own.)

My comment on this is "I like that spirit."

In my humble opinion the 2/- on multiple script wmk. paper should become as rare as the first on block multiple script, because its issue was very much shorter than that of the former.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THE TRADE

Although in October we published by several thousand the largest edition of catalogues we had ever issued, the

1928 EDITION

is completely exhausted and no more orders can be filled.

We wish again to emphasize to our trade the importance of accurately estimating public demand for this volume; for our printing order must be largely based upon estimates taken from advance orders.

We are ready to co-operate in every possible way and request our dealers also to co-operate with us and their customers in making their estimates ample, and as accurate as possible.

EDITORIAL

One of our friends in Washington has given us some interesting information on a subject that has received much attention recently, that of commemorative issues by our government. He says: "I have indicated to you, as far as I thought it allowable, the policy of the postmaster general, as I sensed it, in connection with the many requests for special stamps. You will be interested to know that Mr. New has now given a statement to the Associated Press, in which he incorporates his views on a question that has become somewhat cumbersome to handle. It is possible that you may not have seen the account which I am now enclosing, and which should be of interest to your readers. These observations of Postmaster General Harry S. New should be regarded as representing the departmental view, based on practical limitations. It should not be read into the text that Mr. New is other than friendly to commemorative stamps in their sentimental and historical aspects, but stern necessity will not be ignored. I should not be surprised if the Valley Forge stamp were decided upon, as the demand for it is well organized and extensive; and the theme is one that appeals strongly to all of us."

We appreciate the foregoing survey, even though the statements in it are not exactly definite, in consequence of the position occupied by our correspondent. As for the Associated Press notice, we had not seen it before, and while we are not permitted to quote its words, we may review it briefly. The opening sentence says that the half dozen bills that have been introduced into Congress providing for special issues cannot achieve their object even if they are reported favorably, since any more extra stamps would hamper the work of the Bureau, as well as exceed the appropriation of the department. Consequently, any bill that passed would have to carry a financial proviso, and be made mandatory on the department. Mr. New says that there are thirty applications for commemorative stamps before Congress in the manner of resolutions, two of which from Pennsylvania present the subject of the Valley Forge encampment and the centennial of the first trip of a steam locomotive in this country, at Honesdale, in 1829, respectively. New Jersey's contribution of the Lindbergh series, and the battle of Monmouth, have been recorded, and we have mentioned the proposed George Rogers Clark stamp from Indiana. Senator Wagner of New York wants a stamp to celebrate the sesquicentennial of the founding of his state, and there are other suggestions covering revolutionary battles and incidents. Other subjects mentioned are the tercentenary of Massachusetts; the sinking of the Maine; the discovery of Hawaii; the founding of Kingston, and the opening of the Peace Bridge over the Niagara River. Too, portraits of Baron von Steuben, Fred Douglas, the great negro, Luther Burbank and Commander Byrd, have their partizans. With the most generous of intentions, the post office department must draw the line somewhere, even on the score overtaxing the resources of the department, physical and financial.

Mr. G. Van de Kieft of New York City has sent us a clipping from a newspaper of Haarlem, Holland, picturing eight stamps that will comprise a set to be issued by Netherlands, to commemorate the Olympian games to be held there. The series, "IX Olympiade, 1928" ranges from 1½c to 30c, inclusive, and illustrates rowing, fencing, football, sailing, shot-putting, sprinting, racing and boxing, respectively. The colors are not named, and as Mr. Van de Kieft says: "As the stamps are not overcrowded with ornament, the different sports should be shown effectively."

The letter in our issue of March 19, 1928, from the Hon. W. Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, that we headed, "All For Lindy" made an impression on our readers judging from the commendatory letters that have been received. From an officer of the Department, word comes that through a recital of the kind, "the patrons of the Post Office Department know that we are trying to do a real job for the Philatelists." Mr. Claude Davis Millar of Cincinnati, does not restrain his enthusiasm, and he says: "The article ought to be greatly appreciated by all stamp collectors, and a man like Glover ought to be elected by 'Fair Minded People' who, naturally, are in the majority, to the highest office in our land. You will notice that this type of man 'makes good

Several letters have been received from those who have seen references in our columns recently to some of the men whose names were to the fore in philatelic circles generations ago, such as Trifet, Chute, Pierce and others. One correspondent is anxious to know if Charles B. Corwin of New York, who was so active in philatelic affairs in the early nineties is still up and doing. Another asks: "What has become of your friend, Lewis G. Quackenbush, up in York State, who was the most prolific of writers years ago?" Lacking definite information, we say nothing, but some other follower of stamps may know.

A circular from the Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, Toledo, Ohio, district, dated March 26, 1928, is addressed: "To Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Oleomargarine, and Zone Deputy Collector." The first paragraph says a stamp collector in Pittsburgh, Pa., has sent postals to dealers in oleomargarine, offering to pay for oleomargarine tax paid stamps, colored or uncolored oleomargarine varieties, "soaked by cold water from emptied boxes." The collector, who is named, is represented as saying that if the stamps are thus removed from the boxes, the law requiring the destruction of the stamps when packages are emptied will not be violated. This statement is squarely denied, and retail dealers are enjoined to wholly destroy the stamps when the packages are emptied; and all those who handle original packages are warned that the requirements of the Act are absolute. The law of 1886 demands that any stamped package containing oleomargarine, when emptied, must have the stamp thereon utterly destroyed by the handler. A fine of not exceeding fifty dollars and imprisonment of not less than ten days, nor more than six months is provided for violation of this law. It is said that the removal of the stamp does not constitute destruction of it, and it is ordered that no person even permit the removal of the stamp by another, under penalty. Zone deputy collectors are instructed to see that the Act are enforced.

We are informed by Mr. P. J. Drossos of Athens, Greece, that the complete Navarino set was placed on sale on March 17, 1928; and he sends four values in addition to the two that issued last October. We understand both the "Sir Codrington" and the rected "Sir Edward Codrington" dr. are to be had at the post office.

The new Chinese stamps are stirup no little political excitement in C and we have received advices that are certain to be received with "n feelings" from Mr. Theodore Sidda Shanghai, and Mr. G. J. Schmic Tientsin, North China.

TWO 5000-LINE CONTRACTS

T. Allen of London, England, who has been advertising regularly in the WEEKLY for a long time has engaged 5,000 lines of space to be used during the coming year, and it is needless to say that we are much gratified at this tribute from a British advertiser.

It supplements a contract which we already have with Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., also of London, who is regularly using one hundred lines per week. Such confidence in our publication is born of a mailing list that has great purchasing power.

CANCELLATIONS

By Harry M. Konwiser.

The interesting department in this paper by Mr H. P. Atherton is proving of great value to the collectors of United States stamps. To supplement this work, let us hope, a philatelist of philanthropic standing, plus a good sized bank-roll will arise and say, "Let us put all of this and other cancellation dope in a book."

A study of cancellations of the United States! Think what a magnificent impetus this would be to many collectors who now hold aloof from stamps of our own country, because they profess to believe their money-box will never have sufficient resources to purchase U. S. stamps. Specialization by cancellations, by towns, by years or by legal holiday dates or in other ways—that is the proper solution to sustained interest in the stamps of our country.

A stupendous task, naturally, and one that—when done, would be just ninety-three and eight-tenths complete. Yes, some job, and meanwhile those of us who have "unusual cancellations" should make every effort to get these into print.

Meanwhile the collector of Americana is often in doubt—having sensed the practical idea involved in cancellation collecting, together with mild specialization on a stamp or two. Just where is one to start, and where quit? Shall the limit be one stamp, one period of years, or what?

It is safe to assert that this method of collecting, the cancellation feature, is one that has everything sensible in its favor, and not to be rated in the over-specialization class. Cancellation devotees require no million dollar bank rolls, unless they select the 1869 inverts for cancellations.

The "exact reasons" for the various styles of official cancellations should be told some day in its entirety, but everyone can ascertain when and how PAID was placed upon a cover; why postmasters fancied certain designs; why ingenious clerks produced wonderful-looking obliterations, etc., etc. There are steam boat cancellations, rail cancels, fort and navy cancels—all to be checked up against the Postal Guides of the United States Post Office.

The standard, current type of cancellation may "look alike" to the non-philatelist, but is it? Who would not, right now, be interested in a collection showing every cancellation of the current year? Does anyone doubt such a collection, on display at the New York show, would not have aroused considerable interest? Such a collection might include the normal big city cancel, with the various branch offices, the registry forms in use, the air mails, the specials, the parcel post, the representative (legal) pre-cancels, etc.

Some years back, Clark A. Tuttle, writing in a stamp paper, now gone to the happy hunting grounds, listed nineteen "ways" to collect cancellations on U. S. stamps. The list, with minor changes, is as follows:—

(1) Day dates on individual stamps to complete a year. (2) Day dates on any and all issues, to complete a year. (3) Year dates, beginning with the earliest in your favorite stamp (or foreign country), to date. (4) Colored dated cancels. (5) Odd cancels, black ink. (6) Cancels in colors other than black. (7) Numeral cancels, local hand stamp usage. (8) Alphabetical cancels, made by hand stamp. (9) Colored numeral cancels, made by hand stamp. (10) Colored alphabetical cancels, made by hand stamp. (11) Numeral cancels, machine-made. (12) Alphabetical cancels, machine-made. (13) Colored pen cancels. (14) Black pen cancels. (15) Paid cancellations. (16) Railway mail cancels. (17) Advertising and commemorative cancels. (18) Black star cancels. (19) Maltese cross cancels. (20) Colored star cancellations.

To this group can be added:—

(1) Steamboat and railway cancels—domestic and foreign boats, of course. (2) Supplementary Mail cancels. (3) New York Foreign Mail cancels. (4) Registered mail cancels, domestic and foreign. (5) Parcel Post cancels. (6) Air Mail cancels.

Then there are "the Official Cancels" of various countries, franks they might be called.

Specialism might adopt the Delf Norona suggestion and collect by states. A collection showing every type and form of cancellation in use in any one state would be a thing of historic interest.

In view of the fact that cancellation collections can be made on stamps selling at very low prices "per hundred" the way is open to anyone. The low-price stamp of today, is often the high-priced stamp of tomorrow. Cancellation-collections help to increase catalog prices.

SOUTH WEST AFRICA

I hold a magnificent lot of the rarer stamps of this very popular Colony—in fact, it is one of the most important sections of my huge stock. This goes to say that it is undoubtedly the most valuable SOUTH WEST AFRICA stock in the world—and they are priced right! At the moment I am sold out on a number of the commoner numbers—but if you are looking for the better grade stamps—those that are bound to show the greatest enhancement in value—you should not fail to get in touch with me. For one thing, you will save yourself from paying the "futuristic" prices asked by many dealers.

BARGAINS

Some of these were offered two or three weeks ago and met with an enormous demand. I had several enquiries for shorter sets of the Pictorials of Setting IX so I am this time breaking the set.

The Costa Rica Air Mail Stamp

The airplane stamp of Costa Rica is a very attractive stamp. This is due partly to its simplicity and its color. The blue of the sky is most appropriate for a color for an airplane stamp. This color is effectively used in this instance. The central design of this stamp shows a plane in flight, bearing the words "CORREO AEREO" on its side. A few clouds break the monotony of the sky background. Across the upper left corner and filling it thoroughly lies the only other feature of the design. This consists of the seal of Costa Rica and symbolic spray of coffee. The name Costa Rica stands out very plainly, altho the lettering is not over large. This is due to the background, which is quite dark in comparison with the rest of the stamp. The value—20 centavos—is in rather large type in the lower left corner with the word "centimos" running slightly over half way across the stamp. The whole stamp is surrounded by a frame of blue and white check, which sets off the whole design very well.—A. C. LeDuc.

Gate City Stamp Club

The Gate City Stamp Club was organized, Feb. 29, in Nashua, N. H. The officers are Pres., Dexter Wright; Vice Pres., Robert Whitney, and Sec.-Treas., Frederick Tolles. At the meetings we discuss new issues, and some member gives a talk on various stamps. Then we have refreshments and exchange stamps. We would like to correspond with other clubs.—Fred. Tolles, 47 Berkeley St.

Denmark Notes

Denmark issued its first set of stamps in the spring of the year 1851. This was during the reign of King Frederick VII, who occupied the throne during the years 1848-63. Unlike his successors, his picture does not appear on the stamps of the country.

It was feared that King Frederick would be the last of the male line. This was foreseen by the king, the people, and the foreign powers. On May 8, 1852, a treaty, participated in by England, Austria, Russia, Prussia and Sweden, was signed providing for the succession to the throne. According to this treaty, in case Frederick had no children, the crown was to go to Prince Christian of Glucksburg, and his wife Princess Louisa, who through her mother was a niece of King Christian VIII. This treaty did not seem to settle the internal strife as had been expected. When King Frederick VII died, altho Christian IX was proclaimed King, the young Duke of Augustenburg appeared in the province of Schleswig as Frederick VIII. Germany supported the claims of the pretender and in October, 1864, Christian IX renounced claim to the provinces of Lauenburg, Holstein and Schleswig.

On part of the stamps issued in 1904-05 appears the picture of Christian IX, and listed by Scott as A11. The issue of 1907-12 pictures Frederick VIII. But most interesting of all is the issue for Iceland (A5) that pictures both Christian IX and Frederick VIII, deadly political enemies in life, in double profile, after their hectic days were over.—A. C. LeDuc.

A School Club

The Holmes School Philatelic Club, which was organized a year ago, is still growing in membership, and now boasts of thirty members in good standing.

It is a club composed entirely of boys and is sponsored by the manual training instructor of the school. The manual training shop is used as its clubroom and meetings are held every Thursday.

The presiding officers are as follows: Elmer Davison, Pres.; Hugh Simpson, Vice-Pres.; Harry Frish, Sec'y and Treas.; Martin Tolzman, Librarian.

At each meeting a talk is given by one of the members on a chosen topic, usually taken from Mekeel's Weekly or other circulating publications. After the regular business meeting an informal social time is enjoyed by trading, buying or selling stamps.

Each member is distinguished by a gold pin designed especially for the club; it is triangular in shape, with letters H. S. P. C. in red with white enameled background.

Anyone desiring to communicate with this club, please address Holmes School Philatelic Club, 5525 South Morgan St., Englewood Station, Chicago, Ill.

Australian Kangaroos

Some few years ago an Englishman said in a lecture, that there were many English people who believed that they had only to go to New York City to meet plenty of Indians. Shortly after that, an Australian woman remarked that it was a great surprise to her to find that we Americans thought that kangaroos were very common in Australia. She said that altho there were some they were very rare. I imagine that they might be classed with the buffalo. But are we not to be excused when we see before us the map stamps of the Australian Commonwealth issued in 1913-1920, and listed by Scott as type A1. This issue has an outline map of Australia with a kangaroo covering a good part of it. There is nothing else on the stamps of this issue except the two words "Australia Postage" at the top, and the value in figures and words at the bottom. This issue on paper watermarked a wide crown, and a wide "A" was the first one for the entire Australian Commonwealth and appeared in 1913. Up to this time each state had its own stamps. These stamps are listed under their respective headings, namely, Queensland, New South Wales, South Australia, Tasmania, Victoria and Western Australia.—A. C. LeDuc.

Balloon Post. — During the Franco-German war of 1870, Paris was for a time entirely surrounded by the enemy, and the French resorted to an ingenious expedient for communicating with the outside world. A balloon corps was organised and during the siege no less than 65 balloons were sent up carrying mail for outside points. A great deal of this mail reached its destination, as many of the aeronauts were able to land in places friendly to the French. No special stamps were issued in connection with this service though an enhanced rate of postage was charged and the letters were generally marked "Par ballon monté."

NEW ISSUES ON APPROVAL

THE best way to buy new issues is, not to bind yourself to take anything up to a certain value, but to make your free choice from selections sent on approval.

We shall be glad to send selections of new issues, on approval, to any part of the world, either monthly, or at any desired interval.

Please state whether you require new issues of the whole world, or of any particular group, and whether you have any limit as regards face value.

References with first letter, from collectors not known to us, will save delay.

NOTE.—At our rates an ordinary current unused one shilling stamp of a British Colony costs you 32 cents and a £1 stamp six dollars.

OFF-SIDE

THE Nicaragua stamp story that decided the Isthmus of Panama instead of Nicaragua as the site of the Canal is revived in the newspapers and correspondents have sent in clippings of it. This historic tale is about the best that ever has been spun as it hinges directly on a stamp, and we hope that it will have currency in the press for many years to come.

MR. A. LEE PHELPS, Greeley, Colorado, has sent us a pair of the 1½c, current U. S., precanceled, "Greeley, Colo." in raised or embossed black letters. It seems that only a few of these stamps were treated in this manner, perhaps for souvenirs.

FRANCIS E. BUSH, postmaster at Standing Stone, Pa., is ninety-five years old, and with the exception of eleven years, he has served since January 6, 1875. He certainly has seen stamps come and go in his business, and if he had only kept sheets of mint bank note issues, until today, he would be resting easily.

"FILATELIA" of Turin, Italy, has entered its twelfth year, and we congratulate the publishers of this beautiful journal in maintaining a high philatelic ideal. In fact, Filatelia, as an exponent of the best in stamp journalism, is entitled to rank in the first column, and the fact that different languages are used in its columns increases its usefulness.

WE understand that the prospects for success of the newly formed British Philatelic Association, Ltd., London, are good, since leading dealers and collectors are loaning their support to the organization. Dealers and collectors alike are invited to become associates of this protective association by the honorary council.

THE Pacific Stamp News, Piedmont, California, the new weekly, has issued fourteen numbers, up to March 24th; and as the third weekly paper in this country is entitled to consideration. Several other weekly journals that were announced have not made their appearance, as yet; and nothing further has been heard of the ambitious project to launch a daily.

A LITTLE RARITY

The St. Kitts 2½d blue reissue of the 1921 type on chalky paper which appeared about autumn, 1927, is a little stamp which is likely to be of some considerable scarcity in the near future. It was due to an error of the printers that this was printed on chalky surfaced instead of the ordinary plain paper. I understand the requisition received by the printers ran something in this way: 2—000 2½d in blue instead of brown on paper as before, or words to that effect, and the printers on turning up a previous order for reference as to paper referred by mistake to the order for the 2½d brown and black Tercentenary which of course being a bicolor was printed on chalky paper. A small supply of the 2½d blue reissue therefore was printed by mistake on chalky paper. This supply, although the error was practically unnoticed, lasted but a very short time as a supply received two months afterwards was found to be on ordinary paper and, presumably, only a small number got into circulation before the error was rectified. This is, therefore, likely to be one of, if not the, rarest of the 2½d color change varieties, it certainly had a much shorter life than any of the 2½d oranges, some of which will also show a considerable rise.

The rarest 2½d—St. Kitts 2½d blue script on chalky paper. It is a much deeper and brighter shade than either the original or the subsequent 2½d blue script.—Roberts Price List.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

GIBSON COLLECTION

One of the outstanding pieces in the famous Gibson Collection of 1847 which I am now breaking, is the wonderful reconstructed plate of two hundred subjects. This consists of numerous strips, singles and pairs in the finest condition. I doubt whether sufficient material is available today to reconstruct a similar item. It is to be hoped that this will be placed intact, but if not, it will be broken, and want lists from those endeavoring to complete the plate, are solicited.

Besides the outstanding and well known items, there are many individual pieces that would grace any collection. For instance, there is a very beautiful letter of Longfellow, quoting several verses of a poem, and mailed with a 5c 1847 from Cambridge, Mass. I do not recall a letter from any other prominent person franked with one of our early postage stamps. The entire lot is now being broken up, and if you are interested in any portion, it will be gladly submitted for inspection to responsible collectors.

12c BLACK 1851-57

I have had the pleasure of selecting from one of the finest collections of this stamp ever gotten together a number of choice and outstanding pieces. For instance, mint singles of the 1851, one of which shows the recut corner. There are copies of the same stamp imperforate from Plate III, which are decidedly rare. In the perforated blocks, there are two of the rare mint blocks from Plate I, and several used blocks in the finest of condition with unusual postmarks. A number of covers showing pairs and combinations of both issues are available.

CONFEDERATES

I have recently acquired one of the finest lots of mint Confederate singles and blocks that it has ever been my good fortune to own. This includes blocks of the 10c Rose, which are real rarities. There is present a superb block of the "Ten", as well as all of the other known blocks in various shades. If you are interested in these varieties in either mint or on cover condition, your want list is solicited.

If you are thinking of buying or selling, I would be glad to hear from you.

Washington Notes

On March 30th, I had the pleasure of an interview with the Postmaster General relative to the proposed Valley Forge Stamp. Mr. New states that he well realizes that the event was one of the most important in the Revolution, and that had the subject been considered a year or two back when they were considering the others, that the Valley Forge would undoubtedly have been approved. At the present time, there are so many demands that he has definitely made up his mind that there will be no new commemoratives in the near future. He readily admits that more pressure has been brought to bear relative to the issuing of this stamp than any other, but he cannot consistently favor one without favoring some of the others. It is, therefore, my opinion that the Bills before Congress will die in the Committee, and that the likelihood of the appearance of any of these stamps is very small.

A special coin has been authorized to commemorate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of the Hawaiian Islands, and if the Delegate from the Islands appeals to the President in the case of the stamps, it is quite possible that he may be successful. As far as the Postmaster General is concerned, such stamps will not appear.

It is quite possible that within the next several months, we may have a new envelope to be known as a Number 6. This is to be a window variety so made that it will readily take the checks issued by the Departments as well as those being used in the sending out of dividends by many of our corporations. The stamp will be the normal 2c stamp now being used, and the variety will be of interest to the collector of entires, only.

If the 5c air mail rate is finally authorized, air mail envelopes will, no doubt, appear in short order, and an excellent suggestion in regard to such an envelope has been made. We could take our normal 5c envelope with portrait of Washington, and print this in red. On either side we could put wings similar to those used in the case of the air mail insignia, as found on the 8c air mail stamp. This portion could be printed in blue, and would result in a red, white and blue variety. The normal envelope stamp with the wings would be ciently large to readily attract the the mail clerks, so that air mail could be readily distinguished.

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman kind vors me with copy of H. R. 12030 duced by Mr. W. W. Griest, kno the Post Office Bill and covering ch in rates in the several classes. The press announces that this Bill, whi vises downward all classes of rates, was unanimously passed. T returns to the old rate of one-ce second-class matter, and restores th mer rates on postal cards. The rates on third-class mail establish 1921 are again effective under th bill, with slightly lower rates on papers and Magazines when mail the public.

The new rate on newspapers and azines is based solely on the adver portions of the publications, inv a reduction in postage only o weight of advertising carried in e which are subject to zone rates of age. The bill covers nine divisio mail matter, on six of which ther no opposition during the hearing bill by the Committee. In additi lowering the rate on newspapers, zines and postal cards, the Griest b duces the rate of second-class mail ter entered by others than the publ or news agents, from two cents t cent.

The bill also provides for busine ply cards and envelopes to meet mand for advertisers by which th encourage replies without the neces enclosing Government postal ca stamped envelopes. Under this method postal cards or envelopes ing the address of the concern by issued may be sent under cover to pective purchasers, and when dep by the recipient, in the mail, an warded without prepayment of post the concern by which issued from the forwarding postage will be co

Whether the Department will us age due stamps to collect these am or whether they will issue special s for the purpose, remains to be seen

Special Delivery rates are mat changed and one of the clauses re follows:—"For the purpose of thi the Postmaster General is authori provide and issue Special Delivery s of the denominations 10, 15, 20, 2 35 cents."

This will result in issuing for th time of 25c and 35c Special De stamps. As 10c, 15c and 20c are available, it is not likely that new eties will appear.

Under this Act, fourth-class weighing not more than ten pound receive special handling on the p ment of 15 cents, whereas those ten pounds will require 25 cents in tion to the regular postage. This possibly result in a "Special Han stamp of 15c denomination. The will, no doubt, be reported favorat the Senate, and receive the approv the president.

THE MOST STRIKING ERROR

Ever Offered in Modern Italy

VOLTA 20c, Scott 188, VIOLET instead of Carmine

We can guarantee that only 240 copies of this variety have been issued. An Official Committee appointed by the Italian Government proved the existence of this rare stamp and also the quantity sold.

We offer the few mint copies still available at $27.00, used copies at $54.00.

Only a few letters were passed by Post.

ITALIAN WONDER PACKET containing 100 different varieties, $1.00 post free.

ALLEN BOLTON Puts a Few More Bargains Up On Deck

Special Bargain—Victoria, 6d blue Queen on throne, #30, very fine, at 25c Cat. $1.50. A few 2nds at 18c—less than ⅛ Cat. Not more than 3 to anyone at this price. Additional copies over 3, 60c each.

N. S. Wales—230 or 31, Cat. $12.00, for only $1.50. 1 copy only each. I got an old Llallier and some loose stamps recently, I found over 80 of the first and 25 of the second tied up in bundle. To prove this is not an imaginary offer I have "proofed" by sending the entire lot to offices of MEKEEL S W. showing I really HAVE what I offer.

Of my page ad of Jan. 9th, all the Uruguay and U. S. A. and Job lots are gone. The rest are still available—get a copy of that date if you have not got one, it will pay you.

Morocco (French) — Just received a new big parcel, many new items, but the 1.05, 1.40, 1.50, 1.90 and 80 have been withdrawn and are sure risers; I have had to advance my prices sharply. New Charity Sets expected very shortly.

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS

By "PHILATELIA."

South West Africa.—A correspondent asks if I can give nos. printed of the various South West African overprints. I have no information on this point. The recent exhaustive article in the Philatelic Magazine on this very popular country gave no figures either, so it is to be presumed these have never been disclosed. There is a large demand for this country, and it is to be expected that all the obsolete issues will rise to a much higher level.

Numbers Issued.—Speaking of numbers issued, it is advisable to make certain that figures given of this nature are absolutely official and authoritative. The writer recently saw the following numbers issued quoted: Caymans, 10/- MCA 1922, 1060, Gibraltar, 8/- 1922, 20,000.

The first is obviously too low (much smaller even than the famous 10/- Malta MCA) whilst the latter is much too high. This figure has never been made public, but, however many may have been printed, it is fairly certain only a small fraction of that number can have been sold before the balance was withdrawn and destroyed.

Other stamps we have official figures of is the St. Kitts Tercentenary set, where it is worth noting that nearly as many of the £1 were sold as of the 10/-, i.e., 1748 as against 1811. Of these figures, roughly half were sold by the Crown Agents. It looks as though the market (and catalogue) value of the 10/- is too low compared with the £1, and I strongly recommend purchasing the 10/- at anything under £5.

St. Helena. — The 15/- value here looks like turning out a real rarity. The withdrawal appears to have taken all by surprise, and now that we have official word that it is not to be reissued, there seems no limit to what it may rise to. It is also well worth buying at any thing under £5. It may rank in time as one of the rarest of the regular Georgians, and may approach in time the select stars like the Cyprus £1 and Malta 10/-.

St. Helena always exercises a certain fascination in the mind, perhaps by reason of its one time association with Napoleon, and a steady market and demand is assured. The 4d MCA also withdrawn or obsolete, has been about in fair plenty, but is bound to show a steady improvement as supplies are absorbed.

Montserrat.—This is another popular Colony whose Georgian issues (and also Edwardian) I do not consider are quite valued in proportion to their scarcity. The rarity of the large 5/- George is beginning to be appreciated, and it may easily reach the £5 level in a few years. There are three low values I consider show promise of eventual becoming quite scarce: the 4d MCA and the 2½d and 5d obsolete Scripts. The two latter have already had a phenomenal rise, both being priced about twelve times face, and will probably go still higher. The 4d MCA, on the other hand, is still obtainable for about 1/-. It seems likely that the 4d and 5d were issued in similar numbers, but as the former value was on old paper, its disappearance did not take people by surprise, so that its rise in value has been much slower. Once the stock on the market gets absorbed, we may expect to see a substantial increase in value of the 4d old CA.

The phenomena of stamps remaining at a low level for some years after becoming obsolete and then rising sharply is not uncommon. The 2½d Virgin Is. (1899) and the 2½d Grenada (ship) were obtainable for about 6d for five or more years after they became obsolete. Supplies apparently dried up, and the prices shot up, as a glance at the recent catalogues will show.

Bargains. — Some striking bargains were offered in the P.M. recently. An offer of current and obsolete Georgians at face value or under is always worth attention. It must not be supposed that because stamps are offered at such prices that they are so common that they are never likely to go up much.

It generally indicates that the supply exceeds the demand, but this balance may easily, and frequently does, change rapidly, and the surplus stamp of today becomes the sought after variety of the morrow.

The writer remembers, in 1922, seeing offers at face value (and buying) certain Georgian stamps, that are now worth a very big premium on face. These include the 1/- and other values of the scarce Turks & Caicos Is. 1921 set. Imagine being offered the 1/- 1st Script today at face! Yet the 1/- of 1922 is being so offered under somewhat similar circumstances—that is, on the eve of withdrawal.—Philatelic Magazine.

MORE ABOUT DE TOUR AIR MAIL

We have received from Herman W. Boers some particulars of the De Tour airmail flight, and we quote as follows a letter received from the postmaster of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.:—

"Airplane relief flights were made on March 16 and 17 only. Flights were discontinued on account of breakage in the plane. On each of the two flights made on the 16th about four hundred pounds of mail was carried from Sault Ste. Marie. On the 17th one flight was made by a small moth plane carrying about one hundred and seventy-five pounds of mail. The morning trip left here at 10.30, returning at 4 P. M., while the two afternoon trips left here at 2.30 returning at 4 P. M. The mail coming this way from De Tour was comparatively small. We were able to send only a small part of the mail accumulated for De Tour by these flights."

THE REVOLUTIONARY STAMPS OF RUSSIA

During my preparation of this article, my medal collection of these Russian Revolutionary stamps attracted the attention of many prominent philatelists. The collection going out of my possession prevented many of the cuts from being made, so it became necessary to illustrate several of the provisionals by line cuts showing the style of surcharge. It is to be regretted that six cities could not be illustrated at all, although the varieties are listed.

Made as to the color of the surcharge it is in black ink. Unless otherwise stated all provisionals are on the First Republic stamps perforated or imperforate as the case may be.

THE NEW PICTORIAL STAMPS OF PALESTINE

By M. J. Fenster.

The current issue consists of fourteen values, and ranges from 2 mils to 200 mils. One mil equals half-cent our money. The stamps were printed by Messrs. Harrison & Sons, Ltd., London, England. You will notice on these stamps there are no indications of any monetary units or type of money, only figures being given. The reason for this is apparent. Below the pound in the country's currency there is only one monetary unit, and it is known as the mil. So it is understood that the denominations in figures on each stamp represents so many mils.

These new stamps bear imprints of the name of the country in the three official languages, English, Arabic and Hebrew.

The disappearance of the familliar initials E. E. F. (Egyptian Expeditionary Forces), which has been a prominent feature of the stamps of the country since its advent as a stamp issuing member of the Universal Postal Union in 1918 makes history for the country. With the appearance of its own new currency, and the new stamps, a new era will be counted from this day on.

This small strip of Asia minor is about 11,000 square miles. It is the most historical of countries. To the whole land there may be applied the words which Cicero said of Athens: "Wherever we plant our feet we are treading on history." There is hardly a hilltop in the country which is not covered with the vestiges of a fortress or a city of former ages, hardly a village which does not hide the site of some ancient centre of civilization.

Prior to the war, to visit Palestine was a privilege to those who had the time and money. But since the world war, it is an ordinary sight to see thousands of tourists, during the tourist season, in Jerusalem. My landing in Jaffa occurred in the month of June, 1926. The climate reminded me of the climate in Arizona. After a three hours' ride found me in Jerusalem, a city of about 70,000 population with an altitude of 2,500 feet.

The climate here seemed similar to that of Asheville, North Carolina. After driving up the winding road from the station, for about fifteen minutes, the top of the Tower of David looms before you. This tower is also known as the "Citadel of Jerusalem," and is pictured on the 5 mils, 7 mils, and 20 mils stamps of the current issue of the thirty-eight towers, which surmounts the walls surrounding Jerusalem. This Tower is the most important and striking of all. It is one of the finest examples of wall towers in the world. It is within a stone's throw of the famous Jaffa Gate through which passed the victorious General Allenby and his army after the fall of the Turks. The Turkish crescent and star seen on practically all stamps of Turkey is still to be seen on this gate, a sign that Turkey at one time ruled over this territory. This citadel at one time was the barracks of Turkish guards.

No building in the city rivals in interest

The Mosque of Omar

Also called "The Dome of the Rock."

This building figures on the 4 mils, 6 mils, and 8 mils stamps. It is named after Omar, the Arab conqueror of Jerusalem. The Mosque is on the site of the ancient Temple on Mount Moriah. It is octagonal in shape and constructed of colorless marbles and tiles. It is surrounded by a grass court, cypresses and flashing fountains.

According to Mohammedan tradition, Mount Moriah, on which is situated the Mosque of Omar, is nearer to Heaven than any other spot on earth, and thence Mohammed made his journey to the Celestial sphere. The dome is built over the stone on which Isaac was bound for sacrifice. According to tradition the stone is the center of the earth, and is suspended miraculously from the ground. In Mohammedan belief the rock was the scene of the Prophet's ascension to Heaven, and bears the imprint of his feet.

In the eyes of the Moslem (Mohammedan) this place is the third most holy place in the world, ranking only after Mecca and Medina. Unlike other religious shrines, it is considered the world's "ORIGINAL COVERS" AND "STOP AT HUDSON"

For several years each of the above has been a very frequent headline in my advertising. Many, many original covers have obeyed the impulse to "Stop at Hudson," and I presume that at 602 Warren Street in this little City of Hudson (an incorporated city since 1785, by the way) reposes one of the largest accumulations of original covers in the country.

Now, Hudson is on the direct route from New York to Albany, 113 miles from the former and 28 miles from the latter. I invite cover enthusiasts to also obey the impulse and "Stop at Hudson."

25th Anniversary Announcement

BOSTON

This fine old city is noted philatelically for the unusual variety of interesting postmarks and cancellations used in its Post Office during the first half century of the stamp era.

A collection of stamps and covers showing these Post Office markings in the sequence of their use forms an historical exhibit of great philatelic interest.

The postal history of many other of the larger cities can be shown by such collections of stamps and covers but until recent years this most fascinating and important work has been largely neglected and the field is still open to all.

I can supply suitable material used in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, New Orleans, San Francisco, and other cities, both in domestic use and on covers showing "British Packet" and other ship and transit postmarks to many foreign countries. Correspondence invited. [H most beautiful monument. The magnificence of its decorations, the gorgeousness of its tiles, and its Mosaics have to be seen to be appreciated. The stamps on which is shown the Mosque of Omar do but scant justice to its beauty and magnificence.

In the new era, though the Mosque may remain the special religious domicile of the Moslems, it must be opened freely to persons of all creeds.

The Tomb of Rachel

From Jerusalem to Bethlehem is about 5 miles. This is the most traversed road in Palestine. Within a mile of Bethlehem on this road we come to the Tomb of Rachel, pictured on the 2 mils, 3 mils, 10 mils stamps. The building is about 25 feet square, it is a stone structure surmounted by a dome, and containing an apparently modern sarcophagus. Rachel was the mother of Joseph and Benjamin. While on her way from Jerusalem to Hebron, she gave birth to Benjamin. The birth of Benjamin caused her death, and she was buried on the spot over which is her tomb, referred to above. It is esteemed by Christians, Moslems and Jews.

The Lake of Tiberias

The most beautiful part of Palestine scenically without a doubt is the section surrounding The Lake of Tiberias, known as the "Sea of Galilee." Shown on the four highest values of the new Pictorial Stamps, viz.:—50 mils red-purple, 90 mils bistre, 100 mils blue, and 200 mils deep purple. This section reaches its greatest beauty by the shores of the Lake through which the Jordan river flows in full and rapid stream.

The Lake of Tiberias is about 13 miles long, and a little less than 7 miles wide in its widest parts. Its greatest depth is less than 200 feet. To the eye it is a most attractive object, a beautiful sea of water, set deep in a vast basin among hills. Many praise the beauty of the "Sea of Galilee" (Lake Tiberias). They speak of its gracefully flowing or gliding waters. The lake is surrounded by pleasant towns. There are a number of stout fishing boats in the port and on the lake, such as doubtless were used by the Apostles about 2,000 years ago.

The river Jordan enters this body of water at the Northern end and passes out at the Southern end. It derives its name from the city (Tiberias) on the west shore of the lake.

On the east side the mountain rises from its shore to an elevation of about 2,000 feet. On the west side there is also a mountain wall, and on the south side the lake touches the plain of the Jordan valley.

The idea of pictorial stamps for Palestine is in its infancy. It has great futures. No doubt with its wealth of ancient history, we shall see many other views with better engravings depicted on its stamps. We learn our Bible history before we learn our American history. It is difficult to look at the new Palestine stamps without bringing our thoughts back some 3,000 years.

Besides depicting Biblical scenes on its stamps, a very interesting series could be compiled from its varied types of inhabitants, scenes of its native life and its great natural scenery. When the British Forces drove the Turks out of Jerusalem and Palestine in 1918, and the League of Nations granted England a Mandate over the territory for 25 years, it meant the liberation of Palestine from misgovernment, which for 100 years have wasted its resources. It means the opening of a new era for the country, and the new stamps and currency shows clearly the trend in that direction.

Exhibition

—Third Annual Exhibition to be held at Harrisburg, Pa., May 8-12.

The third annual exhibition of the Capital City Philatelic Society will be held May 8 to 12 inclusive, in the Harrisburg Public Library, and final arrangements for the affair have been perfected by the committee.

This year the exhibition will be broader in scope than ever, and collectors from all sections of Central and Southeastern Pennsylvania will be represented at the show. Two classes, one for adults and the other for juniors, have been arranged, and the junior section is expected to be especially good.

Last year more than two thousand persons visited the second annual exhibition. This year, from all indications, this number will be more than doubled. The Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce will help in obtaining publicity for the exhibition, and this is expected to be a big factor in bringing many visitors to Harrisburg for the show.

A new feature this year will be a year book, issued on the first day of the show. It will contain much useful information to both collectors and laymen, and copies which are handed to the latter are expected to be a big help to the propaganda for this hobby. Every visitor to the show will receive a copy of the year book. No admission to the show will be charged, the expense being borne entirely by the Capital City Philatelic Society. Co-operation by prominent dealers in this country and Canada make possible a great number of valuable prizes for the exhibitors.

Entries from everywhere are welcome. For all information regarding the show address M. Roy Dieter, 560 Camp St., Harrisburg, Pa.

Sevard's Twinkles

The Prudential Insurance Co., or rather Permit 3, Newark, N. J., came along with such a poor cut indicia that we just couldn't accept it as a Standard permit. Kindly enough, the Standard Mailing Machines Co., Everett, Mass., informs us that it is evidently a homemade affair, but used on one of their machines. Anyone who has cut a die wonders how such poor workmanship can be accepted, which recalls previous statements as to our United States Department of Treasury seal for registered letters.

ONE VAST IMPROVEMENT IN DIE WORK, ENGRAVING AND PRINTING HAS BEEN OBSERVED IN THE SPLENDID WORK NOW BEING DONE ON THE TAX PAID STAMPS, ESPECIALLY THE CIGARETTE ISSUES. DEWITT CLINTON NOW LOOKS HAPPY IN SPITE OF THE AL SMITH DELEGATION AT ALBANY.

We received a new type of meter from England, mailed on The London Times. This meter has an indicia resembling a perforated stamp with a top legend "Great Britain," a central medallion showing a crown with script below G R with a small V between the letters. A lower legend is "Post 1d Paid" with a machine clue "NZ 7." We have suspicions for identification as to this machine in the townmark, yet we believe this is a new type for later classifications.

France has been using the perforated stamp idea for quite a few years, whereas English meters have followed many different experimental ideas, which have good and bad points. The meter just noted, however, embodies character and is pleasantly accepted as a meter worthy of collection. The Argentine meters are English made and are quite attractive for collectibility.

Our meters have been classified in MEKEEL'S and further explained in the MEKEEL'S pamphlets, so that anyone not familiar with meters can easily gain the desired information.

The largest users of the Standard type meters are:

Framingham, Mass., 2c	Permit 5
Holyoke, Mass., 2c	Permit 2
New York, N. Y., 2c	Permit 56
Milwaukee, Wis., 2c	Permit 33

YET EVERYONE THINKS THAT THEIR TELEPHONE COMPANY OR GAS COMPANY OR ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY ARE THE MOST PROLIFIC USERS. WELL, THERE ARE MANY METERS WE DETEST, TOO. AND THEN THERE ARE SOME THAT COME ALONG WITH EXULTATION.

Those who collect penalty envelopes usually add to their Congressionals just before election time. It is quite a historical treat to get the Congressional M. C. penalty frank collection complete, and then again, one may use it to study handwriting.

E 'FOND LIGNE" OF FRANCE

A Discovery (?)

By H. Bedford Jones.

s very specialist in France knows, elier issues of that country — in-
, p to 1875 — are sometimes found hat is called "fond ligne" or lined ound. These lines, vertical or horiare discerned only in the solid-ackground of the stamp; someaintly, sometimes very strongly.
nearly issues they are very rare.
dy enough, they have remained a
r. Their cause is usually assigned fect in inking the plates, or to a re impression; even so, with res-ns. Only recently I noticed an on the subject in a French philournal, giving this explanation, cing that it was merely conjecture.
e recently came into my possesa large lot, a copy of the 40c of ith the background strongly lined ay. It was a marginal copy, hav nch-wide margin on the left, and htly obliterated. I assigned it to er place and left it.
rmounting a page by artificial light, struck it sideways, this stamp my astonished attention — the lines appeared, not only in the deep orange-red color, but over ire stamp! Closer examination e that they were readily visible aglass, and faintly visible without s — and covered the sheet-margin as the stamp.
r then, it seems is the explanation f the few remaining mysteries in stamps. I am very ignorant re-paper; therefore I can only say s appears to be a sharply ridged robably vertically laid. Undoubt-
s same paper was used for all ly French issues, and in some e ridges caught the ink and up, thus creating the variety — oes not appear in the Bordeaux
This would show it to be a paper and not a result of ink smudg-he plates.
nly honest to say that an exam-of dozens of others shows only behind the head. This one copy tional, but the lines are too dis-admit of any doubt. Probably occur strongly enough to catch in other copies, but not strongly to be visible to the eye, while in e sheet they were quite pro-e.

BOSTON NIGHT AT THE COLLECTORS CLUB OF NEW YORK

Reported by Charles J. Phillips.

The Boston Stamp Club sent a delegation of their members to visit the Collectors Club on Wednesday, April 4. The delegation consisted of Messrs. H. P. Lapham, Stephen D. Brown, A. N. Reggio, C. H. Nevins, and Odgen. Mr Lapham brought a remarkable lot of United States Postmasters stamps and a specialized collection of British Guiana. The chief items in these two exhibits were as follows:—

Lapham's U. S. and Br. Guiana

Alexandria. An unused copy on buff with 40 stars, and a used copy on cover with 39 stars.

Annapolis. Cover stamped on back in red.

Baltimore. 14 of the 5c, all on covers, including six on blue paper, and six and a pair on white; one 5c signed by James M. Buchanan on Official business; 10c, the extremely rare varieties on the white and on the bluish paper. Envelopes, six 5c in blue, black and red.

Brattleboro. A reconstructed plate of ten varieties, including one with the engraver's imprint at bottom.

Millbury. A superb unused copy with full gum believed to be unique in this condition, and a superb copy used on cover.

New Haven. Envelopes. Blue on buff, and red on white.

St. Louis. Reconstructed plates of the most superb specimens known; Plate I, in two vertical strips of three; Plate II, including two of the rare 20c, all on greenish paper; Plate II, on gray-lilac paper, and Plate III, on pelure paper. In addition to the plates there was also shown the famous vertical strip of three consisting of two 20c, and a 5c on piece coming from the famous F. W. Ayer collection. There were also several superb single copies of the 5c and 10c with enormous plate margins.

New Yorks. No less than 11 copies of the rare signature R. H. M's. were shown, including six on cover, and two singles on one cover.

The following reconstructed sheets of New York were also shown:—First: A complete set with the description of each stamp. Second: A wonderful plate formed with horizontal and vertical rows of pairs and strip tying them together, and proving every stamp. Third: A plate of red cancellations only. Fourth: Another plate of mixed cancellations. Fifth: A plate of pairs all made up of overlapping pieces. Sixth: A complete plate made up of stamps on cover in singles, all but three tied to covers. Seventh: A plate complete, all but eight of unused copies.

In the odd pieces I specially noted three covers with strips of four, two of which were used from Boston to New York, also several mint singles, including the big shift No. 2. All the various initials were shown and a great variety of postmarks, also one cover used with the New York 3c blue Carrier. Also worthy of notice were four copies on watermarked paper. Altogether this marvelous collection on New Yorks consisted of over 850 copies, all in the most exquisite condition.

Mr. Lapham also showed a very interesting collection of British Guiana, chiefly unused, used stamps being taken where, of course, they could not be obtained unused, such as the circulars, the large oblong, etc. There are only two varieties missing, namely, the 2c rose, 1850, and the unique 1c magenta of 1856.

Brown's Early U. S.

Mr. Stephen Brown brought a special display of early United States, one book of stamps on covers, and one book of loose stamps. The most important pieces amongst these were:—

1847, 5c with green cancellation figure "5"; 5c red FREE; 5c and 10c both beautifully cancelled "Troy & N. Y. Steamboat."

In the 1851 he showed, 1c, Type I, 7 R 1; 1c, Type Ia, with the curl on shoulder; 1c, A superb right lower corner vertical strip of 3, the upper stamp Type IIIa, the centre Type Ic, and the lower one Type Ia; 5c with imprint showing; 10c, Type II, not Type III as listed, a complete double transfer. All letters of the top label and portions of the letters U. S. doubled. Line also shows clearly through the bottom label. This interesting item bears the year date 1857, and 12c, copies with imprint, very seldom found.

In the 1857 issue a vertical pair of 1c, Types II and IV; Also a reconstructed irregular block of five, 1c Types numbers, 2, 12, 13, 23 and 33, showing the complete big break of plate 2.

U. S. On Covers

Mr. Brown also showed some remarkable cancellations in the 1847 issue. A very interesting piece was a cover franked with a superb 30c of 1857, with portrait of Lincoln and Johnson illustrating the two campaigns.

Amongst the few Locals I noticed the Mason black on yellow well tied on with a red grid.

California penny post, a beautiful perfect copy on cover uncancelled, but undoubtedly used where placed.

Moody, the rare red tied on with a circular cancellation with Moody & Co. in a blue circle.

A very interesting cover was an 1851, 3c bisected diagonally and used as a 1c circular rate. This was tied on with a black grid, and had the usual blue inscription "Via Nicaragua, Ahead of the Mails."

An unusually interesting cover was franked with a U. S. 1857 pair of 10c Type II, a 1c, Type V, used on a 3c embossed envelope of 1853. This was sent to London. There it had to be forwarded and a 2d and 2/6d stamps were added.

In France a 10c French Empire stamp was again added in order to pay the delivery tax, this being a very unusual combination.

Space will not allow to mention all the other interesting items in this beautiful exhibit, but I would like to say that the stamps were in the most superb condition, and the exhibit was a very striking one in every way possible.

Mr. C. H. Nevins and Mr. Ogden also showed small but interesting lots.

EDITORIAL

We have been informed that the U. S. Treasury Department proposes to curb the activities of those who traffic in narcotic stamps and other tax-paids, the ownership of which is said to constitute an offense. It evidently is not the disposition of the authorities to work any hardship on collectors who are interested in stamps of the kind, but the intimation is that handling them in a commercial way is contrary to the spirit of the law. Discretion would suggest that dealers avoid the appearance of opposition to the wish, to put it mildly, of the government, that its rulings be respected. Paragraphs have appeared recently telling of measures that have been taken to enforce the dictum through governmental officers.

No sooner had we announced that the Dutch Olympian Games set was in preparation than the stamps themselves appeared and are now being viewed by the newer generations of collectors who look with favor on issues of celebratory kind. When Greece issued its Olympic Games set in 1896, it established a precedent that has not been ignored latterly, but it is interesting to remember that this popular set was banned when it appeared by the old society, the alliterative Society for the Suppression of Speculative Stamps.

Our scholarly contemporary, the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain, London, is to be congratulated upon printing a contribution from Mr. John Drinkwater, whose "Abraham Lincoln" made a profound impression in this country when it was presented here. Mr. Drinkwater's place in the literary world is a proud one, and on several occasions he has been mentioned as having a keen philatelic interest in the stamps of the United States, and since his poem, "A Postage Stamp," has for its inspiration the one-cent orange of the Confederate States, the assumption is that he includes Confederates in his collecting vision. The contribution, now published for the first time, is copyrighted, and a note tells of the circumstances that prevented the postal use of one-cent orange, which, while common enough years ago, is now becoming somewhat elusive. The tribute to Calhoun, whose features are on the stamp, indicates the philatelic appreciation of Mr. Drinkwater, who descants upon the fact that these imperforates are all mint (and gummed) and that in the security of the album they are kept that way from first to last.

The New York "Times" recently ran a column article telling how the staff at the Empire Trust Company, New York, having in charge the sale of Stock Transfer revenue stamps, and the New York State revenues have been working under pressure as a consequence of the tremendous volume of business transacted on the New York Stock Exchanges. All of the federal issues used in New York are bought at the Empire Trust Company, and as may be imagined, the sales for the first quarter of 1928 have established a record; they have been one and one-half times those of the corresponding quarter last year, or a total of nearly thirteen millions, counting both federal and state issues. The number of $1,000 stamps used has been abnormal, as this denomination denotes a fifty thousand share lot; and there have been many such lots that have changed hands.

We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the following article from the pen of that authoritative writer on educational subjects, Mrs. Helen W. Carr of Chicago. It is evident that Mrs. Carr has an acquaintance with philately, and we know that she has a son who is a collector. She heads her description, "Postage Stamps on Parade" and says: "At the Uptown Theater, Chicago, week of April 2nd, Bennie Krueger employed a unique setting for his stage production, 'Fast Mail.' A moving picture showed the mail as it is carried over the world by boat, train and plane. It showed the mail being picked up by trains, as they thundered along, and later, sorted in the mail coaches as the trains speed on their way. At that point, the curtain lifted showing Bennie Krueger standing in the middle of the stage with a package of letters in his hand. He said that he had letters announcing that actors were on their way from all parts of the world to entertain the Uptown audience that night, and proceeded to read them. The first letter was from England telling that dancers were coming. At that, a back drop curtain fell on which was reproduced a huge half-penny green, King George. That remained as a background for a dance by a group of girls dressed in the uniform of the Eton School boys. A Belgian dancer came next, and as he appeared the English stamp gave way to a Belgian, the current 10c red. A Cuban singer gave her songs in front of the Cuban 2c red, No. 225. As a trio of French acrobats came on, a French stamp, in vast proportions, dropped into place. As a finale, the United States stamp of Benjamin Franklin and Abraham Lincoln fell to the sides of the stage, and a moment later, as the act was under way, the familiar two-cent stamp of George Washington swung down in the middle of the stage, between Lincoln and Franklin. The effect was very thrilling. To my knowledge, it is the first time that postage stamps have appeared before the footlights."

The All-America Aircraft Exhibition, held in Detroit from April 14 to 21, presented a feature that appealed particularly to the collecting public. A model post office was installed at the Exhibition by the Post Office Department, where a special machine cancellation was applied to letters, and on all letters sent from the Exhibition by air mail, a distinctive air mail cachet was used.

While the January issue of the Collectors Club Philatelist that was received some time ago was delayed by untoward circumstances, this particular number of the quarterly is the largest that has been issued thus far, with 78 pages of reading matter, and 30 pages of advertising. In the issue is the "Collectors Club Roll of Honor" by Dr. Chittenden, whose recent death has been so lamented; and on this roll are the names of 73 famous philatelists from the earliest date to the present time, who have distinguished themselves in philatelic service. These names do not appear on the several honor lists that have been given currency, but each person cited surely deserves the palm, so discriminatingly has the selection been made. Each name could be celebrated at length, and this hemisphere and Europe are covered by the list, which includes the following Americans: R. R. Bogert, Henry J. Crocker, L. W. Durbin, Henry J. Duveen, Joseph B. Leavy, J. W. Scott, E. B. Sterling, J. K. Tiffany, G. L. Toppan and Mr. Worthington. The importance of the translations from Kohl's Handbook, edited by Dr. Herbert Munk that this journal is offering should be stressed. The Collectors Club holds the copyright on the translations from Dr. Munk's veritable philatelic encyclopedia, and in this number, Denmark is given a setting in twenty pages for the nineteenth century issues. Denmark will probably be completed in the July issue, and will be followed by France. The further contents of this enlarged issue of the Collectors Club Philatelist are of uniform excellence, and among the articles are those touching upon the stamps of Mexico, Cuba, China, South African Republic, Norway, Canada, and the U. S. The editor of the journal, Mr. H. L. Lindquist, expresses his gratitude for the support that has been given him during the past six years, or since the time when he first essayed to supervise the quarterly.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THE TRADE

Air Flight
—A New York-Atlanta C.A.M. 19 to be opened May 1, the Latest Air Mail.

The first link of a new trunk airway, that will connect the eastern part of United States with the South, will be opened on May 1. This is the New York to Atlanta air mail route designated C. A. M. No. 19.

Because of its strategic importance in the airways system of the country, the entire strip will have a particularly great interest and value. They will be postmarked with a souvenir cancellation commemorating the first flight and establishing beyond question their authenticity.

Those interested in collecting these items may send letters to the postmasters along the route, with the notation "via till first flight of New York to Atlanta air mail." All postmasters will cooperate in forwarding these letters at the proper time. The cities along the route are: New York, Philadelphia, Pa., Washington, D. C., Richmond, Va., Greensboro, N. C., Spartanburg, S. C., and Atlanta, Ga.

THE PRECANCEL REVIEW

By FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 405 Oak St. S. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

BUTLER MO. | PAINESVILLE OHIO | CORTLAND NEW YORK

Part I—Bureau Prints

New York City.—Discovery of eight copies of the 10c perf. 10 with a double Bureau precancellation is the chief news item on these stamps. Since the advent of this form of precancelling, collectors have been on the alert for varieties of this sort, but until now none have been found. I can vouch for the authenticity of this variety, as I carefully examined the stamps and noted the faint second overprint, which was perfectly normal, and not an offset impression from another sheet. There was a block of six and two singles. H. M. Southgate of Chevy Chase, Md., has acquired the block, and the single copies are in the collections of Dr. Mitchell, and B. D. Hedding.

Saint Louis, Mo.—The 4c coil is out in the regular Bureau style for this city.

Miscellaneous.—I have been informed that the new tiny sans-serif style of overprint will be used on all future orders for Bureau precancels, both ordinary and coil stamps. Further data on this change, together with a list of recent orders, will appear in this department the next time Bureau prints are discussed.

The Gossip Bureau Catalog is being revised and repriced by Dr. Mitchell. It will appear shortly.

Part II—New Electroplates

Butler, Mo., adopts the U-12 style as its initial precancel type, which is unusual. A small office generally receives a handstamp to begin with, but in cases where a large amount of stamps are to be precancelled it may secure a plate. I believe Butler precancelled only the 1½c denomination, for use on circular matter.

Painesville, O.—Thirty years ago this city issued printed precancels, which are to be found on the series of 1898 and 1902. After the latter series no stamps were precancelled until 1918. Since then two handstamps have been in use constantly. The new electro will be a vast improvement. As can be seen by the illustration, the style is more like U-8 than U-13.

Springfield, Mass., is using a plate similar to the Painesville, but has the lines spaced more closely together.

Cortland, N. Y.—Recently has been prolific in its use of precancels, all of which have been handstamped. Now they'll be printed, for the U-12 electro has reported for duty.

Batavia, N. Y., was illustrated a short time ago in this department. J. H. Ehn of that city informs me that all values in the current set from the ½c to $1.00 are in stock in precancelled form, except the 14c. This will be added together with the old 3c offset, a large quantity of which is on hand. The U-12 plate also printed the 10, 15, 20, and 25 cent Specials in small quantities—500, 300, 200, and 200 respectively. The handstamp, which is of the U-54 style has been used on practically all denominations except the Specials. Perforations led to a maze of difficulties, so we shall say nothing of them. A precancel collector who attempts to collect generally, should forget his perforations if he wants to "keep above water."

Alhambra, Calif. — Since this type was illustrated, several readers have informed me they possessed the 30c, 1917 issue, which should be a good item. The current 10, and 15c have been reported also.

Birmingham, Ala.—Mr. H. S. Wheeler shows me a new type from Birmingham that appears to be an electroplate copy of the Bureau style. It will be difficult for the average collector to distinguish the local and Bureau printing. The chief differences to be found are: styles of "B." alignment of letters at the base of the word "Birmingham," and spacing between "g" and "h." The new type has been seen on the 4, 9, and 20c. If any stamps have been listed as Birmingham Bureaus, other than the 1, 1½, 2, 5, 10c, they should be discounted.

Beverly Hills, Calif., makes a beautiful appearance with the U-12 style, in three lines. I have seen the 14, and 50c.

Santa Monica, Calif., is now precancelling with the U-13 style. The 11, and 30c are the first two to come my way.

Norwalk, O. — Prof. A. F. Gamber reports both this office and Newark, O., as having received the U-12 electro.

Portland, Maine, followed Portland, Ore., with the U-12, so both offices are again using identical styles.

Denver, Colo.—The 13c 1917 in the U-12 should be a rare stamp as the stock on hand could not have been large, for the 13c current issue appeared shortly after.

Durham, N. C.—After a brief period of precancelling with the U-51 handstamp, changes to the U-12. I have just the 3c.

Greenville, N. C., is out with the U-13, and also Independence, Iowa. I have the latter on the 6 and 7c.

INFORMATION WANTED

Please communicate with me if you have any unusual pieces of the Memphis 5c Provisional in your collection. I am writing a series of articles on this stamp and desire to illustrate any unusual pieces you may have.

I particularly want information of any large blocks of either originals or reprints, pieces showing the Head-to-head, foot-to-foot, or foot-to-side arrangement, of this stamp. I also need a fine example of the envelope stamp.

If you have any items or know any facts concerning this stamp please communicate with me. Do not send material but write first, sending a photo or telling me what you have.

Alexandrie. — The French form for Alexandria as shown upon the stamps issued for use in the Consular office established in that port.

Allen's City Dispatch.—A local post established in Chicago in 1882, by Edward Allen, who had at one time been connected with an old local post in New York. His offices were established at 125 South Clark Street, and he claimed he could deliver letters, circulars, etc., in better time than the regular city mail carriers. That there were good grounds for his claims seems proved from the success of his business, which was ultimately suppressed by the Post Office authorities in February, 1883. Allen issued his own stamps, these being all of one design, without indication of value, and in different colors.

Almaguer. — A town in Cauca, Colombia, with a population of about 7,000. In 1890 a set of three stamps purporting to be a provisional issue for this town were recorded in the philatelic journals of the day, but even as locals the status of these labels seems more than doubtful.

Who's Adolfo Ballivian?

The son of Jose Ballivian was Adolfo, and his picture is shown on Bolivian stamps type A19. He was very different from his father. He was a man of outstanding personality. He became President of Bolivia in May, 1873, and at once attempted to reform the finances of the country. He also negotiated a treaty with Peru. He died February 14, 1874, while in the midst of his work for the betterment of his country, having been in office less than one year.—A. C. LeDuc.

DUTCH OLYMPIAN GAMES STAMPS

The above cuts are rather crude, and we have the Boston Transcript to thank for the suggestions now presented to our Juniors. This set will no doubt be one of the most popular of the year.

Beer Stamps

Beer stamps, with tobacco, cigar, cigarette, snuff, distilled spirits and other special tax stamps, come under the category of tax paid stamps. The presence of the stamp of this kind on the bottle, barrel, package, or what not, denotes that the tax has been paid on the article or commodity, and the rule is that the the stamp must be destroyed upon opening the package or container. Beer stamps first were issued under the act of July 13, 1866, when seven stamps were issued, ranging in denomination from 12½ cents to two dollars, inclusive, to pay the tax at the rate of one dollar a barrel. The central design of these large stamps was the size (of barrel) in words and figures. Several issues intervened between 1866 and 1871 when the vignette of some celebrity replaced the old design in the center of the stamp. In 1898, the tax on beer was advanced to two dollars a barrel and provisionals resulted. The regular issue of 1898 ranged from 25 cents to $4, inclusive. The series of 1901 marked the reduction of the tax to $1.60 a barrel and some odd denominations were the consequence; for instance, 26 2/3 cents for a sixth of a barrel. In 1902, another provisional showed the reduction of the tax to one dollar again. In 1909, the design of the stamps was changed to words and figures in center and they were printed in one color on blue paper.

Baton Rouge

The capital of the State of Louisiana, situated on the Mississippi River, and having a present population of well over 12,000. In 1779, it was taken from the British by the Spaniards, and in 1862 it was the scene of a victory by the Federals over the Confederates. It is philatelically famous from the fact that in 1861 the then Postmaster, Mr. J. McCormick, issued three stamps to facilitate the prepayment of postage and these continued in use until they were replaced by the general issue for the Confederate States.

Who's Don Ramon Castilla?

The twenty centavos stamp of 1909, of Peru, shows a portrait of Don Ramon Castilla. Unlike many of the early leaders of South America, he was of native stock having been born at Tarapaca, Peru, in 1796. His early life was spent among the plains and valleys of his home province, but it was not long before he was in the army. He did considerable traveling in South America, and returned to Peru about 1820, and allied himself with General San Martin. His advance in the army was rapid, and he soon became a general. Without much education, he was a great leader in spite of his handicap. Throughout the revolutionary period he stood for a strong government, so when in 1845 he became President of Peru he organized a stable government. After his term of office was completed he was followed by General Echenique, who let the country get corrupted again. A fresh revolution broke out, and in 1855 General Castilla was re-elected President, which office he held until 1860. His administration of the affairs of Peru is noted for the many lasting reforms that he organized.—A. C. LeDuc.

Some Spanish Stamps

In 1916, Spain issued a set of stamps to commemorate the tercentenary of the death of Cervantes. Although there are four different designs in the set there is no value indicated since they were only used in the nature of franks for official correspondence by the members of the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies. These stamps are bi-colored and the most interesting fact is that the same type was differently colored, depending on whether it was to be used by a member of the Senate or the Chamber of Deputies. In all of these stamps the centers are in black.

The type listed by Scott as O6 is a picture of the Chamber of Deputies at Madrid. O7 shows a picture of a statue of Cervantes. O8 depicts the National Library, and on O9 is found a portrait of Cervantes.

Cervantes lived during that time when the military glory of Spain was at its highest so that it was only natural that, as a youth, he entered the service. After proving himself a good soldier he left the army and started to write. Altho becoming known for his works, he seems to have been unable to make a living. In addition to poverty he also had to put up with persecution. He finally landed in jail where he started to write the immortal "Don Quixote." He wrote many other things, but was never able to make a living. Altho he immortalized Spain in his writings, she starved him during his life to honor him after death.—A. C. LeDuc.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHER

By Bill Bloss.

How we envy the old boys who used woo the muse by playing on the lyre. If played a lyre, all we would draw wo be a request to move from the landlo —Anyway, it is time to do our stuff a once again we find, we have nothing write about except postage stamps.

Tucked away on page 1064 of Scottalog we find New South Wales 192. We saw a copy of it today for first time in many years, and it worth seeing. Rose, blue and gold, sembling the labels that came on bolts muslin thirty years ago. Incidentally is the first, or one of the first cha stamps, and a good one.

All postage stamps are our frie but some we like better than others. know why I like a stamp? Why do like one? Ever stop to reason it out

I'm funny. The stamps I like are necessarily the most valuable, nor yet sleeper. My fancy runs to two kind those attractive because of beauty, those that appeal because of rarity. I say not necessarily the most valua for the rarities are not always valua

For instance, Nicaragua official 959 lists $4.00 and I have not seen a c in years. It is usually missing from set, and the set itself turns up about in five years.

Nearly everything under the su featured on a postage stamp. Yet s of the most common animals are no well represented as the more uncom beasts. Offhand, we can recall no st that pictures the cat, though there plenty of stamps picturing its more f cious relatives. Why should poor p be so neglected?

One of the prettiest and most inter ing collections that it has been our p lege to see is the collection of Lin stamps made by Mr. Fred Norton of city. Mr. Norton is an ardent adm of the great man, and his collectio much larger than one would expect, sidering the number of Lincoln sta issued. Getting them in singles, p blocks, covers, etc., is quite a job.

Ten or fifteen years ago, before catalog grew so bulky, several pages devoted to the Chinese Treaty P Then, to save space, these stamps dropped and seem to have dropped the market at the same time. Too for they are an interesting lot, and m are much scarcer than one would pose. And they seem to have car letters to a greater extent than man the so considered "legitimate" sta The wise boys are making their col tions when the stamps come along.

Another lot that receives little at tion from the average collector are provisional issues of Peru issued du the Chilian occupation of Lima and lao. Many of these are far rarer the price would indicate, and few gen collectors can boast of a good show How many have you?

Errors are always popular. Inve centers are usually rare. Double cen are rarer still, especially when made the more careful manufacturers. Er in engraving or printing on stamps m by Waterlow or Perkins, Bacon are dom seen. Yet we have recently see copy of the 4c Costa Rica official, 450, with center double, the property A. Roterberg. Unfortunately a care collector caused the stamp to be crac in two—for which he should be bo in oil.—American Philatelist.

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
24 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

Good News! The DailyPostal Bulletin of April 4th announces the opening on May 1st of C. A. M., No. 19, and C. A. M., No. 23. This is most welcome information as it means the opening of two connecting lines on the same date. C. A. M. No. 19 will leave New York at 9.40 P. M. connecting in Atlanta the following morning with the northbound plane on C. A. M. No. 23, which is due in New Orleans around noon on the same day. Northbound, the plane leaves New Orleans at 1 P. M. and connects with C. A. M. No. 19 in Atlanta, the arrival in New York being scheduled for 4.35 A. M. Points on C. A. M. No. 19 are Philadelphia, Washington, Richmond, Va., Greensboro, N. C., Spartanburg, S. C., and Atlanta. High Point, N. C., and Winston-Salem, N. C. will be served from Greensboro, N. C.

C. A. M. No. 23 has Atlanta as the Northern terminal with landing points at Birmingham, Ala., Mobile, Ala., and New Orleans.

The first Southern trip over C. A. M. No. 23 will occur May 2nd after the arrival in Atlanta of the New York mail.

The P. O. Dept. should be congratulated on its effort to give ample notice of the above pending flights. Collectors who subscribe to the Daily Postal Bulletin have the information on their hands a full three weeks in advance of the initial opening. Even a lazy man ought to be able to get aboard in time!

Col. Lindbergh goes into retirement temporarily, give a thought to Bert Hinkler the Australian aviator. "The great Little One," as he is called in the English press, has created 5 records!—1st The longest solo flight ever made on any type of machine.—2nd Fastest Time England to India. — 3rd Longest non stop flight London to Rome—4th Longest Flight ever made in a light plane—5th Fastest Time England to Australia (16days) Approx. Total mileage—12,800. At this writing I can't say whether or not Hinkler carried any mail.

With the coming of warm weather, quite a few new Air Mail routes will undoubtedly be in operations. The long delayed Cleveland-Louisville flight. Completion of the Cleveland-Albany route now only operating as far east as Buffalo. Chicago - Memphis, Atlanta-Miami, St. Louis-Kansas City, a new line from Detroit to Toledo to connect with the Trans-continental. Salt Lake City - Great Falls, and a line from New Orleans to Laredo to connect with the Mexico City Air Mail. It is very possible that this latter route, or an extension of the already existing line from San Antonio to Laredo, will go into action on very short notice.

Before many of the new routes open, let's hope the proposed new air mail rate of 5c per oz. comes into effect! This keeping up of long flights certainly puts a dent in one's bank roll! Covering C. A. M. No. 19 alone, No. 23 alone, is no small item. However it's well worth the price paid.

During the past month I have received a very large number of inquiries from collectors unfamiliar with Air Mail cover collecting, indicating an increasing interest in this specular branch of Philately. A tabulation of the inquiries received also indicates a very earnest desire to secure all possible information. To those who have written we have tried to give the desired information, but the task would consume too much time should I be called on to make personal replies to all letters received. Hence-this-plan which will appear tri-weekly or oftener if the demand warrants. May I have an expression of opinion from you? Covers, descriptions of unusual cancellations, interesting data covering Air Mail rates and other information of general interest to cover collectors, will be most acceptable and will certainly be the means of passing on to others interested in this subject, a new slant on "how to do it." This department must conserve space only as regards non-philatelic details.

I would recommend that those contemplating collecting Air Mail covers equip themselves with three very necessary essentials. A subscription to the Daily Postal Bulletin, procurable through the Superintendent of Documents, at Washington, D. C.—cost $2.00 per year. A copy of the American Air Mail Catalogue and a membership in the American Air Mail Society. The total cost will be exactly $5.00. From this point on, the matter rests wholly with yourself. You can "cover" all flights in the future in their entirety, or pick out special routes, landing points or terminals. Your collection will only be limited by your desire. As you progress it is probable that one of the foreign routes will attract your interest. The Champion Catalogue (French publication with English edition) will supply you with complete data covering these. A new edition is now being published and should arrive in this country very shortly. There are a number of aviation magazines published, among them "Aviation" — a weekly, "Aero Digest," monthly, "Airways" (English), monthly, and others, all containing a wealth of information and intense interest to Air Mail cover collectors.

NEW ISSUES ON APPROVAL

THE best way to buy new issues is, not to bind yourself to take anything up to a certain value, but to make your free choice from selections sent on approval.

We shall be glad to send selections of new issues, on approval, to any part of the world, either monthly, or at any desired interval.

Please state whether you require new issues of the whole world, or of any particular group, and whether you have any limit as regards face value.

References with first letter, from collectors not known to us, will save delay.

NOTE.—At our rates an ordinary current unused one shilling stamp of a British Colony costs you 32 cents and a £1 stamp six dollars.

PARAGUAY

There are very few stamps in this country that are apt to be confusing, but care should be exercised in purchasing the rarer surcharged varieties which have been extensively reprinted and counterfeited.

But any collector may be excused from wondering wherein the difference lies between the 10c violet blue of 1892-3 (No. 36) and the 10 violet blue of 1896 (No. 46a). The main distinction seems to be one of price! But perhaps the catalogue means to infer that the former always has the punched hole whereas the latter is intact. In any case the unpunched one is wrongly classified as a sub-variety of the 1896 issue.

The large and small figure varieties of 1901 are apt to be a little misleading. The design for the large figure stamps was entirely re-drawn and not only are the numerals noticeably different, but the lion's face is also larger.

Type A35 and the similar design for official stamps (O17) will bear careful watching for the only difference lies in the word OFICIAL in small type placed below the lion on the latter.

The two main types of the 1908 surcharges differ, of course, in the fact that in one the words "Habilitado en" occupy two lines, while in the other they are on the same line.

A careful reading of inscriptions will prevent any possibility of mixing the 1913 stamps (A40) with the official and postage due stamps of similar design and the same applies to Types A41 and A42, which we have seen mixed up on occasion.—Philatelic Opinion.

It seems that sizes 8 and 13 are the most popular envelope sizes these days. Size 5 is common though, with Size 9 not so common, and Size 7 trailing the bunch. Any other size should be held for inspection. Someday we'll tell you about windows, and high and low backs, and watermarks, whichever are very common. Then you will know a rare one when you see it.

Charles Hermann, Los Angeles, shows us the Williamsport Transfer Clerk, which is the usual 29mm Grid with town name above, but with T.C.R.M.S. below. This is our only transfer clerk in this style. Usually these abbreviations cause mental hardships if you are not familiar with what's going on. In England, some chap hands you a card with the alphabet after his name, and you are supposed to figure out then and there whether he's selling soap or belongs to Army. It got so bad during the War that everybody talked in initials over the telephone. But T.C.R.M.S. goes as Transfer Clerk Railway Mail Service, and it's a good cancel at that.

MR. HERMANN ALSO SENT US SOME NICE COLOURED CANCELS—GET THAT U IN COLOUR—WITH DOUBLE RINGS, R.F.D.'S AND SOME HOMEMADE AFFAIRS WHICH ARE BEAUTIFUL ON NICE, WHITE CLEAN COVERS. THOSE SORT OF THINGS THAT KEEP YOUR SCHOOL BOY COMPLEXION. THE POSTMASTER FROM ATLANTA, IDAHO, USES COLORED INK WHEN THE BLACK INK FREEZES, WHICH REMINDS ONE OF HAVING WRIT ONE'S OWN EXCUSES IN SCHOOL WHEN YOUNGISH.

We have always been worried whenever someone suggests that the meters and permits will soon crowd out the necessity for stamps, and so far, one does not recall any answer which accounts for an appreciable effect. In 1922, the prediction was that soon a diminution would be noted in the quantities of 2c stamps sold, but this reasoning, or prediction, has been squandered in a plethora of the 2c compound and perf. 11 that overwhelms all other issues. We have just found an instance of an effect, which is the only effect we have noticed during the period of the use of meters, and it is this. The largest mailers in the United States use meters. If such large mailer be located in a small town, the amount of mail matter carried by adhesives is decreased, with a noticeable decrease in the use of the mailing cancel for that locality. The machine dies last much longer with their less frequent use, and dies are not changed so rapidly. Thus the long continuance of a die in a locality will cause that die to be used over a period of time which allows the collector a better chance to obtain such townmarks. Thus we might list a few machine cancels which are predominant seemingly for this very reason.

THE DAYLIGHT LAMP

Our chief aim has been to render real service to philatelists. With this in view, we have taken the agency for this daylight lamp which, after very rigid tests, has proved far superior to others on the market. The LAMP furnishes a perfectly diffused blue-tint light from which all glare is eliminated, and which gives the same effect as daylight. It is the perfect light for color matching.

The lamp is manufactured in five models, with a price range of $6.50 to $14.00. These various types may be viewed at our office at any time. We will be pleased to mail descriptive circular on request.

We have one of the largest and most complete stocks of stamps in the country. Thus, if others have failed to supply your wants, please give us an opportunity of serving you.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

PRE-STAMP COVERS

Previous to the adoption of the postage stamp in 1847, and up to the time when the use of postage stamps was mandatory, letters carried in the mail had the postage either prepaid or was collected upon delivery. Such letters bear odd and interesting postmarks in different colors. These, as a rule, not only indicate the name of the town and the date, but also the amount paid or to be collected. Most collectors are now mounting their collections with a few of these in the front of their album, to indicate how letters were carried in the olden days. The demand for these here of late has become of such importance that a section of the A.P.S. has been established which devotes its time to the study of these issues.

I have recently acquired several hundred such covers, and offer ten different varieties at one dollar, or will furnish as many different varieties as possible in excess of this amount at ten cents each. I would say that possibly fifty varieties are available to the first two or three applicants.

I recall that when I offered similar covers a year or so back, the supply did not last long, for these covers usually retail at from twenty-five cents to two dollars apiece.

E. T. PARKER, BETHLEHEM,

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps from 1900 to date. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 75 Electric Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States

Air Mail to South and Central America

While recently in Washington, Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, informed me that it was the desire of the Department to establish an air mail service with both Central and South America, at the very first opportunity. At the present time, there is a service between Key West and Havana, and this possibly will be continued to cover the other larger cities of the West Indies. The flight shortly to be inaugurated will connect with Mexico, and from this country it is but a short step to the Central American countries and the Canal Zone, and then down to South America.

A page advertisement in a Brazilian periodical recently gave schedule and rates on air mail transport between Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro and Natal, Brazil. This is definite notice of a campaign which is getting fully under way to develop this service into a vital link in the chain of high-speed communication between Europe and the principal South American countries. The Campagnie Generale Aeropostale at the present time operates along the east coast of South America on a three-day schedule, with stops at Natal, Pernambuco, Bahia, Victoria, Rio, Santos and Porto Alegre in Brazil; Montevideo, Uruguay and Buenos Aires. This distance is approximately that along our coast from the tip of Florida to Labrador.

Three rates are in effect, the regular postage rate, the "Express" rate, and the air transport rate which is covered by special stamps.

There is no night flying at the present time, otherwise the three-day schedule could be reduced fifty per-cent. Here is an air mail service in use as a link with Europe with which it is connected by regular steamship sailings out of the North Brazilian ports.

The Postal Bulletin of April 6th announces the inauguration by the Peruvian postal administration of an air mail service between Lima and Iquitos, Peru, and this service may be used by letters posted in the United States. The air mail fee for such transmission will be fifty cents for the first half ounce, and twenty-five cents for every additional half ounce, in addition to the regular postage of 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Both the postage and air-mail fee must be prepaid with United States stamps.

Articles to be dispatched from Lima by air mail should be clearly marked—"Servicio Aereo" in the left-hand bottom corner of the address side of the envelope. The air mail time between these two cities is four days, whereas the ordinary route would take twenty-one days.

New Envelopes For Air Mail

In order to facilitate the identification of matter to be carried by airplane, approval has been given to the use for air mail of envelopes of a distinctive de showing little markings in red and w around the edges of the envelope.

These are illustrated in the Postal letins for April 7th and 9th. This special design does not supersede the velopes heretofore approved, but i addition thereto. Evidently the new riety will attract the attention of clerk more promptly than the horiz lines. These are not furnished by Department, but may be purchased private contractors.

Revenue Variety

Mr. Frank A. Hollowbush has shown me a new plate variety of th orange Playing Cards that has not noted heretofore. The copy in que has a diagonal scratch, or what may crack, running from the "E" of "I nal" to the right of Washington's down through the "G" of "Playi The line is straight, giving it the app ance of a scratch, but the lower po is ragged, making it look more li crack. The copy in question was celled in April, 1864.

Algeria.—Invitation to French ar —It is proposed to commemorate the tenary of the French occupation of geria, two years hence, by the issue set of stamps typifying the characte the country. A public competition, to French artists only, is announce the authorities for the submission of able designs. The inscriptions "Po Algérie, République Française (or F."), Centenaire Algérie 1930" an cartouche for the insertion of the den ination, must figure in each design. entries for this competition are to sent to the Service Central des Post Télégraphes de l'Algérie, Hôtel Postes, 4° étage, Algiers, to reach t not later than May 31, 1928.—St Collecting.

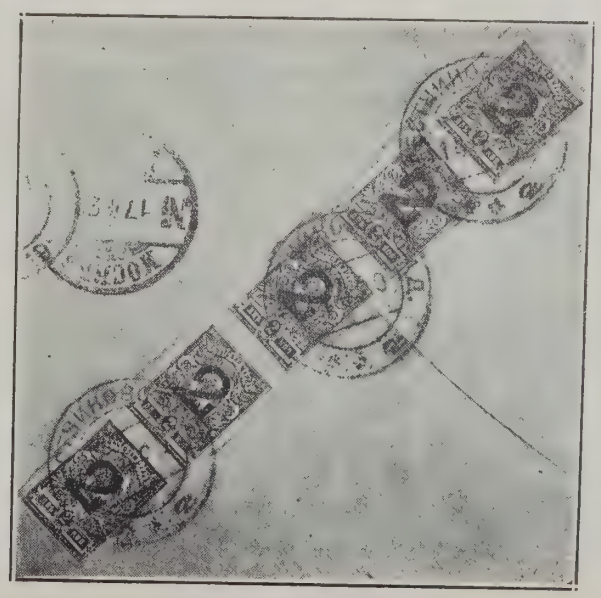
The districts of Moscow, Leningrad and Odessa have been covered in the reading matter. The district of Kiev is shown in Scott's catalogue Nos. 207, 208 and 209. With these four districts a total of 39 districts and cities have been covered. The Michel's catalogue (1927 edition) makes mention of the following districts and cities: Armavir, Kovrov, Harkov, Petrovsk, Tomsk and Yakutsk.

It will be noticed that certain surcharges do not show numeral changes, but indicate that whenever applied to the stamps the value has been changed from kopeck(s) to ruble(s). Likewise others just show a plain numeral without the symbol for ruble—they likewise are meant to be rubles instead of kopecks.

An interesting cover has just been received by me showing a vertical strip of four stamps, the 2 rubles on 2 Kopecks imperforate used in the city of Kovrov. The cancellations are plain and I thought to illustrate this nice piece (as strips are quite scarce) would show how the surcharge looks on several unsevered stamps.



new Marshal Chang Tso-Lin stamps. There are four values: 1, 4 and 10c, and $1. Note elsewhere the advertisement of the firm.

Cochin. — "One Anna" Provisionals. Mr. J. I. Chaudy writes that the Cochin Government "Gazette" of 25/2/28 contains a notification that some quantity of the current (ordinary) 2¼ anna stamps will be surcharged "One Anna" to meet the demand for the current 1a. (Anchal & Revenue) stamp which has run out and of which a new supply has not yet arrived.—Philatelic Magazine.

Cyprus.—£5 is now reported by Oswald Marsh in the type illustrated black on yellow.—Philatelic Magazine.

Czecho-Slovakia.—Postage Due New Series will be completed almost immediately, according to Cesky Filatelista, by the issue of 20 and 30h and 5, 10 and 20k.

20h and 1.20k will be issued shortly on unwatermarked paper in rolls. The former will be in the Karluv Tyn design, and the latter in the Strakov type.—Philatelic Magazine.

Falkland Islands. — We learn from Port Stanley (by courtesy of Mr. E. H. Roberts) that a new pictorial set is to be issued about the end of the year, and that the current series will remain valid contemporaneously with it.—Stamp Collecting.

APPROVALS

You cannot make anything but the "spottiest" kind of a collection, a little bit of everything and not much of anything, when you depend solely on ads and special offers for material.

First class approval lots or want lists must be called on to "fill in." For over twenty-five years we have made a specialty of approval trade and our series of "non-duplicating" books is one of the best in the World. Write to-day for

16 Page Approval Booklet

Gives you details and full particulars of a SERVICE that is one in every sense of the word and only made possible by one of the largest stocks in the World to-day. A host of collectors enjoy buying from approvals. Why not have the best when it costs no more than inferior, hap-hazard lots made up mostly of stuff the wholesale market is full of? Try a series of books that is "different" and that has pleased thousands of collectors. Our booklet will explain.

Our 32-page "Monthly Bulletin" is one of the livest wires in the trade. It's free for the asking.

Definitive 65c adhesives for New Caledonia, Oubangui, Reunion, St. Pierre and Miquelon, Senegal, Soudan, Tchad, Upper Volta, and Wallis and Futuna.

Postage Due provisionals, surcharged on stamps of France.—5, 10, 20, 25, 30, 45, 50, 60c, 1, 2 and 3fr for Congo, Gabon, Oubangui, and Tchad.

Messrs. Yvert & Tellier, who give us this information, add that the French Colonial Agency in Paris has removed to No. 80 Rue du Faubourg Saint-Denis, Paris.—Stamp Collecting.

Greece.—Whitfield King & Co. submit for chronicle the following Navarino stamps: 1dr 50L olive, 4dr blue, both of oblong format the former, with a view of the Bay of Navarino, while the latter pictures the naval battle; 4 varieties of 5dr, one in brown and black with the likeness of Sir Edward Codrington, another in a little darker shade of brown with the name "Sir Codrington", one in red and black featuring Van Der Heyden, and the other in blue and black carrying the portrait of De Rigney. These four values are 27mm x 33mm in size.

Lithuania. — 10th Anniversary Issue is to hand from Whitfield King & Co., 5, 10, 15, 25, 50, 60c and 1l.

Peru. — The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the 2c Pro Tacna y Arica stamp, without circles around the figures of value, in violet.

Poland.—Further details of the projected Warsaw Stamp Exhibition commemoratives are to hand from the Continent. We now learn that the two values, 50gr and 1zl, are being printed, in sepia, in miniature sheets (as was done for the Strasbourg Exhibition last year) with the inscription "Warsaw 1928" (the city spelled presumably in Polish) between the two stamps. A 25 groszy stamp is on the way with portrait of General Bem, described as "one of the military glories of Poland." In extenuation, it is added that the bold Bem took an active part in the Polish insurrection in 1831, and in the Hungarian revolution in 1848; he died in exile in Turkey.—Stamp Collecting.

Roumania. — Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 1 leu purple, bearing the portrait of King Michael. In addition to the value noted above our correspondents advise that the following values have also been received in this design: 25b grey and black, 50b olive, 2L green, 3L rose, 5L brown, 7L50b ultramarine and 10L blue.

Tunis.—We have received from the Economist Stamp Co. copies of 1fr30c orange and violet, 1fr80c olive-green and red, and 2fr55c violet and brown, design as Scott's A13 with the surcharge "Poste Aerienne" in blue just above the word "Postes" and with an airplane in the same color in the upper right corner. Also the same correspondent advises of the appearance of the 30c green, type A11, 90c orange, type A12, and the 1fr50c light blue and dark blue, design of A13.

FRENCH AMERICAN STAMP CO. 322 81ST STREET, BROOKLYN,

NEWSLETTES:—

FREDERICK S. EATON, 70 Sachem St., New Haven, Conn., would like the address of C. B. Clark, who resides somewhere in New York state. Mr. Clark asked for a selection on approval, and the postmark on the letter is illegible.

TWO items reach us from Cecil F. Blogg. One is the advertisement of the Ford Motor Co., in a recent Saturday Evening Post dealing with airmail, and the other is an Obock candy wrapper, which is illustrated with pictures of stamps that are given with the return of two, eight and fifteen wrappers.

WE have received from John Frikoff, Moyers, Okla., a clipping from the Pathfinder dealing with the Boyd's City Express Post. It is quite interesting and we may find space for it in the WEEKLY later on.

WE are advised that M. Ohlman, the New York auctioneer, will again hold an official convention auction sale when the Society of Philatelic Americans meets in Washington on August 13-15. The sale will be held Tuesday, August 14. Note Mr. Ohlman's advertisement.

A STAMP find is noted by Herman W. Boers that is worthy of mention. He writes: "Charles Holden of Detroit, while in California, located a vertical pair of the 3c 1857 imperforate on the original cover tied to the cancellation with large margins." Mr. Boers has seen the envelope and calls it a beautiful specimen.

IN the April 7 issue of Flynn's was an interesting story on "The One-Penny Orange," written by Clement Wood. Clipping from G. A. Rollins.

RAPKIN & CO., 151 Goswell Rd., London, Eng., may well feel proud of the new accessory list just issued. It runs to 48 pps. and covers everything under the sun that a collector needs. Dealers should send for a specimen copy.

Air Mail

—New Design of Envelope Approved by the Post Office Department.

N. Y. "Sun" (per Jos. Cadek).

A new design of air mail envelope has been approved by the Post Office Department for private manufacture and use to distinguish this important mail on distributing tables and at all handling points. Such envelopes can be used for air mail only. It will be a standard design and other use is forbidden.

Assistant Postmaster-General Regar issued the following statement:

"The outstanding and distinctive feature of the envelope consists of a border containing alternating blue and red oblique parallelograms with intervening spaces between the two showing the color of the envelope, which should be white. The border should not exceed five seconds of an inch in width extending around the edges of both the address side and the back of the envelope. The words 'Via Air Mail' must appear in the upper right portion immediately below the space to be reserved for the postage stamps, postmarks &c., in letters which stand out clearly and boldly.

"The distinctive border design indicates identification of the matter as air mail in handling and distributing.

In the two months since I wrote my "Preliminary Notes," I have been fortunate enough to secure information that enables me to amplify and correct those notes. Therefore this rather random and disconnected article is offered to aid fellow-devotees.

1. The Postal Savings Cancellation

This is what I have called a "railway cancellation," on the authority of others, in my previous "Notes," and have shown in my figure 1 therewith. Mr. Frank E. Russell, of Boston, has shown me a specimen of this, on Scott No. 164, on piece of a postal-savings form, showing clearly that this is not a precancellation at all, but is applied after the stamp is affixed. Mr. William C. Stone, of Springfield, writes me that he has similar pieces. Accordingly, this type must be definitely excluded from precancels entirely, until we have specimens showing its use as such. Material showing its use as other than a postal-savings cancellation ought to be watched for. Yvert-Tellier-Champion's 1926 catalogue says of this cancellation, that stamps with it "are generally the stamps of which the usual cancellations have been omitted by the forwarding office;" but this catalogue calls it the Savings Bank cancellation.

2. Illustrations of the Types

The artist who redrew my crude illustrations of the various types into the form published in the Weekly of March 26, made certain errors of draftsmanship, which rather cripple the value of the illustrations. By courtesy of the editor, I have prepared new illustrations, which are reproduced herewith. I therefore state here that the illustrations now shown are authentic, and disclaim all responsibility for those previously published. As previously published, types 1 and 2 are confused with each other, types 21, 22, 15 and 26, are erroneously shown. The published figures for types 21 and 26, in particular, show cancellations that I have never seen on Belgian stamps.

3. Nos. 62 and 77

The 2 centimes stamp, from 1894 to 1907, was issued in two colors: violet-brown, No. 62; and red-brown, No. 77. Previous to 1898, all 2 centimes stamps are No. 62. In 1898 the overwhelming majority of specimens are No. 77; but from Huy (Nord) and Charleroi (Station) I have seen No. 62 of that year. In 1899 the two stamps are apparently used in equal numbers; in 1900 and 1901 No. 62 is the dominant color. 1902 to 1905 show No. 62 almost exclusively. In 1906, No. 77 reappears; and in 1907 it is the more usual tint. 1908 shows both colors; and the rare 1909 precancel on this old issue likewise. I may add that, despite the fact that the 2 centimes, No. 83, was issued in 1907, the old stamps are continued somewhat longer. I have not yet seen No. 83 from 1907, and only few from 1908.

H. F. COLMAN

4. Nos. 60 and 60a

No. 60a, the 1c slate of Scott's catalogue, is unmistakable. No. 60, the common stamp, is called "gray" by the catalogues; it is a full gray, varying immensely in shade. No 60a appears almost brown-gray by the side of it, and always is less sombre in appearance. I have seen it precancelled only from 1897 to 1901 inclusive; 1901 appears to be the year in which it is most prevalent. It is never more than one-fifth as prevalent as No. 60; as a rule both No. 60 and No. 60a are found from the same place in the same year. No. 60a should not be confused with the pale shade of No. 60, similar to the usual shade of No. 82, and found all along the years.

4a. The Shift to the 1907 Issue

In 1907 the 1c No. 82 and 2c No. 83 were issued. Despite the large amount of material that I have recently worked over, I have yet to find No. 83 precancelled from this year. As the issue was put into use in September, 1907, naturally the old 1c No. 60 is far more common in 1907 precancels than is the new 1c No. 82. With 1908 I find the first precancelling of the 2c No. 83; printed, from Brussels. I have as yet run across only one other 1907 precancel of No. 83. On the contrary, the 1c in 1908 is entirely the new issue No. 82. 1909 shows both the 1c and 2c of the new issue as regular; but the old 2c, both Nos. 62 and 77, still occurs, very sparsely. The old 1c No. 60 also occurs in 1911 from Antwerp, bilingual roller type.

5. Bilingual Precancellations

In my "Notes" I have stated that bilingual precancellations began in 1911. A recent acquisition of material of 1910 has brought me bilingual roller-precancellations (my type 9), dated 1910, from Brussels and Ghent. With these exceptions, however, and with the note that both monolingual and bilingual precancellations of these years are found from both these cities, the original statement must be let stand.

6. Certain Misstatements Corrected

My statement in the "Notes" that the 1c No. 82, the 1907 issue, is found from Ostend (Station) 1905, is not correct. The particular specimen turns out to be No. 60, with the bottom perforation so close to the design that it is not easy to see whether the stamp is No. 60 or No. 82. No. 82, as mentioned above, first appears in 1907.

My type 8 precancel, of which Sichem-Lez-Diest is the typical example, probably appears as early as 1900. Similar to it, but with full date, is a type that was not known to me when the "Notes" were written, but which has appeared in recent acquisitions. I therefore interpolate it: earliest case as yet known to me: Sichem-Lez-Diest, 1896. Description:

Type 3-A. Place-name in two lines, both lines 2.1 to 2.2mm high; in French only. Date 2.2mm high: full date.

My type 3, which I record for the 1 centime, No. 60 only, has shown up in the new material I have examined, on the 2 centimes No. 62, in 1898.

The 2c, Nos. 62 and 77, which I mention as not having seen precancelled previous to 1899, is now known to me as early as 1894, from Brussels. I have it also from Brussels in 1895, Antwerp and Louvain, 1896. Mr. George C. Asby, of Caterbury, N. H., has kindly informed me of it from Brussels, 1896 and 1898, and Liege, 1897. As mentioned earlier in this article, it is always No. 62 until 1898, and thereafter both No. 62 and No. 77.

Purple ink, which I first report in 1919, has turned up from Ath, 1909, and sporadically from various places every year thereafter. Mr. Asby cites it from Mons and Tournai in 1908.

7. Discontinuance of Types

From my "Notes" it may not be entirely clear that certain types of precancellation cease entirely at certain dates. Therefore the following summary may be useful:

(1) Types 1, 2, 3 and 3-A are last used in 1899.

(2) Type 6, branch-office type with short date, is last used in 1910. After that date, I find no branch-office precancellations at all.

(3) Type 7, first used in 1901, appears to be sparingly used from 1904 to 1910 inclusive, but is revived from 1911 onwards.

(4) Type 21, introduced in 1906, is not used after 1910.

(5) Type 22 is used 1911 to 1914 inclusive, and in 1922, but at no other times.

(6) Type 23 I have seen from 1922 only.

(7) Types 24 and 25 are used in 1912, 1913 and 1914 only.

8. Cities Not Represented

Three cities in Belgium, out of those with over 25,000 population in 1923, have not yet appeared among precancelling-places in either material or lists of precancelling localities, that I have seen. These are:

Borgerhout (53,000 pop.)
St. Nicholas (35,000 pop.)
Berchem (33,000 pop.)

Precancels from these places should be watched for.

ANOTHER LEEWARDS NOTE

By "CALABAR".

Readers will recall that in a previous article, which appeared in the WEEKLY for 2nd April, I pointed out that the Leeward Ids. 5d script was obtainable at Tortola, Virgin Ids., up to at least 16th Feb., and that it was also on sale in Montserrat last autumn. Since this last article I have received a despatch from the Dominica Postmaster, enclosing the Leeward Ids. stamps on sale there up to the 2/6 duty, and amongst them is the 5d! The order was dated "Dominica, 22nd March," so I am afraid that this stamp is not likely to show much appreciation, regardless of statements to the contrary by dealers, speculators, and other interested parties.

The other stamps included were the current ¼d to 4d, the 2/- red-purple and blue on blue (S.G. 71, cat. 5/-), the 1/- on blue-green, olive back, old CA (S.G. 59b, cat. 3/-), and the 2/6 ol (S.G. 61 cat. 7/6). A pretty good taken all-round.

THE PRECANCEL REVIEW

By FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 405 Oak St. S. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

LEON IOWA | ASHLAND, WIS. | DENVER COLO.

Part I. The Illustrations

Leon, Iowa—Again Leon produces an issue of type-set precancels that is very attractive. This is the second series of its kind, the first having appeared about a year ago. The illustrated type has been seen on the 4, 5, 8, 9, 11, 12, 25 and 30c.

Ashland, Wis.—The Christmas season of 1927 caused a new style to appear that, like two former types, was type-set. It is before me, reading down on the current 10c. Practically all Ashland precancels are to be found with vertical overprints. This I attribute to the fact that the first type employed, a handstamp, produced a vertical overprint and the type-set emissions that have followed since were patterned after Type I in this respect.

Denver, Colo.—I have seen half-a-dozen copies of the current 20c, bearing the illustrated precancellation. It is without question a type-setting of provisional nature. Any information on it will be welcomed.

Part II. New Handstamps

In my next article I shall continue my discussion of new handstamped precancels and illustrate six of them.

Arcadia, Calif.—Karl J. Mallard, Jr., reports this town on the 50c. The style is U-52, reading up.

Atlantic, Iowa—I have this on the 4 and 8c in the style illustrated for Wapello, Ia.

Alpena, Mich.—Prof. A. F. Gamber vouches for the 1½c in the U-75 style.

Chariton, Iowa, is another strange name to the precancel collector. The handstamp is like the illustrated Wapello. I have the following: 11c (1917), 4, 5, 8, 10, 12, 13, 15, 20c current series.

Covington, Va.—Same style as Covington, Ga. Prof. Gamber calls it to my attention.

Charleston, Ill.—On the current 13c in the U-54. This should be a worthy item.

Cove, Oregon—In two lines of bold type, between lines, this newcomer appears. The handstamp cannot be covered by any Universal style. I have it on the 5, 11 and 15c. This will be illustrated in my next article.

East Moline, Ill., is now precanceling with U-71, which is difficult to tell from a box roller type the office is also using.

Edgerton, Wis., on the 1½c in the U-10 handstamp. This style is illustrated by El Dorado, Kans., in the next installment of the "Review." El Dorado comes to me on the current 10c.

Emory University, Ga., is an interesting one. The style is U-73, that is, small, plain caps between lines. The overprint reads EMORY UNI—VERSITY, GA., in two lines.

Eldora, Iowa, steps into the precancel fold with the U-55 style. When I chanced upon an 8c inverted, I had difficulty in calling to mind the reason why this town seemed so familiar. Finally it came to me—Horseshoes. If this means nothing to you, then picture a certain national tournament that is held each winter in St. Petersburg, Fla., and call to mind the various champions crowned there.

El Dorado, Kans.—This precancellation, which will be illustrated next week, is of the style of handstamp similar to U-10. The 5 and 10c have been seen by me.

East View, N. Y., has adopted the precancel, along with a large number of other New York towns that have heretofore never used this form of cancella-

THE PRECANCELS

By W. G. Bateman.

(This article is taken from a "Catalog of City Type Coil Precancelled Stamps" issued by Adolph Gunesch, 555 W. 103 St., Chicago, Ill. Our opinion of the book can be judged by our reprint of this article. No price is attached and precancel fans may write Mr. Gunesch.—W. O. W.)

Regular City Types

Up to the year 1920 the precancels applied to coils were almost always those used also for the regular issues. Apparently the government did not furnish special cancelling devices and in only a few cases did local authorities acquire a precancel to use simply on coils. Chicago, Des Moines, Cleveland, New York, and Rochester were among this number.

The types used by most places up to the advent of the standard ones were then whatever type hand-stamp happened to be furnished to the post-office. Those consisting of a single subject or the rather common group of 5 subjects in a row came in the most handy for the purpose altho the larger hand-stamps with several rows of subjects could be used by inking only the top row for each impression on the coil-ribbon. Of the types pictured in the standard catalog those numbered 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 58, 59, 71, 73, 74, 75, 77, 80 and 81 are more commonly seen, while the other types seem to have been used only seldom or not at all. Most of the coils precancelled in this way are rather uncommon and many are decidedly scarce.

Electroplates

Electroplates for precancelling are furnished by the government. Most of them consist of 100 subjects arranged in 10 rows of 10 each, but some of the plates are only half this size. They must be used in a printing press. It is obvious that at least it is very impractical to precancel coil stamps from such plates altho at considerable trouble and waste of ink a coil might be so printed. Of course the coil could be broken up into strips of 10, and these could be attached lightly to a sheet of paper and the whole printed. This, however, renders the coil useless. Why then, should electroplates be used at all for precancelling coil stamps? Also it has always been possible for post offices to obtain hand-stamps or rollers to cancel small lots of stamps. There are coil stamps which have been undoubtedly printed from electroplates, but in most cases it is known that they were never made in the course of r business. In the other cases it seem as if the burden of proof res those who so printed the coils. standard catalog has been gradual proved many such coils have been nated and this catalog has omitte all.

The privately perforated coils a different category since they are from imperforate sheets which can be printed from electroplates befo coils are made.

The Standard Coil Types

By 1920 the use of coil stamps h come so popular that the gover became interested in machines

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

I have just received from a correspondent in Venezuela the first special cancellation I have ever seen commemorating the arrival of the two French aviators, Costes and Le Brix. The special cachet is the same size and type as used to celebrate Col. Lindbergh's arrival and bears the words "Correos de Venezuela" around the top and inside of a 24mm circle. Inside, below, is "Caracas" and across the circle reads "Bienvenide a Costes y Le Brix." in two lines. The Postal cachet is dated January 19th, 1928. Apparently the Colonel's name was substituted for the names of the two French fliers when the special cachet was used for his arrival, January 30th.

******

The Postal Bulletin, under date of April 11th, states that the fee for Air Mail letters weighing 20 grams or less will be 75 centavos for International Air Mail Service between Mexico City and the United States, or 37½ cents U. S. currency. This rate is apparently applicable only to the new route between Mexico City and Tampico, where letters are picked up by steamer and landed in New Orleans, Galveston or Houston. "If, when and maybe" the land Air Mail service rate will probably be a good deal more, if advices from Mexico City can be relied upon.

******

A new design of Air Mail envelope has been approved by the Post Office Department, but they are wise enough to emphatically state that the envelopes ARE NOT ically state that the envelopes are not supplied by the Department. We believe the proper name for the disease is "heebie jeebie". Pink zebras, lavender alligators and other w. k. specimens are usually present at such affairs.

******

An Air Mail service is now available between Lima and Iquitos, Peru. The fee for letters is 50c per ½ oz. in addition to the regular fee of 2c per oz. Seventeen days is saved by this service. "Use the Air Mail" certainly applies here.

******

At this writing — April 18th — it appears that the Boston Chamber of Commerce will give recognition to the opening of the new contract Air Mail routes connecting Boston with New Orleans — by either applying a special cachet on Air Mail carried May 1st or having a special card available similar to that used July 1st, 1927, when C. A. M. No. 1 began operations.

Air Mail

—The 1928 Theodore Champion Air Mail Catalogue—A Study.

By FREDERICK D. MARKEE.

The 1928 Champion Air Mail catalogue arrived in my hands April 7. Three years have elapsed since the previous edition of the French catalogue, and during that time no real reference work on foreign flights has been available. Consequently, it was with considerable interest that I opened this new edition, which, by-the-way, is about fifty pages short of the 1925 edition.

The make-up has undergone considerable change. The French and English text still appears side by side, but the "balloon covers" have been brought up front, and a complete classification of these interesting items occupy the first forty-three pages.

The second section is devoted to the official issues of Air Mail stamps of various countries and take up eighty pages, followed by the semi-official issues of Air Mail stamps. These latter account for another fifty odd pages and list a few of this class of stamps that were not in the 1925 edition. The balance of the catalogue is comprised of a complete and exceptionally clear classification of the principal flights, cachets and obliterations, etc.

Prices, as a whole, reflect the prevailing tendency to register moderate advances, although a very large percentage of the covers classified are not given a valuation. This fact is probably due to insufficient sales to enable the publishers to establish a set valuation. It is a well known fact that many of the earlier (and some of the later) covers from little known flights are being held tight by those who are fortunate enough to possess them, hence no definite value can be set up by the compilers of a catalogue. Facts concerning the flights are clearly stated, and the reader is left to draw his own conclusions as to valuation.

One or two examples of 1925 and 1928 catalogue valuations as compared with the American Air Mail Catalogue figures may be of interest.

	Champ. '25	'28	Amer.
Fort Smith, Ark., Nov. 5-6, 1911	frs. 500	frs. 750	$ 32.00
New Orleans, Apl. 10th, 1912	" 1200	" 1250	55.00
Saugus, Mass., May 30, 1912	" 500	" 800	40.00
Washington, May 15, 1918	" 200	" 200	12.00
N. Y. - Chicago, Sept. 5, 1918	" 175	" 150	3.75
"R 34" - July 9, 1919	" 4000	" 4000	120.00

The contract flights, figuring a franc as worth 4c today, all bring about the same prices as quoted in the American Cat. In pricing these covers there is a wide margin left to the imagination. CAM No. 2, Chicago-St. Louis, is quoted frs. 25 to 75. CAM No. 8, frs. 20 to 50, etc.

On the American flights there is no question but that the publisher was somewhat at sea as to valuations. On the European, the reverse is true. No one should have a better grasp of actual prices than Theodore Champion, and unquestionably this foreign section will stimulate the collection of covers from foreign flights, covers from which have been received in this country, but no actual measurement of value could be made until more facts were known.

BOLIVIA

Number 140 in Scott. The 15 on 22 in red. I am pretty well certain that the following story is true. The top row of 10 stamps were printed in red and submitted to the Postmaster General for approval. He vetoed the red and ordered the surcharge to be in black. The other ninety stamps of the sheet were so surcharged. This gives us just TEN copies in existence.

Of these ten copies but four were saved for philately, 2 unused and 2 used. Both of the two used copies were in my possession, but one has been sold. I have the other on hand—and shall keep it until someone gives me $150.00 for it. Price guaranteed. Surcharge guaranteed, also.

EDITORIAL

The time for the opening of the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition at Cleveland, on Monday, May 21st, draws near and while due mention of the important enterprise has been made in the press, there is some doubt whether collectors in general have the proper realization of the magnitude of the undertaking. Unquestionably, the international exhibition at New York established itself in a class beyond competition, but it remains as a stimulating influence for the Cleveland managers, who find in it an inspiration. The officers and directors of the Exhibition Company that was incorporated for the purpose of providing a sound financial foundation for the display have been working to advantage to make their exhibition one that will transcend any similar occasion ever attempted outside of the New York Exhibition. They know that expectations of a worthy exhibition must be realized, and consequently, they have been untiring in their efforts to secure results that will dignify the project as one of the signal philatelic triumphs of the times. We learn that support of the Exhibition has been received generally, and with this definite encouragement, the sponsors of the Cleveland undertaking have been able to meet their tasks with an enthusiasm that brooks no obstacles. No doubt, all will be in readiness for the successful culmination of the exhibition, May 21 to 26, 1928; and the indications are that the attendance will be large. It is certain that the exhibition will be worth going miles to see. The hospitality of Cleveland will be offered to the visitors during the philatelic week, and it would be a fine thing if the attendance of outside collectors would be a record one. The location of Cleveland is a central one in a philatelically populous section, and that fact should ensure the presence of many strangers within the gates.

From Mr. R. Forbes-Bentley, Birchircara, Malta, we have received a copy of the current six pence surcharged, "Air Mail," in black. The overprint provides a stamp for the payment of aerial postage on a route that has been established from Malta on the Egypt-Iraq mail service maintained by the postal administration of the United Kingdom. This stamp to denote the payment of aerial postage "will be on sale at the post office in Malta and Cozo, from April 1." The mail will be sent alternate weeks, to Iraq, India, etc., and its delivery greatly facilitated through its transmission by plane.

The sheriff of Los Angeles County, California, Wm. Traeger, is very anxious to apprehend Lewis H. Allen, who is wanted on an indictment of the grand jury, under the charge of Sec. 288, P.C. of California. A reward of three hundred dollars is offered for the detention and delivery of Allen to the sheriff or any of his deputies, according to a circular issued recently. There is a felony warrant against Allen, and he is subject to extradition, and in the circular sent out he is described as "an antique stamp collector and musician" who usually drives a Dodge sedan, and who may be found in any section of the United States. A set of finger prints is illustrated, and identification bureaus are asked to report any record of the man to A. T. Adams, Superintendent of Records and Identification, Los Angeles, California. A full face portrait and a profile are shown of No. 57126 and data, as of Oct. 18, 1925, gives Allen's age as 52; weight, 135; height, 5 ft., 7 in.; hair, brown and eyes, blue. Not long ago, we reported that Allen had decamped under circumstances that were "mysterious," to say the least and involved some official explanation, it seems, and previously, a picture of the fugitive had appeared in the WEEKLY. It is evident that a determined effort is now being made to capture him, and collectors should be informed to that effect, as the order is: "Arrest, hold and wire." Allen's philatelic operations have been such as to make him a menace, and in the past, reports of his activities have come from several different localities.

At the annual convention of the American Philatelic Society in Detroit, August, 1924, Allen was in attendance; and previously, he had been present at several of these yearly meetings as a visitor. In fact, at Detroit, his application for membership was presented, and it was withdrawn in consequence of charges that were made, because of irregularities on his part in the east. Since that time, he has paid visits to collectors in different parts of the country, usually to their loss. His methods varied according to circumstance and usually he ingratiated himself to his hosts by his avowed interest in stamps. He said that he was devoted to tennis and upon the slightest pretext, he would seat himself at a piano, if it were available, and play with much abandon. He would appear at the surface, here and there, and reports would then come in to the effect that his conduct was suspicious. We do not know just how serious his incursions on philatelists have been, but it is possible that his profits have not been great. Our understanding is that he is wanted on a graver charge than that of philatelic swindling; and in fact, felony connotes a serious crime.

From Captain J. D. Sague, Cristo, Oriente, Cuba, the following notice has been received: "In compliance with Presidental Decree 920 of June 27th ultimo, on March 20, 1928, all dies used for printing the postage stamps commemorating the Sixth Pan-American Conference were destroyed by means of strong acids. To comply with this disposition, the following persons were delegated: Francisco Muñiz, Ramon Luna and Octavio Rosado, representing the Treasury Department, Augustin León, the Comptroller General and G. P. Foster, the Engravers. These gentlemen accompanied by Notary Public Fernando Pella, were present at the printing offices of the Compañia de Artes Gráficas, Obispo 135-139, on said 20th day, whereupon they took the boxes containing the above mentioned dies, duly closed and sealed, to insure their being taken by the commission and notary to the captain of port's landing, thereafter carried on a launch for the purpose,—all of them seeing to it that the destruction of the plates was actually carried out as prescribed, a distance of more than three miles from the coast line, and said dies being thereafter thrown separately overboard into the sea, the dies and matrices all weighing 306½ pounds. Once this was done, the Notary Public, Doctor Pella, subscribed to the act."

The foreign stamp press contains many references to the death of Dr. J. Brace Chittenden in which his philatelic culture and lovable personality are extolled without stint. Indeed, these comments prove that his labors were appreciated at a distance as well as in his home country, and they show the universality of philately. Though Dr. Chittenden's fame as a philatelic author, an authority on calculus, and an after-dinner speaker of rare attainments will endure, one of his closest friends says that "his assiduous attentions and services at the Collectors Club will become a monument to his work." In fact, our informant says that he had a chat with Dr. Chittenden at the Club late Saturday afternoon, from where the Doctor went home, suffered a stroke of paralysis and died the following Monday afternoon, at the age of sixty-four. Though a teacher in one of the New York colleges, Dr. Chittenden also practiced law. This intellectually gifted man had a most likeable personality and the void that is left will long remain.

BURRIDGE D. BUTLER

One of Chicago's foremost citizens is a stamp collector who has kept the faith for so many years that his service stripes extend up to his elbow. This personage is Burridge D. Butler, publisher of the good old Prairie Farmer who first felt the philatelic urge at an early age. He has grown up with stamps, adhering to the traditions of the earlier days when the general collector was monarch of all he surveyed. Mr. Butler's collection grew with the years, and he achieved the distinction of compiling one of the most unyielding want lists that ever gave the dealer pause. The fact is that Mr. Butler, while one of the busiest of men had the inclination as well as the means to aim at completion within certain lines; and the consequence is that his collection is one that has a singularly striking representation of stamps that are very coy about making their appearance in stamp albums.

Mr. Butler's fondness for stamps is a part of him, and his philatelic wing will always flap. Come what may, stamps will never be to him a thing apart. However, as Mr. Butler progressed in his business, and made the Prairie Farmer what it is, another interest began to grow in Mr. Butler's mind. He became a patron of work designed to be helpful to boys and young men, and his activities in this connection have been most interesting and they have become more practical with experience, let us say. Bringing his business sense to his aid, he established the Burridge D. Butler Foundation for the purpose of making it possible for a number of boys and girls who pass the tests to obtain an agricultural college education. He disclaims all philanthropic credit as he gets a real enjoyment from his work.

The fund is a large one, and the interest from it is applied to the work, but Mr. Butler is bent on increasing the principal and has decided to sell at auction his collection, with the exception of British North America and British West Indies, in order to apply the proceeds to the Burridge D. Butler Foundation. Mr. Butler consulted his old friend, Mr. J. C. Morgenthau of New York, about his plan, and when Mr. Morgenthau found that the project was one that appealed to him, he said that he would co-operate with Mr. Butler to help the good work along. Hence, Mr. Morgenthau will sell the Butler stamps at auction on May 2nd, 3rd and 7th of May; the U. S. will be offered in the first section, and the foreign stamps through Guinea will occupy the other two. The remainder of the collection will be sold early in June. Since Mr. Butler is giving his stamps, as indicated, and Mr. Morgenthau is giving special attention to bringing about satisfactory results from the sale of them at auction, surely the WEEKLY, who owes so much to boys and young men, can give a few words of publicity to the generous impulse that animates Mr. Butler's action. We quote from the special notice in the auction catalogue: "The entire proceeds of the collection will go to a Trust Fund established by Mr. Butler, to enable boys and young men to secure an education in an agricultural college. Agriculture has been Mr. Butler's life work. It was originally his intention to leave his collection to a museum in Chicago, but when this was found to be impracticable, he decided to add the proceeds of the collection to the Trust Fund above referred to."

DR. CHASE AT WATERBURY

The Rector of All Souls' Church, A. F. Gesner, Waterbury, Connecticut, has written us an interesting letter about a recent meeting of the Waterbury Stamp Club, whose members had the pleasure of entertaining Dr. Carroll Chase. "Dr. Chase brought with him a representative collection of 3c of 1851, and 3c of 1857, and exhibited several reconstructed panes, as well as single stamps, illustrating a most minute and exhaustive study of every phase of the subject. He had, also the famous block of thirty-nine, 3c of 1857, and many pictorial covers, with local postmarks, illustrating the early history of the west, and the towns and stations along the old Overland Mail Route."

It may be added that the Waterbury Stamp Club which has been in existence eight years, plans to hold an Exhibition on May 21st to May 26, 1928, when the association of clubs of Bridgeport, Hartford, New Haven, Springfield and Waterbury will hold their annual meeting in Waterbury.

SUBURBAN STAMP CLUB

The Suburban Stamp Club, of Boston, dated ahead their meeting of April 19 to the previous evening on account of the holiday. Their rooms at the American House were filled with an enthusiastic lot of stamp collectors. Two new members were received and an auction conducted by B. Elmer proved very enjoyable.

Willard O. Wylie, managing editor of the WEEKLY, gave a talk on "The Building of a Stamp Paper," and was given a vote of thanks for his service. The managing editor was especially pleased with eleven subscriptions received from his audience.

Who's Juan Pablo Duarte?

On the 2 centavos stamp of the Dominican Republic issue of 1902, and the highly colored set of 1914, we find pictures of Juan Pablo Duarte. He was an aspiring young native of the Dominican Republic who had been educated in Europe. He founded a secret society in 1838, that aimed to promote the independence of his country. On Feb. 27, 1844, a group of Dominicans captured the chief gate to the city of Santo Domingo. Soon afterward the Haitian general surrendered. A provisional council was formed to administer the affairs of the country. He is considered as one of the great leaders in early Dominican history. The postal issue of 1914 showing Duarte's picture was issued to commemorate the centenary of his birth.—A. C. LeDuc.

Benin

A French colony on the coast of the Gulf of Benin, West Africa, which is now included in the colony of Dahomey. Postage stamps for the use of this territory were first issued in 1892, French stamps of the "Commerce" type being overprinted BENIN for the purpose. In 1893, a set bearing the name GOLFE DE BENIN was issued followed by another in the following year inscribed BENIN. These separate stamps were superseded in 1899 by the general issue for Dahomey and Dependencies.

The Collector Traveller

By M. E. BUEHLER (N. Y. "Sun").

Out on the farm lives Jamie,
Where the movies are not known;
But he keeps in reach of the things they teach
And makes the world his own.

For at night when his work is over,
With his album on his knee,
He sails and tramps with his postage stamps
Over the earth and sea.

He ventures with Columbus
In his tiny caravel,
And his heart uplifts when the seaweed drifts
From shore on the strange sea's swell.

He seeks in southern forests
Where the brilliant quetzals go;
And over plains where the Indian reigns Chases the buffalo.

He lifts the Cap of Freedom
In Chile and Colon;
And sees where flies in Chinese skies
The Dragon of the Sun.

So Jamie sits by the fireside,
In a cosy armchair curled;
And with his stamps he sails and tramps
Over the wide, wide world.

Lindbergh Precan Collection

By Geo. W. Hawse.

I have been reading in magazines articles suggesting many ways of collecting Lindbergh "things." Some say collect covers of towns he visited on his famous American tour and also his Pan-American flight. Others say collect covers which he has carried before and since he became famous. Several countries issued special stamps commemorating his visit to that particular country, which some, likewise, collect. But has it ever occurred to anyone except my good friend in Corona, California, that a low priced Lindbergh collection can be obtained by getting precancels from each city Lindy stopped on his American trip. It may be of interest to know that Lordsburg, N. Mex., is the only town which does not issue precancels that he visited.

Candarin

The value in which all the stamps of China issued prior to 1897 were expressed. A candarin was the hundredth part of a tael, or Chinese ounce of silver, and varied from 1½c to ½c in U. S. currency.

For the Junior

A. S. D. A. — These initials, which have now become quite well known in this country, are those of the American Stamp Dealers' Association.

Asegura Entrega Immediata Allleger a la Administracion de Destino.—The inscription shown upon the 1889 special delivery stamps of Cuba. Translated literally, it means:—"Ensures immediate delivery on arrival at the office of destination." A revised edition of the stamp with the third word more correctly spelt as "INMEDIATA" appeared in 1902.

Aspiotis. — A firm of printers at Corfu, Greece, who printed the stamps of 1911 for that country from plates made in London.

Assab.—A small town in the Italian colony of Eritrea having a population of about 5,000. It is strongly fortified, and is one of the best ports of the colony. In 1880 several values of the then current Italian stamps were recorded overprinted "ASSAB" and new values for use in this town, but in the following year they were conclusively proved to be entirely bogus.

Coffee Commemorative, Etc.

Centenario Del Cultivo Del Cafe.—June 17, 1921, a special stamp was issued by Costa Rica and remained on sale till July 7. It bore the inscription as above meaning, "Centenary of Coffee Cultivation."

Centenario Del Descubrimiento Del Mar Del Sur.—This inscription on Panama 1913, 2½c commemorative means "Centennial of the Discovery of the South Sea." Balboa is shown in the design of this stamp on a hill looking out upon the Pacific Ocean.

Centenario De Mitre.—This inscription on stamps of Argentine commemorates the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Gen. Bartolome Mitre. The respective dates are shown upon the stamps in question as "1821—26 Junio—1921."

The Letter "B"

I. This letter is found overprinted upon various stamps of the Straits Settlements, and denotes that they were used at the British postoffice maintained at Bangkok, the capital of Siam, from 1882 until 1886. Bangkok is situated on the banks of the River Menam, and consists really of a succession of towns having a combined population of about 600,000. The first is the commercial town, with shipping, sawmills for teak, and rice mills; next is the town of the Asiatics, mostly built on bamboo rafts on the river; then comes the Consular district with verandahed houses and flowering trees; and lastly, the "malodorous and ill-mannered" Chinese Bangkok and the native Siamese town, dominated by the royal palace. Tramways now traverse some of the chief streets, many of which are lighted by electricity.

II. A large capital "B" in conjunction with "Depto. Zelaya" is found overprinted on several of the more modern issues of Nicaragua used in the Bluefields district. The reason given for this distinctive marking of the stamps is that the currency in Bluefields is silver worth 42c to the peso, whereas the currency in most other parts of Nicaragua is paper worth only about 25c to the peso. Bluefields has a population of about 5,000 and has one of the finest harbors in Central America.

Belgium

A small country in central Europe lying between France, Prussia, and the Netherlands. It has an area of 11,373 square miles and a population exceeding seven millions. Flemish and French are the languages spoken, both being now on an official equality, and for this reason the name of the country is expressed on its stamps as Belgie (Flemish) and Belgique (French). The kingdom was in ancient times inhabited by the Belgae—a celtic speaking German tribe—and formed part of the Gallia Belgica of the Romans. In 1815 the country was joined to the kingdom of the Netherlands, an arrangement which was upset by the revolution of 1830. On October 4, 1830, a National Congress proclaimed its independence and on June 4, 1831, Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg was chosen hereditary king. The first postage stamps for Belgium were issued on July 1, 1849.

could precancel them. The first of machines, made by a company in Ro ter, New York, were experimental number of different types of cancell were tried out before one was offi adopted and used exclusively.

The first of these types, which only used for coils, were like the re tion precancels for they were made cordance with the department rul this subject. The cancel consisted city and state names in two lines w bar above and below. One such im sion was supposed to fit neatly on coil stamp. This aim was not al reached, for some stamps received a part impression or were not can at all.

At first the typeface used was in letters with serifs, and the little pri plates used in the machines were of rubber. Six machines were mad placed in different offices for tria was found, however, that there was more wear and tear on the plates in machines than had been expected, s the rubber plates soon wore out an on the whole, pretty poor work. type is listed in the standard catal U93. There seems little doubt th was the finest standard coil type used. Almost all the coils print this type are decidedly uncommon.

Even before the rubber plates wer carded a new typeface had been us a few cases. This is in light capita ters without serifis. The letters va size and relative position to each These appear in the standard catal U91 and U92. In general the latte smaller lettering. Doubts have bee pressed that there are really two d ent types. The rubber impression apparently all in U92, and certain au ities connected with the company makes the machines have stated that were actually two different types On the other hand stamps are k having impressions varying from (U92) to large (U91) letters with n cided breaks in the gradations. pairs of coil stamps on strips often two or more different sizes of le Such a result would come about when the rubber was discarded in of metal plates for printing. Pe the two types (91 and 92) should be consolidated. This catalog has tained those already listed, but has added any new cities using both type Rubber proving impractical, made of electro metal were next and these, of course, were better. of the U91 and U92 items listed printed from these electroplates.

The government, however, did not the fact that the cancel sometimes to cancel, and so the company ma new type to overcome this diffic This consisted of a continuous ro boxes with the city and state name pearing in each box reading vertical the sidewise coils, and horizontall the endwise. By the use of this d every stamp was thoroly cancelled.

The typeface reverted again to se letters. The first plates had le rather too small (U94) and in s quent types they were made larger 95), and quite large in the last of kind (U96). Only a few post-o used these types for the whole a was still experimental and the gov ment did not want to contract for chines until everything was satisfac

It was found after a time that the tro metal was also too soft to withs the wear and tear of the machine w The type broke rather easily and the precancelled stamps looked anyt but neat. Finally, then, the company sorted to steel plates, which proved s actry. The government bought quite number of the machines, which were st led in the larger post-offices. At e me time the older, single impression ac nes were made over to use steel es and placed in some of the smaller fic.

T steel plates must be made all by an so the box type of cancel with the ty nd state names in light letters with- t erifs was adopted. Since all the ms are hand cut each box on the plate sl htly different from the others.

T s type is the well known U97 which nw in use. The most recent plates ad of this type (as for Concord, N. .) are in thicker letters and perhaps is ind will be used for the other post- fic as the older plates wear out.

Variations of the U-97 Type

T single impression cancels always ac normal on the stamp, but the box pe read either up or down on the ver- al perforated coils. It appears that e Bureau always makes coils in the m way so that whether it reads up d wn in any one case depends upon the y he printing plate is made, or the ey t is put in the machine, or on the y he coil ribbon is fed.

A or almost all, the coils issued from th post-offices read the same way, thus Washington or Rochester; from ne places there are almost as many of e ind as another, New York for ex- mp. It sometimes happens that the ar device fails to work properly and e inting is too faint for good service. s ch cases the coil may be fed back th machine and the cancelling done ar with more ink. This may result in d ble printing with both impressions rd g up or down, but seems more el to lead to the double print being m sed of one impression reading up d ne other down on the same stamp. Th look very peculiar, but come about oil enough since when the coil ribbon pa ed through the machine the second ne must be turned around and be in- ti with respect to its original posi- n. These up and down prints (UD) ai scarce are more common than the ho s up or down (U2, D2). In a few ce the second printing has been done w different machine than that first ed and this gives us doubles of two ffe nt types on the same stamp. These m ost uncommon and each makes a ri s item for a coil collection.

While the coil ribbon is going thru the ma ne it is unwound from its paper re goes thru at an even rate, is printed d wound on another cylinder. Some- ne this mechanism is not properly ad- ju so that one part runs faster or sw than the others. It is said that de esire of workmen to screw up hu, willy-nilly, all screws in sight te brings about this result. When a achine is not running at the right ju ed rates the printing on the stamps di torted from the normal since the ribbon is fed too slowly or pulled thru ra pidly.

Th boxes on the normal U97 imprint 2 mm in width, but due to the above ma often be found smaller than this, ran ig from 9 to 4mm. The smaller the ex the more of them appear on one ma r. The normal is two, but four or ev n the smallest size may show. Many co ors mistake these for double print- gs or for entirely different types. They ar alled "slips." Since they are made by cident, they are not listed in the ca g, but they are collectible varieties an nd much interest to the specialized co ion. In some offices the cancelling is done so carefully that these "slips" ra e occur; from other offices a whole ri e with smaller and smaller boxes can be assembled. They are most often seen th U97 style, but occasionally one of th ther box types is found with the ma variation. The explanation as to wh hese "slips" are made came directly on the inventor of the machine.

Mail-Order House Stamps

Mail-order houses receive many stamps in remittances, and by permit can pre- ca them for use on outgoing mail. Na ally this work is done in most any wa o long as it is done. A small hand- ca is used in any position in combina- tion with any colored ink-pad that is handy. In some places the odd stamps are attached lightly to a piece of paper to form rough sheets of 100, and the whole lot then cancelled with a hand-stamp or roller. The stamps may be put on upside down or sideways, and the cancel pressed on from any angle or used several times with over-lapping impressions. This all gives rise to many odd varieties which add to the joy of collecting. One handstamp from Chicago has the city name mispelled "Chiacgo" and these are hard to find on coils.

There is still much research needed to be done on precancelled coils. Probably there are many unlisted varieties which should be brought to light. Except some of the items made from electroplates, and a few which seem to have been made from clipped regular stamps all known precancelled coils seem to be legitimate. The types are well established, but there is some doubt about U91 and U92. The various standard types furthermore were put into use and discontinued in such rapid sequence that various facts about them are vague or unknown. It has been hard to get accurate information about them all and perhaps some of the statements made in this article are not accurate. Also we should like more information about the precancelled coils of each city. Who used these coils, when, and for what purpose? Why did some appear on mail many years after they were issued? Which are the rare and which the common varieties? In a few places original machines were invented—one it is said was made in Des Moines from an old sewing machine. Knowledge on these points and others will make our collections more interesting.

NEWSY ITEMS

WE have received from Herman W. Boers a clipping from the Detroit Mack Av. Enterprise announcing the April 19 exhibition of the Wayne Stamp Society. No doubt an account of this affair will reach us for later publication. Mr. Boers is advised by the Lindberg, Ky., postmaster, that the office was established Jan. 25. The P. O. Department admits an error in the omission of the proper final letter "h," but the name will stand as is.

WE are indebted to Dr. Geo. M. Kline for a full page story on stamp collecting, which appeared in the Sunday Herald, Grand Rapids, Mich., March 25. It is one of the finest publicity features that philately has known. It tells of the activities of the Furniture City Stamp Club. A number of cuts are used showing the officers of the club, and as well, pictures of Charles S. Jandorf, H. E. Sargent, Col. John G. Emery, and Lee Bierce and son, John.

THREE weeks ago we reprinted an article from a New York paper dealing with Arthur Hind's exhibit at New York. We credited the story to the Sun, when we should have named the New York Times. We apologize to Mr. Crane for the mistake we made.

WE have received from F. H. Anson an interesting postal cancellation advertising the Third British Columbia Philatelic Exhibition at Vancouver, April 13 and 14. Not only is this matter worked into the cancellation, but it is accompanied by a representation of a part of A3 as shown in the catalog. The letter V beneath the crown is surrounded by two circles within which are the words "British Columbia."

THE Cleveland Exhibition is beginning to receive considerable local publicity. Albert Brosha sends us a nice clipping from a local paper and includes a comic strip in which stamps are a prominent factor.

WE have received through the courtesy of Herman W. Boers a cover from the postoffice booth of the All-American Aircraft Show being held in Detroit the week of April 14-21. The marking of the station is an elaborate design in purple, showing an airplane.

AT the annual banquet of the Syracuse (N. Y.) Stamp Club held recently A. Atlas Leve distributed sixty-two WEEKLY subscription forms by mail. The envelope was postmarked "March 23, 6.30 P. M.," the exact time at which the celebration was held. It was a novel feature and we are grateful to Mr. Leve for his publicity stunt.

WE are indebted to Beach Conger, Jr., for one of the covers issued to advertise the All-American Air Craft Show on April 14.

THE Border Cities Stamp Collectors Club, Walkerville, Ont., Can., meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesdays. Visitors from other clubs cordially invited. Harry Bass, Pub. Mgr., 1304 Victoria Ave., Windsor, Ont., and Gordon E. Woodrow, Sec'y, 1064 Hall Ave., Windsor, Ont.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

10-CENT BALTIMORE Postmaster Provisional

There was recently found in New York a fourth copy of the famous 1845 10-Cent Buchanan Baltimore Postmaster Provisional on white paper. This was on a communication addressed to London, and is in uncancelled condition, being the only copy of the variety in such condition and the only one known used abroad.

I have had the pleasure of acquiring this variety and placing it with one of my clients. If you have anything rare or unusual to offer in the way of United States Postmasters, General Issues, Departments, Dues, Newspapers, Carriers and Revenues, I offer the best outlet either on a basis of outright purchase or on commission.

The finest collections and individual items of United States stamps which have come on the market in recent years have passed through my hands.

Cash in any amount is available for fine properties, and I offer to the serious collector desiring to complete his collection one of the finest stocks of these issues in the hands of any professional.

I also take pleasure in announcing that I have completed the sale of the famous Gibson Collection of 1847 within three weeks after the collection was placed with me to sell.

Other fine properties of similar character are desired.

United States

Washington Notes

The Greist Post Office Bill which recently passed the House, has not as yet, passed the Senate, and it is thought by some that it may not receive the Senate's approval during this Session. If this is the case, the present rates which have been in effect about two years, will remain until Congress again meets the latter part of the year.

The Kelly Bill which relates to the Air Mail Service is a separate bill, and it is more likely that this will receive Congressional approval. If it does, the Bill will no doubt, receive the signature of the President, and a new 5-cent air mail stamp, and 5-cent air mail envelope will appear in short order.

The Post Office Department contemplates preparing an Exhibit for the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition to be held in Cleveland during May, and it is quite possible that they will arrange to place on sale during the week of the Exhibition stamps that are now available at the Agency. It is also expected that one or two of the Washington officials will possibly honor the Exhibition by a visit.

No action has been taken in regards to the issuing of any commemoratives, and the Postmaster General recently advised that he was not in favor of the issuing of the stamps commemorating the discovery of the Hawaiian Islands. Letters are still arriving concerning the Valley Forge emission, but the Postmaster General seems more or less positive that such a stamp will not appear.

Mr. Malcolm H. Ganser, however, kindly sends me a copy of the Norristown Herald, wherein statement is made that Congressman Henry W. Watson expects the approval of the Valley Forge Stamp. The clipping further mentions that Colonel William A. March, president of the Norristown Chamber of Commerce, who attended the Post Office Conference in Washington, stated he was assured by Mr. Watson that efforts are still being continued in behalf of the stamp, and that it was expected that the Postal authorities would heed the many resolutions from Norristown individuals and organizations urging the issuance of the historical stamps. It is to be hoped that his will prove true.

We recently chronicled a new booklet, brought to our attention by Mr. H. M. Southgate, of 73 cent denomination, wherein it was stated that there are four panes of the 1c rotary, and four panes of the 2c rotary. Mr. Southgate now writes that these are not of the rotary print, but are of the flat plate print, and that he had reached his original conclusion due to the fact that they show gum breaker lines on the back of the stamps, similar to the rotary product. This will make a new variety for the extreme specialist showing the flat plate stamps with ridges.

Mr. Southgate further writes: "When the rotary press 2-cent booklets were issued they resurrected the model address and put it inside on the back of the front cover driving off the Domestic postage rates. In place of the Foreign rates on the inside of the back cover, they had a few glittering generalities as to how to send money, address letters, etc."

"Now on the new combination cover they have brought back our real valuable data as to postage rates both foreign and domestic—right up to date with a 15-cent and 20-cent registration fee, the earlier ones were 10 cents."

Air Mail Notes

Messrs. Herman W. Boers, and Orville C. Rittenhouse kindly send air mail covers from Detroit under date of April 14th, bearing a special upright rectangular postmark in violet, showing airplane in flight and reading "Post Office Station, Detroit, Mich. Mailed at the All-American Aircraft Show, April 14-21, '28." In addition the covers bear the normal black circular postmark used on all mail.

The Second Assistant Postmaster General announced under date of April 10th that the Mexican Postal Administration has requested that mailers in this country be informed as to postal rates on the new Mexico-Tuxpan-Tampico air mail route which was opened on April 15th.

Belgium.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the current 1r stamp, design as A61, in carmine.

China.—In addition to the value previously noted in the Marshal Tchang So-Lin commemoratives, Whitfield King & Co. advise that they have received the 4c sage-green, 10c blue and $1 red.

Czechoslovakia.—Copies of the 20h and 30h red postage due stamps are to hand from Whitfield King & Co.

Germany.—Mr. A. Wagner writes under date of April 2, "I read in the daily press that the President of the German Republic has sanctioned the issue of postage stamps with the likenesses of the presidents. The new stamps of which the 15pf value will show the likeness of Hindenburg, and the 8pf value that of the late president Frederich Ebert, will probably be placed on sale on June 1st next. Whether it is intended to withdraw the 8pf and 15pf, now current, Beethoven and Bach, remains to be seen."

Italy.—Whitfield King & Co. submits for chronicle four Militia stamps of oblong format each of different design. Values are 30c+10c violet and black, 50c+20c bistre and blue, Lire 1.25+50c blue and black, and 5 lire + 2 lire carmine and black.

Malta.—In the Senate recently, Lord Strickland admitted that the Government was reverting to the use of combined "Postage and Revenue" stamps, but would not state when the change would take place, in order that speculation might not be encouraged. We don't know much about Malta postage, but they certainly take good care of their revenue.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

Mesopotamia (Iraq).—Stamps of the current pictorial series are now being printed on paper of about half the previous weight and thickness, owing to the difficulty of getting stamps printed on the old thick paper to adhere to letters.

Our informant, Mr. H. C. Mason, F.R.I.B.A., shows us the ½a, 1½a and 4a, on the new paper, and states that he is assured that the 1a and 2a have been issued to post offices. The 8a and 2r are in the country, and the 3a and 6a and the 5r on their way out.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

Netherlands.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the new series issued in commemoration of the Olympian Games. Each stamp pictures an athlete in a different event. The values and shades are 1½c green (Rowing), 2½c violet (Fencer), 3c green (Runner), 5c pale blue (Boating), 7½c orange (Shotput), 10c red (Sprinter), 15c blue (Horseback Rider), 30c brown (Boxer).

Southern Rhodesia.—Mr. L. H. Rivers has received the ½d value imperforate between the last two vertical rows of the left hand panes. Mr. Heathcote Tatham states that he has been informed by a postal official that two or three years ago one or two sheets of the 2d value entirely imperforate were included in a supply of stamps requisitioned by a counter clerk at the Salisbury P. O.—South African Philatelist.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

By Bertram W. H. Poole.

THE stamps of the Argentine Re include quite a number of va which are apt to be a little disconc to the beginner. It is particularl fortunate that the catalogue illustr of Types A1 and A2 should have t literating white line drawn throu value for herein lies the clue to th ference between the two designs. stamps of Type A1 have distinctly er numerals than those shown on A2.

Two varieties of Type A3 are described as with broad or narro in Centavos. It might also have explained that in the case of the s narrow "C" variety of the 5c the n is also noticeably larger.

In the varieties of the 1867-68 is should have been noted that the ence in the groundwork refers t central portions of the designs on the portraits are placed. The tw rieties of the 5c represent quite d plates. The portrait on the variet groundwork of horizontal lines is heavily shaded and has the point collar more pronounced than on the lar stamp with ground of crossed For the 15c there was but one pla the differences are due to wear a touching.

The designs numbered A23 an confuse a very large proportion o lectors and many dealers. The named was lithographed in Lond Bradbury, Wilkinson and Co., ar latter was printed from engraved in New York by the American Note Company. The designs are quite different in detail, but a quic will be found in the dotted border Type A23 these dots are large and prominently spaced, while in Typ they are not only smaller, but are close together. The 12c is the on seemingly gives the most troubl another test for this value is the ration, which is 14 for Type A23 for the other.

In connection with the 1888 issu dies of the 5c are recorded and described, but no mention is made two equally distinct dies of the 2 the case of Die I the collar touches the small oval medallion foot of the design, while in Die space of 2mm separates the collar this oval.

No difficulty should be experien distinguishing between the 5c of 18 and the same value of 1890 if the note below the latter issue is car read, nor should there be any con between the 1c of 1888-89 (Type and the re-engraved variety of it in 1892 (Type A61) if the foot-no low the latter is studied.

The sun watermarks of the 1892- ries are troublesome in spite of th that we are told the small one me 4½mm and the large one 6mm in eter. The latter is usually more d than the former and the measurem the only real test. It should be that the small sun is not a true mark, but was impressed in the pap

Type 88 exists in two sizes for and 12c denominations, but there s be no confusion with these even if a single stamp is available for the ones are with sun watermark an smaller sized ones have honeycomb termark.

The very indistinct illustration A102 and A103 do not tend to mak differences any too obvious. The ence lies in the inscription in the b tablet between the numerals of valu type A102 this inscription is "Bu Aires Augusto de 1921," while in A103 it is "Republica Argentin Philatelic Opinion.

ONLY OFFICIAL CANCELLATIONS

We have had many letters from collectors inquiring about air mail covers bearing cancellations which were privately or semi-officially applied, especially those emanating from cities which were visited by Colonel Lindbergh during his tour of the United States last year. We wish to state that we are attempting to handle only air mail covers which bear cachets authorized by the Post office Department.

Anyone can have a rubber stamp made and apply it to first class mail, so there is no end to the variety of covers which may be provided by the use of unofficial cancellation stamps. There is, however, a limit to the pocket-book or bank-roll of most collectors. They have to draw the line somewhere. If we boost one private cancel, there would be a dozen more crying for and entitling to the same recognition, and so on ad infinitum. Most of them, we believe, time will prove to be more local than national in interest.

We therefore do not believe in attempting to sell what we conscientiously cannot approve. We ask that you take this only as our personal opinion and policy, and not as an attempt to knock the other fellow's wares. One of the fine features of philately is that one may collect what one pleases. We believe that collectors can get plenty of kick out of the covers which bear official cachets. We also recognize the fact that some covers with the private cancels are very interesting souvenirs. If you are kin to Croesus, collect 'em all. We, however, shall handle only official cancellations unless forced to do otherwise. Any collector will find plenty to occupy his time and take his money in keeping up with the Government authorized cancels, without trying to go after the private issues.

The collecting of air mail covers is a most attractive and increasingly popular pursuit. The first flight covers from the cities of the country as they are hooked-up in the greatest air mail system in the world, are officially recognized and marked with cachets made and applied by the Government. They always will be of national interest and therefore have a known market value. To date more than one hundred varieties of official cachets have been provided. Two dozen more will be forthcoming shortly. Let your effort be to make a complete collection of the covers bearing the official cancellations. You will find it an enjoyable occupation.—C. E. NICKLES (Wash. Stamp News).

SOUVENIR

On March 3, 1928, the members of the Philatelic Club of Los Angeles made a pilgrimage to Sandberg, California, where they were royally entertained by Mr. H. Sandberg, for whom the place was named. Through the kindness of Mr. Charles Sidney Thompson, we have received a memento of the occasion in the form of a sheet showing Mr. Sandberg's Summit Hotel, with the Sandberg, Calif., postmark in green and the signatures of those who attended the convocation. Greetings were sent from Bill Bloss, J. D. Fisher, Chas. S. Thompson, George Lyma, Donald G. White, R. T. McClary, John J. Russell, Clarence G. Weisbrod, L. Stewart Deats, W. C. Lilley, Jas. E. Alexander, Wm. Hornbeck, Roy C. Mitchell, James A. Cuzner, Burt C. Wear, B. W. H. Poole, O. F. Braecklin, F. C. Plate, C. E. Mortenson, H. Sandberg, S. A. Kaasen, C. F. Nissen and Carl F. White. Incidentally, the host, Mr. Sandberg is postmaster of Sandberg, and the possessor of a most interesting collection of early U. S. covers, among other stamps. He is well remembered by delegates to the national convention at Los Angeles in August, 1925. The occasion was one of unalloyed pleasure, and those who were fortunate to participate returned to their homes with glowing accounts of the hospitality that they enjoyed at Sandberg's. We regret that a cut that was made of the "Greetings" sent us did not show a satisfactory impression, especially as its failure to take well has delayed our acknowledgment of the gracious act of the members of the thriving Philatelic Club of Los Angeles, in so honoring us.

Our new objective is 800 members.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

By BILL BLOSS.

Even catalog makers must have their little jokes, so our good friends Clark and Luff kick the New Zealand Auckland Exhibition stamps, the Salvador Centenarios, the Ecuador Quito-Esmeraldas, the Dutch Indies Bandoeng fairs, and the Malay-Borneos (good work!) out of the cat. Then, they stick in the Eggwiped Port Guads, or Port Frauds, as you will, and then come through with the long set of Turkish recently overprinted for the Smyrna exhibition. All of which cause the cat-knockers to cry long and loud about a "sinister purpose." And how!

Speaking of kicking things out of the cat, which is no form of cruelty to animals, why not economize on space and numbers by eliminating Turkey 165 to 236 and 869 to 920, and most of the other stamps that were never issued?

Here's a popular specialty for the cancellation fan—Hong Kong stamps cancelled for the various cities in China. It is possible to make a nice collection for the looking in most cases, and such a lot should command a good price when sold.

Roumania is a country that deserves more popularity than most collectors show it. The fellow who likes hard nuts to crack will find plenty of them there. Most of the ordinary stamps are low in price, and some are hard to get. A collection of the dues is mean to complete.

One of the ways to win popularity with your favorite dealer is to ask him for the two perforated Mexico 653 and 654, current type 1c and 2c, especially at the current catalog price of 2c and 3c. These stamps are from booklets, and only one page of each of these denominations (three stamps) were included in each book, the balance being 5c and 10c stamps. The change in rate to 4c and 8c made the use of the booklets unnecessary and they were taken off sale, hence had a short life.

Cerna Gora—The Black Mountain—Montenegro—thoughts of mountains bold and bare—a land of fighters—a small land that fought its bigger neighbors for the right to exist. One country that most collectors can complete, excepting No. 16.

Used copies of Salvador, 1895 first series, picturing President Ezeta and overprinted with the arms of the country, blocking out the presidential whiskers, are good birds. The set was originally prepared to honor the President, but by the time the stamps arrived in Salvador, the boys had given Sr. Ezeta the air. Hence the overprint, and a new set was ordered shortly thereafter.

Another land for the specialist who wants plenty of material for little money is Jugo-Slavia. We prophesy that some of these Jugo-Slavs will bring home the bacon some day. An endless variety of perforations, printings, papers, plate varieties, make this land the specialists' paradise.

Of all weird postage stamps, and there are many, the 1925 issue of Bolivia takes the cake, frosting and all. Yet the designs are pleasing in a way, and the engraving is excellent. The little cow-slips or whatever they are on the 10c are cute. But the condor flying toward the sea is the bird of the lot. Somebody picked him before he started! Incidentally the set is a good one—so far. Used copies are scarce, particularly of the high values, and all are worth picking up.

Incidentally, recent Bolivia as a whole will bear a lot of watching, as there are plenty of sleepers in the lot. Between the changes of engravers and the surcharges, the collector who procrastinates will be full of regrets later.—American Philatelist.

STAMP MARKET GOSSIP

By "THE SEER OF THE STRAND."

Cyprus.—Well, they have arrived—and a very nice set too. On every hand I have heard that the general opinion is that Messrs. Bradbury, Wilkinson and Co. have given of their best in the matter of engraving. I am very keen that all my readers should make sure and obtain this set, and a few extra if possible, whilst they can be bought at a fraction over face value, as it is pretty certain that supplies will not be available after the end of this year. I understand all that remain unsold at that time have to be destroyed.

Great Britain. — I have it on good authority that the 10d value will not be re-issued when the present stocks are exhausted. Upon enquiry, I find that many of the larger Post Offices are already without this value, so bearing in mind the American and Colonial Stamp markets, I am inclined to think that S.G. No. 428 may shortly be greatly advanced in quotation. The latest Control, G 27, should prove to be rather scarce in the near future.

Whilst on the subject of Great Britain, it has always been a matter of conjecture with me as to why the 1½d plate number, S.G. 51-2 remains at the catalogue valuation of 9d for used copies. In really fine condition, I know of several specialists who are willing to pay this price (and a little over) for all they can get. Personally, I am always on the "quivive" for this stamp, and a nice copy never gets beyond me as I am convinced that when once it does start to rise, the flight will be very rapid.

Egypt.—In my last month's notes, I mentioned that the new Statistical Congress stamps were sure to become good items. I hardly expected fulfilment of my words quite so soon, but instead of the 1/- per set retail, as advertised when that article was written, the price at the moment is 1/9. I still advise readers to buy, as in common with the other various Congress sets, this one is certain to reach a high figure.

I learn that the Medical Congress set whose issue was expected this month, will not now be sent out till December next.

South West Africa.—During the last week or so I have seen an entirely new shade of the 10/- with the sixth type of overprint. This is of a very pale shade of olive-green with almost a violet-blue centre. As I have both seen and handled many pairs, blocks, etc., of S.G. No. 39, and this being the first of this particular shade, I am of opinion that it should turn out to be a very scarce item, and discerning specialists should make sure of getting at least one pair for their collection. Don't forget that the £1 value, S.G. 40a recently listed, is now worth at least £8 the pair.

Russia. — I do not often deal with Foreign countries, but to those readers interested, I would advise early acquisition of all the recent 8kop surcharges. Of course one doesn't know when these will stop, but the whole outlay is so small that I venture to remark this doesn't matter much. I have seen quite recently really high figures paid for both mint and used specimens of S.G. 453 onwards, and I feel sure that these provisionals will hold rather an important position in the stamps of Europe at an early date. The latest to make its appearance is one of the Esperanto commemoratives surcharged 8k.

South Africa. — I understand that many rumours are current with regard to the 4d triangular stamp of this Dominion. On the one hand I learn that when the present stocks are exhausted, the same stamp will be issued perforated, whilst from another direction, and by the way, far more authentic, though I give it for what it is worth, that very shortly an entirely new stamp of this denomination in rectangular format is shortly to make its appearance. In either event, I think my readers will be well advised to retain a few very fine used copies of the present stamp, as there is little doubt that it will always be popular with the consequence that one may have to pay rather more than the odds a little later on.

Solomon Islands. — The 5/- MCA Georgian stamp of these Islands without doubt is going to be a good stamp in the near future. I foresee a big rush for it presently and many of us will be caught short. I am emphatic in my opinion that the 5/- on orange-buff, S.G. 36a, is really a classic stamp, but the ordinary S.G. 36 has not yet reached its pedestal, and I strongly urge all my followers to make sure they have at least one copy of this stamp in their collection. In making this stamp my "Best Thing of the Month," I do so with full cognisance that all my friends are expecting me to continue with the good work.

New Zealand.—I had some idea when the 2/- Admiral type was reprinted in a different shade of blue that the 3/- value would follow suit. This idea has materialised and as well as I advised readers on the one hand, I now advise them on the other. Be sure you have one or two copies of S.G. 541 mint and fine used amongst your treasures, as this is going to be a good stamp.

BEST THING OF THE MONTH.
BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.
5/- Green and Red on Yellow.
S.G. 36. Mint or used.

IOWA'S SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Lee County Philatelic Society, Iowa, was held on April 10th, in the Donnellson, Iowa, High School, and was an enthusiastic gathering. The reports from the President and the Secretary showed that a remarkable growth had been made during the year. The following officers were elected: President, Smith Hamill, Keokuk, Iowa; Vice-President, H. Reitz, Donnellson, Iowa; Secretary, Rev. T. Warren, and Treasurer, H. Armknecht, both of Donnellson; and Sales Manager, R. E. Ruske, of the same city.

NIGER COAST

One of the most attractive and esting series of stamps is the set for the Niger Coast Protectorate i These stamps are really provisiona at the time they were ordered the tory was known as the "Oil River tectorate," and they were inscribe this name. On May 13, 1893, the of the territory was changed to t the "Niger Coast Protectorate," the plates for the stamps had a been prepared, and to save time a pense in engraving new dies, the "OIL RIVERS" on each stamp was cancelled with a "graver," and th name "NIGER COAST" was added the top in sans-serif capitals. Ow lack of adequate space this latt scription extends beyond the uppe der of the design on to the margi letters of the old name can be read distinctly under the cancelling There are six different denominati this set, all of which show the sam trait of Queen Victoria, though the orately designed borders are dist for each value. The stamps we graved and printed by Messrs. Wa & Sons, Ltd., from steel plates or white unwatermarked paper. The rations, as is characteristic with the work of this firm, are variable fr to 15. It is interesting to not three sizes for the sheets were u somewhat unusual procedure in the ufacture of British Colonial stamp ½p, 1p and 2p values were prin sheets of sixty stamps arranged horizontal rows of ten each; the for the 2½p was composed of 48 s in six rows of eight; while the 5 1sh denominations were printed in of thirty (five horizontal rows of The total numbers printed were a lows: ½p, 37,000; 1p, 39,400; 2p, 1 2½p, 46,000; 5p, 25,000; and 1sh, —Philatelic Opinion.

FOREWORD

From the Official Catalogue of the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition

By W. W. MacLAREN, President

A HOBBY as universal and as popular as Philately must have not one, but many attractive features.

There is, perhaps, no other hobby known to man that has such a varied list of adherents.

Men of all races, all degrees of social standing, wealth, education, and of other inclinations, find the same enjoyment in this hobby.

Its chief virtue is the fact that it affords pleasure.

First, the pleasure of acquisition, then of possession.

To those, who by choice or necessity, must consider the investment feature, there is frequently the pleasure of increment of value.

With the average collector, in fact the great majority, the chief pleasure of all is the exhibition of his treasures, and this applies to the small boy beginner and the advanced adult collector as well.

True, there have always been, and no doubt always will be, so called "stamp misers," whose pleasure, like that of the miser with his gold, consists in gloating over his possessions, and keeping them hid from public view.

The Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition is complete evidence in itself that the greatest pleasure in Philately is the display of stamps.

Every exhibitor has not only paid a rental for the space occupied by his exhibit, but in many cases he has gone to considerable expense, such as carfare, expressage, mounting, time taken from his business or profession—all that he might have the pleasure of showing his gems.

Many collectors are now privileged to view stamps that they had never even hoped to see. The public are afforded an opportunity to enjoy for a few cents the results obtained only by the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars, as well as many years of careful study and hard, though pleasant labor.

Those who have contributed their time, labor and money to make this exhibition possible, are with few exceptions collectors.

Their sole purpose is to afford enjoyment to other collectors, and to bring before the general public the many attractive features of Philately.

NEWFOUNDLAND

We have just been fortunate in securing a small supply of the 1c Guy issue showing the error "NFW" in a mint block of 4, the stamp next to this showing the variety "JAMRS"—a very interesting and unusual piece. This variety is priced in Scott's much too low—these list £1 in Stanley Gibbons in a single.
We offer mint block with both varieties for only $2.75

1923 set to 15c complete .....$1.65 or blocks of 4 6.50
1923 less 9c value .....$1.10 or blocks of 4 4.25
This set is already partly obsolete and should soon be good.

THE CLEVELAND EXHIBITION

By Charles E. Severn.

THE time for the opening of the Midwestern Philatelic Exhibition at Cleveland, on Monday, May 21st, draws near and while due mention of the important enterprise has been made in the press, there is some doubt whether collectors in general have the proper realization of the magnitude of the undertaking. Unquestionably, the international exhibition at New York established itself in a class beyond competition, but it remains as a stimulating influence for the Cleveland managers, who find in it an inspiration. The officers and directors of the Exhibition Company that was incorporated for the purpose of providing a sound financial foundation for the display have been working to advantage to make their exhibition one that will transcend any similar occasion ever attempted outside of the New York Exhibition. They know that expectations of a worthy exhibition must be realized, and consequently, they have been untiring in their efforts to secure results that will dignify the project as one of the signal philatelic triumphs of the times. We learn that support of the Exhibition has been received generally, and with this definite encouragement, the sponsors of the Cleveland undertaking have been able to meet their tasks with an enthusiasm that brooks no obstacles. No doubt, all will be in readiness for the successful culmination of the exhibition, May 21 to 26, 1928; and the indications are that the attendance will be large. It is certain that the exhibition will be worth going miles to see. The hospitality of Cleveland will be offered to the visitors during the philatelic week, and it would be a fine thing if the attendance of outside collectors would be a record one. The location of Cleveland is a central one in a philatelically populous section, and that fact should ensure the presence of many strangers within the gates.

PHILATELIC AGENCIES

THEY COME AS A "BOON AND BLESSING" TO COLLECTORS

By FRED J. MELVILLE.

Six years ago the United States Post Office set up a special office in Washington to supply stamp-collectors and dealers with current stamps and any recent issues of which stocks remained on hand. The changes in United States stamps are more frequent than in our own, and the persistent collector, hunting for perfect copies of current stamps at ordinary post offices, must often have proved a thorn in the flesh of the busy postmaster who had neither time nor inclination to examine stamps.

The Philatelic Agency of the Washington Post Office was opened in December, 1921, to encourage the collecting of United States stamps, which, when put into collections and not used in the post, are a clear profit to the Department. Its directors try to meet all the reasonable requests of philatelists, and they are able to select well printed and properly perforated stamps, which are not easily obtainable in the ordinary way, for a large percentage of American stamps are badly centred (between the perforations). The Agency has also done much to help and encourage the collecting of varieties showing different points of technical interest by supplying on demand the appropriate portions of the sheets.

In the first six months the Agency sold about £4,000 worth of the then current and available stamps. The American stamp trade welcomed and supported the innovation, and there was no complaining of official rivalry with the dealers. Collector and dealer were alike helped. Now the Agency sells about £30,000 worth of stamps annually, and is regarded as a most successful innovation.

Similar agencies have since been set up by the Postal Administrations of Canada (1923), Panama Canal Zone (1924), Holland, for stamps of Holland and Dutch Colonies (1925), Denmark (1926), and recently there has come to hand a little brochure from the Swedish Post Office announcing the opening of an agency in Stockholm, and giving an illustrated check list of all the stamps available.

The success of the American Agency has led the United States Postmaster-General to authorise and issue an official publication unique in the annuals of philatelic literature. It is entitled "A Description of United States Postage Stamps and Postal Cards issued by the Post Office Department from July 1, 1847, to December 31, 1927." This is a solidly set booklet of fifty-four pages, obtainable for ten cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington. It is not the first time a Government has published a history of its stamps, but previous works have been issued in limited editions, chiefly for distribution in official or diplomatic circles. This guide is being issued broadcast throughout America, and will add substantially to popular knowledge of the interesting and historic issues of United States stamps.

The book will interest even the advanced student of these stamps, although the main outline and most of the official documents have been accessible in Mr. J. N. Luff's and my own books on United States stamps.

Only the first two Government issues for "ordinary" postage—those of 1847 and 1851—have been demonetised, as indeed they had to be when the Civil War broke out. They "are now obsolete and worthless for postage," says the author of the official guide, but he gives no hint that many of them are pearls of great price on the stamp market. He is content to record that the Department allowed a reasonable time after the outbreak of hostilities for people in the loyal States to redeem them.

It has been the custom of the Department to issue exact descriptions of every new stamp issued from the earliest years, and these are followed closely in the work under notice. Pictures would have helped greatly, but illustrations of United

I DON'T WANT MONEY !!!
I DO WANT STAMPS

Do you want a new Car or a new Radio set? Then if so, give me the chance to see your stamps during the Exhibition.

I am open to purchase for prompt cash Postage Stamps issued before 1880.

I will buy collections, stocks, correspondence or any single rare item.

I am only interested in stamps in very fine condition in every way—it is useless, and a waste of time, to offer me any goods of second choice, however cheap.

I am chiefly interested in stamps of the following group:—

British North America. Confederate States.
British West Indies. All old British Colonials.
Mexico. All early South Americans. Japan.
Denmark. Norway. Sweden.

I shall be glad to make your acquaintance at my booth in the Exhibition or at the Hotel Cleveland, where I shall stop from May 20th to May 26th.

IRISH STAMP DESIGNS

By W. WARD.

ALMOST as soon as the Provisional Government of Southern Ireland, as it is generally called, was formed in 1921, preparations were made for a series of postage stamps for the forthcoming Free State, and a competition of designs was held. The designs had to be typical of some Irish National association or emblem, while the artists were confined to those of Irish birth and nationality.

As early as May, 1922, a number of designs were accepted out of 130 sketches by the adjudicating committee, presided over by the late Mr. Arthur Griffiths, and included a number that were finally rejected, one bearing an Irish Wolf Hound (not similar, however, to the well-known 2/- Dog Tax stamp), and a design showing hurley sticks and balls. This latter design, it is worthy of note, was intended eventually for the projected "Postage Due" stamps, but never materialised. It was, however, displayed among other accepted sketches at the Dublin Horse Show in 1922.

Map of Ireland

Mr. J. J. Walsh, then the Postmaster-General, had intended to have the stamps ready for the date of the Ratification of the Treaty, but the events of July-August (now known as the battles of the Four Courts), the deaths of Mr. Arthur Griffiths and General Michael Collins, prevented this. Nevertheless, with the assistance of Somerset House, London, a temporary issue was made on Ratification Day, December 6, 1922, of the 2d value. The London printing cannot, however, be distinguished from the later Dublin printings. This showed an outlined map of Ireland, and was received with a deal of criticism outside the Free State, for the reason that it did not show the boundaries of the six counties of Ulster (Down, Antrim, Londonderry, Tyrone, Armagh, and Fermanagh) which had been appointed their own control under the title of The Government of Northern Ireland. It was officially explained that the design merely intended to portray the outline of Ireland, and not infer any political motive. The stamp was designed by Mr. James Ingram, of Glasnevin, Dublin.

1d,	Feb. 23rd, 1923.
1½d,	Feb. 2nd, 1923.
2d,	Dec. 6th, 1922.

The Celtic Cross

Of the accepted designs, three were quite new, but the fourth was adopted, by the special request of the late President, Mr. Griffiths, from a Sinn Fein propaganda label that had been issued by his party as long back as 1908. This latter was a blue label bearing a Celtic Cross and ornamentation, very akin to the present Cross stamps. As with the propagandist label, it was designed by Miss Lily Williams, of Ranelagh, Dublin. The former labels, which were printed by Messrs. Whelan & Co., of Upper Ormonde Quay, Dublin, from an engraving made by Mr. W. H. Kirkwood, and sold at ¼d each in aid of the Sinn Fein funds, were (and often have been since) palmed off as "Republican" stamps used during the rebellion of Easter, 1916. Any stamps so used were postmarked by favour, as no stamps were used during the troubles of that date, such letters passing between the I.R.A. organisations, as in Dublin, being marked with the ordinary undated parcel postmark "killer" bearing the word "Dublin" between bars.

The Celtic Cross design was intended to appear on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, 1923, to commemorate the 1500th Anniversary of St. Patrick's first Missions of Christianity, and the 3d value was selected for that purpose. Meantime, however, the Free State Government declared that day a public holiday, so the stamps were issued the day previously.

This emergency issue was sold out on the afternoon of the same day, until future supplies could be obtained from London, where the first printings were made at Somerset House, but the subsequent printings were executed at Dublin Castle. Plates of the stamps were shown to members of the Philatelic Congress who visited Somerset House in 1923.

All the stamps are printed in sheets of 240, divided by a row of ornamental barred "dummy stamps" into two panes, perforated 15x14 for the same reason as the British stamps—that the narrower side will not tear away easier than the vertical. The paper on which they are printed is Irish made and watermarked with the multiple monogram SE (Saorstat Eireann) and may sometimes be found inverted and reversed. Shades are frequent in the ½d, 1d, 1½d, 2d, 3d and 6d values—especially through the latter being printed on chalk-surfaced paper as the contemporary British of that value—that stamp in Ireland also being used for revenue purposes on documents.

3d,	March 17, 1923.
10d,	May 11th, 1923.

The Sword of Light

The next design to make its appearance was that of the Sword of Light, on the ½d value, in emerald green, on April 20, 1923. This stamp was designed by Mr. J. J. O'Reilly, of Westmoreland St., Dublin, and shows the Sword of Light with its name in Gaelic (An Claidheam Soluis) as the Emblem of Progress and Learning, taken from the ancient Book of Kells. showing the Sword is the design in Celtic ornamentation of the Dragon, representing Evil.

The Book of Kells is a writing on the beliefs in the language or vernacular of the period, as taught in the Celtic Monasteries—the record of the Christian history of Ireland. The story of the Book of Kells—so often referred to in the chronicle of this stamp, but never before told in any stamp journal—is as follows:

One day, when St. Columba was Abbot of Durrow, he paid a visit to St. Finnan at Drom Finn, Ulster, and noticing a copy of the Psaalter, he remained after Church to copy it. He was watched by St. Finnan, who said nothing until he had accomplished his task, but then sent demanding the copy. To this St. Columba objected, and it was decided to let the matter be settled at the Justice Hall of the Hill of Tara. Diarmaid, King of Ulster, gave judgment in the words "Le gach boin a boinin" (Mine is the calf that is born of my cow).

Meantime one of the sons of the King of Connaught had killed a friend and fled to St. Columba for sanctuary. His pursuers tore him from the monk's protection, which further annoyed St. Columba, also the King of Connaught. The tribesmen were called out, and victory was attained at the battle of Cuil Dreimne by the King of Connaught, and the awards given to St. Columba—against St. Finnan.

The sequel to the story belongs to Irish history. St. Columba became an Irish missionary to Scotland!

One of the ancient illuminations is preserved on the Sword of Light stamps of Ireland.

It is noteworthy that St. Finnan founded a Monastery at Moville—from where we now get Irish Free State stamps obliterated "Moville — Londonderry."

In the Royal Irish Academy (Dawson Street) are preserved two historic relics connected with St. Columba.

One is his crosier; the other—a fragment—written on vellum. It has 58 leaves, now translated by the best Irish scholars as the Book of Battles, which confirms the traditional belief that this ancient Psalter is the identical copy which St. Columba made.

Relics of St. Columba and his missions were carried from Iona to Kells in 807 A.D. (see records of the Ven. Bede, compiler of the first history of England).

Kels (or Kells)—the residence of St. Columba now the market town of Kells, Co. Meath. Has still the ancient tower of the foundation, and many ancient crosses.

Arms Type

Finally, as late as September 7, 1923, appeared the last of the types, that of the 2½d chocolate-brown, showing the Arms of the four post-Tudor Provinces—Leinster (Harp), Connaught (divided Eagle and hand grasping dagger), Ulster (Bloody Hand surmounted on a Cross with a dotted background signifying Gold), and Munster (the three Crowns representative of the Kingdoms of Munster, South Munster and Connaught). This type was designed by Miss Millicent Girling, of the School of Art, Dublin, a native of Co. Armagh, who was only 21 years of age when she competed, but who had already taken several London and Irish honours for designing, and as a Technical Instructor of the Irish Board of Agriculture.

To explain the Arms, it is necessary to deal shortly with the status of the Provinces and their origin.

The aboriginal inhabitants were the British tribes, who gradually be merged with peoples from Greece, ar turn pressed from the North by Milesian or Scottish races, and fron South by the Iberians or Gauls. early kingdoms were, with their ca centres, Meath (Usnech), Munster (of Thactgar or Ward), Leinster mair), Ulster (Tailti or Teltown), the kingdom of Munster. Followin Scottish conquest of Ulster in A.D. when the province became the "sw lands" of the warring Scottish chief at the time of the Norman Conqu was lorded over by the O'Neills, whom it fell into the hands of th Courceys, Earls of Ulster, and final the Dukes of York, and so to the lish Crown. Leinster at the Anglo man Conquest in 1170 was divided the kingdoms of Meath and Lei During the reign of Henry VIII, M was again divided into Meath and Meath, with various county altera and additions during the reign of and James I.

Connaught under the Kings O nor was independent until 1590, wh became a Province under Elizabeth, added Co. Clare, which was restor Munster in 1602. Munster fell unde Anglo-Norman Conquests, and rem a unit Province until divided from Munster in Henry VII's reign, during the Elizabethian rebellions placed under a Lord-Deputy.

With the exceptions of certain b aries, the whole of Ireland in 19 other than the Ulster counties of donderry, Down, Antrim, Tyrone, magh and Fermanagh, became the ernment of the Free State, a Dom Constituent of the Empire.

It is interesting to note that seve the border towns of the Ulster State Counties of Donegal, Cavar Monaghan, while administered b Free State Post Office, some are under postal areas of the Northern ernment; as example, Moville, Co. egal, which has the postal cancel "Moville-Londonderry."

AIR MAIL PROGRESS

Air Transportation as we have it may be properly described as begi with the Post Office Department's nal effort to transport mail by a tween New York and Washingt 1918—that is ten years ago.

Private capital was not interest Commercial Air Transport. It de upon the Post Office Department a United States Government to est the feasibility of this new means of portation. The original experimen tween New York and Washingto expanded as rapidly as appropri would permit. It was not until th of 1920 that the Transcontinental from New York to San Francisc established. Night flying was unhea and deemed utterly impractical an possible. Mail was carried only duri daylight hours, being transferred plane to train with the fall of nigh transferred from train to plane wi dawn.

Colonel Henderson, then Second tant Postmaster General, in char transportation of mail, decided tha less night flying was possible, the portation of mail and other comm by air could not reach its max value. He initiated a four-day t night flying between Chicago and enne in August, 1923. The perfor was 100 per cent and the result w inauguration of through Transcon tal mail schedules, flying day and in July, 1924. This marked the l ning of the rather remarkable p day development.

In February, 1925, the Kelly Law passed authorizing the Postmaster eral to contract with private indiv for the transportation of mail. Th tract air mail system was legally lished. In September, 1925, the firs tract air mail routes were awarded.

BARGAIN SALE OF COLLECTIONS

Great Savings and Sound Investment Values For You!

"What is the best—the most economical—way to build up my collection?" is a question in the minds of many stamp collectors.

May we offer a solution—a solution that has been tried and tested by market-wise philatelists?

Buy a collection!

Not any collection, of course. But a favorably priced one that meets your individual requirements.

This is unquestionably one of the most economical ways of acquiring better-grade stamps.

Some duplicates may result, it is true, but they can always be disposed of through society sales circuits, or traded off to your advantage with other collectors.

During recent months we have picked up in all parts of the world, from collectors in need of cash, a splendid lot of high-grade collections.

We are letting them go—at prices which make them sound philatelic investments — in one great bargain sale. Our special Bargain Sale "List of Collections" is now on the press. Write for a copy TO-DAY.

You will find collections of United States and British North America; of British Colonies; of South and Central America. You'll find General and Specialized Collections of both 19th and 20th Centuries — all at bargain prices ranging between fifteen and five hundred dollars.

32 pages of them! No stock-made collections. No packets. Only collections made by collectors, and offered just as we bought them: absolutely intact, and at unusually low prices.

Write TO-DAY for the Special List. You will receive a copy as soon as it is off the press. It costs you nothing, places you under no obligation—yet it may save you many dollars!

ss than three years ago, the only air operations existing were those con-air mail routes in operation. Sev-more routes will be in operation with eginning of summer. By that time will be close to 12,000 miles of ays in operation. The Department of merce is moving so rapidly in the ing of airways, that it is difficult to up with the developments.

July, 1925, the inauguration of night ly 25,000 miles every 24 hours—around the world a day.

daily mileage flown jumped from to approximately 5,000 miles a day.
first air express service was inaugu-on September 1st, with the begin-of service by N. A. T. between New and Chicago.

February 1, 1928, the Dallas-Chicago service was shifted from day to night schedule. At the same moment, in order to provide service for Kansas City and points north, an additional day service was inaugurated. Today National Air Transport is flying 5,800 miles a day and 3,500 of those 5,800 miles of daily flying are flown in darkness.

N. A. T. and the other air mail contractors are not yet two years old in point of operation. The company is not yet three years old in point of organization. In this brief outline it is suggested what existed but a short period ago, in comparison with what exists today. What future possibilities will be no one can definitely state. This statement of achievement over such a brief period of time can only suggest those possibilities—imagination must do the rest.—Nat. Bulletin Board.

DILIGENCIA STAMPS

The first three stamps of Uruguay are generally known as Diligencia stamps, and they get this name from the old diligences, or mail coaches, which for many years were the only means of transport in the interior of the Republic. These mail coaches also carried passengers and freight, and were operated more or less as a private venture.

It has been stated that in the years 1850-58 the revenue to be derived from the post office of Uruguay was every year sold at public auction, and the purchaser was left to work out his bargain in the best way he could for his own benefit. At any rate, in the year 1856, when these stamps were first issued, the administration of posts was in the hands of the contractor for the mails, and to him the Diligencia stamps were due. They were used for interior service only while letters to Buenos Aires and other foreign ports were carried by boat and the postage had to be prepaid in cash.—Philatelic Opinion.

THE GARFIELD-PERRY STAMP CLUB

LIFE CHAPTER NO. 3, A.P.S.

Organized March 19, 1890.

A RECORD of over thirty-eight years, without a single break in the holding of its regular meetings, is a record of which any stamp club might well be proud.

True the G.-P. has had its ups and downs, like every club, but there has always been the faithful few who carried on until the club was again prosperous.

Organized at the call of Mr. Geo. J. Bailey, meetings were held but once a month during the first several years, being held in Mr. Bailey's office on E. 55th St. Of those present at the first meeting, four of the six are still living, and one, W. W. MacLaren is still active in the club.

Other active members who united with the club during its early existence are: Alvin Good, W. H. Barnum, W. A. Langdon, John F. Rust, Geo. W. Geuder, L. A. Hanford and W. J. Brodie. Others who moved away, but continue as associate members are: O. S. Hart (Member No. 7), and Dr. T. H. Tubman, both of Akron, O.

For some years the club has held regular meetings once every week, and the average attendance has been better than twenty-five a meeting. The first meeting of the month is devoted to business, and the fourth to the monthly auction. The other two or three meetings are devoted to exhibition of collections, papers on philatelic subjects, etc., etc.

For many years Cleveland was known thruout the philatelic world as the home of the famous Geo. H. Worthington collection, considered one of the three finest collections in existence. Mr. Worthington was an honorary member of the G.-P., and up to his death took an active interest in it. It was a common occurrence for him to favor the club with one or more of his albums, single pages of which contained stamps worth tens of thousands of dollars.

Other famous Cleveland collections of the old days were those of Messrs. Painter, and Chas. L. Pack, both h ary members of G.-P.

FRANK W. GRANT, Presid

At the present time many fine tions are owned by its members, n Alvin Good, U. S.; W. J. Brodie, eral; John F. Rust, U. S.; W. J. ton, Greece; J. H. Rottner, Br. and J. C. Sanderson, General. F score of others are well worthy o tion.

NEWSPAPER NOTICES

There have been some of the most remarkable newspaper stories published, based on philately, during the past few months that have ever appeared anywhere. It really begins to look as though stamp collecting has made the grade in the estimation of many of the editors whose duty it is to know what readers want. We think that the most remarkable development in philately during the past five years has been its growth as an accepted subject for newspaper consideration. Our columns have recounted its progress in this regard in order that readers may know that the philatelic field is no longer the restricted area that it was less than a decade ago. In February, the St. Louis Globe Democrat devoted over a page in its Sunday Magazine section telling of Ralph H. Eilers, for many years an alderman, and his views on collecting. The story is illustrated by a large half-tone of our friend, and a plate of twenty selected issues from his great assortment of 100,000 stamps that has been made the basis of his collection. The Staff Writer of the Globe-Democrat who prepared the article is a philatelist and consequently, the text is readable, indeed. The local aspect of collecting in St. Louis covered as it is, naturally centers expressions of Alderman Eilers, is not necessary to say that philat shown in an appropriate frame. Eilers has been interested in stam thirty-seven years.

In the Dallas Morning News of day, March 11th, the Feature S contained a page presentation, well trated, headed: "Indoor Adventu Stamp Plucking. The Game Ha Me to Where I Gayly Swipe My Mail and Rifle Her Old Letters. V as I Was Once a Model Husban Father, Now I Miss Half My Stalking Rare Bits of Colored Not Stopping At Anything—Noth To Get 'Em." The writer is Cha Brown, and the tone of the article dicated by the spirited introd heads. Mr. Brown's induction was cent one, it seems, but he has rapid come one of the most articulate nents of the pursuit that may be ima The recital is so good that it shou read in its entirety, and if the spac at our disposal, we should "lift" t ticle with a smile. Mr. Brown is come addition to the ranks of con philatelists; and our guess that h be heard from again is a safe one.

The above collection of "Mud Hooks" is rather a neat lot. There are several that have the right form; but their neatness is very doubtful, and so I picked the best of a rather large group.

No. 1 is probably in many a Boston collection. While not as common as that so-called "Codfish" on the Mass. Auto Plates, yet many are found on this 3c '61 stamp. Nos. 2, 4 and 5 are not very cleverly cut as they appear here. It is always possible for a pretty cancel to wear badly, however, and maybe these were much finer in appearance when they were younger.

Our No. 3 is really interesting. It is probably from some small town on the Mass., or Maine coast, for it has nearer the correct contour of a true and workable anchor than the others. Nos. 7 and 8 are rather artistic. Mr. Bartels i July, 1927 Collectors Club Philo shows our No. 8 type with heavier bottom portion, as being of the gro New York Foreign Mail cancella Doubtless this No. 7 would appear i same list if it were to be located cover.

Nos. 6 and 9 are far better cut than most Anchors. In these the a is colorless with a black backgr This type is seldom found in neat cu

Mr. J. W. Ross has sent in a pretty little anchor in a circle. T on a 3c 1861 cover postmarked "Pompey, N. Y." The Anchor an enclosing circle are of fairly heavy and the bright blue color makes a teresting cancellation. While preca are seldom of any artistic inclina e were some covers from Tioga Cen- N. Y., with the most curious pen gns that I have ever seen. On two he covers we see a very fine sturdy nlock tree covering the entire stamp. branches start from the ground (bot- of the stamp) and run right up to top of the stamp. On another is a lar design, though it is a shrub. se are very odd in pen and ink.

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO., 1482 Broadway, New York City

n a 3c National on cover is a very full faced Jack o' Lantern from the n of Hastings, Michigan. The color he postmark and cancellation is pur- of no undecided hue. It is quite liant. There are very few Jack o' terns in color.

n a 3c 1851 cover from Freeport, ne, is a very clearly hit PAID 3 on center of the stamp. This is in a little 17mm circle. It is rather un- any of these PAID 3 cancellations, he letter A is centered directly above 3, forcing the D way round back of top loop of the 3. You can tell this, n its position, if you should have a y off cover.

his 3c grilled 1870 stamp is not so y common. I have always taken an rest in its small advances in each new log. It has a catalog value of 10c cover, and 20c on the cover. In ing a bunch of old correspondence, seldom finds any large quantity of stamp—it had too short a run—and ss the writers wrote each day, you find few from any one correspondent big accumulation, at least, this has my experience.

have been assembling new groups of cellations for the coming 20 new ups, and I have about 500 different cels from which to select. In general e are as interesting as any which e come before. It is strange how e odd and unfamiliar cancellations o coming to me. I have many come I have never seen or heard of be- , in small lots. Sometimes one will n a lot, and at other times there will several in a lot.

t would be an endless task to compile a complete record of cancellations in a way that would be suitable for ready reference from what I have seen of these cancellations. There is no tangible classification. Suppose we were to try to illustrate all of the different star cancellations that we have ever seen. First we would take all the solid 5 point stars. What next, those with frames and outlines around them, or those which have designs, or colorless centers? Or would we consider the stars with more or less than 5 points? There would be several classifications of stars alone. Many have lettering between the points of the stars, as PAID 5, and some say UNION. Some stars are made of two or more interlaced triangles. So you see these stars would have to be given type numbers, the solid 5 point star being Star A type. The 5 point open star would be possibly type B, those with letters and figures type C, and so on, and all this one design —the star—would end up with a huge lot of "Miscellaneous," and our classification becomes a jumble.

WHAT STAMPLESS COVERS SHALL I COLLEC

By Delf Norona.

As with the collecting of postage stamps there is an infinite variety of forms of collecting stampless covers. As a comparatively new convert to the lure of the stampless cover, the writer probably has considerable temerity to suggest what to collect and how and why. However, that adage that a new broom sweeps clean may apply in this case.

A collection which is different is one which attracts attention no matter how cheap in monetary value the individual items shown may be, and we give the following as a few of the many forms in which these covers may be collected.

General Collecting:

(1) Secure one cover used in each town throughout the country.

(2) One cover used in each town in some particular section or group of states.

(3) One type of each distinctively different postmark used in every town, which would include SHIP, PAID, FREE, &c.

Specializing:

(1) Secure every possible variety of postmark from each town in the particular state or group of states covered, showing the period of use of that particular postmark, as shown by early and late dates of use; and as further proof that the variety of postmark was used during the period get examples used during each year of that time.

(2) The above may be extended to include the earliest dated stamped covers, thus proving the approximate date when stampless covers were discontinued; or

(3) This may be narrowed down to the collecting of every variety of postmark used in some one town, and could be extended into the period of stamped covers and brought down to the present day (of course, running beyond the scope of stampless covers).

(4) Collecting straight-line postmarks, Paid, Free, numerals, &c.

(5) Early covers franked by pr nent personages and postmasters. (Konwiser method)

(6) Collecting scarce colored marks, green or orange, for exampl

Research and Educational Work:

In specializing, some research wor necessary properly to get together s of the groups outlined above. Some ticular forms of research work ma indulged in as follows:

(1) From the early postal guides pare a map showing the post office existence at some particular period, example, between 1810 and 1820. companying this show covers use each of the post offices in existence ing that period. This may be varie show the post offices in existence du some Presidential Administration, drew Jackson—1829-1837, for exan

(2) Prepare lists showing varying al rates from time to time, and these postal rates illustrated by mean covers with the appropriate mark either by means of stampers or m script notations.

The next two would be very diffi almost hopeless forms, but still they mentioned for whatever the sugges may be worth.

(4) Collecting of earlies—the ear possible use of some particular type postmarks, earliest cover used after formation of the United States, earl postmark used in each new state or ritory after its formation, earliest R road, earliest Confederate covers, &c.

(5) In the same way, the latest ma tackled. Latest postmarks used bef stamps were introduced. For this p pose secure the latest used covers some particular town, accompanied the earliest used cover with stan which would prove the date of disc tinuance of stampless covers in that ticular town.

e above are just a few forms of cting which have occurred to the r. A collector with a little imagi- n will be able to conjure up many and interesting methods.

a word of caution, one should not solely for some difficult form of cting, since it will be next to impos- to get sufficient material with which ake any sort of progress, and one ot reasonably expect the dealer or ther fellow to remember you when wants are too restricted. Take up simpler group first, and then, as a line, go in for the more intricate s of specialization and study.— pless Covers.

Air Mail News

BY FREDERICK D. MARKEE,
40 Wilshire Park, Needham, Mass.

(Our subscribers are urged to send air mail news direct to Mr. Markee and especially advance news concerning first flights, with names of cities served. The scope of this department will not allow the treatment of flights from other than the purely philatelic standpoint.)

I have received a card from the first South America-France flight, which is a special one for this occasion. It bears two of the new Argentine Air Mail stamps, a 72c and an 18c value, together with one of Scott's type 104. The cachet is round and reads —"Via Aerea-Buenos Aires — 29 Feb. 28" and is applied on the above stamps. The reverse side of the card pictures a heroic figure of an aviator, sans clothes, but with a mail pouch, helmet and a pair of wings to make up the deficiency. A train, steamer and Post Office building make up the background, with the words "Republica Argentina" faintly lined in the sky. Below the above is a panel reading "Servicio Aero - postal-Argentina-Uruguay-Brasil-Africa-Europa. Inauguracion official; 10 de Marzo de 1928." The backstamp is that of Paris March 15th, 1928.

******

Watch your local papers for news that TOLEDO, OHIO is to be a stop on the Transcontinental. A feeder line will be run from Toledo to Detroit and return. And don't forget that there are fourteen towns on the route and that Toledo will make the fifteenth. Bring your covers up to the full ½ oz. weight. This helps the contractor and costs you nothing in addition to your regular expense of ten cents per letter.

******

CAM 4, Los Angeles-Salt Lake City, leads the country on the amount of mail carried on a per capita basis. It is stated that more than one ninth of a pound of mail was carried for every resident along the route. For each thousand persons in the trading areas along this airway, 119 lbs. of AIR MAIL was carried. Third highest was CAM 18, with 32.1 lb. and CAM 3 with 30 lbs. CAM 1 is carrying the heaviest loads since the initial flights two years ago, over 100 lbs. being carried several days a week.

******

Covers received from Detroit during the past week, that were mailed at the All American Aircraft Show Post Office Station, show a very neat cachet, rectangular in shape and applied in various colors.

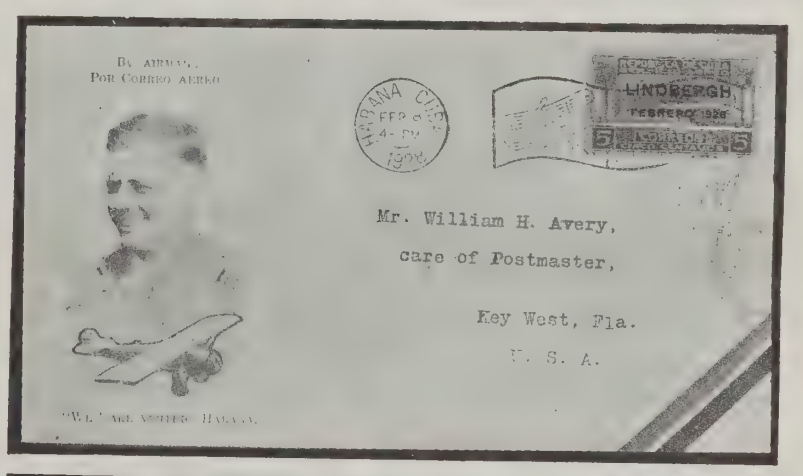
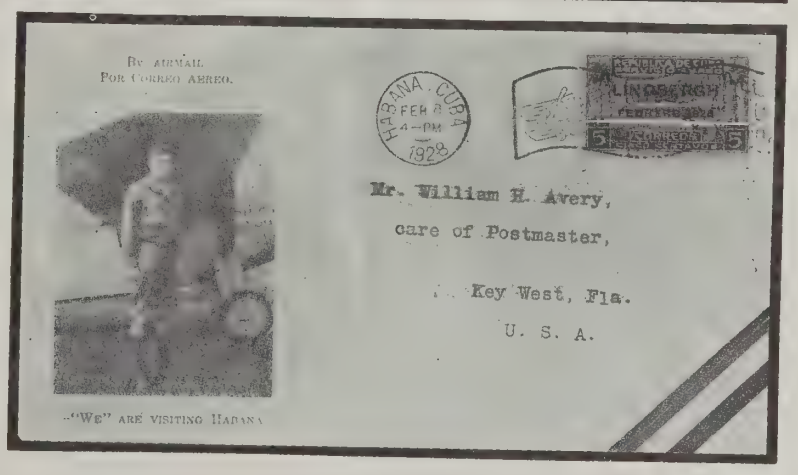
—Delegation from Philadelphia Visits the Collectors Club.

"Times" Clipping (John B. DeGraw).

A dozen members from the Philadelphia Stamp Club, headed by President P. M. Wolsieffer, visited the Collectors Club at 51 West Forty-eighth Street, April 18. Prior to the meeting they were entertained at dinner at the Harvard Club by John H. Hall, Jr., of the Collectors Club. Among the Philadelphians who exhibited stamps were Vincent Domenski, who is credited with having the finest collection of the Poland stamp issues in the world. Samuel Gillis showed Irish Free State stamps, Henry L. Jefferys some early United States, and F. A. Bickert a fine lot of early German States.

LINDBERGH SPECIAL





First Flight covers, same as above illustrations, either type, each $1.00
(Please state style of cover desired, bust or full body.)

If both covers are ordered at the same time, your letter will be franked with a block of four of the current Airmail stamps, or will be sent registered, franked with Pan American Commemoratives. (Please state preference.)

Covers were cancelled on the exact hour of the landing of Colonel Lindbergh in Habana (4 p. m. Feb. 8th), were carried within the hour by plane to Key West, and are backstamped at 6.30 P. M., same day, at the Aviation Field P. O., Key West, Fla. These covers are most unusual documents of the great flight our national hero just completed; without any doubt they are so full of interesting features as to be above all competition.

EDITORIAL

We have been informed that the Cleveland exhibition is assured of a large attendance of philatelists from a distance and that it is advisable for those who expect to go there to secure their hotel reservations in Cleveland. The fine spirit that is being shown by the managers of the enterprise should be recognized by all of us and assurance may now be given that the display of stamps will be such as to command the best attention of all.

Thanks are returned to the correspondents in China who have sent us copies of the new portrait issue of China. Reference has been made to the political complications that attend the use of these stamps which were issued in commemoration of the assumption of office by Generalissimo Chang Tso-lin. The official notice says that these stamps are good only in the six northern provinces and Sinkiang and of course, the stamps will not be surcharged for Yunnan. Mr. Theodore Siddall says that not only will Shanghai ignore the stamps but will charge the recipient of a letter bearing them with three times the postage, instead of the double deficiency on short-paid letters. The dictator is shown full-face on the stamps with the five-barred flag of the republic and the army and navy standard crossed above. The stamps are valid for postage abroad but they seem to indicate what has been called "the shrinkage of the Republic of China" since they are limited in their use to six provinces, while sixteen provinces refuse to wholly accept the stamps. The Boston Herald recently had an article on the subject of these commemoratives that was written by a person who knew his subject, since it contained the latest information on the issue which is described as "a strange mixture of bravado and humility."

A critic from abroad says that in this country "ideas" are collected "like stamps for an album." This is not the most happy of similes as most of us would trade ideas for stamps at any time.

An early year date postmark has been shown us by Dr. Roscoe L. Wickes, Chicago, in the form of a circular Middlebury, Vt., June 14, 1833. This is interesting although not the earliest date by any means, as Stampless Covers assigns a circular postmark to New London, in September 30, 1793. Stampless Covers is progressing at a remarkable rate and F. S. Eaton, editor, is performing a service of great value in bringing order out of the chaos in this historical field.

Due notice has been given us by Mr. K. A. Wallquist, Chicago, of a new commemorative issue of Sweden to celebrate the seventieth birthday of King Gustav V, on June 16, 1928. The new stamps will come in five values: 5 ore green; 10 ore violet; 15 ore rose; 20 ore orange and 25 ore blue. Mr. Wallquist says: "They will be sold in all post offices in Sweden from June 16 to December 31, 1928, only, and at face value, plus 5 ore on each stamp. The additional 5 ore will be charged in accordance with the wishes of the king to establish a fund for combatting the ravages of cancer. The stamps will be issued in sheets of forty and they may be ordered from the philatelic agency of the Swedish post office department, Lilla Nygatan 6, Stockholm, Sweden,-postage, 50 ore." The new stamps will be of large size with portrait of the king ond the dates, 1858 and 1928, on them.

There is a growing disposition on the part of large advertisers to utilize envelopes received from foreign countries, as well as stamps only, or pictures of them for publicity purposes. Window displays are made of the actual envelopes and cuts of stamps or envelopes with foreign stamps are woven effectively into the advertisements for general circulation. An advertising manager of experience has said that he considered the use of stamps in this manner favorably and that he advised the course when opportunity offered. For instance, he employed a half-tone edging of foreign stamps in their approximate colors for the pages of a booklet of "postage rates" that was circulated by a large mail-order advertiser. In this connection, it should be said that the display of air mail covers, including the Weekly frame, in the window of the Chicago Herald-Examiner has been transferred to the Union Bank of Chicago, where it has been attracting even more attention from the pedestrians in this crowded down-town section than it did at the other location.

Many excuses are offered by correspondents for their delays in attending to letters but here literally is an old one that is new to us of this day. It appears in a letter postmarked at Zanesville, Ohio, over a hundred years ago, addressed to a point in Pennsylvania: "I should have written to you long since and thank you in the name of the girls but I had nothing worth the postage to write." Point is given to the statement when it is realized that the postage from Ohio to Pennsylvania in 1822 was 25 cents.

Mr. Gordon H. Crouch, Toronto, Canada, submits the following particulars of a new air mail service that will entail no extra postage, for his country: "Official announcement on behalf of Hon. Peter Veniot, Postmaster-General, was made by F. W. Hay, M. P., that a tri-weekly mail service would be established in a few days, between Toronto, Montreal and Rimouski, with an estimated saving of 24 hours on mail for Great Britain and Europe; and 48 hours in transport of mail for the western provinces, according to the Toronto 'Mail and Empire.' 'Hon. Mr. Veniot said that I might say,' he said, 'that as far as his department was concerned it would be only a few days—perhaps a fortnight or less—when he was establishing an air mail route between Toronto, Montreal and Rimouski. This service means that, without extra charge for postage, a contract is being made that a plane will leave here three times a week for the places that I have mentioned. It is a trial for a year, to see if time can be saved, and if it proves a success. It means, too, in transport of mails from Toronto to Montreal, Ottawa and outgoing and incoming boats, a saving of at least 24 hours in the mails from incoming steamers to western points of Canada." It may be added that Rimouski is in the province of Quebec, well up to the mouth of the St. Lawrence.

A letter from Mr. Victor M. Suarez, Merida, Mexico, says: "Referring to your editorial comment in the issue of April 2nd, in connection with the aerial postal service in Mexico, I have to inform you as follows: The service between Mexico and Tampico was inaugurated April 15th at 12.30 P. M., when the plane left the station at Balbuena, arriving at Tampico at 10 A. M. Among the passengers were Mr. Hay; Senor Beccerra y Soto, chief of the department of transports of the general post office; and Mr. Villasana, chief of the department of communications and general manager of the National Aerial Company. It is said that the airplane carried in its first flight about 100 kilograms of correspondence. Aerial rates are as follows: first class mail, each 20 grams or fraction thereof 25 cts. Second class (magazines, papers, etc.), for each kilogram or fraction, 1 peso. Third class, printed matter, 1.50 peso, each kilogram or fraction fourth class, samples without value 0.75 peso, each kilogram. Furthermore, the mail should have the current stamps as required for the regular mail." The kilogram is the equivalent weight of about 2 1-5 pounds.

VIENNA'S INVITATION

Vienna, from July 5 to 9, 1928, will be the seat of four important meetings, as follows: the 34th German Philatelic Meeting in conjunction with the 5th meeting of the Federation of German Philatelic Associations, the 3rd meeting of the Fédération Internationale de Philatélie and the 7th Austrian Philatelic Meeting, or the joint meeting of representatives of the Association of Austrian Philatelic Clubs. Previous conventions of the kind were held in Vienna in 1902 and 1911, and as the circular of invitation from the committee, Viktor Pessiak, President, says, they will be remembered with pleasure by those who attended them. It is predicted that Vienna will be the center of International Philately this coming July, when visitors from other countries as well as Germany will foregather there. Among the attractions for the philatelist will be an exhibition arranged by the Austrian Postal Administration, lectures, public sales, social events and excursions to the environs of the city. Mr. Viktor Pessiak, president of the committee, is a manufacturer and may be addressed at 9 Lammgasse, Vienna, VIII, Austria, concerning any details of the coming convention. The WEEKLY will have a representative at the meeting in the person of Mr. Julius Loeffler, Chicago, president of German Stamp Collectors Club of that city, who sails from New York on April 28, 1928, for Hamburg. It may be mentioned that Mr. Loeffler was the recipient of a handsome gold watch at a meeting of his club, held April 10th, the gift of the members who wished to show in a substantial manner, their regard for their president.

THE PROFESSOR LOST

Some time ago, Mr. M. C. Howe, of Monson, Mass., sent us a clipping from an unidentified newspaper, perhaps to be ascribed to Waterloo, Iowa, that is somewhat unconventional in its treatment of the subject of stamps. According to Mr. Leon G. Maring "with $40,000 Albums," stamps that "represent potential millions are lost daily through the waste paper baskets of the nation." Mr. Maring has been a collector for thirty years, with 47 albums to bespeak his activity; and he is an enthusiastic proponent of his pursuit. He speaks before schools on stamps, and does much otherwise to show his colors. He says that there are, or were, 981 stamp issuing countries, and that he has specimens from 968 of them. We quote the following particulars of an interesting contest: "A few years ago, Maring was in conversation with a history professor of Iowa State College. Maring wagered a straw hat (it was in the summer) that he could write the names of more foreign countries than the professor. The professor was not a betting man, he said, but he was confident that he could best Maring. He wrote. His list contained about 150 names of countries. Then Maring wrote. His list contained more than 400, many of which the history professor confessed he had never heard of. How did Maring learn the names? Thru geography text books? No. Thru his stamps."

Youngest British Colony

Cyprus and Its 50th Anniversary Issue

By PROFESSOR P. D. METROPOULOS

CYPRUS, the third largest island of the Mediterranean, after Sicily and Sardinia, is situated in the eastern basin of the Cilician Sea, with Cilicia to the north, and Syria to the east.

On account of its situation between the most historical countries of the Near East, Greece, Asia Minor, Syria, Palestine, and Egypt, Cyprus played a most important rôle in history.

Its area is 3,584 miles, and its population is something approaching 340,000 inhabitants, of whom 80 per cent are Greeks, belonging to the Greek Eastern Orthodox Church; 18 per cent are Mahometan Turks, the remaining 2 per cent being of different nationalities and religious sects.

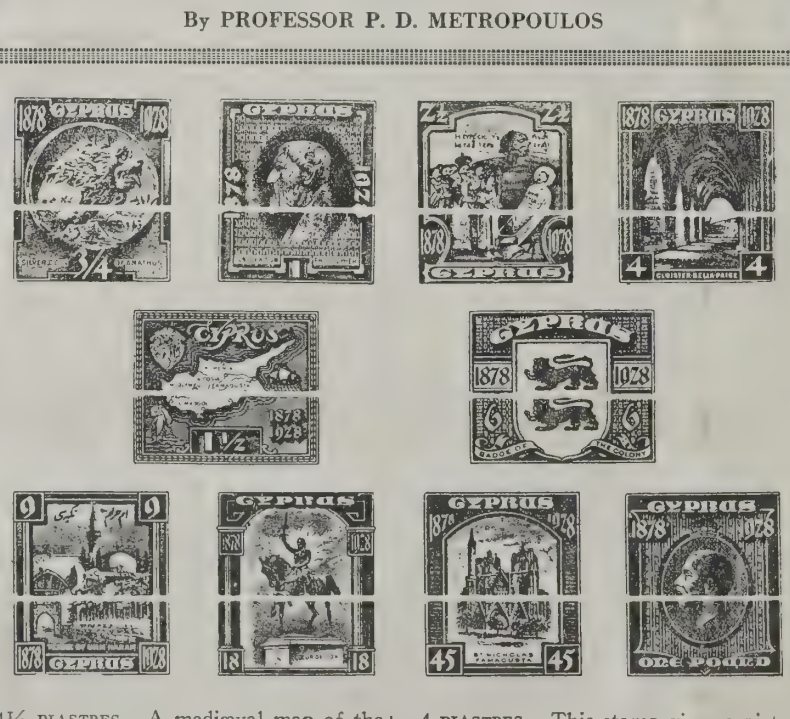
Cyprus is very rich in historical reminiscences, while remains of various periods are scattered all over the island. Monuments of Greek, Roman, Byzantine, Gothic, and Mahometan art are found everywhere.

In June, 1928, fifty years will have elapsed since the Union Jack first flew in the island. The Government of the colony will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the British occupation, and among other events a special pictorial set of stamps, roughly illustrative of the long and various history of Cyprus, was issued on 1st February. This set consists of ten denominations, and will be in use for one year, after which all remaining stock is to be destroyed.

The ten denominations are as follows:

¾ PIASTRE.—An archaic silver coin of Amathus, one of the nine Greek kingdoms of the island in the fifth century (B.C.).

1 PIASTRE.—A portrait of Philosopher Zeno, who was born in Kitium (Larnaca), and was the founder of the Stoic School of Philosophy in Athens at the close of the fourth century (B.C.). The portrait is taken from a contemporary marble statue, now in the public garden at Larnaca.



1½ PIASTRES.—A mediæval map of the island, showing the principal cities and Mount Olympus (6,400 ft.); in the southwest corner may be seen the goddess Aphrodite rising from the sea at Paphos.

2½ PIASTRES.—On this stamp, part of an eighteenth-century fresco in the Greek Orthodox Cathedral of St. John, Nicosia, is shown, depicting the finding at Salamis of the body of St. Barnabas in the fifth century (A.D.).

4 PIASTRES.—This stamp gives a picture of the thirteenth-century cloister of the Premonstratensian abbey of Delapais, or Bellapais, a magnificent ruin near Kyrenia, described by M. Eulart (L'Art Gothique et la Renaissance en Chypre) as the most beautiful and important Gothic monument in the Levant.

6 PIASTRES.—The modern arms of the Colony, as approved by H. M. King Edwards VII. It consists of two lions of gold which Richard Cœur de Lion v on his banners at the taking of Cyp

9 PIASTRES.—On this stamp we s pen-and-ink drawing of the Tekkè Umm Haram, kin of the Prophet hammed, who followed her husband U da when, in the seventh century (he invaded Cyprus. Umm Haram from her mule and died by the Lar Salt Lake. She was buried there, u a prehistoric monolithic structure. spot is now one of the most revere Moslem shrines.

18 PIASTRES.—The bronze equest statue of Richard Cœur de Lion, by H. Thorneycroft, which is erected side the House of Lords, London.

45 PIASTRES.—This stamp shows façade of St. Nicholas—now a mosq Cathedral of Famagusta, which was in 1300, and served as the holy p where the Kings of Cyprus were crow Kings of Jerusalem.

£1.—This stamp bears a profile port of H.M. King George V.

The issue of these interesting stamp a historical event for Cyprus, and i hoped that the island of Aphrodite be known by them to many a philat and to the public in general. Accor to a speech of the Governor of the isl Sir Ronald Storrs (to whose good this issue is due), to the members of Legislative Council, H.M. King Geo V showed a great interest in this is and it is hoped that the people of Empire will be interested also.—Gibb Stamp Monthly.

A Great Hobby

—Make the best of your stampic treasures.

By LEONARD A. GIBBENS.

It is extraordinary what a number of people go through life without a hobby. The man without a hobby is to be pitied, in fact, I almost think he is a curious sort of individual. Without a hobby where are you in your spare time? True that some people are right, in a sense, when they tell you that no one can claim to be hobby free. If, when a man who has no definite hobby has done his day's work and comes home for an hour's rest, he sits with his hands before him—as the saying is—even then, he either reads or smokes to pass the time. Some will say in reading he is indulging in a hobby, but who would class that sort of amusement as a hobby?

A stamp collector very seldom has one hobby. Beyond his favorite pastime, which in this case is stamp collecting, other little things take up his spare time. Primarily his mind hovers around stamps; whatever else may take his fancy for the time being it never has all his attention, for his thoughts are invariably always given to stamps and things philatelic. Lucky man. But stay, is he a lucky man? What is the true and accurate description of a real collector? Does his hobby entirely encompass him and monopolize his thoughts? Does he become a slave to it? Dreaming of it by day and by night, so that it becomes a mild worry? No; usually the thoughts of his pet hobby flit through his mind just when he has the time for it and is in the right mood to appreciate it.

Every one can afford a hobby. A man has a certain amount of money, just enough to live upon in comfort maybe, and usually a little beyond that. He cannot forget that surplus. It worries him—burns a hole in his pouch, so to speak. Therefore, he stops in his tracks and looks around for something to spend it on. "Why not adopt a hobby," suggests somebody. A good idea, he votes, and straight-away pulls off his s tucks up his pants and wades in Jolly good luck to him; may he al find the "water" warm.

Of course, you cannot carry on a by and make a success of it wi spending money. Some people appe think you can. No doubt they do well at it in their own way. They'll a grandee collection, quantity wi there, and after all, quantity is all matters to some collectors. Usua quantity collection made for ne nothing is a very fine one consisti all sorts of stamps, good, bad, indiff awful, worse than awful, shocking, f ful, awesome, etc., but no more, p

However, the gist of the matter i must spend some money to collect st properly. Some good folk expect t together a nice collection worth n on an expenditure of a few pence a Quite possible, if they live to be a as Moses, set themselves a date limi debar new issues. Each to his own ing, but don't spoil the chicken hous a penn'orth of pitch. If you do rain will get in, the hens get the c turn nasty tempered, won't lay, and probability, worse will befall Moral—stamp collecting is a great splendid game—make the best of West-End Philatelist.

States stamps have always been forbidden by law, although philatelic publishers are now permitted to depict portions of the frame designs very much enlarged to show technical points.

Other features of the records here collected are notes on the circumstances calling for new stamps, and specifying the postage rates for which they were required.

The sources of the designs are generally given, though the book still leaves many to be identified. The brigrigged paddle steamer "Arctic" (of the old Collins line) on the 12 cent 1869 is simply denoted as an "ocean steamship." The one-dollar Omaha issue, described on the stamp as "Western Cattle in Storm," is here noted as "Cattle in a Storm: J. MacWhirter." It was an entirely unauthorised copy of Mr. MacWhirter's "The Vanguard," and the cattle were in the Highlands.

Only one of the famous "errors" in United States stamps is mentioned, and that is one which did not get into circulation. The writer states that "a model" of the Petro Miguel locks was used as the subject of the 2 cent Panama-Pacific commemoration series of 1912-13, and the title was at first erroneously engraved "Gatun Locks." The mistake was discovered, the large supply was destroyed, and a new die engraved, and, to be altogether on the safe side, the inscription was set down as "Panama Canal."

Incidentally, this note should dispel the belief that the central subject was taken from one of the late Joseph Pennell's lithographs of the Panama Canal made early in 1912; it was obtained by photographing a working model of the locks in the War Department, with the water turned on, and model vessels placed in each lock.

The second part of the book gives a detailed description of the postcards issued since their introduction in the United States on May 1, 1873. The stamped envelopes first issued in 1853 were probably too large an order for inclusion.

Some notes in a light vein summarise the chief dates of innovations, such as books of stamps (April 16, 1900); coils (February 18, 1908); newspaper wrappers (October, 1861); and record how seventeen commemorative issues and three memorial stamps have been interspersed between the ordinary stamp issues.

Sixteen Presidents of the United States and nineteen other persons have been portrayed on the stamps. As other countries have followed America in establishing "Philatelic Agencies," it is to be hoped they will also follow this example of providing collectors with equally full official histories of their stamps.—Postage Stamp.

RUBBER CITY STAMP CLUB

By C. A. Bensinger.

THE Rubber City Stamp Club, Akron, O., is entirely a philatelic organization, having operated with continuous activity since December 10, 1919. Early in their history they became Life Branch No. 8, of the American Philatelic Society. One of their earliest and most active Presidents, Mr. O. S. Hart, was formerly a well known collector of 5c New York fame, and still is one of the most enthusiastic U. S. block collectors in the country.

With twenty-four local, and eight out of town members, the Club rarely misses its Thursday evening meetings in Room 601 of the Permanent Title and Trust Building. Traveling collectors are always welcome at these meetings. The personnel of the Rubber City Stamp Club comprises doctors, lawyers, accountants, traffic directors, employment managers, mechanical engineers, jewelers, etc. A few are general collectors; others, British Colonies or British North America, while the majority confine their interest to the stamps of their own country, and among these are several who still further specialize in blocks, cancellations, and plate varieties.

Exchange exhibitions with collectors and societies of nearby cities, often amplified with discussions and presentations of different philatelic subjects, are frequently found on the programs of the weekly meetings.

The following are officers: President, C. W. Bedford; Vice Pres., F. G. Rieck; Sec.-Treas., C. A. Bensinger.

RULES REGARDING PRECANCELS

By A. F. GAMBER.

I order to avoid the re-use of pre-elled stamps, and to make the use of e a privilege, the Post Office Depart- has laid down certain rules regulat- he process of precancelling, and the od of distribution and use. Post- ts using precancelled stamps are a permit to do so, and furnished a rubber roller, handstamp, or steel . Those using the two former per- the operation within the office, those ped with steel plates most frequently arrangements with some local er. It is only the very largest offices have the power driven presses that it them to precancel within the ing with steel plates.

e rules of the Department as to od of distribution and use of pre- ls are very definite and admit of no interpretations. They may seem ound and autocratic, but they are ules, and precancel collectors should them just as they should obey all If we were free to leave upon the e books only those laws that seemed ble to us, how many would there be? e first of these rules is that there be no sale of precancels over the er, except to individuals holding its to buy. These permits are se- by individuals or firms by filling blank supplied by their Post Office, hich they pledge themselves not to any precancelled stamps in their ssion to be sold or given to anyone. is the second rule.

lders of such permits may request recancellation of stamps other than at the time in the Postmaster's pre- lled stock, or they may bring in s received as remittances and re- their precancellation. The third excludes from this privilege all ex- permit holders. The object of all rules of course is to make it diffi- for precancelled stamps to be used ond time, and to restrict their use rmit holders only.

some of the larger cities where mail order houses are located, the rtment sometimes furnishes these with rubber rollers or handstamps at they may precancel stamps re- d as remittances without having to them to the office. The fourth is, that this precancelling must be in the presence of some official of cal Post Office, and that no stamps be precancelled for others.

w let's see how these rules apply to ecancel collectors. In the first place, re not to buy or attempt to buy stock over the counter. In most s this rule is rigidly enforced, but are places where the collector may ble, through friendship with the naster or stamp clerk, to buy some. do it!! By so doing you are likely to bring the wrath of the De- ent down upon the person who, for dship's sake, did you this favor. The r has in mind a case where an oblig- lerk and his Postmaster were both a six months' suspension for being bliging in this respect. Those whom obliged should have shared the sen- with them, but of course that was ssible. But that is not the chief n why we should respect this rule. chief reason is, because it is the rule.

Does any one require any other reason than that? It may be idiotic, but it's the rule!

In the second place, we are not to buy or attempt to buy our supply from permit holders. Most permit holders refuse to sell or give away a single stamp to collectors, but again friendship or influence may secure them. In this case the consequences of your thoughtfulness may cost the permit holder his permit, and secure the Postmaster an official rebuke. This is not a crushing penalty for either, but it does deprive the holder of the convenience and advantage of using precancels. This is an important matter to him, else he would not have sought his permit in the first place.

In the third place we are not to ask our Postmaster to precancel stamps not at the time in his precancelled stock, or to bring stamps of any denomination or issue to the office for precancellation. The penalty in this case may be the loss by the office of its right to use precancels at all, it may be the firing of the obliging clerk, or the suspension of the clerk or Postmaster for a period of time, all for your greed.

It is this third rule which is most consistently and flagrantly disobeyed by precancel collectors. This is what is meant by favor seeking. Seeking precancellation of stamps not in the Postmaster's stock constitutes what we term importing, and stamps thus precancelled are called imports of illegitimate precancels. Perhaps you noted in the December 4th issue of this paper an item to the effect that White Plains stamps were precancelled at the Tulsa, Oklahoma Post Office less than a week after they had been put on sale at the International Exhibition at New York. Here is a clear-cut case of importing. The Tulsa office did not have these stamps in stock, nor did any other, except the Exhibition Office at the Grand Central Palace, and the precancelling was done as a favor. If those stamps were sent in by mail to a clerk in that office for precancelling, it was a clear case of favor seeking, and both clerk and seeker were violating this third rule. If they were sent to some Tulsa permit holder, for him to have precancelled and returned to the seeker, the permit holder in question was likewise violating the law, as the intention of the seeker was to secure a new variety of precancel for sale or trade, while the intention of the permit holder was, not to secure stamps for postal use, but to oblige the seeker. If he did use part of them for postal purposes, his violation was of only slightly less degree. No Post Office has any right to precancel stamps brought in by a permit holder except for postal purposes, and no right at all to precancel for non permit holders. The fact that some or all of these Tulsa favors were postally used does remove one iota of the taint of favoritism and illegitimacy. Sending in dummy packages along with the stamps desired to be precancelled doesn't lessen the offense a whit.

It is highly encouraging to know that there is less of this favor seeking, and still less of this favor giving right now than there has been for quite some time. As beginners you are all urged not to do this thing, and if you know of a case where it has been done, or even suspect it, you are advised to lay all your knowledge or suspicions before the First Vice President of the Precancel Stamp Society, E. J. Newcomer, Yakima, Washington. Do this whether you are a Society member or not, for the Society is making a strenuous effort to put an end to this practice this year. But the large number of Post Offices and the great extent of our country makes this an enormous task, and we need all the assistance we can get.

Another way that you can help combat this evil is by refusing to buy or trade for items which you know or suspect to be favors. If the next catalog designates the known favors and prices them accordingly, as now seems very likely, you will have additional reason to regret having them in your collection.—American Philatelist.

Baden-Powell Stamps

Major-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell is, with the single and notorious exception of Postmaster O'Connell of New Brunswick, the only individual outside the Royal family whose portrait was, by his own orders, engraved on any postage stamp issued within the confines of the British Empire. The label in question known as the "Baden-Powell stamp," was issued at Mafeking during the historic siege of 1899-1900. It was produced by a photographic process, bears the facial value of 3d and was apparently only available for postage within the town of Mafeking itself. The stamp was designed by Captain Greener, who acted as Chief Paymaster during the siege.

Maldive Islands

By Henry Mayfield, Jr.

The Maldive Islands are composed of about fifteen coral islands in the Indian Ocean, southwest of Ceylon. The natives are mostly Mohammedans, ruled by a sultan, and tributary to the government of Ceylon. The capital is located at Mali. The population of the islands is about 50,000. The chief products are cocoanuts and cowries.

The first issue appeared in 1906. The stamps were surcharged MALDIVES on the then current issue of Ceylon, which was watermarked with the Multiple Crown & C. A. watermark, and with King Edward's picture upon them.

In 1909 another set was issued with a multiple flower watermark. It was composed of four values: 2c orange-brown, 3c green, 5c red-violet, and 10c carmine. In each corner is the value in a square frame. Extending down the left side between the values is the word "Maldives," and on the right side the value is spelled out. Across the top and bottom are Arabic characters. In the center there appears a design which is probably a tower of some sort with Arabian writing underneath in a rectangular frame.

Victoria Falls

In July, 1905, Rhodesia issued a set of stamps commemorating the opening of the Victoria Falls railway bridge. Quite appropriately, the design for this set is a picture of the Victoria Falls. As you look at the picture on these stamps don't you wonder some about the falls themselves? Located in the heart of Africa, on the Cape-to-Cairo railroad, nearly 1,700 miles north of Cape Town, these wonderful falls in the Zambezie River were never seen by white man until David Livingstone discovered them in 1855, and named them in honor of Queen Victoria.

On account of the narrow rocky chasm below the falls, the water is thrown in a spray hundreds of feet into the air, and the roar can be heard for a great many miles. For this reason, the natives called it "Mosi-oa-Tunya" meaning "the smoke that thunders."

Aside from the picture of the falls as the central design on these stamps, is the date 1905, diagonally across the two upper corners, the value in the two lower corners, while above the picture are the words "British South Africa Company" and below are the words "Victoria Falls." There are six values in the set, namely 1 penny rose-red, 2½ pence ultramarine, 5 pence magenta, 1 shilling blue-green, 2½ shillings black, and the 5 shillings in violet.—A. C. LeDuc.

Your correspondent took this opportunity to "slam" our club because we would not combine with their society.

Benadir

An Italian protectorate established over that part of Somaliland between the river Djouba and British Somaliland. The territory was at first administered by "La Societa Anonima Commerciale Italiana del Benadir," with its headquarters at Milan, under an agreement with the Italian Government. The Company had to pay tribute to the Sultan of Zanzibar and smaller annuities to the Sultans of Obbia and Alula, and they also agreed to establish a postal service. This post was not in working order until Nov. 1, 1903, and in connection therewith a set of seven stamps was issued. The administration of the Company was so unsatisfactory that from the 15th March, 1905, the Italian Government took over its government and gave the Colony the name of "Somalia Italiana Meridionale" (Italian Southern Somalia). Under an arrangement with Great Britain, Italy took definite possession of the ports of Benadir, over which it possessed only certain rights, on payment to the Government of Zanzibar of the sum of £144,000 sterling.

Junior Dictionary

Assistencia.—An overprint applied to some of the low value stamps of Portugal and Azores in 1912 and 1913. The overprint means literally "to assist" or "to aid," referring of course to the charitable disposal of the funds raised by these stamps. These stamps are used on certain designated days of the year as an additional postal tax on letters posted on these dates, the surplus receipts, above the actual postage, being devoted to the National Aid Society for Consumptives.

Assistencia Nacional Aos Tuberculosos.—(National assistance for the Tuberculous.) The inscription shown on the private stamps issued in Portugal in 1904 for the use of the National Society for aiding consumptives.

A. T.—An abbreviation for "Army Telegraphs" found overprinted on many of the stamps of the now defunct Orange Free State together with the letters "V.R.I." These stamps were used by the British army in the Orange River Colony during the Boer War.

Barkhausen, L.—Designer of the first type of postage due stamps issued in Egypt.

Barnard, J.—A watchmaker and jeweler of Port Louis, Mauritius, who engraved the dies from which the now famous "Post Office" Mauritius stamps issued in 1847 were printed. He also engraved the plates for the "Post Paid" stamps of 1848, which took the place of the 1847 issue.

Austria

By Henry Mayfield, Jr.

When Austria issued the Semi-Postal set of 1915, it evidently wished to make an impression wherever the stamps might journey that it was a military nation. The set was printed in attractive colors and showed the various war machines of the Austrians.

On the 3h+1h is a picture of a squad of infantry at the front. The 5h+2h shows a cavalry unit on the march. A heavy artillery gun with its crew is pictured on the 10h+2h. On the 20h+3h is a warship of the navy, while an early type fighting plane is shown on the 35h +3h.

SON (ARIZ.) STAMP CLUB

By MERTON MARTENSON.

interesting writeup of the Tucson Stamp ppeared in the Arizona "Daily Star", Tucriz., April 8. Edw. G. Gay, who is the tion manager of the "Star" and also a r of the Tucson Stamp Club, sends us lowing clipping, which we publish with e. Mr. Gay writes of his enjoyment in ng and regrets that he is too busy to all the attention he would like.—ED.)

Tucson Stamp Club, organized in but disbanded after several years, me to life in the past few years in n, increasing its membership 700 nt in the past four years. Stamps ery country, color, size and price be found in the archives of the ers of the Tucson club. Stamp ors representing nearly every walk belong to the club. Bankers, mers, laborers, university professors, hts, physicians are members and ed together will discuss and argue lative merits of the little square bits per, picking flaws and looking for haracteristics in each one.

only surviving member of that band of stamp collectors back in is Reverend E. A. Brown, who has nade honorary member of the pres ub. Others may have been members e club and are living now but the s of the present club have no knowlof them.

jor Edwin A. Norton, secretary and rer of the local club, has one of the collections in the state. He has in lumes approximately 12,000 differarieties of the stamps which he has red in the course of five years.

rge L. Bradbury, president of the n stamp club, whose collection ins stamps of every description from rts of the world, has been of great ance to the younger members of ub. Bradbury's collection has been ed with great care and is considere of the best in the country. He pecialized in the stamps of Asia Minor, France and the French colonies and Portugal.

A. J. McKelvey, vice president of the club, has one of the most unique collections in the club, having specialized in pre-cancelled stamps. In his collection, McKelvey has postmarked stamps from every post office in the state. He also has the cancelled envelopes from every commercial air-mail line in the country. McKelvey took a keen interest in the study of stamps for many years and then dropped it for a time. Recently the lure of the game has taken hold of him again and he is collecting with all the enthusiasm of a boy. Charles F. Gimble, who for many years conducted a business in New York devoted solely to the collection of stamps, had a priceless collection prior to moving to Arizona. He sold his entire collection at a public auction and at present is making a study and collection of the pre-cancelled stamps. Because of his many years of experience, he meets with the club and acts in an advisory capacity to the younger members.

J. D. Barnes, another Tucsonan, who has again fallen for the lure of the game after years of absence, has started again with renewed vigor and has secured a valuable collection of English Colony stamps. F. W. Sherman has specialized in stamps from France, Great Britian and the United States.

Others who have collections of note are Lyndon R. Wilson, commissioner of streets for the city who has specialized in Mexican stamps. His collection is the result of years of gathering and has many interesting phases. The changes of government in Mexico during the past years make the collection doubly fascinating to the collector. Captain C. R. Reynard has a collection which contains nearly all of the stamps issued in British North America. W. E. Code has specialized in Canadian and United States stamps. Lyndon Hargraves has collected stamps from the revolution infested country of Nicaragua which is considered unique in stamp history.

DISCOVERY OF A 10c BALTIMORE
Cover Hidden For Half A Century Creates Sensation In Stamp Circles

(Clipping from "N. Y. Times" Apr. 22.)

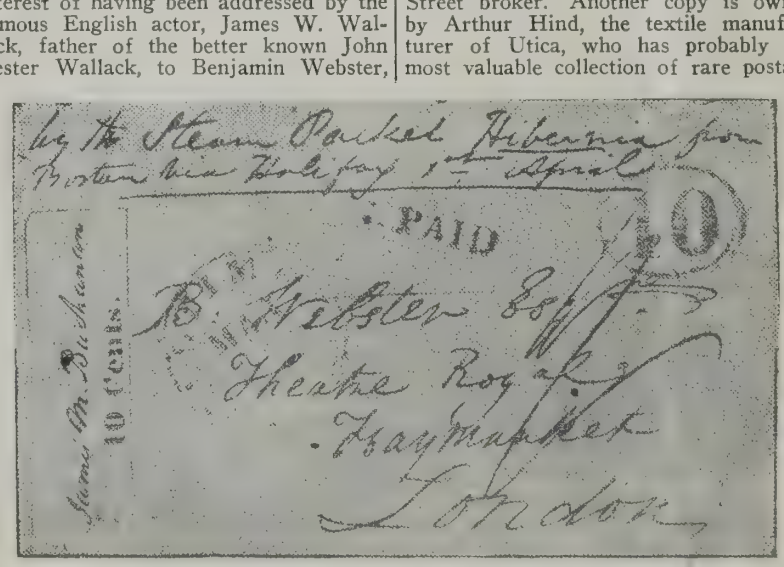
HIDDEN away for more than half a century in a box of curious documents and mementos collected by a venerable English Bishop, one of the rarest United States postage stamps known to philatelists was re-discovered a short time ago and the surviving heirs of the original owner are now several thousand dollars richer. The stamp is the scarce 10-cent denomination of the Baltimore Postmaster issue, 1845, two years prior to the first governmental United States issue.

Prior to its discovery only five copies of the Baltimore 10-cent stamp were known. Two of these are printed on blue paper and three are on white paper. The one recently found is also on white paper and makes the fourth copy of that type known to philatelists.

The stamp was purchased a few days ago by Philip H. Ward, Jr., of Philadelphia, one of the leading stamp dealers in the country. He declined to say exactly what he had paid for the "lucky find," but admitted that he expected to sell it to some collector for about $10,000, and, at that, he said, he would not make a very big profit.

Several postoffices in the United States during 1845 and 1846 issued provisional stamps for their local postal service. In most cases they had a limited use and, with the exception of the New York office, comparatively few have survived. The Baltimore stamp was issued by James M. Buchanan, the postmaster at the time. It was issued in two denominations, 5 and 10 cents. Several copies of the smaller value are known. Both varieties are similar in design, being printed on an oblong strip of paper containing simply the value with the name of the postmaster printed in autograph signature.

The copy recently discovered is also the only one known attached to an envelope sent abroad. The original envelope is in perfect condition, and apart from its philatelic value possesses the additional interest of having been addressed by the famous English actor, James W. Wallack, father of the better known John Lester Wallack, to Benjamin Webster, famous for more than a generation as one of the greatest theatrical managers in England.



James W. Wallack spent the greater part of his latter years in this country and he was evidently fulfilling an engagement in Baltimore when he wrote the letter to Benjamin Webster, which was mailed in March, 1847. It was directed to Mr. Webster at the Theatre Royal, Haymarket, London.

The late owner of this rare specimen was Bishop Troughton of Morcombe, Lancashire, England. It was found after his recent death in a box with some other stamps and curiosities and was sent to his relatives in this country for sale. There is no record of how he obtained the letter, but he had a hobby for collecting curious odds and ends. None of his other stamps or curiosities had any material value.

Of the three copies hitherto known on white paper one is owned by Alfred W. Caspary of this city, a well-known Wall Street broker. Another copy is owned by Arthur Hind, the textile manufacturer of Utica, who has probably the most valuable collection of rare postage stamps and curiosities in the world, and the third copy is in the possession of H. G. Lapham of Boston. The latter was formerly the Ferrary copy and at the sale of the Ferrary stamps in Paris a few years ago brought $7,500.

Up to two or three years ago only one 10-cent Baltimore on blue paper was known. It was for many years in the Duveen collection. It is damaged and has been repaired and is now owned by the Boston collector, Mr. Lapham. The second copy on blue paper was purchased from the lucky finder about three years ago by the Scott Stamp and Coin Company. This is in fine condition an ultimately sold to Mr. Hind, givin two admirable copies of one of the United States provisionals.

ANOTHER 10c "BUCHANA

By J. M. BARTELS.

One of the most noteworthy finds in several years occurred quite re Another great "U. S. Classic" has to light, namely the fourth known of the Baltimore 10c on white pa sued by Postmaster James M. Buc in 1845 or 1846, U. S. No. 4, in ou alogs, and listed at $7,000.00.

The writer was fortunate indeed curing this great prize from the into whose hands it fell in rather a way. For many years this won cover lay dormant and unappreci the scrap book of a Bishop in En After his death, about two years some of his effects were sent to he this side of the Atlantic, and thus a has been added to the formerly three copies so highly treasured.

This find is remarkable in seve spects. The letter is addressed to land, the 10c stamp paying the p from Baltimore to Boston from wh traveled on the "Packet Hibernia" the ocean to London. The stamp cancelled, while all three other copi penstroked. The letter is in perfe dition and was written by a Jame Wallack in March, 1847. He was mous actor and the originator of lack's Theaters in New York, and b name still surviving. It is possibl the letter was saved more on acco the autograph than the stamp itse though there were a few other s and several Mulready carricatures, graphs, poems, etc., in the same book.

This newly found prize has al been acquired by one of Philade leading collectors at a price somew excess of the catalog value. The three copies are owned at prese Messrs. Arthur Hind, H. G. Lapha A. H. Caspary.

Postal Bill

The Postal Bill which recently passed the House of Representatives has been somewhat slashed on reaching the Senate. The upper body restores the 1920 schedule on second class mail, and in the case of parcel post service charges, most of these have been removed. The Bill has been reported out, and it is feared that there will be considerable trouble before the Committee is in a position to agree upon a Bill to be passed for the President's signature.

The Bill as it now stands goes to the Senate calendar, with prospects with a fight on the floor when it comes up, by those seeking the terms of the House Bill as originally passed.

The changes made by the Senate also included a reduction in rates on circular letters from 1½c to 1c, and if this is finally approved, we would possibly surcharge the present 1½c envelope with the new value.

The Post Office Bill may not receive the approval of Congress during the present Session, in which case we would continue with rates as heretofore.

This Bill is not to be confused with the Kelly Bill, which refers to the air mail service, and which has been described in detail in this column heretofore.

New Items

Our attention has been called to a new shade in which the 3c rotary print 11x10½ is now appearing. Heretofore, the stamp may be described as a purple, whereas the new shade which is now coming precancelled—New York, we find a very light violet, which is very distinct from the former shade. This is the first real good shade that has come to my attention in the new compound rotary issues.

Mr. Henry W. Watson, representing the Ninth Pennsylvania District in Congress, which embraces the Valley Forge territory, writes that he is still in hopes of seeing the Valley Forge Stamp issued. The fact that the Postmaster General has decided to issue no commemoratives, has not resulted in the elimination of pressure being brought to bear. It is still hoped that he will re-consider his former decision, and that we will find at least one commemorative during the summer.

New Envelope Variety

Mr. H. Clay Reed advises that another envelope of the current 1c green circular design is to be added to the list of known varieties. This is Die A, Size 3, Watermark 27, Low Back on White, and Mr. Reed writes that the new discovered envelope was obtained at the Philatelic Agency at Washington, where it is available.

Finland.—The 10p light blue, watermarked Swastika, has appeared and copies are to hand from Whitfield King & Co., who report the 10m brown and black; 35m orange-red and yellow in the same type.

Gabon.—Whitfield King & Co. send word of the postage due stamps noted under Middle Congo with the same surcharge at the base, but with the "Gabon" at the top.

Mint Collection Sweden

A wonderful collection of 200 varieties in handsome booklet as presented by the Swedish Government to the delegates to the Postal Union Congress in Stockholm, 1924. This is absolutely complete, aside from varieties of watermark and perforation, which the government does not recognize, and every stamp is in superb mint and never hinged condition. It even contains the rare 55 and 80 öre of 1918, listing $75 each. The 1855-1866 issues are represented by the rare reprints, which in many cases are more valuable than the originals. At our retail prices this collection would cost over $300, our net price only ..$180.00

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith)

WANT TO BUY

My sales of fine United States stamps have been so large during the last several weeks, that right at the present time, I would much prefer buying a real important property than I would to sell. The stamp business has never been so good, and I am extremely anxious to make real important purchases of fine United States items.

While I prefer the rare mint single and mint block of four, nevertheless, I am anxious to buy fine covers and unusual cancelled items. Minor items worth a few dollars only are not desired, but if you contemplate selling your collection or any of the choicer pieces from your collection, I am in a position to pay substantial cash prices. I want general issues, departments, postmasters, carriers and revenues.

The finest items in the way of fine United States stamps which have been coming upon the market during the last several years have passed through my hands, and I offer an excellent outlet for those who desire to dispose of their holdings, either on an outright purchase basis or on a commission arrangement.

I also offer the really interested collector the opportunity of purchasing the finest items that the market affords. If you are interested in the stamps of our country, a letter outlining your requirements is suggested.

Malta.—Mr. Harry Griffin has shown us the 6p King George type, stamp No. 140, with the surcharge "Air Mail" in two lines in black. Mr. Griffin advises that they are for use on letters to Iraq, India, by the air mail service from Egypt. These letters go from Malta by boat.

Middle Congo. — The Economist Stamp Co. advise of the appearance of the following values of the D2 type postage due stamps of France, with the surcharge "Moyen Congo" at the top, and "A. E. F." at the bottom of the stamp: 5c light blue, 10c chocolate, 20c olive-green, 25c rose, 30c carmine, 45c green, 50c brown-violet, 60c light brown, 1fr red-brown on straw, 2fr red-orange, and 3fr magenta.

Netherlands.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us a due stamp with "3 CNT" in the centre. The color is blue, and 7 and 12c values have also been issued.

South West Africa.—Whitfield King & Co. send copies of the 1p red and black, 2p mauve and black, 3p blue and black, and 6p grey and black postage due stamps with the overprint "S.W.A." in black.

Ubangi.—The Economist Stamp Co. report the same values of postage due stamps noted under Middle Congo, with the surcharge "Oubangui—Chari" in two lines, and the same overprint at the base as noted above.

Whitfield King & Co. report the 65c brown and blue for Upper Volta, Wallis and Fortuna, New Caledonia, Reunion, St. Pierre and Miquelon, Senegal, Chad, Fr. Soudan and Ubangi.

BOYD

The Pathfinder of March 10, 1928, illustrates an article, "When Carriers Used Own Stamps," by a half-tone of three of the Boyd locals, of 1856, 1877 and 1878, respectively. It is said that Boyd's City Despatch will soon celebrate a century of service as compilers of mailing lists of firms, individuals and institutions. Boyd's classified lists were early comers in the field, and it is truthfully said that Boyd's is a name that is as familiar to the philatelist as to the mail advertiser, who may select from classifications ranging from "Advertising Sky Writers" to "Zinc Smelters" for mailing list purposes. The owner-manager of the business, Mr. Edgar J. Williams, has been identified with the business for many years. Boyd's City Despatch began operations in 1830, and as the name implies, it was a private post, which fifteen years later, began to issue stamps, and continued to do so, until 1878. The following historical particulars will appeal to collectors:

"In those days we had installed in different districts throughout the city huge tin boxes, painted black, designed as depositories for the mail, which we would collect and speed to its destination, and our stamps were on sale in drug-stores generally. One of these old tins now reposes among the almost forgotten relics of bygone days when Boyd's served as carriers of private mail. We have also salvaged several quaint specimens of old letters which bear the imprint of Boyd's City Express Service, including a handmade valentine, fragrant as old lavender, which we have traced to the year 1843—some 85 years ago!

When the federal government enacted a law, in the year 1878, prohibiting delivery of first-class mail by private carriers, that branch of our service was discontinued, though we still employed a large force for the delivery of circulars, catalogs, samples and other advertising matter. We handled over 2,000,000 reports from the Bradstreet Co., and, for many years, distributed the semi-annual editions of the telephone directory in New York. We also conducted an addressing service. Up to our entry into that field such work was considered of a private nature and laboriously penned in one's own establishment. Our activities in the addressing field led to the discovery of the value of the mailing list; in fact it is the foundation of direct advertising."

NEW POSTAGE STAMPS

Observations of Editor of "Washington Post" Concerning Recent Issues.

(Clipping from T. R. Hungerford.)

Mature philatelists and ordinary stamp collectors of a more recent vintage will alike be interested in the activities now being displayed by the postal authorities of sundry countries in bringing out new issues. The younger members of the ever-increasing band will be specially pleased to see and, if possible, acquire examples of the first series of postage stamps issued in Roumania during the reign of Michael, because they show the boy king bare-headed and wearing a plain white jumper or sweater—a representation more natural than dignified and all the more appealing on that account. These stamps are an education in values and colors, which are: 25 bani, gray-black; 50 bani, olive; 1 leu, purple; 2 lei, green; 3 lei, rose; 5 lei, brown; 7.50 lei, ultramarine, and 10 lei, blue. In addition, Roumania is believed to be going to bring out a historical stamp issue in eight denominations to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the occupation of Dobrudja and the tenth of the annexation of Bessarabia. It is understood that the designs will include the monument to Adam Clisi and the sfatul tarie, or parliament, of Bessarabia.

Holland has recently put on a sale at Amsterdam special postage stamps in honor of the forthcoming Olympic games. These are symbolic of various sports. Thus the 1½+2½ cents, brown, represents rowing; 2+3 cents, violet, fencing; 3+4 cents, light green, football; 5+6 cents, light blue, yachting; 7½+10 cents, dark green, putting the weight; 10+12 cents, red, walking; 15+17 cents, dark blue, riding; 30+33 cents, red-brown, boxing. On all these stamps there will be a surtax, which is to be handed over to the Olympiad fund.

A highly humanitarian motive is behind the special series of Swedish postage stamps to be issued on June 15 in commemoration of the seventieth birthday of King Gustav. There will be five denominations, namely, 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 ore, respectively. Each will be sold at a premium of 5 ore. The profit so made will be applied to the formation of a fund for cancer research in which the king is deeply interested.

In faraway Sarawak, in the tiny republic of Andorra, and in Bolivia there is just now great activity afoot in the matter of stamps. A new issue announced for early release in Sarawak will be printed on specially watermarked paper and will probably bear the likeness of the present rajah, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke. To Andorra la Vella, the capital of Andorra, Spanish postal officials have been sent in order to assist in organizing a national postoffice there. The stamps now in use, which are of Spanish type, will be eventually replaced by a series illustrating scenes in Andorra and the surrounding country.

Special interest attaches to the news coming from La Paz to the effect that Bolivia is about to regularize the so-called "Tiahuanaca" stamps by placing them on sale at the national postoffices for one day only. These stamps, distinguished by hieroglyphics from the ruined gateway of the ancient Inca temple of the sun, were printed three years ago, but are, so far, regarded as unofficial. Bolivia is also understood to be considering another set of stamps of nineteen different designs to the value of $2,250,000, to be sold by postoffices for a short time and then withdrawn and the balance offered for sale to philatelists.

It is evident that stamp collecting is greatly on the increase and that efforts are being made on a grand scale to cater to the collectors.

WHEN ordering stamps write "As per advt. in MEKEEL'S".

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS

By "PHILATELIA."

St. Kitts Nevis.—A dealer advised me that he recently purchased a supply of the current 1d and 2½d values from Nevis. The 2½d were the chalkies and the 1d a much paler shade than hitherto chronicled. It is worth noting that the 2½d chalky is (or was recently) on sale in Nevis after it was exhausted in St. Kitts.

Turks Islands.—Reference my last note, it is now evident that we are not likely to see any more of the 1922 type offered at face or just over. The remainders were destroyed on the new Postage and Revenue set coming into use on March 1st. Prior to that, certain orders had to be cut down or withheld as stocks were running very low, whilst certain duties, including the 5d, 6d and 1/- had become quite exhausted before the new set was ready. Fortunately, we were spared any provisionals. The 2/- also may turn out good; it was not in use as long as the previous stamp on MCA paper. I shall be very glad if some reader can advise me as to the numbers issued of the 2/- on old and new papers respectively? An investment in a few dozen sets of this issue should be very lucrative, at present prices, if it is held for a few years.

I.F.S.—The current high values of this country present an interesting study. The composite pairs in particular are worthy of notice, and the 2/6 especially may turn out quite good.

The 10d Thom has advanced marvellously during the last 18 months, and now is actually quoted over £1 each wholesale. When we consider that practically no regular modern Colonial under 1/- face fetches over 20/-, one may well ask if this item is so extremely rare as to justify this price? Its popularity appears to have pushed the price up until it is now too high in relation to its actual scarcity. I have no figures of numbers issued, but it must be far above the 1,000 or so, one would expect from the price. Comparatively few were used, and plenty appear to have been bought up in mint state, as one not infrequently sees it offered by the dozen, so that it is difficult to imagine it is anything like as rare as the price suggests.

The 6d Gibraltar universal, which was only on sale for a few days in 1912 and of which about 1,200 were sold, is one of the few modern Colonials (excluding provisionals or war issues) whose wholesale price (in this case about 15/-) anywhere approaches the Irish stamp. To those holding this 10d Thom, however, I would strongly advise taking advantage of the extraordinarily high prices at present ruling. Most will remember that it was selling at 2/6 as recently as 1926.

De Pinedo.—Not many of these stamps have come on the market yet, but some of the covers have fetched as high as £20. It has been rumoured that most of these are in the hands of the Newfoundland officials. I do not think it will ever go as high as "The Hawker."

Egypt.—This country has also given us some very scarce items of late. Most will remember the scramble for the P. Fuad issue, notably the 50 piastres, of which it is said only 200 were issued. It is, therefore, rather surprising to find after the free fight that occurred that a certain collector holds a block of 50, or quarter of the entire issue! It looks as though the stamps had not been fairly released, and when any special event is celebrated it would be much better numbers were not artificially rest This is what has been done in Ci where everyone can buy as many fine new set as they desire at face Malta.—Things have been very here for the last two years, sin famous "Postage" overprints made appearance on April 1, 1926. Ther been rumours of a reversion to t system of Postage and Revenue. is a fine opportunity here to ov the current issue, "And Reven Philatelic Magazine.

ATTENTION

Early in fall we are issuing the first "Standard Airmail Catalogue," a comprehensive listing of all OFFICIAL air post stamps of the world. There has been no catalogue of this kind published in America so far, but through a great deal of research work and the kind co-operation of Scott Stamp & Coin Co., and other of our friends, we feel sure that this little volume will be the very best obtainable.

If any reader wishes to volunteer information that he feels should go into this first catalogue, it will be greatly appreciated.

Do You Need The Following?

We are especially equipped to supply you with all new issues of the world and have a special department to handle this extensive field. Also our British Colonies, especially current, are well stocked and should be able to fill many of your wants. Check up on the following list:—

K. LISSIUK PHILATELIC CO.

1476 Broadway New York, N. Y.

Stanley Gibbons, Inc

We expect this issue of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY will be placed for the first time in the hands of many stamp collectors, at the exhibition being held at Cleveland. We especially wish to draw the attention of all these collectors to our price list of United States, British North America, also of our Oriel albums and supplies for collectors.

This large 32-page list contains a most complete listing of all United States issues, both in blocks and singles, unused and used. No serious collector can afford to be without it; the prices are based on one of the largest stocks of these stamps in existence and the majority of stamps listed can always be supplied. We think that our prices will bear favorable comparison with all other figures, especially when the fine average condition of our stamps is taken into consideration. This list is free and we urge all collectors who have not yet received a copy to send us their names at once. We expect to have our new FOURTH 1928 EDITION ready in time for the exhibition. This will contain many revisions in prices, including quite a few reductions which we have been able to make due to some recent fortunate purchases.

COLLECTIONS

It sometimes happens that after purchasing a U. S. collection and taking out the stamps we are short of for stock, there is still a large number of stamps left which we can dispose of as a whole very reasonably. We have on hand at present several such collections, two of which we list below.

1—Unused collection 1847-1873 inclusive. A nice lot still fairly complete. The condition is quite good though many of the stamps do not have original gum. The stamps catalogue $2,067.55 and the price is $495.00.

2—This collection consists of used and unused copies including a few pairs and blocks, etc., of issues from 1847 to 1888 and is a fairly complete U. S. collection. There are some duplicates where shades and postmarks are included. This collection includes a very fine vertical strip of three of the 5c red brown 1857, on which we can make an allowance of $50.00 if the purchaser does not want to take it. This is all figured by regular catalogue and lists $2,822.14. The price on this collection is $695.00.

We should be pleased to send these or smaller collections on approval to responsible parties. We also frequently have similar collections on these lines and would be pleased to receive requests from parties who are looking for such lots. We can keep these requests on file and advise if anything is received that may prove of interest.

We have just got out a revised list of Private Companies Coil stamps. This will be sent post free on receipt of 25c, which amount you can credit on your first order for $1.00 or more from this list.

ALBUMS

We carry in stock a very complete line of blank loose-leaf albums suitable to purse. Chief amongst them is the world famous Oriel album, which we confi believe to be the finest album available. This is a peg binder album, not a s back album. All the leaves are double linen hinged to enable the pages to lie flat the album is open. This album is handsomely bound in half morocco and can b in red, blue or green leather. The pages most favored are backed with Japanese but if preferred, the pages can be obtained having a glassine interleaf either o back or front. All pages are gilt edged and have a faint gray quadrille ruling face to facilitate the arrangement of the stamps. These albums are always suppli fleece lined boxes to protect the album from dust and dirt. The size of the alb 11¾ inches by 11 inches. The actual size of the leaf exclusive of the hinge is 1 8⅞ inches. The complete album comes with 50 leaves.

THE PRECANCEL REVIEW

By FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 405 Oak St. S. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

MILNOR N DAK | WAPELLO, IOWA. | COVE OREGON

EL DORADO, KANS. | PELLA, IOWA. | HOQUIAM WASH

This article is a continuation from two weeks ago, in which we are discussing new varieties of handstamped precancels. All of the above illustrations are handstamped styles.

Falmouth, O.—This town appears for the first time. The style is U-54, exemplified by the Milnor overprint.

Golden, Colo.—Recently used a different style from any previous ones. The two words are in two lines without bars or lines, and in very small lettering. The stamp which brought it to my attention was the current 3c perf. 10.

Huntington, Ind.—I believe chick shipments have created a need for precancels at this office, because the 25c was the first variety I secured. When the 25c comes precancelled from a small town it usually spells "baby chicks" as this denomination is one that is seldom used otherwise by a small office. The style is the same as the El Dorado, Kans.

Independence, O., is at hand in practically the identical style used by Independence, Mo., and Iowa, except that lines are used instead of bars.

Kemp, Texas—Prof. A. F. Gamber sends me two stamps on original wrapper bearing the impression of the precancel handstamp used as a regular cancelling device. This style is U-54, a standard type, and it is unusual for it to be used in this fashion. However, this has been done before by small offices—e.g., Wahpeton, N. D., and Granada, Minn.

Kingsport, Pa.—The 4c at hand from this office bears the El Dorado style. It marks Kingsport's first use of the precancel.

Lansdale, Pa.—Here is a case where a handstamp has been kept for many years without its being used. No varieties of the 1917 series are known although the 8 and 12c perf. 10 exist. The current series 4c is listed in the Standard Precancel Catalog. I have also the 20c normal and 25c inverted.

Lankershim, Calif., makes an interesting addition to this state. Lankershim is in Los Angeles county, which is all the information I am able to give about it. The 1½c is the only item I have with the precancellation, which is a bit different in style from anything in my collection. While the overprint appears to be handstamped, close inspection shows it to be printed in dull gray ink.

London, O.—Baby chicks again! The style is like the Pella illustration.

Lidgerwood, N. D.—Another 1927 Xmas issue just coming to light. Prof. Gamber informs me that he has several varieties in the same style as Milnor.

Mentone, Ind., is now using the U-54 handstamp, although the U-51 was received recently. Perhaps it was lost or stolen, it couldn't have worn out.

New Washington, O.—Type I is obsolete, a new handstamp having been received. This produces a two line overprint reading "New Washing—ton, Ohio," in a similar font of type.

Ottawa, O., is another new Ohio office to spring up in the precancel field. Like London, the style is the same as Pella.

Ocean City, N. J.—Look at the Wapello illustration, and you can picture Ocean City on the current 2c.

Pella, Iowa—The illustrated style is this office's first precancel handstamp. I have the 6, 7, 8, 10 and 15c of the current series.

Pocahontas, Ill., has been reported in the U-54 style, but no specimens have been seen by me to verify this.

Peabody, Mass.—the U-51 style has been in use at this office for some time.

Santa Barbara, Cal.—It was somewhat of a surprise when I chanced upon a current 50c, precancelled Santa Barbara, Cal., in two lines of small caps—the U-71 style, for all previous precancels from there had come in the printed U-9.

AN EXCEPTIONAL PIECE

Recently, Mr. S. Newbury of Chicago, collector extraordinary of the first issue or bull's-eyes of Brazil secured the cover that is shown here, and which he is glad to place among such aristocrats as used blocks of 17 and 9 respectively of the ninety reis, Brazil, 1843. It must be noticed that the pair of 60 reis pictured here is on the face of the cover, and that the stamps were not placed on the back as was the general custom, to serve as seals. This departure from the rule was due to the fact that the sender of the envelope was an American, who wrote from Montevideo to the U. S. Consul at Rio Janerio, Brazil, John C. Pedrick, Esq. The stamps were carried by steamer and canceled at Rio on July 30, 1844, the letter having been dated at Montevideo on July 25, 1844. The condition of the stamps is unbelievably superb, and altogether the piece is altogether the realization of a Brazil specialist's dream, almost.

Rahway, N. J.—My saddest "find" occurred last week. From a party saving precancels for me in a local mercantile house, I secured three large blocks of the current 10c airmail—about sixty stamps in all—which had been precancelled in Type I—a rubber roller overprint. On about five stamps the cancellation was readable, the balance being so faintly overprinted as to render them of little value. This roller should have been scrapped long ago, for it can no longer produce a clean cut precancellation.

Randolph, Va.—A precancel is always more desirable when it calls to mind a bit of history. Certainly Randolph, Va., is a precancellation of this sort. The U-53 handstamp is doing the work.

Shippensburg Pa.—Blaine Myers shows me the current 10c with "SHIPPENS—BURG, PA." appearing in two lines between lines, the exact style of which is shown by the Wapello illustration.

Spokane, Wash., is clearing up a supply of 1c 1912 series, imperforated, by precancelling them with a handstamp. This overprint is similar to U-54.

Talladega, Ala., is a welcome addition to the ranks, for Alabama precancels are comparatively few in number. The Talladega precancellation is of the U-51 style. I have only the 30c, reading down.

Wapello, Iowa—This third class office is using precancels for the first time. In the illustrated style I have the 10 and 13c.

Hoquiam, Wash.—Four copies of the 50c, and the 11 and 15c, have come my way. The style shown tells the rest of the story.

Danielson, Conn.—Mr. Henri Baer sends the following precancels from here: ½, 1½, 2, 3, 4, 8, 9, 15, 17, and 20c of the current set, and the 2c Bennington and Saratoga commemoratives. The overprint consists of two lines of tiny caps between closely spaced lines. Mr. Baer states that there are four permit holders in the town.

Conclusion—In my next article I shall give the latest Bureau news and tell the story of how the 10c New York Bureau that seemed a true double is after all simply a phantom double, and not a true variety.

A total of 7889 first flight covers had to be prepared for my requirements on the inaugural flights on the New York to New Orleans air mail route.

That means that a great many are collecting first day covers.

Several hundred collectors belong to my first day cover club.

That means that there must be some merit to my first day cover service.

who will be glad to meet all our friends and customers. Aside from a number of single items of all issues, we will have several collections:

(1) A collection from 1847-1888: Superb copies of all listed varieties, including a few pairs, shades and cancellations.
(2) A collection of 3c 1851; a page of beautiful Orange Browns, pairs, strips, blocks; plate varieties including the cracked plate and five-line recut; also a very interesting lot of cancellations.
(3) A collection of the 3c 1861, including some of the well-known rarities such as the Devil and Pitch Fork, Eagle, Beer Mug, Base Ball Diamond, Shields, Stars, Paids and others of equal interest.
(4) A collection of the 1869 issue, including shades and cancellations, condition superb.
(5) A collection of the Bank Note issues—1870-1888, including some of the rare end roller grills; superb copies, shades and cancellations.

The above will be on display at our booth. Interested parties are cordially invited to inspect same.

A REVIEW OF SOUTH WEST AFRICA

By C. I. Crowell.

A great deal of confusion has resulted from the recent activity of this country as to the relative rarity of the various surcharges. South West Africa, a new comer in the philatelic world, has in a brief five years assumed an undisputed lead among 20th century British Colonials, and many of the duties bid fair to become numbered among the outstanding rarities.

This in spite of the fact that surcharged stamps as a class are looked upon with suspicion in certain quarters, and especially when the postage dues are considered. Dues as a class are not popular, and coupled with the fact that they are also surcharged, makes their popularity even more remarkable.

Here we are confronted with lack of stabilization due to lack of actual knowledge, but out of the conflicting ideas, certain facts are rapidly becoming established.

First the comparative rarity of the 1st and 2d settings is undergoing a very rapid adjustment. Collectors relying upon the cat. quotations have been of the opinion that the 2d setting was the rarer, but its becoming more apparent every day that the high duties of the 1st setting, i.e., the 5/, 10/ and the pound are more difficult to obtain than the same duties in the 2d setting.

In two instances this fact is obvious, i.e., the 5/ and 10/ Scott's Nos. 19-20 and 21-22. Already higher prices are obtained for these two pair, than can be secured from the 5 and 10/ of the 2d setting, Nos. 25-6 and 27-8, and without doubt the 10/ of the 1st setting will soon be recognized as the rarest of all the South West Africa pairs. At a very recent auction sale in N. Y. City this pair brought $39.00. Worldwide search of every available source fails to uncover any supply of this rare pair.

The case of the pound 1st setting is not so obvious, but the trend is all in favor of its becoming more valuable than the pound of the 2d setting. The 2d setting pounder still commands the better price, but again it's easier to uncover, and some day demand and supply will place these two pair in their proper stations. Water is bound to reach its own level sooner or later.

Passing to the 3d setting the pound value here is entirely underrated. Gibbons recently revised prices place this duty at eight pounds for the pair.

In the fourth setting the 2/6 Scott's Nos. 57-8 is still another pair with the value as yet unrecognized by the catalogers. It's on most want lists.

Another interesting situation developed with the unexpected withdrawal of the first pictorial surcharges when the "S.W. A." were issued. This change was accomplished before dealers either in London, or in this country had any opportunity to stock up in a speculative sense. Of course local speculators secured a supply, but this has proved insufficient for worldwide demands, and the resulting scramble sent prices skyward. I have heard South West Africa referred to as the General Motors of the stamp market, and the rapidity of advancing prices was doubtless the cause of this observation. However General Motors has some 17,000,000 shares, and commands about $190.00 a share, so I am afraid that the prices obtained even by the rare South West Africa stamps are as yet very commonplace in comparison.

Reviewing Gibbons recently issued new price schedule, I note 60/ opposite Scott's Nos. 99-100, and 5 pounds opposite Scott's Nos. 103-4. It is also interesting to note that Gibbons lists a variety of the 10/ pictorial with a wider spacing, which is priced six pounds for the pair against five pounds for the normal.

SOUTH WEST AFRICA

There is an unabated demand for these popular stamps. Easily the most elusive of the lot is the 10/-, Setting I. I have during the last few weeks sold several splendid pairs at prices ranging from $30 to $32.50—but even at that price it is impossible to keep this pair in stock. A pair was just sold at $38.50 in a N. Y. auction! All of which gives the editor of our Standard Catalogue something to consider. The whole Colony needs revision very badly.

The demand for several of the recent issues is also well maintained. It is already months ago that I picked the 5/-, #101-102, to be the best of the first Pictorial Issue, and I so advised my customers. This stamp went out of stock before any of the other values. This may be interesting news, especially in view of the fact that the 2/6, #99-100, was given a big boost in the London market.

The Following Quotations Are For First Class Horizontal Mint Pairs Perfectly Centered

I am inclined to believe that the 10/-, #103-104, will see a further reduction in price. Collectors who have bought from me any of the stamps marked "R" at prices higher than those here listed may on application have the difference credited to them—such credits to be used for purchases from my stock. This is in accordance with my usual business policy in all cases where I find it necessary to reduce substantially a certain price. These present reductions are made owing to change in market conditions—or they are in one or two instances due to developments which—in my opinion—temporarily affect the status of the stamps.

British Colonials of All Periods. 12½% British Empire New Issue Service
TH. BERG, HIGH VIEW, N. Y.

After further irregularity due to distribution of such speculative stocks as still exist in these first pictorials, the fact remains that after a period of stabilization, a steady increase in value should be obtained. The 5/ of this series is another stamp that has escaped the notice of many observers. Champion has raised this pair to an equivalent of $16.00 recently. It's still another case of being too early to determine the relative rarity, but while it's a fact that the 2/6 has discounted the future for the time being, the 5/ is showing a tendency to improve.

The postage dues afford an even more confusing picture, for South West Africa is noted for producing philatelic surprises, and the dues have come in for more than their share of such notoriety.

Little is known of the merits or demerits of the 5d dues on Transvaal, setting 3 and 4, Scott's Nos. 335-6, and 345-6, and until recently collectors were not aware of their existence.

Co. Worthing of South Africa is the authority, according to Gibbons for these two issues. Gibbons prices the 3d setting at a nominal price of six pounds, but one of the leading authorities in London reports this pair practically unobtainable. I never have seen a pair, and am under the impression that very few, if any, have found their way to this country.

The 4th setting of the 5d dues Scott's Nos. 345-6 have been imported in a small way, and while unpriced by both Scott and Gibbons has to my certain knowledge brought $75.00 a pair, and according to reports considerably higher.

A few pair passed thru my hands, and I submitted a pair to the Scott Co. last fall, and they were chronicled in the November Monthly Journal issued by that firm.

Both these two pair of dues are far rarer than the same 5d dues on Transvaal with the 2d setting, which cat. for $50.00 a pair, and while there is no way to accurately forecast the future, there is no doubt that they should be included in the outstanding rarity class for late 20th century stamps. In figuring such possibilities it must not be overlooked that it takes more than just scarcity to bring a stamp in the limelight. Scarcity plus demand is the magic combination. Only when this combination operates does an outstanding rarity result.

Among the lesser dues is still another and last of the 5d Transvaal dues surcharged for use in South West Africa, i.e., the well known "Suidwes" variety. The last sixty panes of the 5d Transvaal were used in this surcharge. This means 1,800 pair, and comparing with well known 20th century rarities such as the Malta 10/ MCA, and the pound St. Kitts No. 62, the fact is established that the number issued of this last variety of South West Africa dues is very favorable.

Another postage due that has escaped the makers of cat. quotations is the 2d duty of the 1st setting, Scott's Nos. 309-10. It's far harder to uncover than the 3d of the same setting.

Last, but not least, is the 6d Dues of the 6th setting. Scott's Nos. 367-8. Recent importations from the P. O. have always found this duty missing, and either the 4th or 8th setting of the 6d dues being supplied.

Here is a country with a postal history of about five years that includes so many scarce and rare issues, that already it takes a pretty good bank roll to complete (if possible), and a country that has captured the public imagination. Its unique place in the minds of modern collectors will soon make the task of completing this country more difficult, as the soundness of these stamps become more generally recognized.

—Second Annual Banquet R. P. A. a marked succe

Reported by GRANT BULKLE

The Rochester Philatelic Ass held its second annual banquet A 1928, at the Osburne House, with crowd in attendance. Ten of t sex were present, some because love of stamps, and the rest bec their stamp loving husbands.

President Richard Meyering a toastmaster. He also walked aw the chief prize of the evening, Union of South Africa, No. 13 Dewey won the ladies prize, a tw box of candy, and promptly pa around with the result that she ha ing left for herself. Dr. Geo French told of some of his man esting experiences in his own a style. Auctioneer Jules Abeles w more successful than usual in open our pockets, and the club t profited accordingly.

No attempt was made to ha thing other than an evening of f enjoyment, and it was voted a success.

SUDDEN DEATH OF B. L. D

Just as we go to press this w learn of the death of the well dealer philatelist, Bertrand L. Dre death occurred Wednesday, May news will come as a shock to number of collectors, who have Mr. Drew through his many pl activities. He has long been a of the A. P. S. and other philat ganizations. The Boston Philate ciety was particularly loved by h he gave a great deal of time and in promoting its activities.

The writer of these lines has Mr. Drew through a period of years, during which time he ha closely associated with him, a learned to admire and respect h his business transactions, Mr. Dr the soul of honor, and during the period of years in which he ha doing business with us we have had a complaint of any kind re against him. He will be missed, missed, and these few words ar gether a too feeble tribute to t who has passed on.

Postage Stamps And Their Use As Illustrative Material

Perhaps more important to the teacher of history than any of the stamps mentioned above are those showing a definite historical scene. Such stamps, nearly always of large size, have usually appeared in commemorative sets.

The United States has commemorated a number of great events in its history by the issue of one or more special stamps. In most cases the event has called forth a great exposition, of which the stamp was, in a sense, a part. Following is a complete list of the United States "commemoratives":

Date and Event.	Date of Issue.	No. of Stamps in Set
1492 Discovery of America	1893	16
1607 Settlement of Jamestown	1907	3
1609 Discovery of Hudson River	1909	1
1620 Settlement of Plymouth	1920	3
1624 Settlement of New York	1924	3
Each stamp is inscribed "Huguenot-Walloon Tercentenary" thus honoring also the Huguenot colonizing efforts in Florida and South Carolina.
1776 Battles of Lexington and Concord	1926	3
1776 Declaration of Independence	1926	Stamped env.
	1776	1
1776 Battle of White Plains	1926	1
1803 Purchase of Louisiana	1903	5
1807 Trip of Fulton's Clermont up the Hudson	1909	Same as Hudson Stp.
1809 Birth of Lincoln	1909	1
1825 Beginning of Norse immigration	1925	1
1869 Completion of first transcontinental railroad	1869	10
1898 Trans-Mississippi Exposition, Omaha	1898	9
1901 Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo	1901	6
1909 Alaska - Yukon - Pacific Exposition, Seattle	1909	1
1912 Panama-Pacific Exposition, San Francisco, in honor of the near-completion of the Panama Canal	1912	4
1918 Victorious conclusion of Great War	1919	1
1923 Death of Harding	1923	1
1926 Unveiling of monument in Washington to Ericsson, inventor of the Monitor	1926	1

At least one of the incidents portrayed on these stamps is apocryphal (Queen Isabella pledging her jewels to finance Columbus, a reproduction of a famous painting by Munoz Degrain, now in Madrid), but all are of decided interest.

The Trans-Mississippi issue is of particular interest in the study of the westward expansion of the United States. The nine stamps portray the following: "Marquette on the Mississippi," "Farming in the West," "Indian Hunting Buffalo," "Fremont in the Rocky Mountains," "Troops Guarding (Emigrant) Train," "Hardships of Emigration," "Western Mining Prospector," "Western Cattle in Storm," and the (Eads) "Mississippi River Bridge" at St. Louis.

Hispanic-American countries have apparently not been torn by revolution too frequently to issue commemorative stamps in great numbers. Of the seventeen mainland republics all, except Panama and Guatemala, have commemorated sometime between 1810 and 1825 the centennial of the general continental war for independence from Spain, or military leaders, battles, or events thereof. Six (Argentine, Honduras, Nicaragua, Paraguay, Salvador, and Venezuela) have commemorated Columbus' discovery. In addition, Porto Rico (then Spanish) and several of the British West India islands have commemorated Columbus, while Brazil in 1900 honored Cabral, the first European to touch her shores (1500). These commemorative issues range from one stamp to more than a dozen, and from exceptionally beautiful sets, such as Salvador's Columbian issue, to overprinted issues such as those of Uruguay. Some of the sets have only one design, others have a different design for each value. Some countries (Bolivia, Ecuador, Salvador and Uruguay) issued two or three sets to commemorate various phases of the War for Independence. Perhaps the Independence Issue (15 values) of Chile is the most interesting. Various stamps of the set picture the battles of Chacabuco, Roble, and Maipo, the last named of decisive importance. Portraits of, or monuments to, a number of revolutionary leaders, such as O'Higgins, Carrera, San Martin, Blanco, Zenteno, and Cochrane, adorn other values.

Other political events which have led to commemorative stamps in Hispanic-America are as follows:

Argentina—Opening of the port of Rosario, second largest city in the republic (1902).

Centenary (1911) of the birth of Domingo Faustino Sarmiento, President from 1868 to 1874, but chiefly noted as an educational reformer. He was a great admirer of the United States and wrote a biography of Lincoln.

Centenary of the presidency of Bernardino Rivadavia (1926).

Bolivia—Establishment of a National Aviation School (1924).

Brazil—Centenary (1908) of the opening of Brazil's ports to foreign Commerce.

EDITORIAL

Four new air mail routes are in the offing. The route between Albany and Buffalo, New York, will be in service on June 1, 1928. This airway will afford a route from Albany and intermediate cities that will connect with Cleveland, on the New York-San Francisco line. The service will be a daily one, with the Colonial Western Airways, Incorporated, as contractors. The other routes on which bids have been opened are from Chicago to Atlanta, Georgia; from St. Louis to Kansas City, Mo., and Omaha, Nebraska, and a route running from Chicago to Kalamazoo, Michigan, that will "cover the state of Michigan like a blanket."

A correspondent has sent in a clipping from the floral catalogue of Mr. A. E. Kunderd, Goshen, Indiana, that illustrates the plant, "Philatelia" which, according to the text, was "named to honor the great educational hobby of postage stamp collecting." The plant which is priced at ten dollars is described: "Flowers very large. Color, deep tyrian-rose. Upper portion of throat lighter. Lower petals feathered darker than main color. One of the best gladioli produced in recent years. As a landscape and vase variety it would be hard to surpass." The tribute that is paid stamp collecting by Mr. Kunderd is a graceful one, and we have an access of pride in our pursuit to know that philately has been chosen for this distinction.

Mr. Elliott Perry, Westfield, New Jersey, one of the closest students of our earlier issues was in Chicago some weeks ago with a lot of U. S. stamps that eased the eye, especially U. S. covers from the Ackerman collection. Those who were privileged to see the covers acquired an increased knowledge and respect for them, as Mr. Perry explained that there was more to cover collecting than the mere covers themselves. Not alone does foreign and domestic destination have weight, but also, the routes and other considerations have a bearing; and any deviation from the normal is carefully studied by the advanced cover collector. For instance, an envelope from this country to Australia with a 12c of the 1870 type is scarcer than one with the same 12c addressed to Great Britain. It may be added that Mr. Perry's studies of the plating of the 10c of 1847 have made his knowledge in demand in helping aspirants in this field, which is such as to acquire a high degree of research and application. However, we learn that there are a number of collectors who are engaged in this labor of love.

A traveller who has returned from a visit to out-of-the-way places in Europe tells the usual tale of being unable to get anything exceptionally fine off the beaten track. He declares that if he charged up the time that he spent in nosing around, the few things that he obtained were as dearly bought as Ben Franklin's whistle; and then, a great white light of inspiration coming to him, he makes the prize conservative statement that "really good old stamps are getting scarce, everywhere." No one will accuse him of radicalism, at this, as years ago, Mr. M. P. Castle wrote an article on the "Shrinkage of Rarities" that made an impression at the time, since he showed that no matter how great the demand for stamps, the supply of certain of them was as not even stationary, but ever shrinking. About the best place to buy stamp is at home.

"If so much attention is being given to precanceled stamps and air mails, doesn't it follow that the regular stamps are being neglected correspondingly?" is a question asked by a correspondent who does not stop for an answer, but proceeds to show that he thinks that he is right. Philately, indeed, would be "to hastening ills a prey" if its welfare depended upon either artificial checks or stimulants. It may be said with truth that while collectors in many cases have preferences, they do not try to impose them on those who do not take to them kindly. Philately has been relatively free from propaganda, and while attempts have been made to press-agent certain stamps, they have not been sustained or influential. The solidity of collecting is such that it is not shaken by any captious criticism of any endeavor that has to do with stamps. In fact, the very liberality that pervades the atmosphere of philately is due to a realization of its permanency. It is to be said that air mails have proved to be a feeder for philately and precanceled stamps have given as much, if not more, to the ranks of collectors than they have taken away.

Here is a trifle heavier than air that is printed without a smile. A shrewd stamp speculator inserted an ad in a large city newspaper offering a collection for sale in the Sunday want ads; and in order to help along his game, he also had another ad. under a different key-number to buy a collection similar to the one that he offered for sale. The trick is not a new one, by-the-way. However, he got his mental wires crossed, and he wrote to the wanted-to-buy ad and found that he wanted to buy the collection that he wanted to sell. The overly sharp advertiser had answered his own ad.

Recently, we had a visit from Mr. Franklin Coombs, New York, who called at the Chicago office of the WEEKLY; and the interval between the first and last call there of Mr. Coombs was just thirty years. It was in 1898 when Mr. Coombs first came to Chicago, where soon, he was engaged in the stamp business in a modest way; and he says that the 1898 issue of U. S. revenues gave him his start. From a small beginning, Mr. Coombs developed into a recognized dealer in a short time, such was his acuteness in opening avenues of trade that became profitable. After some years in Chicago, he yielded to the call of New York and established himself there, where his business thrived until now, Mr. Coombs may indulge in travel or what you will, without cupping his ear to hear the clamor arising from the stamp marts. One of the principal ingredients in the recipe of a successful dealer is embodied in Mr. Coombs, and that is an understanding of stamps in their collecting sense as well as commercial aspect.

We read that a collector somewhere claims credit for having attended philatelic meetings faithfully since the year 1890, and that he thinks that he has heard more minutes of previous meetings read than any other philatelist. It is all right for him to pat himself on the back, and we say all hail to his devotion, but it is only fair that he move over and give the center of the lime-light to Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer, who has been attending stamp meetings for a longer period; and even the editor of this seemly sheet has been among those present at stamp meetings since December, 1888.

A reader says: "I am not able to buy old U. S. in prime condition because the prices of them are too high"; and we may add that the price of many a 20th century U. S. is in the clouds. However, though he may be "foiled" in getting his U. S., he will find that there are hundreds of other countries with stamps at inviting prices. Of course, if everybody wants good old U. S. at the same time, prices achieve an altitude record.

Sale 293 — May 16th

This is a good sale and catalogs were mailed to all on our list on April 14th. Did you get yours? If not, write for a duplicate. The sale includes a plentiful supply of U. Canal Zone —Gorgas and Goethals Commemoratives Are Soon to be Issued.

"N. Y. Times" Clipping (Herb Ahrend).

BALBOA, May 5.—The issue of Canal Zone postage stamps in commemoration of the work of General G. W. Goethals and General W. C. Gorgas in the construction of the Panama Canal, has been authorized by Governor M. L. Walker. The likeness of General Goethals will be used on the two-cent stamp and that of General Gorgas on the one-cent stamp.

The Bureau of Printing and Engraving at Washington will print the stamps, which are intended as part of the permanent issue of Canal Zone postage.

Before the abrogation of the Taft Agreement, the Bureau of Posts at the Canal used Panaman postage stamps surcharged "Canal Zone." Since then it has used United States stamps with the same surcharge. The Goethals and Gorgas issues are the only permanent stamps authorized at present. They will probably be placed in use on Sept. 1.

CREDIT TO MR. ACKERMAN

Cong. E. R. Ackerman very kindly wired the Beverly office about the new Valley Forge stamp, and we intended to use his information this week. On the same day, however, our Portland office received a wire and Mr. Jewett tucked it into the last form of the May 7 issue. The news was too important to hold over.

NEW ADVERTISING CONTRACT

We are pleased to record a contract with I. Cushman Gray of Redlands, Calif., who will use a minimum of 3,000 lines during the coming year.

Mr. Gray comes to us well recommended, and we bespeak for him a goodly share of the patronage extended by our mailing list.

ROMANCE IN REVENUES

By BEVERLY S. KING.
Secretary, A. P. S. Revenue Unit.

"United States Revenue Stamps? No, Sir, we have none," said a well-known dealer to me recently. "Why are you interested in 'Labels'? Collect postage stamps—they mean something, have seen service, traveled thousands of miles and are personal representatives of all countries of the world! Look at this new issue of Slato Tititi—full of action, fine colors, beautiful to look at!"

They were good looking, and "full of action"—but no more so than our revenues and myriads of stories one can conjure up regarding them. "Fine color," yes, but no finer than the exquisite engraving and beautiful tones of the early revenues. I'd much rather admire a 2c blue bank check than the animal stamp pressed on me by my friend, the dealer—and I'd hunted that particular animal, too!

Think of the romance hidden in the revenue stamps, the common 2c one for instance. I have an old check dated February 14, 1867, noted across one corner "in payment of loan"—the check came back marked "insufficient funds." There is a story there if you but use your imagination, a story of hard luck, a generous friend and, perhaps, misplaced confidence. Why the need of the money, what arguments to produce it, and whether eventually it was ever paid back. Life? Yes. Sordid? Perhaps, but romance? Lots of it, and the only reason this particular check is in existence is because of the 2c orange Internal Revenue stamp stuck askew in one corner, with the beautifully engraved head of George Washington smiling benignly on the whole sad affair.

A short while ago a friend showed me a deed to some oil lands, dated Feb. 8, 1865, on which reposed four $200 bi-colored imperforated revenues, three $50, and one $20—a show piece fit to grace any collection. But what was the story behind the stamps? Had the oil been discovered by some homesteader whose farm was heavily mortgaged? (stamps on that document). Notes overdue at the bank? (stamps on the notes). Wife sick? (possible use of a 6c Proprietary). And he one day noticed an irridescent scum oozing up in some damp corner of a field? Perhaps. Or maybe oil indications were discovered by a scout sent out by some powerful Company in the East, handlers of stocks, leases, notes, checks, mortgages, agreements and what not, all calling for revenue stamps, and each particular stamp doing its duty in its own particular way.

Then the organization of a separate Company, the issuing of stock and leasing of the land—all calling for more stamps. Eventually the importation of special machinery (Entry of Goods—Warehouse Receipt), the drilling of the oil well, workmen resting after the day's work—smoking, using matches and playing cards—more stamps.

Then might come the gradual lessening of the oil flow, the necessity of raising additional funds, either by bond sales or mortgages, the possible failure of the Company, this entailing smaller failure of its backers, and the loss of moneys by its stockholders—all phases using papers of one sort or another on which it was mandatory to use revenue stamps. A story with its many ramifications of work, play, laughter and tears.

And as its starting point an old oil lease on which repose peacefully to this day those four beautiful $200 imperforated revenues flanked with the two $50 and the one $20—and not a crease in any of them! Evidently the document was folded first and after the paper creases were established the stamps affixed and cancelled—put on, possibly, by someone who loved their serene beauty, even as you and I.

Action? Romance? I'll say so!

Junior Chronicle

By BEACH CONGER, JR.

Bulgaria.—Following Germany's example, Bulgaria has issued a "Famous Men series" to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Bulgarian freedom, and the millenary of the prosperous rule of Tsar Simeon, from 893-927. In connection it might be mentioned that the issue of 1901, Scott's A15, shows the cannon which started the revolution, resulting in the liberation of Bulgaria to be commemorated. Besides Simeon, the monk, Otez Paissi, who wrote an epic chronicle of the Bulgar nation in 1762, will be portrayed on one of the issue.

Turkey.—Messrs. De La Rue and Co. have printed a new charity set of seven values for the Turkish government. The face values are ½, 1, 2½, 5, 10, 20 and 50 piastres. The design shows a map of Asia Minor, surcharged with a red crescent, since the surplus will go to the "Croissant Rouge Turc" or Turkish Red Cross.

Falkland Islands.—The postmaster of the island of South Georgia has surcharged the current 2d stamp with a large 2½, on account of a shortage of 2½d stamps. South Georgia Island is a whaling station with a population of 1,341, and we do not know how long these surcharges will be in use.

Junior Items

—We have received from Edward Clark, a junior of thirteen years, a little story of his stamp collecting activities. In about sixteen months he has procured a collection of 5,000 stamps mounted in an International Junior Album. Congratulations, Edward.

—The South Pasadena (Cal.) High School Stamp Club has just elected officers. Redmond Couglan is president, and Robert David secretary-treasurer. The club has twelve members, and meets the second Monday in each month for business, and the fourth Monday for trading.

—There is a bill pending before Congress which aims to secure the illustrating of postage stamps. Congressman William Cohen has charge of the bill, and he would like to hear from interested persons who will assist in the passage of the bill.

—J. H. Jost informs us that changes are possible in the current 3c and 4c Newfoundland stamps. He writes that the news comes from a reliable source.

Cantonal Stamps

Prior to the introduction of postage stamps for general use throughout Switzerland, the cantons of Zurich and Geneva and the town of Bâle (Basle) issued stamps for local, or cantonal, purposes under the authority of their respective Councils. These are usually known as "cantonal stamps," to distinguish them from the Federal issues which appeared in 1850.

Junior Dictionary

Barnard's Cariboo Express.—A local post of British Columbia, in connection with which stamps of several types without indication of value were issued. This post is included among the local posts of the United States from the fact that the company maintained an office in San Francisco.

Sweden

—Royal Birthday Commemoratives to be Issued June 16, and be in Use to Dec. 31.

We are much obliged to E. K. Russell, for a cutting from a Swedish newspaper, of which the following is a translation:

New Commemoration Issue of Sweden.

"On June 16th, King Gustaf the Fifth has completed his seventieth year, and in commemoration of his birthday a Jubilee set of five stamps will be issued. The issue consists of the values of 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 öre which will be sold at 5 öre above the face value. Thus the nominal value of the set will be 1 Crown. The surplus amount is intended to form a fund for charity purposes, the King having to resolve how to dispose of this fund. According to the King's resolution, the fund thus formed will be used for the scientific struggle with the cancer diseases.

The design of the stamps, that are issued in large size, shows the portrait of King Gustaf, at top the inscription 'Gustaf V 1858-1928,' and at bottom the country name 'Sverige.'

The stamps will appear in the middle of June and will be sold until December 31st, when they are to be withdrawn. They may be used on Inland as well as Foreign correspondence."—Stamp Collecting.

B. C. A.

The first stamps used in British Central Africa—from 1891 to 1895—consisted of the stamps of the British South Africa Company overprinted with the letters "B. C. A." These stamps were used in Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, but when special stamps were issued their use was confined to the latter territory which was renamed the British Central Africa Protectorate.

Some "C's"

C. M. T.— (Campana Militare Timbru).—This inscription found on the stamps of Western Ukrainia means Military Campaign Stamp. They were used during the Roumanian occupation from June 28 to July 24, 1919.

Correspondencia A Debe.—This inscription on Panama stamps means practically "Postage Due." Literally the phrase signifies "correspondence upon which payment is due."

Corriente.—This word on Salvador stamps means "current" and was applied to certain official stamps in 1918 to transform them into ordinary postage stamps.

Constituente Fiumana—24. IV. 1921.—A surcharge to commemorate the granting of a constitution to the Free City of Fiume under the League of Nations, April 24, 1921.

Stamps for Andorra

We learn from a Spanish contemporary that the postal service of this diminutive Republic, which has hitherto been managed partly under French and partly under Spanish auspices, is about to become autonomous. Pending the preparation of a definitive series of postage stamps, which is likely to be of a pictorial character, depicting scenery in the Valley of Andorra, certain denominations of the current Spanish set are to be overprinted with the one word, "ANDORRA."—Stamp Collecting.

MOTORCYCLE AIR MAIL ROUTE

A New Feeder Line Planned for a Route Between Green Bay and Milwaukee

A Motorcycle Air Mail feeder line between Green Bay and Milwaukee is expected to be placed in operation sometime this summer, according to the present outlook of the situation. This is now before the Post Office Department for consideration, but Mr. E. B. Wadsworth of the Air Mail Division states that nothing can be done in the matter until after the three months experiment is up on the line now in operation in the East.

Henry O. Meisel of Clintonville, Wis., who is the Indian motorcycle dealer for that territory, and who is also a live philatelist, has been working on the above proposition since March 10th, and everything now looks very favorable to the establishment of a motorcycle Air Mail feeder line to Milwaukee.

The plans as now worked out call for the line to be operated between Green Bay and Milwaukee with intermediate stops at De Pere, Kaukauna, Appleton, Menasha, Neenah, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and West Bend. All Air Mail to be carried from Green Bay to Milwaukee each afternoon to connect with the south bound plane on C. A. M. 9; with a return trip each forenoon from Milwaukee to Green Bay after the arrival of northwest bound plane on the Chicago-Twin Cities route.

This motorcycle service will give the users of Air Mail in the above named cities north of Milwaukee a saving of between three and four hours over the present train system. The postmasters in these cities are enthusiastic with the plans.

If this motorcycle line is authorized, which no doubt but what it will be, a special first day cachet will be in use at each city for first day covers carried in both directions. It is not advisable for any first day covers to be sent to postmasters until further notice. This information is given to inform collectors of what can be expected if the Government authorizes motorcycles on Air Mail feeder lines. The experiment now being tried out between Holyoke, Northampton, Westfield, Springfield and Hartford, on C. A. M. 1, has proved successful, and the three months will be up on June 15th, so collectors can expect more lines to be placed in operation this summer.

NEWS ITEMS—

WE are told that the Holden Stamp Shop, Detroit, Mich., was recently burglarized. Mr. Boers states that it was evidently the work of novices, as much valuable material was overlooked.

WE have been shown a petition for nomination of officers for the S. P. A. It is headed with Albert E. Gorham for president, and E. W. Heusinger for vice president. A large number of the names on this petition is now found on the present board of officers.

WM. LLOYD informs us that he has unearthed a fine copy of Mason's New Orleans Express 2c yellow. Another cover had the impression of one, but the stamp had fallen off. This is almost unknown on cover, and thirty years ago was cataloged at $100 used.

Unused United States, O. G.

1890, 1893, 1894, 1895

We have recently purchased a very fine lot of the above issues containing plate numbers, blocks, and shades. A list of these stamps has been prepared and we shall be pleased to send one to you upon request.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

U. S. 1851, 3 Cent

One of the choice pieces now available from my wonderful stock of United States issues is a magnificent mint block of thirty-nine of the 1851, 3c in the rare orange-brown shade. This is from Plate 5, has sheet margins and imprint at the right, together with margins at the bottom. It has full gum and is in as fresh condition as the day the block was purchased at the post office.

Those who have studied the 3c 1851 appreciate that unused pairs of this stamp are exceedingly scarce and that even blocks of four in fine condition with full gum are practically unknown. This wonderful piece, which is possibly the finest 3c 1851 item in existence, is now available and would make a wonderful addition to any collection. If a purchaser is not found for the entire block, there is a possibility that it will be cut into two to three pieces, for there are a number of clients who would like to have a smaller size block of the variety. If you are interested in the block as a whole or any portion of it, correspondence is solicited.

The above item is just one of the outstanding pieces at present available. If you are a purchaser of fine United States stamps, I would be pleased to receive your want list, which will receive my personal attention.

I also have on hand not only the rarities, but can furnish the commoner varieties as well, and the small or medium want list is given the same careful attention.

If you have anything to sell in the way of fine United States stamps, either on or off the cover, used or unused, your attention is called to the fact that I pay the highest market prices for such items. The fact that I have been receiving and am continuing to receive the finest United States items that are coming upon the market proves conclusively that this statement of price paid is not an idle boast.

Stamp business has never been better, and it is necessary to continue my purchases in substantial amounts in order to supply my large clientele.

The best of banking, commercial and philatelic references will be furnished, if desired.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps from 1900 to date. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 75 Electric Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States

1857, 3c Orange-Brown

In going over the collection of 3c 1851-57 gotten together by Dr. Carroll Chase, I have noticed four covers showing the 3c 1857, Type II, in a shade that I have never noted heretofore in this stamp. These are in the true orange-brown of the 3c 1851, and in putting the stamps side by side with the imperforate variety, they seem to be identical in color. Dr. Chase has four covers with these stamps upon them, and it is odd that they should all be used from New England points. The covers bear postmarks of—Concord, N. H., Portsmouth, N. H., Northampton, Mass., and Hartford, Conn. I have never seen an unused copy of the 1857 stamp in this shade, and if it exists it must be exceedingly scarce.

1861, Odd Postmark

Mr. Eugene Klein has shown me an 1861 3c cover bearing an unusual postmark in black reading, "Chicago to Cedar Rapids, East, Jan. 15, 1861." This postmark was evidently used on the train between the two cities, and as the train moved back and forth the words "East" and "West" were changed, along with the date.

1875, 5c Cracked Plate

The same correspondent kindly shows a further variety, and while cataloged, has never come to my attention before, namely the 1875 5c Taylor on hard paper showing a very distinct crack running from the upper margin down half way along the left of the stamp, and then out through the left margin. The crack is so distinct and outstanding that it is noticed immediately without the use of a glass. The variety in question is used on the cover with a copy of the 10c from Zanesville, Ohio.

Philippines

My attention has been called to a further error in the Philippine Legislative series of stamps. The 2 centavos green and black has been located in a horizontal pair imperforate between. It seems that a sheet was found with one vertical row of perforations missing—hence, giving us ten such pairs. The 4c and 16c have been noted in similar condition heretofore. Two other errors also exist in this series—namely, the 18c with double center, and the 20c with wrong color center in imperforate state.

Alexandria.—High Values are chronicled by L'Echangiste Universel in the Olivier Merson Colonial Type with the value in millièmes: 50m vermilion and blue-green; 100m blue and chamois, and 250m green and red. Postage Due additional values are chronicled by the same journal: 4m lilac-rose, and 10m red.—Stamp Collecting.

Bermuda.—¼d Script has been despatched to the Colony for the first time.—Philatelic Magazine.

Brazil.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the following new items of this country: 1913, Official overprinted "Servico Aereo" 200 reis on 1,000 reis; surcharged on 1919 Official, 5,000 on green, and 10,000 reis on 10 reis o

China.—In addition to the Tso Ling stamps already noted, Roberts has shown us the 4c olive blue and $1 vermilion.

Gold Coast.—Forthcoming pict—We have now obtained fro Crown Agents for the Colonies further particulars of the pictorial first foreshadowed in these colum January. The set will comprise t nominations of ½d, 1d, 1½d, 2d, 3d, 6d, 1s, and 5s, all of which ar in active preparation and which v printed on white Script CA paper. design is uniform for the serie consists of a vignette of King over a view of Christiansborg (formerly Elmina Castle, the olde ropean settlement on the West C Africa), with a palm tree on the and a cocoa tree on the left. will be announced later.—Stamp lecting.

Japan.—Mr. R. Roberts infor that the 5s deep violet, new sha granite paper, watermarked v wavy lines and perf. 13x13¼ ha issued.

Morocco (French).—Further of the forthcoming Famine and avalanche (foreshadowed in our for February 4th) are communica Messrs. Yvert & Tellier. They are tifully printed in the Hélio-Va ateliers from originals in the pos of M. Flandrin, supplemented by designs by M. Marchisio, Gove Architect at Rabat. The series wi sist of nine denominations, as e ated below, each of which is to b at double face value on behalf tims of the recent floods:— 5c All 25c Native workman; 75c Rampa Marrakesh; 80c Sheep at Azro Old Gateway, Fez; 1fr 50 Aerial v Tangiers; 1fr 50 Aerial view of blanca; 3fr Old wall, Rabat, a Fête in honour of new Sultan.—Collecting.

STAMP NOTES AND NEWS

Brazil.—Three new provisional postage stamps have been made by overprinting the Official stamps of 1919, type O3 in our catalogue, 700 reis on 500 reis orange; 1,000 reis on 100 reis rose; 2,000 reis on 200 reis blue, the first and last mentioned are surcharged in red and the other one in black.

China.—As forecasted in our March Bulletin, a set of four commemorative stamps has been issued showing a portrait of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, values and colours as follows:—1c orange, 4c sage-green, 10c blue and $1 red. We have received only a very small supply from one of our esteemed correspondents and have also received the same stamps overprinted in Chinese characters denoting "For use in Kirin and Heilungkiang."

Costa Rica.—The 12 centavos carmine stamp, dated "1921," has been overprinted with an aeroplane, the words "Lindbergh Enero 1928" and new value, 10c, to commemorate Lindbergh's flight to Costa Rica in January. Only 20,000 of these stamps were issued, for which there was a tremendous demand as they were on sale on the morning of the day of Colonel Lindbergh's arrival. Our correspondent at San José writes us that such was the demand for the stamps that long queues formed up at the Post Office at 6 a. m., although the sale did not commence till 8. Only 50 stamps were supplied to each successful applicant, but most people went away empty handed. One speculator engaged about fifty boys to buy the stamps, but only succeeded in getting six half sheets of 50.

Estonia.—On February 24th, the tenth anniversary of the Republic of Estonia was celebrated and a special set of stamps issued by overprinting the current issue with "1918-24.II-1928," the values overprinted being 2, 5, 10, 15 and 20 marks, the stamps are sold for the new currency, cents, 100 cents being equal to 1 krone. We are informed that the total face value of the stamps overprinted is 935,000 krones.

Italy.—A new set of Militia stamps is due to appear for this country, which we understand will be in the same designs as Nos. 274 to 277 in our catalogue, but printed in new colours, 30c+10c violet and black; 50c+20c bistre and blue; Lire 1.25+50c blue and black and 5 lire +2 lire carmine and black.

Luxembourg.—Five new provisionals have been issued by overprinting types 10 and 16 in our catalogue, 15c on 20c olive-green (10); 15c on 25c green (16); 60c on 65c purple-brown (16); 60c on 80c black (10); 60c on 80c brown (16).

Monaco.—With reference to the Monaco Exhibition stamps offered to our new issue subscribers in last month's Bulletin, we find that through a printer's error the price was shown as 5/6 the set instead of 3/6 and unfortunately some sets have been sold at the incorrect price, but we shall of course allow the difference of 2/- to anyone who has purchased them at the higher rate and the matter will be adjusted when sending the March new issues.

Nigeria.—We have just received a fresh supply of 10/- stamps, which are of quite a different shade to the previous printing. The new ones printed from plate 17 are blue-green and carmine, whilst the old ones printed from plate 11 are yellow-green and carmine.

Paraguay.—The 50 centavos blue stamp issued last year, type 25 in our catalogue, has not had a very long life, we have just received this stamp in a new colour, red, also overprinted with the letter "C" for use on inland correspondence. The 3 pesos drab in the portrait design is also to hand both with and without the "C" overprint and our correspondent informs us that four high values are to appear shortly, 10, 20, 50 and 100 pesos.

Persia.—We have received a small supply of the 6 shahi, type 45 in our catalogue, redrawn. In the new type the lines of shading on Riza Khan's face have been omitted and the Persian characters in the two circles at the upper left and right corners are also different. There are other minor differences, but as we consider this stamp to be quite a distinct variety we shall include it in our catalogue, also any others that may be issued in the same type.

Roumania.—The new stamps with portrait of the young King Michael were placed on sale on March 15th, and are of eight denominations, 25 bani grey, 50 bani olive, 1 leu purple, 2 lei green, 3 lei rose, 5 lej brown, 7½ lei ultramarine and 10 lei blue.

Spanish Morocco.—A complete new pictorial set of stamps has been issued here containing no fewer than fourteen denominations from 1 centimo to 4 pesetas, including a 20 centimos Express stamp. The stamps are very well produced and will form an interesting addition to one's collection.

Tripolitania.—In connection with the Industrial Exhibition which is being held in Tripoli, a special set of stamps has been issued, values as follows:—30c+20c marone; 50c+20c green; Lire 1.25+20c red; Lire 1.75+20c blue; Lire 2.55+50c brown; 5 lire + 1 lira violet; centres all in sepia.

Turks Islands.—The new set of stamps inscribed "Postage and Revenue" was put on sale on March 1st, the denominations being as follows:—½d, 1d, 1½d, 2d, 2½d, 3d, 6d, 1/-, 2/-, 5/- and 10/-. We understand that the remaining stock of the old issue inscribed "Postage" only, has been destroyed, but the stocks of the 5d, 6d and 1/- values were exhausted before the new issue was available and these three values are likely to be the best in the set.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.
